Subpart A—General

§ 99.1 To which educational agencies or institutions do these regulations apply?

(a) This part applies to an educational agency or institution to which funds have been made available under any program administered by the Secretary of Education that—

(1)(i) Was transferred to the Department under the Department of Education Organization Act (DEOA); and

(ii) Was administered by the Commissioner of Education on the day before the effective date of the DEOA; or

(2) Was enacted after the effective date of the DEOA, unless the law enacting the new Federal program has the effect of making section 438 of the General Education Provisions Act inapplicable.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1230, 1232g, 3487, 3507)

(b) The following chart lists the funded programs to which Part 99 does not apply as of April 11, 1988:

Name of program	Authorizing statute	Implementing regulations
1. High School Equivalency Program and College Assistance Migrant Program.	Section 418A of the Higher Education Act of 1965 as amended by the Education Amendments of 1980 (Pub. L. 96-374) 20 U.S.C. 1070d-2).	Part 206.
2. Programs administered by the Commissioner of the Rehabilitation Services Administration, and the Director of the National Institute on Disability and Rehabilitation Research.	The Rehabilitation Act of 1973, as amended. (29 U.S.C. 700, et seq.).	Parts 350–359, 361, 365, 366, 369–371, 373–375, 378, 379, 385–390, and 395.
3. Transition program for refugee children	Immigration and Nationality Act, as amended by the Refugee Act of 1980, Pub. L. 96-212 (8 U.S.C. 1522(d)).	Part 538.
4. College Housing	Title IV of the Housing Act of 1950, as amended (12 U.S.C. 1749, et seq.).	Part 614.
5. The following programs administered by the Assistant Secretary for Educational Research and Improvement: Educational Research Grant Program. Regional Educational Laboratories Research and Development Centers. All other research or statistical activities funded under Section 405 or 406 of the General Education Provisions Act..	Section 405 of the General Education Provisions Act (20 U.S.C. 1221e), and section 406 of the General Education Provisions Act (20 U.S.C. 1221-1).	Parts 700, 706–708.

Note: The Secretary, as appropriate, updates the information in this chart and informs the public.

(c) This part does not apply to an educational agency or institution solely because students attending that agency or institution receive non-monetary benefits under a program referenced in paragraph (a) of this section, if no funds under that program are made available to the agency or institution.

(d) The Secretary considers funds to be made available to an educational agency or institution of funds under one or more of the programs referenced in paragraph (a) of this section—

(1) Are provided to the agency or institution by grant, cooperative agreement, contract, subgrant, or subcontract; or

(2) Are provided to students attending the agency or institution and the funds may be paid to the agency or institution by those students for educational purposes, such as under the Pell Grant Program and the Guaranteed Student Loan Program (Titles IV-A-1 and IV-B, respectively, of the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended).

(e) If an educational agency or institution receives funds under one or more of the programs covered by this section, the regulations in this part apply to the recipient as a whole, including each of its components (such as a department within a university).

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g)

§ 99.2 What is the purpose of these regulations?

The purpose of this part is to set out requirements for the protection of privacy of parents and students under section 438 of the General Education Provisions Act, as amended.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g)

(Note: 34 CFR 300.560–300.576 contain requirements regarding confidentiality of information relating to handicapped children who receive benefits under the Education of the Handicapped Act.)

§ 99.3 What definitions apply to these regulations?

The following definitions apply to this part:

"Act" means the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, as amended, enacted as section 438 of the General Education Provisions Act.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g)

"Attendance" includes, but is not limited to—

(a) Attendance in person or by correspondence; and

(b) The period during which a person is working under a work-study program.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g)

"Directory information" means information contained in an education record of a student which would not generally be considered harmful or an invasion of privacy if disclosed. It includes, but is not limited to the student's name, address, telephone listing, date and place of birth, major field of study, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of members of athletic teams, dates of attendance, degrees and awards received, and the most recent previous educational agency or institution attended.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(a)(5)(A))

"Disclosure" means to permit access to or the release, transfer, or other communication of education records, or the personally indentifiable information contained in those records, to any party, by any means, including oral, written, or electronic means.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(b)(1))

"Educational agency or institution" means any public or private agency or institution to which this part applies under § 99.1(a).

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(a)(3))

"Education records" (a) The term means those records that are—

(1) Directly related to a student; and

(2) Maintained by an educational agency or institution or by a party acting for the agency or institution.

(b) The term does not include—

(1) Records of instructional, supervisory, and administrative personnel and educational personnel ancillary to those persons that are kept in the sole possession of the maker of the record, and are not accessible or revealed to any other person except a temporary substitute for the maker of the record;

(2) Records of a law enforcement unit of an educational agency or institution, but only if education records maintained by the agency or institution are not disclosed to the unit, and the law enforcement records are—

(i) Maintained separately from education records;

(ii) Maintained solely for law enforcement purposes; and

(iii) Disclosed only to law enforcement officials of the same jurisdiction;

(3)(i) Records relating to an individual who is employed by an educational agency or institution, that—

(A) Are made and maintained in the normal course of business;

(B) Relate exclusively to the individual in that individual's capacity as an employee; and

(C) Are not available for use for any other purpose.

(ii) Records relating to an individual in attendance at the agency or institution who is employed as a result of his or her status as a student are education records and not excepted under paragraph (b)(3)(i) of this definition.

(4) Records on a student who is 18 years of age or older, or is attending an institution of postsecondary education, that are—

(i) Made or maintained by a physician, psychiatrist, psychologist, or other recognized professional or paraprofessional acting in his or her professional capacity or assisting in a paraprofessional capacity;

(ii) Made, maintained, or used only in connection with treatment of the student; and

(iii) Disclosed only to individuals providing the treatment. For the purpose of this definition, "treatment" does not include remedial educational activities or activities that are part of the program of instruction at the agency or institution; and

(5) Records that only contain information about an individual after he or she is no longer a student at that agency or institution.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(a)(4))

"Eligible student" means a student who has reached 18 years of age or is attending an institution of postsecondary education.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(d))

"Institution of postsecondary education" means an institution that provides education to students beyond the secondary school level; "secondary school level" means the educational level (not beyond grade 12) at which secondary education is provided as determined under State law.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(d))

"Parent" means a parent of a student and includes a natural parent, a guardian, or an individual acting as a parent in the absence of a parent or a guardian.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g)

"Party" means an individual, agency, institution, or organization.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(b)(4)(A))

"Personally identifiable information" includes, but is not limited to—

(a) The student's name;

(b) The name of the student's parent or other family member;

(c) The address of the student or student's family;

(d) A personal identifier, such as the student's social security number or student number;

(e) A list of personal characteristics that would make the student's identity easily traceable; or

(f) Other information that would make the student's identity easily traceable.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g)

"Record" means any information recorded in any way, including, but not limited to, handwriting, print, tape, film, microfilm, and microfiche.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g)

"Secretary" means the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Education or an official or employee of the Department of Education acting for the Secretary under a delegation of authority.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g)

"Student", except as otherwise specifically provided in this part, means any individual who is or has been in attendance at an educational agency or institution and regarding whom the agency or institution maintains education records.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(a)(6))

§ 99.4 What are the rights of parents?

An educational agency or institution shall give full rights under the Act to either parent, unless the agency or institution has been provided with evidence that there is a court order, State statute, or legally binding document relating to such matters as divorce, separation, or custody that specifically revokes these rights.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g)

§ 99.5 What are the rights of eligible students?

(a) When a student becomes an eligible student, the rights accorded to, and consent required of, parents under this part transfer from the parents to the student.

(b) The Act and this part do not prevent educational agencies or institutions from giving students rights in addition to those given to parents.

(c) If an individual is or has been in attendance at one component of an educational agency or institution, that attendance does not give the individual rights as a student in other components of the agency or institution to which the individual has applied for admission, but has never been in attendance.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(d))

§ 99.6 What information must an educational agency's or institution's policy contain?

(a) Each educational agency or institution shall adopt a policy regarding how the agency or institution meets the requirements of the Act and of this part. The policy must include—

(1) How the agency or institution informs parents and students of their rights, in accord with § 99.7;

(2) How a parent or eligible student may inspect and review education records under § 99.10, including at least—

(i) The procedure the parent or eligible student must follow to inspect and review the records;

(ii) With an understanding that it may not deny access to education records, a description of the circumstances in which the agency or institution believes it has a legitimate cause to deny a request for a copy of those records;

(iii) A schedule of fees (if any) to be charged for copies; and

(iv) A list of the types and locations of education records maintained by the agency or institution, and the titles and addresses of the officials responsible for the records;

(3) A statement that personally identifiable information will not be released from an education record without the prior written consent of the parent or eligible student, except under one or more of the conditions described in § 99.31;

(4) A statement indicating whether the educational agency or institution has a policy of disclosing personally identifiable information under § 99.31(a)(1), and, if so, a specification of the criteria for determining which parties are school officials and what the agency or institution considers to be a legitimate educational interest;

(5) A statement that a record of disclosures will be maintained as required by § 99.32, and that a parent or eligible student may inspect and review that record;

(6) A specification of the types of personally identifiable information the agency or institution has designated as directory information under § 99.37; and

(7) A statement that the agency or institution permits a parent or eligible student to request correction of the student's education records under § 99.20, to obtain a hearing under § 99.21(a), and to add a statement to the record under § 99.21(b)(2).

(b) The educational agency or institution shall state the policy in writing and make a copy of it available on request to a parent or eligible student.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(e) and (f))

(Approved by the Office of Management and Budget under control number 1880–0508)

§ 99.7 What must an educational agency or institution include in its annual notification?

(a) Each educational agency or institution shall annually notify parents of students currently in attendance, and eligible students currently in attendance, at the agency or institution of their rights under the Act and this part. The notice must include a statement that the parent or eligible student has a right to—

(1) Inspect and review the student's education records;

(2) Request the amendment of the student's education records to ensure that they are not inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the student's privacy or other rights;

(3) Consent to disclosures of personally identifiable information contained in the student's education records, except to the extent that the Act and the regulations in this part authorize disclosure without consent;

(4) File with the U.S. Department of Education a complaint under § 99.64 concerning alleged failures by the agency or institution to comply with the requirements of the act and this part; and

(5) Obtain a copy of the policy adopted under § 99.6.

(b) The notice provided under paragraph (a) of this section must also indicate the places where copies of the policy adopted under § 99.6 are located.

(c) An educational agency or institution may provide this notice by any means that are reasonably likely to inform the parents and eligible students of their rights.

(d) An agency or institution of elementary or secondary education shall effectively notify parents of students who have a primary or home language other than English.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(e))

(Approved by the Office of Management and Budget under control number 1880–0508)

Subpart B—What are the Rights of Inspection and Review of Education Records?

§ 99.10 What rights exist for a parent or eligible student to inspect and review education records?

(a) Except as limited under § 99.12, each educational agency or institution shall permit a parent or eligible student to inspect and review the education records of the student.

(b) The educational agency or institution shall comply with a request for access to records within a reasonable period of time, but in no case more than 45 days after it has received the request.

(c) The educational agency or institution shall respond to reasonable requests for explanations and interpretations of the records.

(d) The educational agency or institution shall give the parent or eligible student a copy of the records if failure to do so would effectively prevent the parent or student from exercising the right to inspect and review the records.

(e) The educational agency or institution shall not destroy any education records if there is an outstanding request to inspect and review the records under this section.

(f) While an education agency or institution is not required to give an eligible student access to treatment records under paragraph (b)(4) of the definition of "Education records" in § 99.3, the student may have those records reviewed by a physician or other appropriate professional of the student's choice.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(a)(1)(A))

§ 99.11 May an educational agency or institution charge a fee for copies of education records?

(a) Unless the imposition of a fee effectively prevents a parent or eligible student from exercising the right to inspect and review the student's education records, an educational agency or institution may charge a fee for a copy of an education record which is made for the parent or eligible student.

(b) An educational agency or institution may not charge a fee to search for or to retrieve the education records of a student.

§ 99.12 What limitations exist on the right to inspect and review records?

(a) If the education records of a student contain information on more than one student, the parent or eligible student may inspect, review, or be informed of only the specific information about that student.

(b) A postsecondary institution does not have to permit a student to inspect and review education records that are—

(1) Financial records, including any information those records contain, of his or her parents;

(2) Confidential letters and confidential statements of recommendation placed in the education records of the student before January 1, 1975, as long as the statements are used only for the purposes for which they were specifically intended; and

(3) Confidential letters and confidential statements of recommendation placed in the student's education records after January 1, 1975, if—

(i) The student has waived his or her right to inspect and review those letters and statements, and

(ii) Those letters and statements are related to the student's—

(A) Admission to an educational institution;

(B) Application for employment; or

(C) Receipt of an honor or honorary recognition.

(c)(1) A waiver under paragraph (b)(3)(i) of this section is valid only if—

(i) The educational agency or institution does not require the waiver as a condition for admission to or receipt of a service or benefit from the agency or institution; and

(ii) The waiver is made in writing and signed by the student, regardless of age.

(2) If a student has waived his or her rights under paragraph (b)(3)(i) of this section, the educational institution shall—

(i) Give the student, on request, the names of the individuals who provided the letters and statements of recommendation; and

(ii) Use the letters and statements of recommendation only for the purpose for which they were intended.

(3)(i) A waiver under paragraph (b)(3)(i) of this section may be revoked with respect to any actions occurring after the revocation.

(ii) A revocation under paragraph (c)(3)(i) of this section must be in writing.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(a)(1) (A) and (B))

Subpart C—What are the Procedures for Amending Education Records?

§ 99.20 How can a parent or eligible student request amendment of the student's education records?

(a) If a parent or eligible student believes the education records relating to the student contain information that is inaccurate, misleading, or in violation of the student's rights of privacy or other rights, he or she may ask the educational agency or institution to amend the record.

(b) The educational agency or institution shall decide whether to amend the record as requested within a reasonable time after the agency or institution receives the request.

(c) if the educational agency or institution decides not to amend the record as requested, it shall inform the parent or eligible student of its decision and of his or her right to a hearing under § 99.21.

§ 99.21 Under what conditions does a parent or eligible student have the right to a hearing?

(a) An educational agency or institution shall give a parent or eligible student, on request, an opportunity for a hearing to challenge the content of the student's education records on the grounds that the information contained in the education records is inaccurate, misleading, or in violation of the privacy or other rights of the student.

(b)(1) If, as a result of the hearing, the educational agency or institution decides that the information is inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the privacy or other rights of the student, it shall—

(i) Amend the record accordingly; and

(ii) Inform the parent or eligible student of the amendment in writing.

(2) If, as a result of the hearing, the educational agency or institution decides that the information in the education record is not inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the privacy or other rights of the student, it shall inform the parent or eligible student of the right to place a statement in the record commenting on the contested information in the record or stating why he or she disagrees with the decision of the agency or institution, or both.

(c) If an educational agency or institution places a statement in the education records of a student under paragraph (b)(2) of this section, the agency or institution shall—

(1) Maintain the statement with the contested part of the record for as long as the record is maintained; and

(2) Disclose the statement whenever it discloses the portion of the record to which the statement relates.

§ 99.22 What minimum requirements exist for the conduct of a hearing?

The hearing required by § 99.21 must meet, at a minimum, the following requirements:

(a) The educational agency or institution shall hold the hearing within a reasonable time after it has received the request for the hearing from the parent or eligible student.

(b) The educational agency or institution shall give the parent or eligible student notice of the date, time, and place, reasonably in advance of the hearing.

(c) The hearing may be conducted by any individual, including an official of the educational agency or institution, who does not have a direct interest in the outcome of the hearing.

(d) The educational agency or institution shall give the parent or eligible student a full and fair opportunity to present evidence relevant to the issues raised under § 99.21. The parent or eligible student may, at their own expense, be assisted or represented by one or more individuals of his or her own choice, including an attorney.

(e) The educational agency or institution shall make its decision in writing within a reasonable period of time after the hearing.

(f) The decision must be based solely on the evidence presented at the hearing, and must include a summary of the evidence and the reasons for the decision.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(a)(2))

Subpart D—May an Educational Agency or Institution Disclose Personally Identifiable Information From Education Records?

§ 99.30 Under what conditions must an educational agency or institution obtain prior consent to disclose information?

(a) Except as provided in § 99.31, an educational agency or institution shall obtain a signed and dated written consent of a parent or an eligible student before it discloses pesonally identifiable information from the student's education records.

(b) The written consent must—

(1) Specify the records that may be disclosed;

(2) State the purpose of the disclosure; and

(3) Identify the party or class of parties to whom the disclosure may be made.

(c) When a disclosure is made under paragraph (a) of this section—

(1) If a parent or eligible student so requests, the educational agency or institution shall provide him or her with a copy of the records disclosed; and

(2) If the parent of a student who is not an eligible student so requests, the agency or institution shall provided the student with a copy of the records disclosed.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g (b)(1) and (b)(2)(A))

§ 99.31 Under what conditions is prior consent not required to disclose information?

(a) An educational agency or institution may disclose personally identifiable information from an education record of a student without the consent required by § 99.30 if the disclosure meets one or more of the following conditions:

(1) The disclosure is to other school officials, including teachers, within the agency or institution whom the agency or institution has determined to have legitimate educational interests.

(2) The disclosure is, subject to the requirements of § 99.34, to officials of another school, school system, or institution of postsecondary education where the student seeks or intends to enroll.

(3) The disclosure is, subject to the requirements of § 99.35, to authorize representatives of—

(i) The Comptroller General of the United States;

(ii) The Secretary; or

(iii) State and local educational authorities.

(4)(i) The disclosure is in connection with financial aid for which the student has applied or which the student has received, if the information is necessary for such purposes as to—

(A) Determine eligibility for the aid;

(B) Determine the amount of the aid;

(C) Determine the conditions for the aid; or

(D) Enforce the terms and conditions of the aid.

(ii) As used in paragraph (a)(4)(i) of this section, "financial aid" means a payment of funds provided to an individual (or a payment in kind of tangible or intangible property to the individual) that is conditioned on the individual's attendance at an educational agency or institution.

(5)(i) The disclosure is to State and local officials or authorities, if a State statute adopted before November 19, 1974, specifically requires disclosures to those officials and authorities.

(ii) Paragraph (a)(5)(i) of this section does not prevent a State from further limiting the number of type or State or local officials to whom disclosures may be made under that paragraph.

(6)(i) The disclosure is to organizations conducting studies for, or on behalf of, educational agencies or institutions to—

(A) Develop, validate, or administer predictive tests;

(B) Administer student aid programs; or

(C) Improve instruction.

(ii) The agency or institution may disclose information under paragraph (a)(6)(i) of this section only if—

(A) The study is conducted in a manner that does not permit personal identification of parents and students by individuals other than representatives of the organization; and

(B) The information is destroyed when no longer needed for the purposes for which the study was conducted.

(iii) For the purposes of paragraph (a)(6) of this section, the term "organization" includes, but is not limited to, Federal, State, and local agencies, and independent organizations.

(7) The disclosure is to accrediting organizations to carry out their accrediting functions.

(8) The disclosure is to parents of a dependent student, as defined in section 152 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954.

(9)(i) The disclosure is to comply with a judicial order or lawfully issued subpoena.

(ii) The educational agency or institution may disclose information under paragraph (a)(9)(i) of this section only if the agency or institution makes a reasonable effort to notify the parent or eligible student of the order or subpoena in advance of compliance.

(10) The disclosure is in connection with a health or safety emergency, under the conditions described in § 99.36.

(11) The disclosure is information the educational agency or institution has designated as "directory information", under the conditions described in § 99.37.

(12) The disclosure is to the parent of a student who is not an eligible student or to the student.

(b) This section does not forbid or require an educational agency or institution to disclose personally identifiable information from the education records of a student to any parties under paragraphs (a) (1) through (11) of this section.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g (a)(5)(A), (b)(1) and (b)(2)(B))

§ 99.32 What recordkeeping requirements exist concerning requests and disclosures?

(a)(1) An educational agency or institution shall maintain a record of each request for access to and each disclosure of personally identifiable information from the education records of each student.

(2) The agency or institution shall maintain the record with the education records of the student as long as the records are maintained.

(3) For each request or disclosure the record must include—

(i) The parties who have requested or received personally identifiable information from the education records; and

(ii) The legitimate interests the parties had in requesting or obtaining the information.

(b) If an educational agency or institution discloses personally identifiable information from an education record with the understanding authorized under § 99.33(b), the record of the disclosure required under this section must include—

(1) The names of the additional parties to which the receiving party may disclose the information on behalf of the educational agency or institution; and

(2) The legitimate interests under § 99.31 which each of the additional parties has in requesting or obtaining the information.

(c) The following parties may inspect the record relating to each student:

(1) The parent or eligible student.

(2) The school official or his or her assistants who are responsible for the custody of the records.

(3) Those parties authorized in § 99.31(a) (1) and (3) for the purposes of auditing the recordkeeping procedures of the educational agency or institution.

(d) Paragraph (a) of this section does not apply if the request was from, or the disclosure was to—

(1) The parent or eligible student;

(2) A school official under § 99.31(a)(1);

(3) A party with written consent from the parent or eligible student; or

(4) A party seeking directory information.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(b)(4)(A))

(Approved by the Office of Management and Budget under control number 1880–0508)

§ 99.33 What limitations apply to the redisclosure of information?

(a)(1) An educational agency or institution may disclose personally identifiable information from an education record only on the condition that the party to whom the information is disclosed will not disclose the information to any other party without the prior consent of the parent or eligible student.

(2) The officers, employees, and agents of a party that receives information under paragraph (a)(1) of this section may use the information, but only for the purposes for which the disclosure was made.

(b) Paragraph (a) of this section does not prevent an educational agency or institution from disclosing personally identifiable information with the understanding that the party receiving the information may make further disclosures of the information on behalf of the educational agency or institution if—

(1) The disclosures meet the requirements of § 99.31; and

(2) The educational agency or institution has complied with the requirements of § 99.32(b).

(c) Paragraph (a) of this section does not apply to disclosures of directory information under § 99.31(a)(11) or to disclosures to a parent or student under § 99.31(a)(12).

(d) Except for disclosures under § 99.31(a) (11) and (12), an educational agency or institution shall inform a party to whom disclosure is made of the requirements of this section.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(b)(4)(B))

§ 99.34 What conditions apply to disclosure of information to other educational agencies or institutions?

(a) An educational agency or institution that discloses an education record under § 99.31(a)(2) shall—

(1) Make a reasonable attempt to notify the parent or eligible student at the last known address of the parent or eligible student, unless—

(i) The disclosure is initiated by the parent or eligible student; or

(ii) The policy of the agency or institution under § 99.6 includes a notice that the agency or institution forwards education records to other agencies or institutions that have requested the records and in which the student seeks or intends to enroll;

(2) Give the parent or eligible student, upon request, a copy of the record that was disclosed; and

(3) Give the parent or eligible student, upon request, an opportunity for a hearing under Subpart C.

(b) An educational agency or institution may disclose an education record of a student in attendance to another educational agency or institution if—

(1) The student is enrolled in or receives services from the other agency or institution; and

(2) The disclosure meets the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(b)(1)(B))

§ 99.35 What conditions apply to disclosure of information for Federal or State program purposes?

(a) The officials listed in § 99.31(a)(3) may have access to education records in connection with an audit or evaluation of Federal or State supported education programs, or for the enforcement of or compliance with Federal legal requirements which relate to those programs.

(b) Information that is collected under paragraph (a) of this section must—

(1) Be protected in a manner that does not permit personal identification of individuals by anyone except the officials referred to in paragraph (a) of this section; and

(2) Be destroyed when no longer needed for the purposes listed in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Paragraph (b) of this section does not apply if—

(1) The parent or eligible student has given written consent for the disclosure under § 99.30; or

(2) The collection of personally identifiable information is specifically authorized by Federal law.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(b)(3))

§ 99.36 What conditions apply to disclosure of information in health and safety emergencies?

(a) An educational agency or institution may disclose personally identifiable information from an education record to appropriate parties in connection with an emergency if knowledge of the information is necessary to protect the health or safety of the student or other individuals.

(b) Paragraph (a) of this section shall be strictly construed.

§ 99.37 What conditions apply to disclosing directory information?

(a) An educational agency or institution may disclose directory information if it has given public notice to parents of students in attendance and eligible students in attendance at the agency or institution of—

(1) The types of personally identifiable information that the agency or institution has designated as directory information;

(2) A parent's or eligible student's right to refuse to let the agency or institution designate any or all of those types of information about the student as directory information; and

(3) The period of time within which a parent or eligible student has to notify the agency or institution in writing that he or she does not want any or all of those types of information about the student designated as directory information.

(b) An educational agency or institution may disclose directory information about former students without meeting the conditions in paragraph (a) of this section.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(a)(5) (A) and (B))

Subpart E—What are the Enforcement Procedures?

§ 99.60 What functions has the Secretary delegated to the Office and to the Education Appeal Board?

(a) For the purposes of this subpart, "Office" means the Family Policy and Regulations Office, U.S. Department of Education.

(b) The Secretary designates the Office to—

(1) Investigate, process, and review complaints and violations under the Act and this part; and

(2) Provide technical assistance to ensure compliance with the Act and this part.

(c) The Secretary designates the Education Appeal Board to act as the Review Board required under the Act.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g (f) and (g), 1234)

§ 99.61 What responsibility does an educational agency or institution have concerning conflict with State or local laws?

If an educational agency or institution determines that it cannot comply with the Act or this part due to a conflict with State or local law, it shall notify the Office within 45 days, giving the text and citation of the conflicting law.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(f))

§ 99.62 What information must an educational agency or institution submit to the Office?

The Office may require an educational agency or institution to submit reports containing information necessary to resolve complaints under the Act and the regulations in this part.

§ 99.63 Where are complaints filed?

A person may file a written complaint with the Office regarding an alleged violation under the Act and this part. The Office's address is: Family Policy and Regulations Office, U.S. Department of Education, Washington, DC 20202.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(g))

§ 99.64 What is the complaint procedure?

(a) A complaint filed under § 99.63 must contain specific allegations of fact giving reasonable cause to believe that a violation of the Act or this part has occurred.

(b) The Office investigates each timely complaint to determine whether the educational agency or institution has failed to comply with the provisions of the Act or this part.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(f))

§ 99.65 What is the content of the notice of complaint issued by the Office?

(a) If the Office receives a complaint, it notifies the complainant and the educational agency or institution against which the violation has been alleged, in writing, that the complaint has been received.

(b) The notice to the agency or institution under paragraph (a) of this section—

(1) Includes the substance of the alleged violation; and

(2) Informs the agency or institution that the Office will investigate the complaint and that the educational agency or institution may submit a written response to the complaint.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(g))

§ 99.66 What are the responsibilities of the Office in the enforcement process?

(a) The Office reviews the complaint and response and may permit the parties to submit further written or oral arguments or information.

(b) Following its investigation, the Office provides to the complainant and the educational agency or institution written notice of its findings and the basis for its findings.

(c) If the Office finds that the educational agency or institution has not complied with the Act or this part, the notice under paragraph (b) of this section—

(1) Includes a statement of the specific steps that the agency or institution must take to comply; and

(2) Provides a reasonable period of time, given all of the circumstances of the case, during which the educational agency or institution may comply voluntarily.

(Authority: 20 U.S.C. 1232g(f))

§ 99.67 How does the Secretary enforce decisions?

(a) If the eductional agency or institution does not comply during the period of time set under § 99.66(c), the Secretary may take an action authorized under 34 CFR Part 78, including—

(1) Issuing a notice of intent to terminate funds under 34 CFR 78.21;

(2) Issuing a notice to withhold funds under 34 CFR 78.21, 200.94(b) or 298.45(b), depending upon the applicable program under which the notice is issued; or

(3) Issuing a notice to cease and desist under 34 CFR 78.31, 200.94(c) or 298.45(c), depending upon the program under which the notice is issued.

(b) If, after an investigation under § 99.66, the Secretary finds that an educational agency or institution has complied voluntarily with the Act or this part, the Secretary provides the complainant and the agency or institution written notice of the decision and the basis for the decision.

DOE-1

System name:

DOE Personnel and General Employment Records (this system of records supplements the General Personnel Records System of the Office of Personnel Management).

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

The records are maintained at the personnel office in each DOE location as listed in Appendix A.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Current and former employees, consultants, board members, and applicants (only to the extent they are considered for competitive selection), specifically including all such personnel of the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, social security number, sex, grade level, occupational code, Official Personnel Folders (SF-66), Service Record Cards (SF-7), records on suggestions and awards, training request and authorization data, training course evaluation statements, appraisals resulting from annual supervisor-employee review, pay requests and dispositions, reduction in-force registers (including associated records of competitive levels and competitive areas), reemployment and repromotion priority lists, retirement-associated eligibility and calculations, records on competitive selections (Form 178, Standard Form 39, and supporting documents), central copy of approved position descriptions, correspondence related to and copies of employee appeals, grievances, and complaints, including records of hearing's or examiner's reports, lists of separated employees, correspondence from employees requesting transfer or reassignment, average grade data, minority group code, data related to and derived from the Payroll/Personnel System (PAY/PERS) and Energy Manpower and Personnel Reporting Information System (EMPRIS).

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; 5 U.S.C. 2102 et seq.; Executive Order 12009; Office of Personnel Management regulations.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

The routine uses listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records, computer printouts, punched cards, magnetic tape and disk, and microfilm.

Retrievability:

By name and social security number.

Safeguards:

Records are maintained in locked file cabinets in controlled access rooms. Computerized records are maintained in the DOE computer center with access limited to those with a need-to-know.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Office of Personnel, MA-10, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20585.

Field Offices: The managers and directors of personnel in the locations where the records are maintained are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Act Activities, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Acts Officer identified in Appendix A; in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, and, if appropriate, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such record may be located, social security number, date of birth, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

The subject individual, supervisors, other Government agencies, former employers, and references provided by subject individual.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

The Secretary has exempted this system from subsection (c)(3), (d), (e)(1), (e)(4), (G), (H), (I) and (f) of 5 U.S.C. 552a under the Privacy Act of 1974. This exemption applies only to information in this system of records which is exempt pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2)(5), or (6).

DOE-2

System name:

DOE Personnel: Supervisor-Maintained Personnel Records.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

The records are maintained at all DOE offices, by employees' respective supervisors.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Current DOE employees; in a few cases, records include former employees, assigned military personnel, or applicants for employment.

Categories of records in the system:

The contents vary from office to office, but include all or some of the following: Copies and summaries of employment history, job description, education, address, next of kin, telephone number, date of birth, awards and commendations received, participation in professional or community activities, training, earnings and leave data, travel actions, certification or qualification examinations, injury reports, appraisals, copy of ADP-produced Form 702, copy of Form 50, assignment records, security infraction notices, records of supervisor-employee discussions, reprimands, admonitions, adverse actions, contingency planning data, security clearance status, and Government property in employee's possession.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

The routine uses listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records, computer printout, punched cards, magnetic tape, disk, paper, and microfiche.

Retrievability:

By name.

Safeguards:

Records are usually maintained in files under the control of supervisory officials.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Office of Personnel, MA-10, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20585.

Field Offices: The managers and directors of personnel in the locations where the records are maintained are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified in Appendix A; in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such record may be located, date of birth, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

The great majority of the data comes directly from the individuals or cognizant supervisory officials; other data comes from copies of personnel action documents.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

DOE-3

System name:

DOE Personnel: Appraisal and Development Records.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

The records are maintained at the personnel office in each DOE location as listed in Appendix A.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All DOE employees.

Categories of records in the system:

Supervisor-employee appraisal (by name of employee), of performance, and preparation of development plans; and, for employees GS-15 and above, an appraisal of managerial potential for the agency Executive Development Program.

Authority for maintenance of the system: 5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

The routine uses listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

On paper ERDA Forms 622, 622A, 622B, 622C, with some older records on Form 625; computer printouts; punched cards; magnetic tape; disk; other paper; and microfiche.

Retrievability:

By name.

Safeguards:

Records are usually maintained in lockable file cabinets under the control of supervisory personnel.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Office of Personnel, MA-10, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20585.

Field Offices: The managers and directors of personnel in the locations where the records are maintained are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified in Appendix A; in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such record may be located, date of birth, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

Supervisors and employees.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act: None.

DOE-4

System name:

Applications for DOE Employment.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

The records are maintained at the personnel office in each DOE location as listed in Appendix A.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals applying for, or inquiring about, employment with DOE and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

Categories of records in the system:

Letters of inquiry, application supply file (Standard Form 171, "Personal Qualifications Statement"; general applications; resumes of personal data, education, work experience, military, and employment history statements); personnel evaluation forms; completed reference check letters and record check forms; interview summary sheets; candidate ratings performed by DOE; authorization of payment of travel expenses; correspondence related to recruitment, application, and employment; test records and academic transcripts (as appropriate); referrals for consideration; medical records; certification of performance ability and medical reports concerning candidates under selective placement programs, such as handicapped persons, offenders, and Vietnam veterans; and other documents related to application and employment.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Key operating officials and supervisors (including military personnel assigned to DOE or directly associated with the naval or military application functions of DOE): Referrals of applicants; evaluation of qualifications and selection of candidates under consideration for employment; or in other activities directly concerned with their official responsibilities.

Colleges and universities participating in the DOE recruiting program: Performance of regular practices in placement of students and in receiving information concerning evaluation or selection of their graduates.

Additional routine uses as listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records, computer printouts, punched cards, magnetic tape, disk, paper, and microfiche.

Retrievability:

By name, occupational category, date, register number; in college recruitment files, retrievable by educational institution's name.

Safeguards:

Physical security varies with records maintained either in a locked and guarded building or in locked file cabinets. In either case, access is limited on a need-to-know basis.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Office of Personnel, MA-10, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20585.

Field Offices: The managers and directors of personnel in the locations where the records are maintained are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified in Appendix A; in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Full name, social security number, date of birth, occupational category and location at which application or other material was submitted; in case of college recruitment material, applicable college or university name, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

Individuals seeking, or referred for, employment; personal references provided by individuals; personnel administrators, officials, assistants, and other staff; interviewers; current and former employers, teachers, supervisors, and other Government agencies; Congressmen, testing officials, State Employment Service; and educational institutions.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

DOE-5

System name:

Personnel Records of Former Contractor Employees.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

The locations listed in Appendix A of 47 FR 14284, dated April 2, 1982.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Former contractor employees.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, employment history, earnings, medical history, and other related information.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Routine uses of records include employment history verification, radiation exposure records for medical and litigation purposes, and issuance of clearances.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to researchers for the purpose of conducting an epidemiological study of workers at a DOE facility if their proposed studies have been reviewed by the National Academy of Sciences and deemed appropriate for such access. A researcher granted access to these records shall be required to sign an agreement to protect the confidentiality of the data and be subject to the same restrictions applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to members of an advisory committee for purposes of conducting a review of the Department of Energy epidemiologic program. Members of an advisory committee who obtain access to the records shall be subject to the same restrictions applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act. Additional routines uses listed in Appendix B of 47 FR 14284, dated April 2, 1982.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records.

Retrievability:

By name.

Safeguards:

Records are maintained in locked or guarded buildings.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Office of Industrial Relations, MA-52, U.S. Department of Energy, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20585.

Field Offices: The managers and directors of personnel in the locations where the records are maintained are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Chief, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified as items 1, 3, 6, 8, 11, 12, and 14 through 18 in Appendix A of 47 FR 14284, dated April 2, 1982, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such record may be located, date of birth, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

The subject individual's employer.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

DOE-6

System name:

Report of Consultants to DOE Contractors.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

The locations listed as items 1, 3, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12, and 15 through 19 in Appendix A.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individual consultants to DOE contractors.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, social security number, budget and reporting classification number, former employer, speciality, services category, specific services provided, contract duration, employer, rate, days worked, total direct compensation, and total contract cost.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

The data is used by Headquarters and field offices in the review of consultant agreements and in determining the extent to which DOE policy is being complied with by contractor employees who are also consultants. The information is also used as a source for identifying individuals possessing special skills relevant to energy concerns. Additional routine uses listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Computer magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

By name, social security number, area of specialization, DOE field office, DOE contractor, and budget and reporting classification number.

Safeguards:

Records are maintained in locked file cabinets in secured and guarded buildings with access on a need-to-know basis.

Retention and disposal:

The Secretary has exempted this system from subsections (c)(3), (d), (e)(1), (e)(4), (G), (H), (I), and (f) of 5 U.S.C. 552a under the Privacy Act of 1974 (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)). This exemption applies only to information in this system of records which is exempt pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(k) (1), (2) and (5).

DOE-28

System name:

General Training Records.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

The locations listed as items 1 through 21 in Appendix A.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All individuals who have requested and participated in training programs administered by DOE, other agencies, or other organizations.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, grade, organization, date of birth, social security number; home address and telephone number and special interest area; education completed, course name, justification for attending the course, direct and indirect costs of training, coded information dealing with purpose, type, source; of 170; course evaluation form, accounting records and central personnel data file quarterly training report.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009; Government Employees Training Act of 1958; Federal Personnel Manual Bulletin 290-15; Federal Personnel Manual, Chapter 410 and Appendix A thereto.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

The information in these records is transmitted to intra- and interagency program offices for purposes of determining eligibility for training; to Federal agencies, including the Office of Personnel Management, as source documents for training reports; to training institutions that personnel have requested to attend; and to other Federal agencies as the information documents for payment of funds for training. Additional routine uses listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records.

Retrievability: By name and social security number.

Safeguards:

Records are maintained in secured file cabinets with access limited to those whose official duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

Training requests and authorizations are retained for 3 years and then destroyed. Other training records are incorporated in the individual's personnel folder.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Employee Development and Training, MA-13, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20585.

Field Offices: The managers, directors, or administrators of field locations 2 through 21 in Appendix A, are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure: a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified as items 1 through 21 in Appendix A; in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such record may be located, date of birth, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

The subject individuals and the individuals' supervisors.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act: None.

DOE-29

System name:

Technology Training Program—Skill Training at Technician Level.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

The locations listed as items 1, 8, and 15 in Appendix A, and the following additional location:

U.S. Department of Energy, Oak Ridge Associated Universities, Oak Ridge Operations Office, P.O. Box 117, Oak Ridge, TN 37830.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Technicians in skill-level training for industrial employers within the energy industry, e.g., construction, electro/mechanical drafting, inhalation toxicologists, radiation monitoring, welding inspection, vacuum technology, and laser and optics technology.

Categories of records in the system:

Applications for training assigment, work histories, education, training evaluations.

Authority for maintenance of the system: 5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: The routine uses listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Computer printouts, punched cards, magnetic tapes, disks, paper, and mirofiche.

Retrievability:

By name.

Safeguards:

Records are maintained in a guarded building.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Office of Industrial Relations, MA-70, Washington, DC 20585.

Field Offices: The managers and directors of field locations 8 and 15 of Appendix A, and the Oak Ridge Operations Office are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure: a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified as items 8 and 15 in Appendix A, in accordance with DOE's Privacy regulations (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such record may be located, date of birth, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

Subject individual and contractor by whom the individual is employed.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act: None.

DOE-31

System name:

Firearms Qualification Records.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

The locations listed as items 1, 3, 6, 8, 11, 12, and 14 through 18 in Appendix A, and the following additional locations:

U.S. Department of Energy, Amarillo Area Office, Pantex Plant, P.O. Box 1086, Amarillo, TX 79105
U.S. Department of Energy, Dayton Area Office, Mound Laboratory, Box 66, Miamisburg, OH 45342
U.S. Department of Energy, Kansas City Area Office, P.O. Box 202, 200 E. Bannister Road, Kansas City, MO 64141
U.S. Department of Energy, Los Alamos Area Office, 528 35th Street, Los Alamos, NM 87544
U.S. Department of Energy, Pinellas Area Office, GE Pinellas Peninsula, P.O. Box 11500, St. Petersburg, FL 33733
U.S. Department of Energy, Rocky Flats Area Office, P.O. Box 928, Golden, CO 80401
U.S. Department of Energy, Sandia Area Office, Technical Area I, Kirtland Air Force Base-East, Albuquerque, NM 87115
U.S. Department of Energy, San Francisco Livermore Site Office, Trailer 125, Room 106, Livermore, CA 94550

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Department of Energy employees and contractor employees who familiarize themselves or qualify with firearms in the performance of their regular duties.

Categories of records in the system:

Records of an individual's annual qualification scores; approvals of gun permits; records concerning accountability of firearms.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Wackenhut Services Inc. (Nevada) Training and Administrative Personnel-performance of regular duties.

Los Alamos County Sheriff-deputation of individuals.

Los Alamos County Clerk-recording of Deputy Commission.

Los Alamos District Court Clerk-recording of Deputy Commission.

Additional routine uses 1, 2, 3, 5, 8, and 9 listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records.

Retrievability:

By name.

Safeguards:

Access is limited to employees having a need-to-know. Records are stored in security areas under guard and/or alarm protection.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Record Disposition." Records within the Department of Energy are destoryed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Office of Safeguards and Security, DP-34, Washington, DC 20545.

Field Offices:

The managers and directors of field locations 3, 6, 8, 11, 12, and 14 through 18 in Appendix A, are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified as items 3, 6, 8, 11, 12 and 14 through 18 in Appendix A; in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such record may be located, date of birth, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

Gun permit notifications and firearm qualifications results from individuals and training personnel.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

DOE-32

System name:

Government Motor Vehicle Operator Records.

Security classification: Unclassified.

System location:

The locations listed as items 1 through 21 in Appendix A, and the following additional locations:

U.S. Department of Energy, Bonneville Power Administration, Portland Area Office, 919 Northeast 19th Avenue, P.O. Box 3621, Portland, OR 97208
U.S. Department of Energy, Bonneville Power Administration, Seattle Area Office, 415 First Avenue North, Room 250, Seattle, WA 98109
U.S. Department of Energy, Bonneville Power Administration, Spokane Area Office, United States Court House, Room 561, West 920 Riverside Avenue, Spokane, WA 99201
U.S. Department of Energy, Bonneville Power Administration, Ross Complex, 5400 Northeast Highway 99, P.O. Box 491, Vancouver, WA 98660
U.S. Department of Energy, Bonneville Power Administration, West 101 Polar, P.O. Box 1518, Walla Walla, WA 99362
U.S. Department of Energy, Carbondale Mining Research Center, P.O. Box 2587, Carbondale, IL 62901
U.S. Department of Energy, Los Alamos Area Office, 528 35th Street, Los Alamos, NM 87544
U.S. Department of Energy, Naval Petroleum Reserve, P.O. Box 11, Tupman, CA 93276
U.S. Department of Energy, New Brunswick Laboratory, D-350, 9800 S. Cass Avenue, Argonne, IL 60439
U.S. Department of Energy, Rocky Flats Area Office, P.O. Box 928, Golden, CO 80401
U.S. Department of Energy, Solar Energy Research Institute, 1536 Cole Boulevard, Golden, CO 80401
U.S. Department of Energy, Strategic Petroleum Reserve, 900 Commerce Road, East, New Orleans, LA 70123

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Each DOE employee and contractor employee whose job duties require frequent or occasional use of Government-owned or-leased vehicles and who apply for Motor Vehicle Operator Identification Cards (Standard Form 46). Also, some U.S. Geological Survey personnel, U.S. Forest Service personnel, and Nuclear Regulatory Commission personnel.

Categories of records in the system:

Motor Vehicle Operator Identification Cards (Standard Form 46) which contains, name, card number, date issued, date expires, sex, date of birth, color of hair, color of eyes, height, weight, birthplace, name and location of issuing unit, signature of operator, vehicle qualified to operate, other records (optional), (Social Security number and traffic arrests have been deleted from this form for Headquarters); Application for Motor Vehicle Operators Identification Cards (DOE Form 97) which contains, name, home address, place of birth, employer, job title, sex, date of birth, color of hair, color of eyes, height, weight, number of years driving, number of years driving manual shift, whether driven 5000 miles in past 3 years, whether completed driving course, state of chauffers license and number, state of operators license and number, state and expiration date, whether road test was required for operators license, convictions traffic violations in past 2 years, accidents in past 2 years, medical history, glasses/contacts/hearing aid.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; 40 U.S.C. 491(j); Executive Order 12009; Federal Property Management Regulations concerning use of Government-owned and leased vehicles.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: To determine eligibility for operation of Government motor vehicles. Additional routine uses 1, 2, 3, 4, 8, and 9 listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper, microfiche, computer printouts, punched cards, magnetic tape, and disk.

Retrievability:

By name, chronologically by expiration date and date of any incidents, and numerically by badge number.

Safeguards:

Maintained in buildings with controlled access, combination file safe, and key lock file.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Office of Administrative Services, MA-40, 1000 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20585.

Field Offices:

The managers and directors of field locations identified as items 2 through 21 in Appendix A, are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure: a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified as items 1 through 21 in Appendix A; in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, location(s) of DOE installation, where Government driver's license was issued, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

Individual applications, accident reports, examinations (for qualifications) by medical personnel, National Driver Register, reports by citizens on alleged misuse of Federal vehicles, and state or local police.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

DOE-33

System name:

Personnel Medical Records.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

The locations listed in Appendix A of 47 FR 14284, dated April 2, 1982, and the following additional locations:

U.S. Department of Energy, Bendix Corporation, P.O. Box 1159, Kansas City, MO 64141.

U.S. Department of Energy, Bettis Atomic Power Laboratory, P.O. Box 79, Pittsburgh, PA 15122-0079.

U.S. Department of Energy, Dayton Area Office, Box 66, Miamisburg, OH 45342.

U.S. Department of Energy, Kansas City Area Office, Box 410202, Kansas City, MO 64141.

U.S. Department of Energy, Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory, P.O. Box 1072, Schenectady, NY 12301.

U.S. Department of Energy, Los Alamos Area Office, 528 35th Street, Los Alamos, NM 87544.

U.S. Department of Energy, Naval Petroleum Reserves, P.O. Box 11, Tupman, CA 93276.

U.S. Department of Energy, Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Bettis Atomic Power Laboratory, Naval Reactors Facility, P.O. Box 2068, Idaho Falls, ID 83403-2068.

U.S. Department of Energy, Strategic Petroleum Reserve, 900 Commerce Road, East, New Orleans, LA 70123.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Present and former DOE employees and DOE contractor employees. This system includes individuals admitted to or treated at Kadlec Hospital, Richland, prior to September 9, 1956.

Categories of records in the system:

Medical histories on employees resulting from medical examination and radiation exposure. In cases of injury, description of injury occurrence and treatment. In addition, medical records of periodic physical examinations and pyschological testing, blood donor program records, audiometric testing, routine first aid, and other visits. Also, hospital in-patients at Kadlec Hospital. Records kept on the results of work place and medical monitoring of individuals for exposure to chemical and physical agents (not covered in DOE-35) and related work history data.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference to Title II of the Department of Energy Organization Act; 5 U.S.C. 7901; Executive Order 12009; OMB Circular A-72.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Physicians, U.S. Department of Labor, various state departments of labor and industry groups, and contractors use information (a) to ascertain suitability of an employee for job assignments with regard to health, (b) to provide benefits under Federal programs or contracts, and (c) to maintain a record of occupational injuries or illnesses and the performance of regular diagnostic and treatment services to patients.

DOE may disclose a record from this system of records to officials of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health for the purpose of conducting a health hazard evaluation of workers.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to researchers for the purpose of conducting an epidemiologic study of workers at a DOE facility if their proposed studies have been reviewed by the National Academy of Sciences and deemed appropriate for such access. A researcher granted access to these records shall be required to sign an agreement to protect the confidentiality of the data and be subject to the same restrictions applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to members of an advisory committee for purposes of conducting a review of the Department of Energy epidemiologic program. Members of an advisory committee who obtain access to the records shall be subject to the same restrictions applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act. Additional routine uses listed in Appendix B of 47 FR 14284, dated April 2, 1982.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Computer printouts, magnetic tape, paper, computer disc, and microfilm.

Retrievability:

By name, social security number, and plant area.

Safeguards:

Active records are maintained in locked file cabinets in locked buildings. Inactive records are maintained in locked storage vaults.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Safety, Health and Quality Assurance, EH-30, Washington, DC 20585.

Field Offices: The managers and directors of field locations identified as items 2 through 21 Appendix A of 47 FR 14284, dated April 2, 1982, are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Chief, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified as items 1 through 21 in Appendix A of 47 FR 14284, dated April 2, 1982, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Applicable location or locations where individual is or was employed, full name or where requester believes such record may be located, social security number, employer(s), and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

The individual who is the subject of the record, physicians, medical institutions, Office of Workers Compensation Programs, military retired pay systems records, Federal civilian retirement systems, Office of Personnel Management retirement life insurance and health benefits records system, and the Office of Personnel Management personnel management records systems.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

DOE-34

System name:

Employee Assistance Program (Alcohol and Drug Abuse Program).

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

These records are maintained at all DOE offices.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Employees receiving counseling and referral services to resolve alcohol and/or drug abuse problems.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, address, job title, grade level, date of employment, work history, community social service agency referrals, and medical reports.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Comprehensive Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism Prevention, Treatment and Rehabilitation Act of 1970; Federal Personnel Manual Letter No. 792-4; 5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

The routine uses listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records.

Retrievability:

By name.

Safeguards:

Records are located in lockable metal file cabinets with access limited to those whose official duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Division of Personnel Policies and Programs, MA-12, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20585.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) employees and contractor employees, and any other persons having access to certain DOE facilities.

Categories of records in the system:

U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) and contractor personnel and other individuals' radiation exposure records, and other records, in connection with registeries of uranium, transuranics, or other elements encountered in the nuclear industry.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

U.S. Navy uses these records to monitor radiation exposure of Naval and other personnel.

Nuclear Regulatory Commission uses these records to monitor radiation exposure of DOE contractor personnel. U.S. Department of Energy and its contractors and consultants, other contractors, and organizations, including various states' departments of labor and industry groups, use these records to monitor radiation exposure.

Department of Defense uses these records for the purpose of identifying DOD and DOD-contractor personnel exposed to inoizing radiation during nuclear testing and for conducting epidemiological studies of radiation effects on individuals so identified.

National Academy of Sciences and Center for Disease Control (and appropriate management personnel of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services) use these records for conducting epidemiologic studies of the effects of radiation on individuals exposed to ionizing radiation.

The Department of Energy may disclose a record from this system of records to officials of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health for the purpose of conducting a health hazard evaluation of workers.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to researchers for the purpose of conducting an epidemiologic study of workers at a DOE facility if their proposed studies have been reviewed by the National Academy of Sciences and deemed appropriate for such access. A researcher granted access to these records shall be required to sign an agreement to protect the confidentiality of the date and be subject to the same restrictions applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to members of an advisory committee for purposes of conducting a review of the Department of Energy epidemiologic program. Members of an advisory committee who obtain access to the records shall be subject to the same restrictions applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Computer printouts, paper records, index cards, magnetic tape, punched cards, microfilm, and disc.

Retrievability:

By name, alphanumeric code, and social security number.

Safeguards:

Records are maintained in locked file cabinets, locked safes, guarded areas, and secured buildings, with access on a need-to-know basis.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are rendered illegible and destroyed by shredding, maceration or burning, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Safety, Health and Quality Assurance, EH-30, Washington, DC 20585.

Field Offices: The managers and directors of field locations 3, 4, and 6 through 18 in Appendix A, of 47 FR 14284, dated April 2, 1982, and the additional locations listed above under System Location are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Chief, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified as items 1, 3, 4, and 6 through 18 in Appendix A of 47 FR 14284, dated April 2, 1982, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

5 U.S.C. 301; section 208 of the Department of Energy Organization Act.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

This system represents that portion of the files of the Inspector General which covers IG investigations of individuals. The records are used in IG investigations and for the referral of violations of law to law enforcement authorities. Records may be disclosed in accordance with the routine uses listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records.

Retrievability:

By name, case number, and title of investigative report.

Safeguards:

Information is kept in locked General Services Administration approved Class 6 security containers. Access is on a need-to-know basis.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Inspector General, IG-1, Washington, D.C. 20585.

Field Offices: The representatives of the IG of field locations 2 through 21 in Appendix A, are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information Acts Activities, Department of Energy, Washington, D.C. 20585, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such records may be located, date of birth, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

The subject individual, complaints, witnesses, respondents, confidential sources, agency files and records, and official Federal, state, or local records.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

Under subsection (j)(2) of the Privacy Act, this system has been exempted from subsections (c)(3) and (4), (d)(1)-(4), (e)(1)-(3), (5), and (8), and (g) of the Act; see DOE's Privacy Act regulation at 10 CFR 1008.12(a), 45 FR 61576, 61582, September 16, 1980. This exemption applies to information in the system that relates to criminal law enforcement and meets the criteria of the (j)(2) exemption. Under Subsections (k)(1), (2), and (5) of the Act, this system has been exempted from subsections (c)(3), (d), and (e)(1) of the Act; see DOE's Privacy Act regulation at 10 CFR 1008.12(b). This exemption applies to information in the system that meets the criteria of the (k)(2) and (5) exemptions.

DOE–55

System name:

Freedom of Information and Privacy Act Requests for Records.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

All DOE locations listed in Appendix A, and the following additional location: U.S. Department of Energy, Brookhaven National Laboratory, Industrial Medicine Division, Upton, NY 11973.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals requesting copies of records from DOE under the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act and under the Privacy Act of 1974.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, address, and telephone number; description or identification of records requested, furnished, and/or denied; dates of request and responses; amount of fees paid, if any; payment delinquencies, if any; final determinations of appeals or denials; and the names and titles of authorizing officials, and officials responsible for denials. Copies of requested records are not maintained in this system.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Freedom of Information Acts; (5 U.S.C. 552) Privacy Act of 1974; (5 U.S.C. 552a); 5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

These records are available for public inspection at all times.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and microfiche.

Retrievability:

By name of requester.

Safeguards:

Records are located in lockable metal file cabinets with access limited to those whose official duties require access. Indices of records held are available for public inspection.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2 "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, MA-43, Washington, DC 20585.

Field Offices: The Privacy Act Officers of field locations 2 through 21 in Appendix A, are the system managers for their respective portions of this system.

Notification procedure: a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified as items 2 through 21 in Appendix A. in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such record may be located, date of birth, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

The subject individual.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

DOE-56

System name:

Congressional Constituent Inquiries.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

All DOE locations (except item 11) in Appendix A, and the following additional location: U.S. Department of Energy, Brookhaven National Laboratory, Industrial Medicine Division, Upton, NY 11973.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals on whose behalf there have been Congressional inquiries and members of Congress making requests on behalf of their constituents.

Categories of records in the system:

Name and address of constituent and date of letter by a Senator or member of Congress on behalf of the constituent; materials forwarded by a member of Congress; and DOE response.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; 44 U.S.C. 3101; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: The records are used to record Congressional inquiries on behalf of constituents, to ensure proper document control of the response, and to reference DOE responses to such inquiries. Additional routine uses 4, 7, 9, and 10 as listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records.

Retrievability:

By name of constituent and name of member of Congress.

Safeguards:

Records are located in lockable metal file cabinets in secured rooms or secured premises with access limited to those whose official duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2 "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

The head of each office which maintains such records.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy, (Headquarters) or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified as items 2 through 21 (except item 11) in Appendix A, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such record may be located, date of birth, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

Subject individual, member of Congress, and drafter of DOE response.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

DOE-57

System name:

Congressional Profiles.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

U.S. Department of Energy, Office of Congressional Affairs, CP-30, Washington, D.C. 20585.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Current members of Congress.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, picture (taken from Congressional Pictorial Directory), personal background (as developed from published sources), demographic information by state or district, committee assignments, and energy interests (as developed from published sources, information from members's office, abstracts from Congressional Record, committee hearings and other public sources).

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosures to Office of Congressional Affairs personnel and senior Departmental officials for informational purposes in the ordinary course of business.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records and computer printouts.

Retrievability:

Name, committee membership, state, region, and energy issue topic.

Safeguards:

Records are maintained in Federal building with 24-hour guard service. Access is limited to authorized personnel on a need-to-know basis.

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained as long as the subject individual remains a member of Congress.

System manager(s) and address:

U.S. Department of Energy, Deputy Assistant Secretary, Office of Congressional Affairs, CP-30, Washington, D.C. 20585.

Notification procedure:

Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy, Washington, D.C. 20585, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

Published sources, committee hearings, and the members' offices.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

System name:

General Correspondence Files.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

All DOE locations listed and the following additional location: U.S. Department of Energy, Brookhaven National Laboratory, Industrial Medicine Division, Upton, NY 11973.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals communicating by letter with DOE.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, address of correspondent, and copies of the agency response. This is the portion of DOE's correspondence files that relates to correspondence with individuals.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; 44 U.S.C. 3101; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

The records are used by DOE personnel to record written communications from correspondents outside of DOE, to ensure proper document control of the DOE response, and as a reference for such response. Additional routine uses listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records.

Retrievability:

By name.

Safeguards:

Records are located in lockable metal file cabinets in secured rooms with access limited to those whose official duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2 "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

The head of each office which maintains such records.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy (Headquarters), or the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate address identified as items 1 through 21, in Appendix A, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such record may be located, date of birth, and time period.

System name:

Mailing Lists for Requesters of Energy Related Information.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

All DOE locations listed in Appendix A.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Persons requesting energy related information.

Categories of records in the system:

Each of DOE's mailing lists contains the name and address of the subject individual; some mailing lists may also indicate specific interests of or publications requested by the individual.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

The records are released to contractors handling bulk and single copy mailings for DOE. Names and addresses of such contractors may be requested from the appropriate system manager. Additional routine uses 8 and 9 as listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records, punched cards, magnetic tape and disk, and microfiche.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by record identification code number; by type of information being disseminated (e.g., solar, nuclear, etc); or by the occupation, profession, or other stated interest of an individual.

Safeguards:

Access is limited to employees with a need-to-know in the performance of their duties. Records are maintained in buildings with controlled access. Computer information is controlled through established DOE computer center procedures of personnel screening and physical security.

Retention and disposal:

The lists are cotinually updated.

System name:

Census of High Energy Physicists.

Security classification:

System location:

U.S. Department of Energy, Office of Energy Research, ER-1, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20585.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Scientists and graduate students in the field of high energy physics.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, date of birth, education, employment history, research support agencies, and technical specialities.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Physicists, research organizations and various Government organizations engaged in physics research—to obtain information on individuals and organizations engaged in high energy physics research. Additional routine uses 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, and 9 listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Magnetic tape and disk.

Retrievability:

By name, employer, or any other combination of data.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

U.S. Department of Energy, Associate Director, High Energy and Nuclear Physics, ER-20, Washington, DC 20545.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy, Washington, DC 20585, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such record may be located, date of birth, and time period.

System name:

Historical Files—Published Information Concerning Selected Persons in the Energy Field.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

U.S. Department of Energy, History Division, Office of the Executive Secretariat, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20585.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Selected senior staff officials of the Manhattan Project, Atomic Energy Commission, Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Energy Research and Development Administration, DOE, and other selected individuals prominent in the energy field.

Categories of records in the system:

Newspaper and magazine articles, press releases, announcements, and speeches.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Records are used to prepare histories in responding to informational inquiries from members of the public including the media, and in responding to requests from DOE officials.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records.

Retrievability:

By name.

Safeguards:

Records are maintained in a locked vault with access dependent upon the permission of the Historian's Office.

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained indefinitely with no plans for their disposal.

System manager(s) and address:

U.S. Department of Energy, History Division, Office of the Executive Secretariat, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20585.

Notification procedure:

Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy, Washington, DC 20585, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

DOE-64

System name:

Low-Income Weatherization Program Home Report Records.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

For each state participating in this program, the records will be located in the community action agency designated by the state to implement the program. A list of participating states and community action agencies is available from the Director, Office of Weatherization Assistance, Office of Conservation and Renewable Energy, Washington, DC 20585.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All persons eligible for weatherization assistance participating in DOE-sponsored weatherization programs.

Categories of records in the system:

Information about weatherization program participants, including name, address, annual income; whether participant receives public assistance; whether the participant owns or rents; and number of elderly, handicapped, native American, migrants, and total members in a participant's household; informaton about the characteristics of a participant's dwelling, including fuel use data; before and after information about improvements to the dwelling to be undertaken in connection with the program and information about the costs of such improvements; information about the hours and source of labor involved in making the improvements.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Title III of the Energy Conservation and Production Act, Pub. L. 94-305, as amended by Title II, National Energy Conservation Policy Act, Pub. L. 95-619, and Title V of the Energy Security Act, Pub. L. 96-294; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: The participating community action agencies will use the records maintained for the following purposes: Determination of whether and which improvements should be undertaken; determination of correlation of the demographic and building characteristics to the quantity, quality, and cost of the work undertaken to enable the DOE to monitor the effectiveness of the program.

The DOE will use the record for the following purposes: To assure the effective provisions of weatherization assistance for the dwelling units of low-income persons; to carry out periodic evaluations of the program.

Additional routine uses 1, 4, 7, 8, and 9 as listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records.

Retrievability:

By name.

Safeguards:

The contracts with the community action agencies stipulate that the community action agencies will exercise all diligence in controlling access to the records maintained under this program and that only authorized members of the community action agency and other routine users will be allowed to use the data. All personnel that handle or process the data are to be instructed and cautioned as to the confidentiality of the data and its proper disposition.

Retention and disposal:

Records will be retention for 3 years or until the completion of the low-income weatherization program. Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in "DOE 1324.2, Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

For each state participating in the program, the system manager will be head of the community action agency designated by the State to implement the program. A list of participating states and community action agencies is available from: U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Office of Weatherization Assistance, Office of Conservation and Renewable Energy, CE-25, Washington, DC 20585.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy, Washington, DC 20585, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

b. Required indentifying information. Complete name, the geographic location(s) and organization(s) where requester believes such record may be located, date of birth, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

The subject individuals and those authorized by the individuals to furnish information.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act: None.

DOE-65

System name:

Energy Extension Service Records.

Subsystem A:

Energy Extension Service Client Names.

Subsystem B:

Energy Extension Service—Listing of State EES Employees, Contractors, and Volunteers.

Security classification:

Subsystems A and B; Unclassified.

System location:

Subsystem A: For each state or territory participating in this program, the records will be located in the office(s) designated by the state or territory to implement the program. A list of participating states and territories and the corresponding offices implementing the program is available from the Evaluation Coordinator, Energy Extension Service, Office of Conservation and Renewable Energy, Washington, DC 20585.

Subsystem B: Office of the Evaluation Coordinator, Energy Extension Service, Office of Conservation and Renewable Energy.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Subsystem A: State Energy Extension Service employees, contractors, and volunteers participating in the pilot projects implementing the Energy Extension Service program

Categories of records in the system:

Subsystem A: Names, addresses, and telephone numbers.

Subsystem B: Names, addresses, telephone numbers, and project roles.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Subsystems A and B: 5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009; National Energy Extension Service Act (Title V of the Energy Research and Development Administration Authorization Act of 1977).

Subsystem A:

States: Use the records for the administration of the subject programs. Also will, in some cases, use the DOE evaluations derived from the records (described immediately below) for evaluation and administration of the subject programs.

DOE: Client names, addresses, and telephone numbers will be used to select a sample for a telephone survey of users of the Energy Extension Service. The survey will provide information on client evaluation of the service and on energy conserving activities which clients may have taken as a result of the availability of the service. The prime contractor for the survey is ICF, Inc., which will receive the requisite records from the State EES's and, in turn, make them available to Westat, Inc., the subcontractor which will actually perform the evaluation. DOE will receive only information which is distinguishable between persons, but which is not identifiable to specific persons. However, DOE anticipates that it will retain the capability to disclose to a participating state not only the evaluation but also the corresponding client identities for clients of that particular state.

Subsystem B:

DOE: Uses the records to evaluate the implementation of the program by participating states and territories.

Subsystems A and B:

The additional routine uses 1, 2, 3, 4, 7, 8, and 9 as listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Subsystems A and B: Paper records.

Retrievability:

Subsystems A and B: By name.

Safeguards:

Subsystem A: The agreements with the states stipulate that the offices maintaining the records will exercise all diligence in controlling access to them with only authorized personnel and routine users allowed access. All personnel who handle or process these records are instructed and cautioned as to the confidentiality of the data and its proper disposition.

Subsystem B: Records are retained in lockable metal file cabinets with access limited to authorized personnel on a need-to-know basis.

Retention and disposal:

Subsystem A:

The records will be retained as long as they are useful in implementing the program.

Subsystem B:

The records will be retained only for the time necessary to evaluate the states' implementation of the Energy Extension Service pilot projects.

System manager(s) and address:

Subsystems A and B:

U.S. Department of Energy, Evaluation Coordinator, Energy Extension Service, Office of Conservation and Renewable Energy, Washington, DC 20585.

Notification procedure:

Subsystems A and B: Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains informatin about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy, Washington, DC 20585, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

Portions of the system may be located with contractors or other entities involved in conducting the experiments, studies or surveys, or in any DOE office.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals who are participants in experiments, studies, and surveys undertaken in furtherance of authorized DOE research activities.

Subsystem A: Operators of oil and/or natural gas wells as of December 31 of each year.

Subsystem B: All present and former DOE and DOE contractor Richland Operations employees, their spouses and offspring, and selected controls.

Categories of records in the system:

Subsystems A and B: Name, age, birth date, place of birth, sex, race, social security number, home address and telephone number, business address and telephone number, education, income, occupation, family size and composition, patterns of product use, and such other information as is necessary, to be determined by the subject matter and purpose of the experiment, study or survey, including data derived from participants' responses during the course of the authorized research. System also consists of a variety of records pertinent to the health status of individuals and their families: Medical history; reproductive history; birth records; developmental history; occupational history and work environment; demographic information; and selected items such as smoking habits, alcohol use, family medical history, and location of residence.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Generally, including authority for establishment of system: 5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009. Subsystem A—Section 13(b) of the Federal Energy Administration Act of 1974, and Subsystem B—Section 161(i)(3), Atomic Energy Act of 1954. Amended, 42 U.S.C. 2201(i)(3) (1976).

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Generally and Subsystem A: Information in this system may, on occasion, be disclosed to Federal agencies and other entities which are participating in research in connection with which the data were obtained. Information in the possession of the Energy Information Administration must be disclosed, upon request, to any DOE office which determines the information relates to its functions. Additional routine uses 8 and 9 listed in Appendix B.

Subsystem B: Disclosure may be made to DOE contractors and collaborating researchers and their staff for the purposes of determining influences of the workplace, other factors on the health of workers and their families. The contractor and/or collaborating researchers and their staff shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records. Portions of records (name, social security number if known, date of birth, and last known address) may be disclosed to one or more of the following to obtain a current address for the individual: Federal, state, and local agencies; employers; retail credit associations. The purpose of obtaining the address is so that the individual can be contacted and asked to provide additional research information.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Generally paper records in file folders, electromagnetic storage material, and microfiche.

Subsystem A: Paper records, microfiche, disk, and tape.

Subsystem B: Paper records, computer printouts, index cards, microfilm, and disk.

Retrievability:

Generally: By name, control number, or other code identifier.

Subsystem A: By data element.

Subsystem B: By name, alphanumeric code, and social security number.

Safeguards:

Generally during business hours, the records at DOE sites are maintained in secured buildings with access limited to those whose official duties require access; during nonbusiness hours, the records are in secured rooms with access controlled by security guards. Any records maintained by other entities will be maintained in a similar fashion in accordance with DOE specifications. Records are maintained in lockable cabinets, in secured buildings. Access is limited to individuals having a need-to-know.

Subsystem A: The contract with the University of Oklahoma stipulates that it will exercise all diligence in controlling access to the records maintained under the program and that only authorized members of the contractor, and DOE will be allowed to use the data. All personnel that handle or process the data are instructed and cautioned as to the confidentiality of the data and its proper disposition.

Subsystem B: Records are maintained in lockable cabinets, in secured buildings. Access is limited to individuals having a need-to-know.

Retention and disposal:

Generally: Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

Subsystem A: It is intended that the records will be maintained indefinitely.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: Subsystem A: U.S. Department of Energy, Administrator, Energy Information Administration (or designee), 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20585.

Field Offices: Subsystem B: U.S. Department of Energy, Richland Operations Office, P.O. Box 550 Richland, WA 99352.

The designated person in each office conducting the relevant experiment, study, or survey.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to: Subsystem A—Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy, Washington, DC 20585, or for Subsystem B—Privacy Act Officer, Department of Energy, Richland Operations Office, P.O. Box 550, Richland, WA 99352, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name at the time of study, birthdate, social security number, current name, address, and telephone number.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

Subject individual.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

DOE-68

System name:

Minority Energy Technical Assistance Program (METAP) Records.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

For the DOE, Records are located at: U.S. Department of Energy, Office of Special Projects, Office of Conservation and Renewable Energy, 1000 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20585.

For the Center For Urban Environmental Studies (CUES), records are located at: U.S. Department of Energy, Center for Urban Environmental Studies, 1012 14th Street, NW., Washington, DC 20005.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Selected elected officials.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, position, sources of energy information, and perception of needs of constituents for energy information.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301; Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: Cues:

Records are used to construct training programs for the DOE. Additional routine use 8 as listed in Appendix B.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

At DOE, computer medium records; at CUES, paper records.

Retrievability:

By name and Federal region.

Safeguards:

DOE records are maintained in a locked facility, with access limited to authorized personnel on a need-to-know basis; at CUES, the grant agreement with CUES stipulates that CUES will exercise all diligence in controlling access to the records maintained under this program and that only authorized members of CUES, DOE, and routine users will be allowed to use the data. All personnel that handle or process the data are to be instructed and cautioned as to the confidentiality of the data and its proper disposition.

System manager(s) and address:

U.S. Department of Energy, Assistant Secretary for Conservation and Renewable Energy (or designee), Washington, DC 20585.

Notification procedure:

Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Director, Freedom of Information and Privacy Acts Activities, Department of Energy, Washington, DC 20585, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

DOE-69

System name:

Residential Solar Water Heating Workshops Pilot Program Records.

System location:

U.S. Department of Energy, Bonneville Power Administration, Division of Program, (KP), P.O. Box 3621, Portland, OR 97206, and utilities that may participate in the program.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals who have requested participation in the Residential Solar Water Heating Workshops Pilot Program and who meet the homeowner eligibility criteria agreed upon by BPA and by participating utilities.

Categories of records in the system:

Information about a participants household hot water consumption prior to installation of a solar hot water heating system, electric energy consumption for water heating, family size, siting and orientation of house, roof area available for solar collectors, hours of daily sunlight on the roof top year round, extent of shading by nearby buildings or vegetation, storage area for water tank(s), structual aspects relating to solar system installation, and data about the performance of the water heating system after installation.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Bonneville Project Act of 1937, 16 U.S.C. Chapter 12B(1976), as amended by the Flood Control Act of 1944 (16 U.S.C. Section 8258), and the Federal Columbia River Transmission Act of 1974 (16 U.S.C. Chapter 838).

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information will be maintained by the utility and will be used to assess the electric energy displacement for water heating by the solar system; evaluate the performance of several types of solar water heating systems, under varying seasonal and climatic conditions; assess the potential regional impact of solar energy used for water heating; determine eligibility of participants for BPA rebates; and evaluate the performance of owner-built solar water heating systems.

BPA will use this information in statistical form to evaluate the overall effectiveness of the program, and provide a public data base which will be used to plan and analyze appropriate conservation measures for residents of the Pacific Northwest.

The utility will make information available to Federal, state, and local agencies and organizations with an interest in solar development in the region, and to BPA for audit and prgram evaluation purposes.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and computer tapes.

Retrievability:

By utility account number.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of these records is limited to those persons whose official duties require such access. All files are locked when unattended.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Division of Programs (KP), Bonneville Power Administration, P.O. Box 3621, Portland, OR 97208.

Notification procedure:

Requests by an individual to detrmine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Privacy Acts Officer, Department of Energy, Bonneville Power Administration, P.O. Box 3621, Portland, OR 97208, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

The information in this system is solicited from the individual to whom the record pertains. Information about homes will be gathered by representatives of the utilities based on an examination of the home conducted in cooperation with the customer.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

DOE-70

System name:

Electricity Use and Conservation Analysis Records.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

Bonneville Power Administration, Division of Programs (KP), P.O. Box 3621, Portland, OR 97208, and utilities that may be participating in the program and announced here annually.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals who have requested participation in the Residential Conservation Program.

Categories of records in the system:

Information about a person's household energy consumption, family size, characteristics of his/her dwelling, including heating and cooling systems; structural aspects related to thermal efficiency, and other characteristics which affect patterns of residential energy consumption.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Bonneville Project Act of 1937, 16 U.S.C. Chapter 12B(1976), as amended by the Flood Control Act of 1944 (16 U.S.C. 825s) and the Federal Columbia River Transmission System Act of 1974 (16 U.S.C. Ch. 838).

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information will be maintained by the utility and will be used to evaluate various energy-saving opportunities in the home; calculate energy and financial savings which could result from weatherization improvements in the home; make recommendations concerning weatherization improvements in the home; determine eligibility for DOE weatherization financing; and provide a record of weatherization improvements and household energy efficiency to subsequent owners of the home.

BPA will use this information in aggregated statistical form, without identifiers, to evaluate the overall effectiveness of the program through statistical analysis, and provide a public data base which will be used to plan and analyze appropriate conservation measures for residents of the Pacific Northwest.

The utility will make information available to building contractors for use in preparing and submitting bids for the performance of weatherization work, and DOE for audit and program evaluation purposes. The information provided to DOE will include a unique utility company account number for each customer, but not the customer's name and address.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and computer tapes.

Retrievability:

By utility account number.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of individually identifiable records are limited to those persons whose official duties require such access. All files are locked when unattended.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Division of Programs (KP), Bonneville Power Administration, P.O. Box 3621, Portland, OR 97208.

Notification procedure:

Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Privacy Act Officer, Department of Energy, Bonneville Power Administration, P.O. Box 3621, Portland, OR 97208, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008, 45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980).

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

The information in this system is solicited from the individual to whom the record pertains. Information about homes will be gathered by representatives of the utilities based on an examination of the home conducted in cooperation with the customer.

DOE-71

System name:

The Radiation Accident Registry.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

U.S. Department of Energy, Oak Ridge Operations Office, P.O. Box E, Oak Ridge, TN 37830.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Those persons accidentally exposed to acute doses of ionizing radiation as defined by exposure dose criteria agreed to by the DOE and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) by an interagency agreement. The dose criteria established by this agreement include one or more of the following: Greater than or equal to 25 REM (Roentgen Equivalent in Man) to the whole body, active blood-forming organs or gonads; greater than or equal to 600 REM to skin of the whole body or extremities; greater than or equal to 75 REM to other tissues or organs from an external source; and greater than or equal to ½ NCRP maximum permissible organ burden internally; all those medical misadministrations of radioisotopes that result in a dose or organ burden equal to or greater than those given above.

To those individuals known to have been involved in an event in which one or more other persons received a dose equal to or in excess of the DOE/NRC criteria but whose personal dose was less than these criteria. The histories of these individuals contribute control population data.

Categories of records in the system:

Official accident reports including reports of those accidents that have occurred within the jurisdiction of the NRC and have been transferred to the DOE for the Accident Registry according to the DOE/NRC agreement; names, addresses, social security numbers, date of birth, and sex; medical records compiled at the time of the accident (such records include physician and hospital records, diagnostic and laboratory test reports, radiographs, EKGs, and radiation exposure report); medical records of illnesses, examinations, including routine followup examinations, and investigations that have occurred since the radiation exposure; photographs of facsimilies of radiation-induced injuries; search and contact information for registrants not identified and/or located; consent to release information forms completed by registrants; death certificates; anecdotal information; correspondence relating to the accident and/or the individuals involved.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301: Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

To provide a current record of radiation accidents for use by the DOE, and its contractors and consultants; to identify specific populations for use in epidemiological and clinical studies; and to conduct medical surveillance during the lifetime of the registrants.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to researchers for the purpose of conducting an epidemologic study of workers at a DOE facility if their proposed studies have been reviewed by the National Academy of Sciences and deemed appropriate for such access. A researcher granted access to these records shall be required to sign an agreement to protect the confidentiality of the data and be subject to the same restrictions applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to members of an advisory committee for purposes of conducting a review of the Department of Energy epidemiologic program. Members of an advisory committee who obtain access to the records shall be subject to the same restrictions applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act. Additional uses 4, 8, 9, and 10 listed in Appendix B, of 47 FR 14284, dated April 2, 1982.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records, computer tapes, computer printouts, punched cards, disc, magnetic tape, and microfilm.

Retrievability:

By name and social security number.

Safeguards:

Records are maintained in locked security areas in locked file cabinets. Acess is limited to individuals whose official duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

Headquarters: U.S. Department of Energy, Oak Ridge Operations Office, P.O. Box E, Oak Ridge, TN 37830.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Privacy Act Officer, Department of Energy, Oak Ridge Operations Office, P.O. Box E, Oak Ridge, TN 37830, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Name, social security number, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

The individual, medical records, physicians, medical institutions, and reports of incident/accident/accident investigations from private and public sources, radiation dosimetry records, security clearance records, and employment records.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

DOE-72

System name:

The Department of Energy Radiation Study Registry.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

U.S. Department of Energy, Oak Ridge Operations Office, P.O. Box E, Oak Ridge, TN 37830.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Registrants are those present and former employees of contractors of the DOE and its predecessor organizations including the Manhattan District, USAEC, and ERDA, and present and former civilian employees in the DOE Naval Reactor Program who received a whole body exposure of ionizing radiation equal to or in excess of 5 REM in any 1 year.

Categories of records in the system:

Rosters of names of individuals meeting the above criteria for inclusion in the Registry submitted through the DOE field operation officers from DOE owned and operated facilities and sites. In addition to names of such individuals, these rosters include social security number of other identifying information, sex, race, date of birth, date and/or place of death, first date of hire, last date of termination, continuity of hire, year in which they received first dose greater than or equal to 5 REM, actual radiation dose in excess of 5 REM, and total career radiation exposure dose.

Original or copied lifetime medical records from plant and private physicians and hospitals including routine physical examinations, reports of diagnostic and laboratory tests, radiographs, EKG's, etc., or abstracted portions of such records as are required for the purposes of this study.

Search and contact information for registrants who are no longer employed at qualified sites or who are deceased.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301: Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act, Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

To provide a current record of registrants for use by DOE, its contractors, and consultants; to identify specific populations for use in epidemiological and clinical studies; to conduct medical surveillance during the lifetime of the registrants.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to researchers for the purpose of conducting an epidemiologic study of workers at a DOE facility if their proposed studies have been reviewed by the National Academy of Sciences and deemed appropriate for such access. A researcher granted access to these records shall be required to sign an agreement to protect the confidentiality of the data and be subject to the same restrictions applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to members of an advisory committee for purposes of conducting a review of the Department of Energy epidemiologic program. Members of an advisory committee who obtain access to the records shall be subject to the same restrictions applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act. Additional uses 4, 8, 9 and 10 listed in Appendix B, of 47 FR 14284, dated April 2, 1982.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records, computer tapes, computer printouts punched cards, discs, magnetic tape, and microfilm.

Retrievability:

By name and social security number.

Safeguards:

Records are maintained in locked security areas in locked file cabinets. Access is limited to individuals whose official duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records and Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

U.S. Department of Energy, Oak Ridge Operations Office, P.O. Box E, Oak Ridge, TN 37830.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Privacy Act Officer, Department of Energy, Oak Ridge Operations Office, P.O. Box E, Oak Ridge, TN 37830, in accordance with DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, social security number, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Record source categories:

The individual, medical records, physicians, medical institutions, and reports of incident/accident investigations from private and public sources, radiation dosimetry records, security clearance records, and employment records.

DOE-73

System name:

The US-DTPA Registry.

Security classification:

Unclassified.

System location:

U.S. Department of Energy, Oak Ridge Operations Office, P.O. Box E, Oak Ridge, TN 37830.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Registrants are those individuals who, because of real or suspected internal contamination with transuranic elements, have received diethylenetriaminepentaacetic acid (DTPA), in the calcium or zinc form during the course of chelation therapy. Administration of the agent DTPA is limited to physicians who are co-investigators with the DOE contractor staff on the Investigative New Drug License of the Food and Drug Administration.

Categories of records in the system:

The records compiled by the physician administering DTPA in the event of an exposure that was known to have or was suspected of having caused transuranic contamination internally requiring chelation therapy with DTPA. These records include a description of the exposure, the results of serial bioassays and investigations conducted to evaluate the level of internal contamination and the efficacy of subsequent chelation by DTPA. The form of DTPA and the route and frequency of administration are recorded together with any untoward effects of the therapy.

Name, social security numbers or other identifiers and vital status of treated persons. The last known address and the name of the private physicians of individuals who have relocated or who are no longer within the practice of the administering physician(s) are included in the DTPA Registry to facilitate the search and contact of these individuals; medical records of illnesses, examinations, including routine followup examinations, investigations, etc., that have occurred since the initial administration of DTPA; and death certificate.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301: Department of Energy Organization Act, including authorities incorporated by reference in Title III of the Department of Energy Organization Act; Executive Order 12009.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

To provide a current record of individuals treated with DTPA for use by the DOE and its contractors and consultants; identify by epidemiological methods any long-term untoward effects associated with DTPA therapy; to provide information to FDA in accord with the IND license and issuances.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to researchers for the purpose of conducting an epidemiologic study of workers at a DOE facility if their proposed studies have been reviewed by the National Academy of Sciences and deemed appropriate for such access. A researcher granted access to these records shall be required to sign an agreement to protect the confidentiality of the data and be subject to the same restrictions applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to members of an advisory committee for purposes of conducting a review of the Department of Energy epidemiologic program. Members of an advisory committee who obtain access to the records shall be subject to the same restrictions applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act. Additional uses 4, 8, 9, and 10 as listed in Appendix B, of 47 FR 14284, dated April 2, 1982.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records, computer tapes, computer printouts, punched cards, discs, magnetic tape, and microfilm.

Retrievability:

By name and social security number.

Safeguards:

Records are maintained in locked security areas in locked file cabinets. Access is limited to individuals whose official duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

U.S. Department of Energy, Oak Ridge Operations Office, P.O. Box E, Oak Ridge, TN 37830.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Privacy Act Officer, Department of Energy, Oak Ridge Operations Office, P.O. Box E, Oak Ridge, TN 37830, in accordance with the DOE's Privacy Act regulations (10 CFR Part 1008 (45 FR 61576, September 16, 1980)).

b. Required identifying information: Complete name, social security number, and time period.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as Notification procedures above.

DOE-74

System name:

Bonneville Power Administration Conservation Program.

Security classification:

Unclassified

System location:

U.S. Department of Energy, Bonneville Power Administration, Division of Programs (KP), P.O. Box 3621, Portland, OR 97208, and utilities or other entities which may participate in the program.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Any participant in a Bonneville conservation program will be included in the system of records. For example, participants include but are not limited to, residential consumers, commercial consumers, contractors, utility personnel, and personnel of other implementing entities.

Categories of records in the system:

Information about individual energy consumption including names, addresses, and other demographic data; characteristics of buildings; characteristics about natural phenomenon (such as wind, sunlight, geothermal activity, etc.); structual aspects related to thermal efficiency; information as to type, location, and number of installed measures; performance data; information relating to BPA financial assistance to consumers; and information as to auditor/analyst training.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Bonneville Project Act of 1937, 16 U.S.C. Chapter 12B (1976), as amended by the Flood Control Act of 1944 (16 U.S.C. 825s), the Federal Columbia River Transmission System Act of 1974 (16 U.S.C. Chapter 838), and the Pacific Northwest Electric Power Planning and Conservation Act (Pub. L. 96-501).

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information will be maintained by BPA, a utility, or other entity administering the program and will be used to determine eligibility for and to account for BPA payments; evaluate the electric energy displacement for conservation and direct application renewable resource measures; to evaluate the performance of specific measures; to assess potential regional impact of individual pilot measures; to make recommendations to consumers concerning energy efficiency; to assist in preparing detailed resource assessments; to assist in installation or repair of measures; and to assist in verification or correction of services rendered under this program. Information may also be released to the public in aggregated form for purposes of survey and program analysis. Except in cases 1, 7, and 8, above, information will not be released in other than aggregated form without the prior consent of the individual.

BPA will use this information in statistical form to evaluate the overall effectiveness of the program, and to provide and make available a public data base which will be used to plan and analyze appropriate conservation and direct application renewable resource measures for firms and residents of the Pacific Northwest.

The utility or other entity administering the program will make information available in aggregated form to Federal, state, and local agencies and organizations with an interest in conservation and direct application renewable resource measures; and to BPA for audit and program evaluation purposes. When necessary for accomplishing a measure, the utility or other entity will make information available to contractors for use in preparing and submitting bids for work, and to repair person called upon to evaluate, correct deficiencies in, or otherwise repair installed measures. The utility or other entity may disclose site or building-specific information to subsequent purchasers.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper records, computer tapes, and disk.

Retrievability:

Records maintained by the utility are indexed by a utility account number assigned to each utility customer. Records are indexed by other assigned numbers when maintained at a location other than a utility.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of these records is limited to those persons whose official duties require such access. All files are locked or otherwise secure when unattended.

Retention and disposal:

Records retention and disposal authorities are contained in DOE 1324.2, "Records Disposition." Records within the DOE are destroyed by shredding, burning, or burial in a sanitary landfill, as appropriate.

System manager(s) and address:

U.S. Department of Energy, Director, Division of Programs (KP), Bonneville Power Administration, P.O. Box 3621, Portland, OR 97208.

Notification procedure:

a. Requests by an individual to determine if a system of records contains information about him/her should be directed to the Privacy Act Officer, Department of Energy, Bonneville Power Administration, P.O. Appendix B—Additional Routine Uses.

The following routine uses apply to and are incorporated by reference into each system of records as stated therein:

1. In the event that a record within this system of records maintained by this agency indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether Federal, State, local, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

2. A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a routine use to a Federal, State, or local agency maintaining civil, criminal, or other relevant enforcement information or other pertinent information, such as current licenses, if necessary, to obtain information relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit.

3. A record from this system of record may be disclosed, as a routine use, to a Federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the information is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

4. A record from this system of records may be disclosed, as a routine use, (a) to appropriate parties engaged in litigation or in preparation of possible litigation, such as potential witnesses, for the purpose of securing their testimony when necessary; (b) to courts, magistrates or administrative tribunals; (c) to parties and their attorneys for the purpose of proceeding with litigation or settlement of disputes; and (d) to individuals seeking information by using established discovery procedures, whether in connection with civil, criminal, or regulatory proceedings.

5. A record maintained by this agency to carry out its functions which relates to civil and criminal procedings may be disclosed to the news medial in accordance with guidelines contained in Department of Justice regulations 28 CFR 50.2.

6. A record maintained by this agency to carry out its functions may be disclosed to foreign governments in accordance with treaty obligations.

7. A record from this system of records may be disclosed to the Office of Management and Budget in connection with the review of private relief legislation as set forth in OMB Circular No. A-19 at any stage of the legislative coordination and clearance process as set forth in that Circular.

8. A record form this system of record may be disclosed, as a routine use, to DOE contractors in performance of their contracts, and their officers and employee have a need for the record in the performance of their duties subject to the same limitations applicable to DOE officers and employees under the Privacy Act.

9. A record in this system of records may be disclosed, as a routine use, to a member of Congress submitting a request involving the individual when the individual is a constituent of the member and has requested assistance from the member with respect to the subject matter of the record.

10. A record in this system of records which contains medical and/or psychological information may be disclosed, as a routine use, to the physician or mental health professional of any individual submitting a request for access to the record under the Privacy Act of 1974 and DOE's Privacy Act regulations if, in its sole judgment and good faith, DOE believes that disclosure of the medical and/or psychological information directly to the individual who is the subject of the record could have an adverse effect upon that individual, in accordance with the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 52a(f)(3) and applicable DOE regulations.

FEDERAL ENERGY REGULATORY COMMISSION

Where the term "Commission" is used, it refers to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission unless the term references records which date prior to October 1, 1977, in which case it refers to the Federal Power Commission.

FERC-1

System name: Regulatory Evaluation And Docketed Information System (READI).

System location: The system is located at the Department of Energy's computer facilities, Washington, D.C. and Germantown and Rockville, Maryland, and as leased from Boeing Computer Services, McLean, Virginia.

Categories of individuals covered by the system: Department of Energy contact persons; Commissioners; Administrative Law Judges; attorneys; project managers; technical, environmental and other Commission staff personnel associated with cases before the Commission; parties of record; and parties to be advised of proceedings. With respect to information concerning these individuals, only their names, titles, business addresses, business telephone numbers, relationship to a particular proceeding, and time expended by FERC personnel on that proceeding are entered.

Categories of records in the system: This system of records contains information regarding the stages a docketed proceeding passes through as it is reviewed by Commission personnel. The information in the system of records includes the names of the individuals indicated above, including the names of Commission personnel responsible for various processing stages of a proceeding. The system indicates which processing stage a proceeding has reached and which Commission personnel are presently assigned to a proceeding. A case-weighing function is used to facilitate allocation of manpower and assignments.

Authority for maintenance of the system: 15 U.S.C. section 717o; 16 U.S.C. section 825h; 42 U.S.C. section 7172(a)(2); 44 U.S.C. section 3101.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: The records and information in the records may be used by authorized Commission personnel to identify all docketed proceedings pending before the Commission; to indicate the current processing stage of a proceeding; to enable management to inventory proceedings by stage of processing; to identify staff personnel responsible for particular proceedings or parts of proceedings; to monitor and analyze the productivity of the Commission staff; to allocate manpower and make assignments; to identify the organizational unit responsible for a given proceeding; to identify general classes of proceedings in order to expedite their processing; and to produce management reports for agency-wide distribution, including responses to general requests for statistical information (without personal identifiers of individuals) under the Freedom of Information Act and responses to inquiries from members of Congress, other federal agencies, the press and the public. In addition, the system is used as a data source for management information, for production of summary statistics and analytical studies in support of the function for which these records are collected and maintained, or for related personnel management functions or manpower studies compiled by the staff or a contractor of the Commission; or by members of advisory committees created by the Commission or the Congress to render advice and recommendations to the Commission or the Congress. These uses are solely in connection with official designated.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage: The records of FERC–1 are maintained on magnetic tape, computer disk files and punch cards.

Retrievability: Records are retrieved by identifying elements (e.g., docket number, docket name, type of filing), by Commission staff members (e.g., Commissioner, Administrative Law Judge, attorney, etc.), applicant name, or applicant contact.

Safeguards: The records of FERC–1 are stored in a secured computer facility and access is limited to select authorized users.

Retention and disposal: The records are maintained for each proceeding in an "active file" until the proceeding has been terminated. The records are then transferred to a history file for permanent retention.

System manager(s) and address: Executive Director, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, Room 9106, 825 North Capitol Street, NE, Washington, D.C. 20426.

Notification procedure: All requests to determine whether this system contains a record pertaining to a requesting individual should be made in accordance with the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 18 CFR 3b.220(a). Individuals should provide the appropriate identifying information as required by 18 CFR 3b.220(b).

Record access procedures: Requests for access to records in this system should be made in accordance with 18 CFR 3b.221. Individuals should provide the appropriate identifying information as specified in 18 CFR 3b.222.

Contesting record procedures: Requests to amend records should be made in accordance with 18 CFR 3b.224.

Record source categories: Records of FERC–1 are obtained through public filings with the Commission, individuals and persons covered by the records, and the Commission itself.

FERC–2

System name: Appeals, Grievances and Complaints Records—FERC.

System location: Office of the Executive Director, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE, Washington, D.C. 20426.

Office of the General Counsel, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE, Washington, D.C. 20426.

Office of the Assistant Director, Office of Electric Power Regulation, 400 First Street, NW, Washington, D.C. 20426.

Categories of individuals covered by the system: Applicants for FERC employment, current and former FERC employees, and annuitants who appeal from a determination made by an official of the FERC or the Office of Personnel Management to the Office of Personnel Management, a board to adjudicate appeals, or to the FERC.

Categories of records in the system: As such, the system contains information and files on grievances under negotiated grievance systems and documents relating to a decision or determination made by the Commission or the Office of Personnel Management which affects an individual employee, or prospective employee because of an adverse action or other appeal under applicable Office of Personnel Management regulations, classification appeals, performance rating appeals, Fair Labor Standards Act complaints, grievances and complaints brought under the Equal Employment Opportunity Act. This system of records includes counseling records, case disposition reports of the Office of Personnel Management, intraoffice and interoffice communications, schedules, tabulations, lists, organizational charts which contain personal information, and records of relevant Federal court cases.

Authority for maintenance of the system: 15 U.S.C. section 717o; 16 U.S.C. section 825h; 42 U.S.C. section 7172(a)(2); and the applicable sections of Title 5 of the United States Code and the Office of Personnel Management regulations promulgated thereunder.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: These records and information in the records may be used to adjudicate the appeal, complaint, or grievance; to respond to a request from a Member of Congress regarding the status of an appeal, complaint, or grievance; to provide information to the public on the decision of an appeal, complaint, or grievance as required by the Freedom of Information Act; to disclose to a Federal, State or local agency maintaining civil, criminal, or other relevant enforcement information or other pertinent information if necessary in order to obtain information relevant to an FERC decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit; to disclose relevant information to a Federal agency in response to requests involving the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or issuance of a license, grant or other benefit by the requesting agency; to serve as a data source for disciplining the individual or other FERC employee in the event that this record system indicates a violation of law, executive order or regulation; as a data source for management information for production of summary descriptive statistics and analytical studies in support of the function for which the records are collected and maintained, or for related personnel management functions or manpower studies compiled by the staff or contractor of the Commission. The system is also used by the Office of Personnel Management or the General Accounting Office as a data source during the course of onsite inspections or audits of Commission operations. The disclosure (of information) may be made to a member of Congress from the record of an individual in response to a written request from the Member which is made at the request of the individual who is the subject of the record. In the event that a system of records maintained by the FERC to carry out its functions indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system or records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether Federal, State, local, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage: These records are maintained in file folders, binders, and index cards.

Retrievability: These records are indexed by the name of individuals.

Safeguards: The records are maintained in metal file cabinets with manipulation-proof combination locks. Access to these files and combinations is limited to those whose official duties require access. Personnel screening is employed to prevent unauthorized disclosure.

Retention and disposal: After a final decision on a particular case is reached by the Commission or other decisional authority, all records pertaining to that case are maintained in the Office of Executive Director as a closed file. If a Commission decision is not appealed to the Office of Personnel Management or other appropriate appeal board, the records are maintained for no more than two years and are transferred to the National Personnel Records Center, St. Louis, Missouri, where they are retained for at least seven years. Commission Equal Employment Opportunity Counselors maintain for one year case records which have not been a basis of an EEO complaint. The disposition of these records is handled pursuant to applicable GSA regulations and applicable internal administrative directives.

System manager(s) and address: Office of the Executive Director, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE, Washington, D.C. 20426.

Notification procedure: All requests to determine whether this system contains a record pertaining to a requesting individual should be made in accordance with the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, 18 CFR 3b.220(a). Individuals should provide the appropriate identifying information as required by 18 CFR 3b.220(b).

Record access procedures: Requests for access to records in this system should be made in accordance with 18 CFR 3b.221. Individuals should provide the appropriate identifying information as specified in 18 CFR 3b.222.

Contesting record procedures: Requests to amend records should be made in accordance with 18 CFR 3b.224.

(1) Collect or maintain no information of a personal nature about individuals unless relevant and necessary to achieve a purpose or carry out a responsibility of the DOE as required by statute or by Executive Order. See subsection (e)(1) of the Act and § 1008.18(a).

(2) Collect information, wherever possible, directly from the individual to whom it pertains. See subsection (e)(2) of the Act and § 1009.19(a).

(3) Inform individuals from whom information is collected of the authority for collection, the principal purposes for which the information will be used, the routine uses that will be made of the information, and the effects of not furnishing the information. See subsection (e)(3) of the Act and § 1008.19(b).

(4) Collect, maintain, use or disseminate no information concerning an individual's rights guaranteed by the First Amendment, unless (i) the individual has volunteered such; or (ii) the information is expressly authorized by statute to be collected, maintained, used or disseminated; or (iii) the activities involved are pertinent to and within the scope of an authorized law enforcement activity. See subsection (e)(7) of the Act and § 1008.18(b).

(5) Advise their supervisors of the existence or proposal of any system of records which retrieves information about individuals by the individual's name or other identifying number, symbol, or identifying particulars assigned to the individual.

(6) Maintain an accounting, in the prescribed form, of all disclosures of information other than those to officers or employees who have a need for the record in the performance of their duties and those required under the Freedom of Information Act. See subsection (c) of the Act.

(7) Disclose no records other than to DOE personnel without the advance written consent of the individual, except as authorized by 5 U.S.C. 552a(b) including routine uses published in the Federal Register.

(8) Maintain and process information concerning individuals with care to insure that no inadvertent disclosure of the information is made. See subsection (e)(10) of the Act.

(9) Inform the proper DOE authorities of any information maintained in a DOE system of records which is not authorized by the Privacy Act of 1974.

(c) Heads of Headquarters Divisions and Offices and heads of the other DOE locations shall review annually the systems of records subject to their responsibility to insure compliance with the requirements of the Privacy Act of 1974.

§ 1008.4 Procedures for identifying the individual making a request for access to or amendment of records.

(a) When a request for information about or for access to or correction of a record pertaining to an individual and contained in a system of records has been made pursuant to § 1008.6, valid identification of the individual making the request shall be required before information will be given, access granted or a correction considered, to insure that information is given, corrected, or records disclosed or corrected only at the request of the proper person.

(b) Subject to paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section, an individual making a request may establish his identity by:

(1) Including with his request, if submitted by mail, a photocopy of two identifying documents bearing his name and signature, one of which shall bear his current home or business address and date of birth; or

(2) Appearing at the appropriate DOE location during the regular business hours and presenting either of the following:

(i) One identifying document bearing the individual's photograph and signature, such as a driver's license or passport; or

(ii) Two identifying documents bearing the individual's name and signature, one of which shall bear the individual's current home or business address and date of birth; or

(3) Providing such other proof of identity as the Privacy Act Officer deems satisfactory in the circumstances of a particular request.

(c) If the Privacy Act Officer or the appropriate System Manager determines that the information in a record is so sensitive that unauthorized access could cause harm or embarrassment to the individual whose record in involved, or if the individual making the request is unable to produce satisfactory evidence of identity under paragraph (b) or (d) of this section, the individual making the request may be required to submit a notarized statement attesting to his identity and his understanding of the criminal penalties provided under section 1001 of Title 18 of the United States Code for making false statements to a Government agency and under subsection (i)(3) of the Act for obtaining records under false pretenses. Copies of these statutory provisions and forms of such notarized statements may be obtained upon request from the Privacy Act Officer, Headquarters, Department of Energy, Washington, D.C.

(d) When an individual acting as the parent of a minor or the legal guardian of the person to whom a record pertains makes a request pursuant to § 1008.6 of this part—

(1) Such an individual shall establish his personal identity in the same manner required in either paragraph (b) or (c) of this section.

(2) In addition, such an individual shall establish his identity in the representative capacity of parent or legal guardian. In the case of the parent of a minor, the proof of identity shall be a certified or authenticated copy of the minor's birth certificate. In the case of the legal guardian of a person who has been declared incompetent due to physical or mental incapacity or age by a court of competent jurisdiction, the proof of identity shall be a certified or authenticated copy of the order from a court of competent jurisdiction.

(3) A parent or legal guardian may act only for a living individual, not for a decedent. Requests for the records of decedents will be handled under the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552).

§ 1008.5 Effect of the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA).

(a) DOE shall not rely on any exemption contained in the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552) to withhold from the individual to whom it pertains, any record which is otherwise accessible to such individual under this part.

(b) DOE shall rely on subsection (b) of the Privacy Act to withhold information from a person other than the person to whom the record pertains only when the information is also exempt from disclosure under the FOIA.

(c) Where a request for access to records is submitted pursuant to both the FOIA and the Privacy Act, the DOE shall, to the maximum extent possible, process the request under the provisions of this part, including the time limits of this part.

Subpart B—Requests for Access or Amendment

§ 1008.6 Procedures for Privacy Act requests.

(a) Any individual may—

(1) Ask the DOE whether a system of records maintained by the DOE contains records about him or her;

(2) Request access to information pertaining to him or her that is maintained in a DOE system of records;

(3) Request that information about him or her in a DOE system of records be amended or corrected. Requests for correction or amendment may include inquiries concerning—

(i) whether such information is relevant or necessary to accomplish a purpose that DOE is required to accomplish by statute or Executive Order; or

(ii) if the information is to be used by the DOE in making a determination about the individual, whether the information is as accurate, relevant, timely, or complete as is reasonably necessary to assure fairness in the determination.

(b) Requests submitted pursuant to this section shall—

(1) Be in writing and signed by the individual making the request;

(2) State that the request is a "Privacy Act Access" or "Privacy Act Amendment" request;

(3) Include the identification information required by § 1008.4;

(4) Specify, if possible, the title and identifying number of the system of records as listed in DOE's published notices of system of records;

(5) Provide if possible any additional information to aid DOE in responding to the request, for example, a description of the records sought;

(6) Indicate, as appropriate, the time, place, and form of access sought.

(c) Any request not addressed and marked as specified in paragraph (a) of this section shall be forwarded immediately to the appropriate Privacy Act Officer. An improperly addressed request will not be deemed to have been received for purposes of measuring time periods pursuant to §§ 1008.7 and 1008.10 until actual receipt by the appropriate Privacy Act Officer. The individual making the request shall be notified that the request was improperly addressed and the date when the request was received by the Privacy Act Officer.

(d) Assistance in preparing an access request pursuant to this section may be obtained from any DOE Privacy Act Officer at the locations listed at § 1008.2(e).

(e) An individual shall not be required to state a reason or otherwise justify his request for information or access to a record pertaining to him/her that is contained in a system of records.

§ 1008.7 Processing of requests.

(a) Receipt of a request made in accordance with § 1008.6 shall be promptly acknowledged by the Privacy Act Officer.

(b) Each request shall be acted upon promptly. Every effort will be made to respond within ten working days of the date of receipt by the System Manager or designee. If a response cannot be made within ten working days, the appropriate Privacy Act Officer shall send an interim response providing information on the status of the request, including an estimate of the time within which action is expected to be taken on the request and asking for any further information as may be necessary to respond to the request. Action will be completed as soon as possible, but not later than 20 working days after receipt of the original specific inquiry. In unusual circumstances and for good cause, the appropriate Privacy Act Officer may decide that action cannot be completed within the initial 20 working days. In such case, the appropriate Privacy Act Officer will advise the individual of the reason for the delay and the date (not to exceed an additional 20 working days) by which action can be expected to be completed.

(c) The term "unusual circumstances" as used in this section includes situations where a search for requested records from inactive storage is necessary; cases where a voluminous amount of data is involved; instances where information on other individuals must be separated or expunged from the particular record; and cases where consultation with other agencies which have substantial interest in the response to the request is necessary.

(d) Upon receiving a request, the Privacy Act Officer shall ascertain which System Manager or Managers of the DOE have primary responsibility for, custody of, or concern with the system or systems of records subject to the request and shall forward the request to such System Manager or Managers. The System Manager or Managers shall promptly identify and, in consultation with the General Counsel, review the records encompassed by the request.

(e) Where the request is for access to or information about records, after reviewing the material the System Manager or Managers concerned shall transmit to the Privacy Act Officer the requested material. The transmission to the Privacy Act Officer shall include any recommendation that the request be granted or wholly or partially denied and shall set forth any exemption categories supporting denials. Any denial recommendation must be concurred in by the appropriate General Counsel.

(f) Where the request is for correction or amendment of records, after reviewing the material the System Manager or Managers shall transmit a recommended decision to the Privacy Act Officer. Any recommendation that the request be granted or wholly or partially denied shall cite the exemption relied on and set forth the policy considerations supporting a denial. Any recommendation of denial must be concurred in by General Counsel.

§ 1008.8 Action in response to a request for access: Disclosure of requested information to subject individuals.

(a) Consistent with the recommendation of the System Manager and the concurrence of the appropriate General Counsel, the Privacy Act Officer shall provide to the requesting individual the information about or access to a record or information pertaining to the individual contained in a system of records, unless the request is being denied in accordance with § 1008.9 of this part. The Privacy Act Officer shall notify the individual of such determination and provide the following information:

(1) Whether there is information or a record pertaining to him that is contained in a system of records;

(2) The methods of access as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section;

(3) The place at which the record or information may be inspected;

(4) The earliest date on which the record or information may be inspected and the period of time that the record or information will remain available for inspection. In no event shall the earliest date be later than thirty calendar days from the date of notification.

(5) An indication that copies of the records are enclosed, or the estimated date by which a copy of the record could be mailed and the estimate of fees that would be charged to provide other than the first copy of the record, pursuant to § 1008.13.

(6) The fact that the individual, if he wishes, may be accompanied by another person during the in-person review of the record or information, provided that the individual shall first furnish to the Privacy Act Officer a written statement authorizing disclosure of that individual's record in the accompanying person's presence; and

(7) Any additional requirements that must be satisfied in order to provide information about or to grant access to the requested record or information.

(b) The following methods of access to records or information pertaining to an individual and contained in a system of records may be available to that individual depending on the circumstances of a particular request:

(1) A copy of the record may be enclosed with the initial response in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section;

(2) Inspection in person may be arranged during the regular business hours of the DOE in the office specified by the Privacy Act Officer;

(3) Transfer of records to a Federal facility more convenient to the individual may be arranged, but only if the Privacy Act Officer determines that a suitable facility is available, that the individual's access can be properly supervised at that facility, and that transmittal of the records or information to that facility will not unduly interfere with operations of the DOE or involve unreasonable costs, in terms of money or manpower; and

(4) The requested number of copies in addition to the initial copy may be mailed at the request of the individual, subject to payment of the fees prescribed in § 1008.13.

(c) If the Privacy Act Officer believes, based upon a recommendation of the System Manager and the agency's medical officer, that disclosure of medical and/or psychological information directly to an individual could have an adverse effect upon that individual, the individual may be asked:

(1) To designate in writing a physician or mental health professional to whom he would like the records to be disclosed; or

(2) To submit a signed statement by his physician or a mental health professional indicating that, in his view, disclosure of the requested records or information directly to the individual will not have an adverse effect upon the individual. If the individual refuses to designate a physician or mental health professional, or to submit a signed statement from his physician or mental health professional as provided in paragraph (c) (1) and (2) of this section, the request will be considered denied, and the appeal rights provided in § 1008.11 will be available to the individual.

(d) The Privacy Act Officer shall supply such other information and assistance at the time of an individual's review of his record as is necessary to make the record intelligible to the individual.

(e) The DOE will, as required by subsection (d)(1), assure an individual's right "to review his or her record and have a copy made of all or any portion thereof in a form comprehensible to him." However, original records will be made available to individuals only under the supervision of the Privacy Act Officer or his designee. Individuals will be provided at their request with a copy, but not the original, of records pertaining to them.

§ 1008.9 Action in response to a request for access: initial denial of access.

(a) A request by an individual for information about or access to a record or information pertaining to that individual that is contained in a system of records may be denied only upon a determination by the appropriate System Manager, with the concurrence of the appropriate General Counsel, that:

(1) The record is subject to an exemption under § 1008.12;

(2) The record is information compiled in reasonable anticipation of a civil action or proceeding; or

(3) The individual has unreasonably failed to comply with the procedural requirements of this part.

(b) The Privacy Act Officer shall give written notice of the denial of a request of information about or access to records or information pertaining to the individual and contained in a system of records. Such written notice shall be sent by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested and shall include the following information:

(1) The System Manager's name and title;

(2) The reasons for the denial, including citation to the appropriate sections of the Privacy Act and this part; and

(3) Notification of the individual's right to appeal the denial pursuant to § 1008.11 and to administrative and judicial review under 5 U.S.C. 552a(g)(1)(B), as limited by 552a(g)(5).

(c) Nothing in this section shall:

(1) Require the furnishing of information or records that are not retrieved by the name or by some other identifying number, symbol or identifying particular of the individual making the request;

(2) Prevent a System Manager from waiving any exemption authorizing the denial of records, in accordance with § 1008.12.

§ 1008.10 Action in response to a request for correction or amendment of records.

(a) The Privacy Act Officer must respond in writing to the requester for amendment of a record within 10 working days of receipt. This response shall inform the requester of the decision whenever possible.

(b) If the decision cannot be reached within 10 working days, the requester shall be informed of the reason for delay and the date (within 20 working days) it is expected that the decision will be made.

(c) The Privacy Act Officer, consistent with the recommendation of the System Manager or Managers, as concurred in by the appropriate General Counsel, if appropriate, shall do one of the following:

(1) Instruct the System Manager to make the requested correction or amendment; and advise the individual in writing of such action, providing either a copy of the corrected or amended record, or a statement as to the means whereby the correction or amendment was accomplished in cases where a copy cannot be provided (for example, erasure of information from a record maintained only in an electronic data bank); or

(2) Inform the individual in writing that his request is denied in whole or in part. Such denial shall be sent by certified or registered mail, return receipt requested, and shall provide the following information:

(i) The System Manager's name and title;

(ii) The reasons for the denial; including citation to the appropriate sections of the Act and this part; and

(iii) Notification of the individual's right to appeal the denial pursuant to § 1008.11 and to administrative and judicial review under 5 U.S.C. 552a(g)(1)(B), as limited by 5 U.S.C. 552a(g)(5).

(iv) Notification of the right of the individual to submit a statement of disagreement consistent with § 1008.11(g).

(d) Whenever an individual's record is amended pursuant to a request by that individual, the Privacy Act Officer or the System Manager, as appropriate, shall notify all persons and agencies to which the amended portion of the record had been disclosed prior to its amendment, if an accounting of such disclosure was required by the Act. The notification shall request a recipient agency maintaining the record to acknowledge receipt of the notification, to correct or amend the record and to apprise an agency or person to which it had disclosed the record of the substance of the amendment.

(e) The following criteria will be taken into account by the DOE in reviewing a request for amendment:

(1) The sufficiency of the evidence submitted by the individual;

(2) The factual accuracy of the information;

(3) The relevance and necessity of the information in relation to the purpose for which it was collected;

(4) If such information is used in making any determination about the individual, whether the information is as accurate, relevant, timely, and complete as is reasonably necessary to assure fairness to the individual in such determination;

(5) The degree of possibility that denial of the request could unfairly result in a determination adverse to the individual;

(6) The nature of the record sought to be corrected or amended; and

(7) The propriety and feasibility of complying with the specific means of amendment requested by the individual.

(f) The DOE will not undertake to gather evidence for the individual, but does reserve the right to verify the evidence that the individual submits.

(g) Amendment of a record requested by an individual may be denied upon a determination that:

(1) The individual has failed to establish, by a preponderance of the evidence, the propriety of the amendment in relation to the criteria stated in paragraph (e) of this section;

(2) The record sought to be amended was compiled in a terminated judicial, quasi-judicial or quasi-legislative proceeding to which the individual was a party or participant;

(3) The record sought to be amended is the subject of a pending judicial, quasi-judicial or quasi-legislative proceeding to which the individual is a party or participant;

(4) The amendment would violate a duly enacted statute or promulgated regulation;

(5) The individual has unreasonably failed to comply with the procedural requirements of this part; or

(6) The record has been properly exempted from the provisions of subsection (d) of the Act.

(h) Nothing in this section shall restrict the DOE from granting in part or denying in part a request for amendment of records.

[45 FR 61577, Sept.16, 1980, as amended at 46 FR 31637, June 17, 1981]

§ 1008.11 Appeals of denials of requests pursuant to § 1008.6.

(a) Any individual may appeal the denial of a request made by him for information about or for access to or correction or amendment of records. An appeal shall be filed within 30 calendar days after receipt of the denial. When an appeal is filed by mail, the postmark is conclusive as to timeliness. The appeal shall be in writing and must be signed by the individual. The words "PRIVACY ACT APPEAL" should appear in capital letters on the envelope and the letter. Appeals of denials relating to records maintained in government-wide systems of records reported by the OPM, shall be filed, as appropriate, with the Assistant Director for Agency Compliance and Evaluation, Office of Personnel Management (OPM), 1900 E Street, NW, Washington, DC 20415. All other appeals relating to DOE records shall be directed to the Director, Office of Hearings and Appeals (OHA), Department of Energy, Headquarters, Washington, DC.

(b) An appeal not addressed and marked as specified in paragraph (a) of this section shall be forwarded immediately to the Assistant Director for Agency Compliance and Evaluation, OPM, or the Director, OHA, as appropriate. An appeal that is not properly addressed by an individual shall not be deemed to have been received for purposes of time periods in this section until actual receipt of the appeal by the Assistant Director, OPM, or the Director, OHA. In each instance when an appeal so forwarded is received, the individual filing the appeal shall be notified that the appeal was improperly addressed and the date when the appeal was received by the Assistant Director, OPM, or the Director, OHA.

(c) The appeal shall include the following:

(1) A copy of the original request for access or for amendment;

(2) A copy of the initial denial; and

(3) A statement of the reasons why the initial denial is believed to be in error.

(d) The records or record to which the individual was denied access, or which was requested to be corrected or amended, will be supplied to the appropriate appeal authority by the Privacy Act Officer who issued the initial denial. While such records normally will comprise the entire record on appeal, the appeal authority may seek such additional information as is necessary to assure that the final determination is fair and equitable.

(e) No personal appearance or hearing on appeal will be allowed.

(f) The appropriate appeal authority for DOE records shall act upon the appeal and issue a final determination in writing no later than 20 working days from the date on which the appeal is received. However, the appeal authority may extend the ten-day period upon a determination that a fair and equitable review cannot be made within that period. In such cases the individual shall be advised in writing of the reason for the extension and of the estimated date by which a final determination will be issued. The final determination shall be issued not later than the 30th working day after receipt of the appeal unless unusual circumstances, as defined in § 1008.7, are present, whereupon an additional 30 days may be extended.

(g) If an appeal of a denial of access is granted, a copy of the determination shall be transmitted promptly to the individual, the Privacy Act Officer and the appropriate System Manager. Upon receipt of the determination, the Privacy Act Officer promptly shall take action consistent with § 1008.8.

(h) If an appeal of a denial of correction or amendment is granted, the final determination shall identify the specific corrections or amendments to be made. A copy of the determination shall be transmitted promptly to the individual, the Privacy Act Officer and the appropriate System Manager. Upon receipt of the determination, the Privacy Act Officer promptly shall take steps to insure that the actions set forth in § 1008.10 (a) and (b) are taken.

(i) If the appeal of a denial of access is denied, the final determination shall state the reasons for the denial and shall be transmitted promptly to the individual, the Privacy Act Officer and the appropriate System Manager. The determination shall also include a statement identifying the right of the individual to administrative and judicial review pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(g)(1)(B) as limited by 5 U.S.C. 552a(g)(5).

(j) If the appeal of a denial of correction or amendment is denied, the final determination shall state the reasons for the denial and shall be transmitted promptly to the individual, the Privacy Act Officer and the appropriate System Manager.

(1) The determination also shall include the following:

(i) Notice of the right of the individual to file with the Privacy Act Officer a concise, signed statement of reasons for disagreeing with the final determination, receipt of which statement will be acknowledged by the Privacy Act Officer.

(ii) An indication that any disagreement statement filed by the individual will be noted and appended to the disputed record and that a copy of the statement will be provided by the Privacy Act Officer or the System Manager, as appropriate, to persons and agencies to which the record is disclosed subsequent to the date of receipt of such statement;

(iii) An indication that the DOE shall append to any disagreement statement filed by the individual a copy of the final determination or a summary thereof, which determination or summary also will be provided to persons and agencies to which the disagreement statement is disclosed; and,

(iv) A statement of the right of the individual to administrative and judicial review under 5 U.S.C. 552a(g)(1)(B), as limited by 5 U.S.C. 552a(g)(5).

(2) Although a copy of the final determination or a summary thereof will be treated as part of the individual's record for purposes of disclosure in instances where the individual has filed a disagreement statement, it will not be subject to correction or amendment by the individual.

(3) Where an individual files a statement of disagreement consistent with paragraph (i)(1) of this section, the Privacy Act Officer shall take steps to insure that the actions provided in paragraph (j)(1)(i), (ii) and (iii) of this section are taken.

§ 1008.12 Exemptions.

(a) General exemptions. (1) Generally. 5 U.S.C. 552a(j)(2) allows the exemption of any system of records within the DOE from any part of section 552a except subsections (b), (c)(1) and (2), (e)(4)(A) through (F) (e)(6), (7), (9), (10), and (11), and (i) of the Act if the system of records is maintained by a DOE component which performs as its principal function any activity pertaining to the enforcement of criminal laws, including police efforts to prevent, control, or reduce crime or to apprehend criminals, and which consists of (i) information compiled for the purpose of identifying individual criminal offenders and alleged offenders; (ii) information compiled for the purpose of a criminal investigation, including reports of informants and investigators, and associated with an identifiable individual; or (iii) reports identifiable to an individual compiled at any stage of the process of enforcement of the criminal laws from arrest or indictment through release from supervision.

(2) Applicability of general exemptions to DOE systems of records. (i) Investigative Files of the Inspector General (DOE–54). This system of records is being exempted pursuant to subsection (j)(2) of the Act in order to aid the Office of the Inspector General in the performance of its law enforcement function. The system is exempted from subsections (c)(3) and (4); (d)(1)–(4); (e)(1)–(3); (4)(G), (H), and (I); (5) and (8); and (g) of the Act. The system is exempt from these provisions for the following reasons: Notifying an individual at the individual's request of the existence of records in an investigative file pertaining to such individual, or granting access to an investigative file could (A) interfere with investigative and enforcement proceedings and with co-defendants' right to a fair trial; (B) disclose the identity of confidential sources and reveal confidential information supplied by these sources; and (C) disclose investigative techniques and procedures.

(b) Specific exemptions. Subsection (k) of the Privacy Act establishes seven categories of systems of records which may be exempted from subsections (c)(3), (d), (e)(1), (e)(4)(G), (H) and (I), and (7) of the Act. The Department has exempted systems of records under four of these provisions, as follows: (1) Classified material. (i) Subsection (k)(1) permits exemption of systems of records that are specifically authorized under criteria established under statute or Executive Order to be kept secret in the interest of national defense or foreign policy, and are in fact properly classified pursuant to such statute or Executive Order. Restricted Data and Formerly Restricted Data under the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, are included in this exemption.

(ii) The DOE systems of records listed below have been exempted under subsection (k)(1) to the extent they contain classified information, in order to prevent serious damage to the national defense or foreign policy that could arise from providing individuals access to classified information. Systems exempted under subsection (k)(1) are—

(A) Alien Visits and Participation (DOE–52).

(B) Clearance Board Cases (DOE–46).

(C) Security Correspondence Files (DOE–49).

(D) Foreign Travel Records (DOE–27)

(E) Legal Files (Claims, Litigations, Criminal Violation, Patents, and other Legal Files) (DOE–41).

(F) Personnel Security Clearance Files (DOE–43).

(G) Personnel Security Clearance Index (Automated) (DOE–42).

(H) Special Access Authorization for Categories of Classified Information (DOE–44).

(2) Investigatory material compiled for law enforcement purposes. (i) Subsection (k)(2) permits the exemption of investigatory material compiled for law enforcement purposes, provided, however, that if any individual is denied any right, privilege, or benefit to which he would otherwise be entitled by Federal law, or for which he would otherwise be eligible, as a result of the maintenance of such material, such material shall be provided to such individual, except to the extent that the disclosure of such material would reveal the identity of a source who furnished information to the Government under an express promise that the identity of the source would be held in confidence, or, prior to September 27, 1975, under an implied promise that the identity of the source would be held in confidence.

(ii) The DOE systems of records listed below have been exempted under subsection (k)(2) in order to prevent subjects of investigation from frustrating the investigatory process through access to records about themselves or as a result of learning the identities of confidential informants; to prevent disclosure of investigative techniques; to maintain the ability to obtain necessary information; and thereby to insure the proper functioning and integrity of law enforcement activities. Systems of records exempted under subsection (k)(2) are—

(A) Alien Visits and Participation (DOE–52).

(B) Clearance Board Cases (DOE–46).

(C) Security Correspondence Files (DOE–49).

(D) Foreign Travel Records (DOE–27).

(E) Legal Files (Claims, Litigation, Criminal Violations, Patents, and other Legal Files) (DOE–41).

(F) Personnel Security Clearance Files (DOE–43).

(G) Personnel Security Clearance Index (Automated) (DOE–42).

(H) Special Access Authorization for Categories of Classified Information (DOE–44).

(I) DOE Personnel and General Employment Records (DOE–1) (only personnel investigative records concerning current and former DOE employees and applicants for employment by DOE).

(J) Investigative Files of the Inspector General (DOE–54) (only investigative records concerning past and present DOE employees).

(3) Investigatory material compiled for determining suitability for Federal employment. (i) Subsection (k)(5) permits exemption of systems of records that contain investigatory material compiled solely for the purpose of determining suitability, eligibility, or qualification for Federal civilian employment, military service, Federal contracts, or access to classified information, but only to the extent that the disclosure of such material would reveal the identity of a source who furnished information to the Government under an express promise that the identity of the source would be held in confidence, or, prior to September 27, 1975, under an implied promise that the identity of the source would be held in confidence.

(ii) The DOE systems of records listed below have been exempted under subsection (k)(5) to the extent they contain the kinds of records described in subsection (k)(5) in order to maintain DOE's ability to obtain candid information on candidates for employment, contracts, or access to classified information and to fulfill commitments made to sources to protect the confidentiality of information, and thereby to facilitate proper selection or continuation of the best applicants or persons for a given position or contract. Systems exempted under subsection (k)(5) are—

(A) DOE Personnel and General Employment Records (DOE–1);

(B) Personnel Security Clearance Files (DOE–43);

(C) Investigative Files of the Inspector General (DOE–54);

(D) Alien Visits and Participation (DOE–52);

(E) Clearance Board Cases (DOE–46);

(F) Security Correspondence Files (DOE–49);

(G) Foreign Travel Records (DOE–27);

(H) Legal Files (Claims, Litigation, Criminal Violations, Patents, and other Legal Files) (DOE–41);

(I) Personnel Security Clearance Index (Automated) (DOE–42);

(J) Special Access Authorization for Categories of Classified Information (DOE–44);

(K) DOE Personnel: Supervisor-Maintained Personnel Records (DOE–2);

(L) Applications for DOE Employment (DOE–4).

(4) Testing or examination material. (i) Subsection (k)(6) permits exemption of systems of records that include testing or examination material used solely to determine individual qualifications for appointment or promotion in the Federal service, the disclosure of which would compromise the objectivity or fairness of the testing of examination process.

(ii) The DOE systems of records listed below have been exempted to the extent they contain testing or examination material in order to protect the integrity of the personnel testing and evaluation process and to avoid providing individuals with unfair advantage, by premature or unfair disclosure of testing or rating information. Systems exempted under Subsection (k)(6) are—

(A) (DOE–2) DOE Personnel: Supervisor-Maintained Personnel Records.

(B) (DOE–4) Applications for DOE Employment.

(C) (DOE–1) DOE Personnel and General Employment Records.

(c) Application of exemptions to particular requests. (1) The Privacy Act Officer, consistent with the recommendation of the System Manager and with concurrence of the appropriate General Counsel, may make available records which the DOE is authorized to withhold under this section.

(2) With respect to records containing material or information that would reveal the identity of a source who was given an assurance of confidentiality, a determination to make records available pursuant to paragraph (c)(1) of this section shall be made only if the source consents to the release of such information to the individual, or if it is determined that the material or information is not adverse or detrimental to the individual, or for good cause shown. The exercise of discretion with respect to waiver of the exemption shall be final.

(3) Prior to making a determination to deny access to a record in a system of records covered by exemption (k)(1) for classified material (see paragraph (b)(1) of this section), the System Manager shall consult with the Director, Division of Classification, to verify the current classification status of the information in the requested record.

§ 1008.13 Fees.

(a) The only fees to be charged to or collected from an individual under the provisions of this part are for copying records at the request of the individual. The fee charged shall be consistent with the fee schedule set forth in paragraph (b) of this section.

(1) No fees shall be charged or collected for the following: Search for and retrieval of records; review of records; copying by the DOE incident to granting access; copying at the initiative of the DOE without a request from the individual; copying when the aggregate of fees for copying is $25 or less; time spent providing copies; transportation of records and personnel; and first class postage.

(2) It is the policy of the DOE to provide an individual with one copy of each record corrected or amended pursuant to request without charge.

(3) As required by the Office of Personnel Management in its published regulations implementing the Act, the DOE will charge no fee for a single copy of a personnel record covered by that Commission's Government-wide published notice of systems of records.

(b) The schedule of fees is as follows:

(1) $.10 per copy of each page.

(2) For other forms of copying and other forms of materials (e.g., cassettes, computer materials), the direct cost of the materials, personnel, and equipment shall be charged, but only with prior specific approval of the person making the request, when such charges would be in excess of $25.

(c) The Privacy Act Officer may, upon application by an individual, furnish any records without charge or at a reduced rate, if the Privacy Act Officer determines that such waiver or reduction of fees is in the public interest.

(d) Payment shall be made by check or money order payable to the United States Department of Energy.

(e) Advance payment of all or part of the fees may be required at the discretion of the Privacy Act Officer. Unless the individual requesting the copies specifically states that he is willing to pay whatever fees are assessed for meeting the request or, alternatively, specifies an amount in excess of $25 that he is willing to pay and which in fact covers the anticipated fees for meeting the request, a request that is expected to involve assessed fees in excess of $25 shall not be deemed to have been received, for purposes of the time periods specified in § 1008.7 and § 1008.10 until the individual making the request is notified of the anticipated cost, agrees to bear it, and makes any advance deposit required. Such notification shall be made by the Privacy Act Officer as promptly as possible after receipt of the request.

§ 1008.14 Requests under false pretenses.

Subsection (i)(3) of the Act provides that any person who knowingly and willingly requests or obtains any record concerning an individual from an agency under false pretenses shall be quilty of a misdeamenaor and fined not more than $5,000.

§ 1008.15 Civil remedies.

Subsection (g) of the Act provides that an individual may bring suit against the DOE for a violation of the Privacy Act, as follows:

(a) If the DOE refuses to grant a request for access to an individual's records, the court may order the DOE to provide the individual with access to his or her records and award reasonable litigation costs and attorney's fees.

(b) If the DOE refuses to amend a record or fails to review an amendment request as required by subsection (d)(3) of the Act, the court may order the DOE to make the amendment and award reasonable litigation costs and attorney's fees.

(c) If the DOE makes an adverse determination based on a record which is not maintained in an accurate, timely, relevant, and complete manner, the individual may be awarded actual damages of at least $1,000. In order to prevail, the individual must show that—

(1) The DOE's action was willful and intentional; and

(2) The adverse determination was based on the faulty record.

(d) If the DOE fails to comply with any other provision of the Privacy Act or agency rule promulgated under the Act, in such a way as to have an adverse effect on the individual, the court may award actual damages of at least $1,000. In order to prevail, the individual must show that—

(1) The DOE's action was willful and intentional; and

(2) The agency's action had an adverse effort on the individual; and

(3) The adverse effect was causally related to the DOE's action.

Subpart C—Disclosure to Third Parties

§ 1008.16 Prohibition against disclosure.

Except as provided in § 1008.17, the DOE shall not disclose any record which is contained in a system of records, by any means of communication, to any agency or to any person other than the individual who is the subject of the record.

§ 1008.17 Conditions of disclosure.

(a) Notwithstanding the prohibition contained in § 1008.16, the DOE may disclose records covered by this part (1) to the individual to whom the record pertains or to an agency or (2) to a person other than the individual where he has given his prior written consent to the disclosure or has made a written request for such disclosure.

(b) Notwithstanding the prohibition contained in § 1008.16 the DOE may also disclose records covered by this part whenever the disclosure is:

(1) To officers and employees of the DOE who have a need for the record in the performance of their duties;

(2) Required under the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552);

(3) For a routine use (as defined in § 1008.2) which is described in the Federal Register notice for the system of records which the disclosure is to be made;

(4) To the Bureau of the Census for purposes of planning or carrying out a census or survey or related activity pursuant to the provisions of Title 13 of the United States Code;

(5) To a recipient who has provided the agency with advance adequate written assurance that the record will be used solely as a statistical research or reporting record, and the record is to be transferred in a form that is not individually identifiable;

(6) To the National Archives of the United States as a record which has sufficient historical or other value to warrant its continued preservation by the United States Government, or for evaluation by the Administrator of General Services or his designee to determine whether the record has such value;

(7) To another agency or to an instrumentality of any governmental jurisdiction within or under the control of the United States for a civil or criminal law enforcement activity if the activity is authorized by law and if the head of the agency or instrumentality has made a written request to the DOE specifying the particular portion desired and the law enforcement activity for which the record is sought;

(8) To a person pursuant to a showing of compelling circumstances affecting the health or safety of an individual if upon such disclosure notification is transmitted to the last known address of such individual;

(9) To either House of Congress, or to any committee or subcommittee thereof, any joint committee of Congress or subcommittee of any such joint committee, to the extent of matter within its jurisdiction;

(10) To the Comptroller General, or any of his authorized representatives, in the course of the performance of the duties of the General Accounting Office;

(11) Pursuant to the order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

(c) Notwithstanding the prohibition contained in section § 1008.16 of this part, the DOE may also disclose records covered by this part when disseminating a corrected or amended record or notation of a disagreement statement as required by subsection (c)(4) of the Act.

§ 1008.18 Accounting for disclosures.

(a) For each disclosure of information contained in a system of records under his control, except disclosures to authorized officers and employees of DOE and disclosures required by the Freedom of Information Act, the appropriate System Manager shall keep an accurate accounting of:

(1) The date, nature, and purposes of each disclosure of a record made to any person or to another agency; and

(2) The name and address of the person or agency to which the disclosure was made.

(b) The accounting shall be retained for at least five years or the life of the record, whichever is longer, after the disclosure for which the accounting is made.

(c) The accounting described in paragraph (a) of this section shall be made available to the individual named in the record upon written request to the Privacy Act Officer at the appropriate DOE location listed at § 1008.2(c) of this part. However, the accounting shall not be revealed with respect to disclosures made under § 1008.17(b)(7) of this part, pertaining to law enforcement activity; or with respect to disclosures involving system of records for which DOE had claimed an exemption from certain requirements of the Act, as provided in § 1008.12 of this part.

(d) Whenever an amendment or correction of a record or a notation of dispute concerning the accuracy of records is made by the DOE in accordance with §1008.10(a)(2)(iv) and § 1008.11(g) of this part, DOE shall inform any person or other agency to whom the record was previously disclosed if an accounting of the disclosure was made pursuant to the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section, unless the disclosure was made pursuant to section § 1008.17(b)(7) of this part; or the disclosure involved a system of records of which DOE has claimed an exemption from certain requirements of the Act, as provided in § 1008.12 of this part.

(e) The System Manager shall make reasonable efforts to serve notice on an individual when any record containing information about such individual in a DOE system of records is disclosed to any person under compulsory legal process when such process becomes a matter of public record.

(f) Prior to disclosing any record about an individual to any person other than an agency, unless the disclosure is pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act, the System Manager shall make reasonable efforts to assure that each record is accurate, complete, timely, and relevant for DOE's purposes.

§ 1008.19 Criminal penalties—improper disclosure.

Subsection (i)(1) of the Act provides that a Federal employee who willfully discloses information subject to the Privacy Act in violation of the Act or rules promulgated under it shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined up to $5,000.

Subpart D—Maintenance and Establishment of Systems of Records

§ 1008.20 Content of systems of records.

(a) The DOE will maintain in its records only such information about an individual as is relevant and necessary to accomplish a purpose DOE is required to accomplish by statute or by Executive Order of the President, unless an exemption of this requirement has been claimed by DOE, as provided in § 1008.12 of this part.

(b) The DOE will maintain no record describing how any individual exercises rights guaranteed by the First Amendment unless expressly authorized by statute or by the individual about whom the record is maintained or unless it is pertinent to and within the scope of an authorized law enforcement activity.

(c) The DOE will maintain all records that are used by it to make any determination about any individual with such accuracy, relevance, timeliness and completeness as is reasonably necessary to assure fairness to the individual in such determination.

§ 1008.21 Collection of information by DOE about an individual for a system of records.

(a) The DOE will collect information, to the greatest extent practicable, directly from the subject individual when the use of the information may result in adverse determinations about an individual's rights, benefits and privileges under Federal programs, unless an exemption from the Act to this requirement has been claimed by DOE as provided in § 1008.12

(b) Unless an exemption from the Act has been claimed by DOE under subsection (j)(2), as provided in § 1008.12, DOE shall inform each individual whom it asks to supply information, on the form or other means by which it uses to collect the information, or on a separate form that can be retained by the individual, of the following:

(1) The authority (whether granted by statute or by Executive Order of the President) that authorizes the solicitation of the information and whether the provision of such information is mandatory or voluntary;

(2) The principal purpose or purposes for which the information is intended to be used;

(3) The routine uses that may be made of the information, as published in the Federal Register pursuant to the requirements of the Act; and

(4) The effect on the individual, if any, of not providing all or any part of the requested information.

§ 1008.22 Use and collection of social security numbers.

(a) The System Manager of each system of records which utilizes social security numbers as a method of identification without statutory authorization or authorization by regulation adopted prior to January 1, 1975, shall revise the system to avoid future collection and use of the social security numbers.

(b) Heads of Headquarters Divisions and Offices and heads of the other DOE locations shall insure that employees authorized to collect information from individuals are advised that individuals may not be required to furnish social security numbers without statutory authorization, and that individuals who are requested to provide social security numbers voluntarily must be advised that furnishing the number is not required and that no penalty or denial of benefits will flow from the refusal to provide it.

§ 1008.23 Public notice of systems of records.

(a) The DOE shall publish in the Federal Register at least annually a notice of the existence and character of each of its systems of records, which notice shall include:

(1) The name and location of the system;

(2) The categories of individuals on whom records are maintained in the system;

(3) The categories of records maintained in the system;

(4) Each routine use of the records contained in the system, including the categories of users and the purpose of such use, subject to paragraph (d) of this section;

(5) The policies and practices of the DOE regarding storage, retrievability, access controls, retention, and disposal of the records;

(6) the title and business address of the DOE official who is responsible for the system of records;

(7) The DOE procedures whereby an individual can be notified at his request if the system of records contains a record pertaining to him;

(8) The DOE procedures whereby an individual can be notified at his request about how he can gain access to any record pertaining to him contained in the system or records, and how he can contest its content: and

(9) the categories of source of records in the systems.

(b) Notwithstanding the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section, the notice of systems of records shall not necessarily include the information in paragraphs (a) (7)–(9) of this section if DOE has claimed a general or specific exemption from the requirements of the Act, as provided in § 1008.12.

(c) Copies of the notices as printed in the Federal Register shall be available at the DOE locations listed at § 1008.2(c). Requests by mail for copies of such notices should be sent to Privacy Act Officer, Headquarters, U.S. Department of Energy, Washington, DC, 20585. The first copy will be furnished free of charge. For each additional copy, the costs of printing and handling may be charged.

(d) DOE shall publish in the Federal Register notice of any new routine use or intended routine use of a record in the system of records, at least 30 calendar days prior to the implementation of any new routine use of a record in a system of records, or at least 30 calendar days prior to publication of the annual notice of such routine uses, as provided in paragraph (a) of this section, an opportunity for interested persons to submit written comments consisting of data, views, or arguments regarding such use to DOE, shall be provided.

§ 1008.24 Criminal penalties—failure to publish a system notice.

Subsection (i)(2) of the Act provides that an agency officer or employee who willfully maintains a system of records without publishing a system notice as required by subsection (e)(4) of the Act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined up to $5,000.

Source: Order No. 536, 40 FR 44288, Sept. 25, 1975, unless otherwise noted.

§ 3b.1 Purpose.

Part 3b describes the Federal Power Commission's program to implement the provisions of the Privacy Act of 1974 (Pub. L. No. 93–579, 88 Stat. 1896) to allow individuals to have a say in the collection and use of information which may be used in determinations affecting them. The program is structured to permit an individual to determine what records pertaining to him and filed under his individual name, or some other identifying particular, are collected, maintained, used or disseminated by the Commission, to permit him access to such records, and to correct or amend them, and to provide that the Commission collect, use, maintain and disseminate such information in a lawful manner for a necessary purpose.

§ 3b.2 Definitions.

In this part:

(a) "Agency", as defined in 5 U.S.C. 551(1) as "* * * each authority of the Government of the United States, whether or not it is within or subject to review by another agency, * * *", includes any executive department, military department, Government corporation, Government controlled corporation, or other establishment in the executive branch of the Government (including the Executive Office of the President), or any independent regulatory agency (5 U.S.C. 552(e));

(b) "Individual" means a citizen of the United States or an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence;

(c) "Maintain" includes, maintain, collect, use, or disseminate;

(d) "Record" means any item, collection or grouping of information about an individual that is maintained by an agency, including, but not limited to, his education, financial transactions, medical history, and criminal or employment history and that contains his name, or the identifying number, symbol, or other identifying particular assigned to the individual, such as a finger or voice print or a photograph;

(e) "System of records" means a group of any records under the control of any agency from which information is retrieved by the name of the individual or by some identifying number, symbol, or other identifying particular assigned to the individual;

(f) "Statistical record" means a record in a system of records maintained for statistical research or reporting purposes only and not used in whole or in part in making any determination about an identifiable individual, except as provided by section 8 of title 13 of the United States Code;

(g) "Routine use" means, with respect to the disclosure of a record, the use of such record for a purpose which is compatible with the purpose for which it was collected; and

(h) "Disclosure" means either the transmittal of a copy of a record or the granting of access to a record, by oral, written, electronic or mechanical communication.

§ 3b.3 Notice requirements.

(a) The Commission will publish at least annually in the Federal Register a notice identifying the systems of records currently maintained by the Commission. For each system of records, the notice will include the following information:

(1) The name and location of the system;

(2) The categories of individuals on whom records are maintained in the system;

(3) The categories of records maintained in the system;

(4) The specific statutory provision or executive order, or rule or regulation issued pursuant thereto, authorizing the maintenance of the information contained in the system;

(5) Each routine use of the records contained in the system, including the categories of users and the purposes of such use;

(6) The policies and practices regarding the storage, retrievability, access controls, and retention and disposal of the records;

(7) The title and business address of the Commission official who is responsible for the system of records;

(8) The procedures whereby an individual can be notified at his request if the system of records contains a record pertaining to him;

(9) The procedures whereby an individual can be notified at his request how he can gain access to any record pertaining to him contained in the system of records, and how he can contest its contents; and

(10) The categories of sources of records in the system.

(b) At least thirty days prior to its operation, the Commission will publish in the Federal Register a notice of its intention to establish a new system of records reciting the information required pursuant to paragraphs (a) (1)–(10) of this section and notice of any major change to an existing system.

(c) The Commission will publish in the Federal Register a notice of its intention to establish any new or intended routine use of the information in an existing system of records at least thirty days prior to the disclosure of the record for that routine use. A new routine use is one which involves disclosure of records for a new purpose compatible with the purpose for which the record is maintained or which involves disclosure to a new recipient or category of recipients. At a minimum, the notice will contain the following information:

(1) The name of the system of records for which the routine use is to be established;

(2) The authority authorizing the maintenance of the information contained in the system;

(3) The categories of records maintained in the system;

(4) The proposed routine use(s);

(5) The categories of recipients for each proposed routine use; and

(6) Reference to the public notice in the Federal Register under which the existing system had already been published.

§ 3b.4 Government contractors.

Systems of records operated by a contractor, pursuant to a "contract," on behalf of the Commission, which are designed to accomplish a Commission function, are considered, for the purposes of this part, to be maintained by the Commission. A "contract" covers any contract, written or oral, subject to the Federal Procurement Regulations. The contractual instrument will specify, to the extent consistent with the Commission's authority to require it, that the systems of records be maintained in accordance with the requirements of this part.

§ 3b.5 Legal guardians.

For the purposes of this part, the parent of any minor, or the legal guardian of any individual who has been declared to be incompetent due to physical or mental incapacity or age by a court of competent jurisdiction, may act on behalf of the individual.

Subpart B—Standards for Maintenance and Collection of Records

§ 3b.201 Content of records.

(a) All records which are maintained by the Commission in a system of records will contain only such information about an individual that is relevant and necessary to accomplish a purpose of the Commission as required to be accomplished by statute or by executive order of the President. Pursuant to § 3b.3(a)(4) of this part, the Commission will identify in the Federal Register the specific provisions in law which authorize it to maintain information in a system of records. In determining the "relevance" and "necessity" of records, the following considerations will govern:

(1) Whether each item of information relates to the purposes, in law, for which the system is maintained;

(2) The adverse consequences, if any, of not collecting the information;

(3) Whether the need for the information could be met through the maintenance of the information in a non-individually identifiable form;

(4) Whether the information in the record is required to be collected on every individual who is the subject of a record in the system or whether a sampling procedure would suffice;

(5) The length of time it is necessary to retain the information;

(6) The financial cost of maintaining the record as compared to the adverse consequences of not maintaining it; and

(7) Whether the information, while generally relevant and necessary to accomplish a statutory purpose, is specifically relevant and necessary only in certain cases.

(b) All records which the Commission maintains in a system of records and which are used to make a determination about an individual will be maintained with such accuracy, relevance, timeliness, and completeness as is reasonably necessary to assure fairness to the individual in the determination. Where practicable, in questionable instances, reverification of pertinent information with the individual to whom the record pertains may be appropriate. In pursuit of "completeness" in the collection of information, the Commission will limit its records to those elements of information which clearly bear on the determination for which the records are intended to be used, assuring that all elements necessary to the determination are present before the determination is made.

(c) Prior to disseminating any records in a system of records, the Commission will make reasonable efforts to assure that such records are as accurate, relevant, timely, and complete as appropriate for the purposes for which they are collected and/or maintained, except when they are disclosed to a member of the public under the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. 552, as amended, or to another agency.

(d) No records of the Commission in a system of records shall describe how any individual exercises his First Amendment rights unless expressly authorized by statute or by the individual about whom the record is maintained or unless pertinent to and within the scope of an authorized law enforcement activity. The exercise of these rights includes, but is not limited to, religious and political beliefs, freedom of speech and of the press, and freedom of assembly and petition. In determining whether or not a particular activity constitutes the exercise of a right guaranteed by the First Amendment, the Commission will apply the broadest reasonable interpretation.

(a) Any information collected by the Commission for inclusion in a system of records which may result in adverse determinations about an individual's rights, benefits, and privileges under Federal programs, will, to the greatest extent practicable, be collected directly from the subject individual (see paragraph (d) of this section).

(b) The Commission will inform each individual whom it asks to supply information about himself, on the form which it uses to collect the information, or on a separate sheet that can be easily retained by the individual, in language which is explicit, informative, and easily understood, and not so lengthy as to deter an individual from reading it, of:

(1) The specific provision of the statute or executive order of the President, including the brief title or subject of that statute or order which authorizes the solicitation of the information; whether disclosure of such information is mandatory or voluntary; and whether the Commission is authorized or required to impose penalties for failing to respond;

(2) The principal purpose or purposes for which the information is intended to be used;

(3) The routine uses which may be made of the information, as described in the Federal Register in the notice of the system of records in which the information is maintained, and which are relatable and necessary to a purpose described pursuant to paragraph (b)(2) of this section; and

(4) The effects (beneficial and adverse) on the individual if any, of not providing all or any part of the requested information.

(c) Social security numbers will not be required from individuals whom the Commission asks to supply information unless the disclosure of the number is required by Federal statute or unless disclosure is to the Commission maintaining a system of records in existence and operating before January 1, 1975, if such disclosure was required pursuant to a statute or regulation adopted prior to such date to verify the identity of an individual. When an individual is requested to disclose his social security number to the Commission, he will be informed under what statutory or other authority such number is solicited, what uses will be made of it, whether disclosure is mandatory or voluntary, and if it is mandatory, under what provisions of law or regulation.

(d) The use of third-party sources to collect information about an individual may be appropriate in certain circumstances. In determining when the use of third-party sources would be appropriate, the following considerations will govern:

(1) When the information needed can only be obtained from a third party;

(2) When the cost of collecting the information directly from the individual concerned far exceeds the cost of collecting it from a third party;

(3) When there is little risk that the information proposed to be collected from the third party, if inaccurate, could result in an adverse determination about the individual concerned.

(4) When there is a need to insure the accuracy of information supplied by an individual by verifying it with a third party, or there is a need to obtain a qualitative assessment of the individual's capabilities or character; or

(5) When there are provisions for verifying any third-party information with the individual concerned before making a determination based on that information.

Third party sources, where feasible, will be informed of the purposes for which information which they are asked to provide will be used. In appropriate circumstances, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(k) (2), (5), and (7), the Commission may assure a third party that his identity will not be revealed to the subject of the collected information.

§ 3b.203 Rules of conduct.

(a) The Executive Director of the Commission has the overall administrative responsibility for implementing the provisions of the Privacy Act of 1974 and overseeing the conduct of all Commission employees with respect to the act.

(b) It is the responsibility of the Comptroller of the Commission, under the guidance of the Executive Director, to prepare the appropriate internal administrative procedures to assure that all persons involved in the design, development, or operation of any system of records, or in collecting, using, or disseminating any individual record, and who have access to any system of records, are informed of all rules and requirements of the Commission to protect the privacy of the individuals who are the subjects of the records, including the applicable provisions of the FPC Standards of Conduct for Employees, Special Government Employees and Commissioners, specifically 18 CFR 3.207(e) and 3.228(d).

(c) The Director, Office of Personnel Programs, is responsible for establishing and conducting an adequate training program for such persons whose official duties require access to and collection, maintenance, use, and dissemination of such records.

(d) The General Counsel of the Commission is responsible for providing legal interpretation of the Privacy Act of 1974, and for preparing all agency rules and notices for official publication in compliance with the act.

(e) Commission employees will be informed of all the implications of their actions in this area, including especially:

(1) That there are criminal penalties for knowing and willful unauthorized disclosure of material within a system of records; for willful failure to publish a public notice of the existence of a system of records; and for knowingly and willfully requesting or obtaining records under false pretenses;

(2) That the Commission may be subject to civil suit due to failure to amend an individual's record in accordance with his request or failure to review his request in conformity with § 3b.224; refusal to comply with an individual's request of access to a record under § 3b.221; willful or intentional failure to maintain a record accurately pursuant to § 3b.201(b) and consequently a determination is made which is adverse to the individual; or willful or intentional failure to comply with any other provision of the Privacy Act of 1974, or any rule promulgated thereunder, in such a way as to have an adverse effect upon an individual.

§ 3b.204 Safeguarding information in manual and computer-based record systems.

(a) The administrative and physical controls to protect the information in the manual and computer-based record systems from unauthorized access or disclosure will be specified for each system in the Federal Register. The system managers, who are responsible for providing protection and accountability of such records at all times and for insuring that the records are secured in proper containers whenever they are not in use or under direct control of authorized persons, will be identified for each system of records in the Federal Register.

(b) Whenever records in the manual or computer-based record systems, including input and output documents, punched cards, and magnetic tapes or disks, are not under the personal control of an authorized person, they will be stored in lockable containers and/or in a secured room, or in alternative storage systems which furnish an equivalent or greater degree of physical security. In this regard, the Commission may refer to security guidelines prepared by the General Services Administration, the Department of Commerce (National Bureau of Standards), or other agencies with appropriate knowledge and expertise.

(c) Access to and use of records will only be permitted to persons pursuant to §§ 3b.221, 3b.224, and 3b.225. Access to areas where records are stored will be limited to those persons whose official duties require work in such areas. Proper control of data, in any form, associated with the manual and computer-based record systems will be maintained at all times, including maintenance of an accounting of removal of the records from the storage area.

Subpart C—Rules for Disclosure of Records

§ 3b.220 Notification of maintenance of records to individuals concerned.

(a) Upon written request, either in person or by mail, to the appropriate system manager specified for each system of records, an individual will be notified whether a system of records maintained by the Commission and named by the individual contains a record or records pertaining to him and filed under his individual name, or some other identifying particular.

(b) The system manager may require appropriate identification pursuant to § 3b.222, and if necessary, may request from the individual additional information needed to locate the record which the individual should reasonably be expected to know, such as, but not limited to, date of birth, place of birth, and a parent's first name.

(c) When practicable, the system manager will provide a written acknowledgement of the inquiry within ten days of receipt of the inquiry (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal public holidays) and notification of whether or not a system of records maintained by the Commission and named by the individual contains a record pertaining to him and filed under his individual name or some other identifying particular. If the system manager is unable to provide an answer within the ten-day period, he will so inform the individual in writing, stating the reasons therefor (for good cause shown), and when it is anticipated that notification will be made. Such an extension will not exceed fifteen days from receipt of the inquiry (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal public holidays).

(d) "For good cause shown", as used in all sections of this part, includes circumstances such as the following: Where a search for and/or collection of requested records from inactive storage, field offices, or other establishments is required; where a voluminous amount of data is involved; where information on other individuals must be separated or expunged from the record; or where consultations are required with other agencies or with others having a substantial interest in the determination of the request.

§ 3b.221 Access of records to individuals concerned.

(a) Upon written request, either in person or by mail, to the appropriate system manager specified for each system of records, any individual may gain access to records or information in a system of records pertaining to him and filed under his individual name, or some other identifying particular, to review and to have a copy made of all or any portion thereof in a form comprehensible to him.

(b) A person of his own choosing may accompany the individual to whom the record pertains when the record is disclosed [see § 3b.222(e)].

(c) Before disclosure, the following procedure may apply:

Medical or psychological records will be disclosed directly to the individual to whom they pertain unless, in the judgment of the system manager, in consultation with a medical doctor or a psychologist, access to such records could have an adverse effect upon the individual. When the system manager and a doctor determine that the disclosure of such information could have an adverse effect upon the individual to whom it pertains, the system manager may transmit such information to a medical doctor named by the requesting individual.

(d) The system manager will provide a written acknowledgement of the receipt of a request for access within ten days of receipt (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal public holidays). Such acknowledgement may, if necessary, request any additional information needed to locate the record which the individual may reasonably be expected to know, and may require appropriate identification pursuant to § 3b.222 of this part. No acknowledgment is required if access can be granted within the ten-day period.

(1) If access can be granted, the system manager will notify the individual, in writing, as to when, and whether access will be granted in person or by mail, so that access will be provided within twenty days of the receipt of the request (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal public holidays). If the system manager is unable to provide access within twenty days of receipt of the request, he will inform the individual in writing as to the reasons therefor (for good cause shown), and when it is anticipated that access will be granted. If the expected date of access indicated in the written notification to the individual cannot be met, the system manager will advise the individual in writing of the delay, the reasons therefor (for good cause shown), and of a revised date when access will be granted. Such extensions will not exceed thirty days from receipt of the request (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal public holidays).

(2) If access cannot be granted, the system manager will inform the individual, in writing, within twenty days of receipt of the request (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal public holidays) of the refusal of his request; the reasons for the refusal; the right of the individual, within thirty days of receipt of the refusal, to request in writing a review of the refusal by the Chairman of the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, D.C. 20426, or by an officer designated by the Chairman pursuant to § 3b 224(f); and the right of the individual to seek advice or assistance from the system manager in obtaining such a review.

(e) The Chairman, or officer designated pursuant to § 3b.224(f), not later than thirty days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal public holidays) from the date of receipt of the individual's request for review will complete such review, unless, for good cause shown, the Chairman, or designated officer, extends the thirty-day period in writing to the individual with reasons for the delay and the approximate date on which the review is expected to be completed. Such an extension will not exceed thirty-five days from receipt of the request for review (excluding Saturdays, Sundays and legal public holidays). The Chairman, or designated officer, will make one of the following determinations:

(1) Grant the individual access to the requested record and notify the individual, in writing, as to when, and whether access will be granted in person or by mail; or

(2) Inform the individual in writing of the refusal, the reasons therefor, and the right of the individual to seek judicial review of the refusal of his request for access.

(f)(1) The Commission will deny an individual access to the following records pertaining to him:

(i) Information compiled in reasonable anticipation of a civil action or proceeding;

(ii) Records listed in the Federal Register as exempt from certain provisions of the Privacy Act of 1974, pursuant to Subpart D of this Part; and

(iii) Records which may be required to be withheld under other statutory provisions.

(2) The Commission will not deny an individual access to a record pertaining to him because that record is permitted to be withheld from members of the public under the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. 552, as amended.

(g) Disclosure of an original record will take place in the presence of the Commission representative having physical custody of the record.

§ 3b.222 Identification requirements.

The appropriate system manager specified for each system of records will require reasonable identification from individuals to assure that records in a system of records are disclosed to the proper person. Identification requirements will be consistent with the nature of the records being disclosed.

(a) Disclosure of records to the individual to whom the record pertains, or under whose name or some other identifying particular the record is filed, in person, requires that the individual show an identification card. Employee identification, a Medicare card, or a driver's license are examples of acceptable identification. Documents incorporating a picture and signature of the individual are preferred.

(b) For records disclosed by mail, the system manager will require certain minimum identifying information: name, date of birth, or the system's personal identifier if known to the individual. A comparison of the signatures of the requester and those in the record will be used to determine identity.

(c) If the system manager determines that the data in the record is so sensitive that unauthorized access could cause harm or embarrassment to the individual involved, a signed notarized statement asserting identity or some other reasonable means to verify identity will be required.

(d) If an individual can provide no suitable information or documents for identification, the system manager will require a signed statement from the individual asserting his identity and stipulating that the individual understands that knowingly or willfully seeking or obtaining access to records about an individual under false pretenses is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $5,000.

(e) The system manager will require an individual who wishes to be accompanied by another person when reviewing his records to furnish a signed written statement authorizing discussion of his records in the presence of the accompanying person.

(f) The appropriate identification requirements of this section may be required by a system manager from an individual to whom a record does not pertain who seeks access to the record pursuant to § 3b.225.

(g) No individual will be denied notification of maintenance of a record pursuant to § 3b.220 or access to a record pursuant to §§ 3b.221 and 3b.224 for refusing to disclose a social security number.

(h) No verification of identity will be required of individuals seeking notification of or access to records which are otherwise available to a member of the public under the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. 552, as amended.

§ 3b.223 Fees.

(a) Fees will be charged for the direct cost of duplication of records in a system of records when copies are requested by the individual seeking access to the records. Any person may obtain a copy of the Commission's schedule of fees by telephone, by mail or by coming in person to the office of the appropriate system manager who is responsible for the protection and accountability of the desired record. Requests for copies of requested records and payment therefor must be made to the system manager. Fees will only be charged for costs of $2 or more.

(b) Where practicable, self-service duplication of requested documents may also be made on duplicating machines by the person requesting the records, on a reimbursable basis to the system manager, in the presence of the Commission representative having physical custody of the record. Where data has been extracted from one of the Commission's systems of records on magnetic tape or disks, or computer files, copies of the records of these files may be secured on a reimbursable basis upon written request to the appropriate system manager. The fee will vary for each requirement, depending on size and complexity.

(c) No fee will be charged in the following instances:

(1) When the system manager determines that he can grant access to records only by providing a copy of the record through the mail because he cannot provide reasonable means for the individual to have access in person;

(2) For search and review of requested records to determine if they fall within the disclosure requirements of this part; and

(3) When the system manager makes a copy of the record as a necessary part of the process of making it available for review.

(d) Except for requests made by Government agencies, certification of copies of any official Commission record shall be accompanied by a fee of $2 per document.

§ 3b.224 Requests to amend records and disputes thereon.

(a) Upon written request, either in person or by mail, to the appropriate system manager specified for each system of records, any individual may amend records in a system of records pertaining to him and filed under his individual name or some other identifying particular. Such requests should contain identifying information needed to locate the record, a brief description of the item or items of information to be amended, and information in support of the request for amendment. The individual may obtain assistance in preparing his request to amend a record from the appropriate system manager.

(b) The system manager will provide a written acknowledgement of the receipt of a request to amend within ten days of receipt (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal public holidays). Such an acknowledgement may, if necessary, request any additional information needed to make a determination which the individual may reasonably be expected to know, and verification of identity consistent with § 3b.222. The acknowledgement will clearly describe the request and advise the individual requesting the amendment when he may expect to be notified of action taken on the request. No acknowledgement is required if the request can be reviewed, processed, and the individual notified of compliance or denial within the ten-day period.

(c) The system manager will complete the review and advise the individual in writing of the results within twenty days of the receipt of the request (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal public holidays). If the system manager is unable to complete the review within twenty days of the receipt of the request, he will inform the individual in writing as to the reasons therefor (for good cause shown) and when it is anticipated that the review will be completed. If the completion date for the review indicated in the acknowledgement cannot be met, the system manager will advise the individual in writing of the delay, the reasons therefor (for good cause shown), and of a revised date when the review may be expected to be completed. Such extensions will not exceed thirty days from receipt of the request (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal public holidays). The system manager will take one of the following actions:

(1) Make the requested correction or amendment; so advise the individual in writing; and, where an accounting of the disclosure of the record was made pursuant to § 3b.226, advise all previous recipients of the record in writing of the fact that the amendment was made and the substance of the amendment [see § 3b.225(d)]; or

(2) Inform the individual in writing of the refusal to amend the record in accordance with the request; the reasons for the refusal including any of the standards which were employed pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section in conducting the review; the right of the individual, within thirty days of receipt of the refusal, to request in writing a review of the refusal by the Chairman of the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, NE., Washington, D.C. 20426, or by an officer designated by the Chairman pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section; and the right of the individual to seek advice or assistance from the system manager in obtaining such a review.

(d) In reviewing a record in response to a request to amend, the system manager and the Chairman, or the officer he designates pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section, shall assess the accuracy, relevance, timeliness and completeness of the record. They shall consider the record in terms of the criteria established in § 3b.201.

(e) The Chairman, or officer designated pursuant to paragraph (f) of this section, not later than thirty days (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal public holidays) from the date of receipt of the individual's request for review, will complete such review, unless, for good cause shown, the Chairman, or designated officer, extends the thirty-day period in a writing to the individual with reasons for the delay and the approximate date on which the review is expected to be completed. Such an extension will not exceed thirty-five days from receipt of the request for review (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal public holidays). The Chairman, or designated officer, will make one of the following determinations:

(1) Make the correction in accordance with the individual's request and proceed as in paragraph (c)(1) of this section; or

(2) Inform the individual in writing of:

(i) The refusal to amend the record in accordance with the request,

(ii) The reasons therefor, including any of the standards which were employed pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section in conducting the review;

(iii) The right of the individual to file with the Chairman, or designated officer, a concise written statement setting forth the reasons for his disagreement with the decision;

(iv) The fact that the statement of disagreement will be made available to anyone to whom the record is subsequently disclosed, together with the portion of the record which is disputed clearly noted, and, with, at the discretion of the Chairman, or designated officer, a brief statement by the Chairman, or designated officer, summarizing the reasons for refusing to amend the record;

(v) Where an accounting of the disclosure of the record was made pursuant to § 3b.226, the fact that prior recipients of the disputed record will be provided a copy of the individual's statement of disagreement, with the portion of the record which is disputed clearly noted, and, at the Chairman's or designated officer's discretion, the statement summarizing the refusal to amend [see § 3b.225(d)]; and

(vi) The individual's right to seek judicial review of the refusal to amend.

(f) The Chairman may designate, in writing, another officer of the Commission to act in his capacity for the purposes of this part. The officer will be organizationally independent of or senior to the system manager who made the initial determination and will conduct a review independent of the initial determination.

§ 3b.225 Written consent for disclosure.

(a) The Commission will not disclose any record which is contained in a system of records by any means of communication to any person, or to any other agency, unless it has the written request by, or the prior written consent of, the individual to whom the record pertains and under whose individual name, or some other identifying particular, the record is filed. The written request or consent should include, at a minimum, the general purposes for or the types of recipients to whom disclosure may be made. The fact that an individual is informed of the purposes for which information will be used when information is collected pursuant to § 3b.202(b)(2) will not constitute consent.

(b) A written request or consent is not required if the disclosure is:

(1) To those officers and employees of the Commission who have a need for the record in the performance of their duties;

(2) Required under the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. 552, as amended;

(3) For a routine use as defined in § 3b.2(g) of this part and as described in the public notice for each system of records;

(4) To the Bureau of the Census for purposes of planning or carrying out a census or survey or related activity pursuant to the provisions of title 13 of the United States Code;

(5) To a recipient who has provided the appropriate system manager specified for each system of records with advance adequate written assurance that the record will be used solely as a statistical research or reporting record, and the record is to be transferred in a form that is not individually identifiable. The written statement of assurance should include at a minimum:

(i) A statement of the purpose for requesting the record; and

(ii) Certification that the record will only be used for statistical purposes.

In addition to stripping personally identifying information from records released for statistical purposes, the system manager will ensure that the identity of the individual cannot reasonably be deduced or determined by combining various statistical records, or by reference to public records or other available sources of information;

(6) To the National Archives of the United States, pursuant to 44 U.S.C. 2103, as a record which has sufficient historical or other value to warrant its continued preservation by the United States Government, or for the evaluation by the Administrator of General Services or his designee to determine whether the record has such value;

(7) To another agency or to an instrumentality of any governmental jurisdiction within or under the control of the United States for a civil or criminal law enforcement activity if the activity is authorized by law, and if the head of the agency or instrumentality, or his delegated official, has made a written request to the appropriate system manager specifying the particular portion of the record desired and the law enforcement activity for which the record is being sought;

(8) To a person pursuant to a showing of compelling circumstances affecting the health or safety of an individual (not necessarily the individual to whom the record pertains), if, upon disclosure, notification of such is sent to the last known address of the individual to whom the record pertains;

(9) To either House of Congress, or to any committee or subcommittee thereof, on a matter within its jurisdiction;

(10) To the Comptroller General, or any of his authorized representatives, in the course of the performance of the duties of the General Accounting Office; or

(11) Pursuant to the order of a court of competent jurisdiction.

(c) When a record is disclosed under compulsory legal process and such process becomes a matter of public record, the system manager will make reasonable efforts to notify the individual to whom the record pertains. A notice will be sent to the individual's last known address noted in the Commission's files.

(d) The appropriate system manager shall notify all prior recipients of records, disclosure to whom an accounting was made pursuant to § 3b.226, of any amendments made to the records, including corrections, amendments and notations of dispute made pursuant to §§ 3b.224(c)(1) and 3b.224(e)(1) and (2)(v), within ten days of receipt of the corrected information or notation of dispute (excluding Saturdays, Sundays, and legal public holidays), except under unusual circumstances (see circumstances described in § 3b.220(d)).

(e) The content of the records disclosed under this section shall be maintained pursuant to the standards established in § 3b.201(c).

§ 3b.226 Accounting of disclosures.

(a) The appropriate system manager specified for each system of records will keep an accurate written account of all disclosures of records made to any person or to any other agency with the written consent or at the written request of the individual to whom the record pertains and pursuant to § 3b.225(b)(3)–(11). The account will include the following information:

(1) The date, nature, and purpose of each disclosure;

(2) The name and address of the person or agency to whom the disclosure is made; and

(3) A reference to the justification or basis upon which the release was made, including reference to any written document required as when records are released for statistical or law enforcement purposes pursuant to § 3b.225(b) (5) and (7).

(b) Each system manager will retain the accounting made under paragraph (a) of this section for at least five years from the date of disclosure for which the accounting is made, or the life of the record, which ever is longer.

(c) Except for disclosures made for law enforcement purposes pursuant to § 3b.225(b)(7), and unless the system of records has been exempted from this provision pursuant to Subpart D of this part, each system manager will make the accounting made under paragraph (a) of this section available to the individual named in the record at his written request.

(d) The accounting of disclosures is not a system of records under the definition in § 3b.2(e) and no accounting will be maintained for disclosure of the accounting of disclosures.

§ 3b.227 Mailing lists.

An individual's name and address maintained by the Commission will not be sold or rented for commercial or other solicitation purposes not related to the purposes for which the information was collected, unless such sale or rental is specifically authorized by law. This provision shall not be construed to require the withholding of names or addresses otherwise permitted to be made public, as pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. 552, as amended.

Subpart D—Rules for Exemptions

§ 3b.250 Specific exemptions.

Any system of records maintained by the Commission may be exempt from certain provisions of the Privacy Act of 1974, and the appropriate sections of this part promulgated pursuant thereto, if the following requirements are met:

(a) The system of records falls within one or more of the following categories:

(1) Records subject to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552(b)(1) as classified material;

(2) Investigatory material compiled for law enforcement purposes [except to the extent that the system is more broadly exempt under 5 U.S.C. 552a(j)(2) covering records maintained by an agency whose principal function pertains to the enforcement of criminal laws] provided, however, that is such record is used as a basis for denying an individual any right, privilege, or benefit to which the individual would be entitled in the absence of that record, the individual must be granted access to that record except to the extent that access would reveal the identity of a confidential source who furnished the information to the Government under an express promise that his identity would be held in confidence, or, prior to September 27, 1975, under an implied promise that his identity would be held in confidence;

(3) Records maintained to provide protective services to the President of the United States or other individuals pursuant to 18 U.S.C. 3056;

(4) Records required by statute to be maintained and used solely as statistical records;

(5) Investigatory material compiled solely for determining suitability, eligibility, or qualifications for Federal civilian employment, military service, Federal contracts, or access to classified information, but only to the extent that disclosure of such material would reveal the identity of a source who furnished information to the Government under an express promise that his identity would be held in confidence, or, prior to September 27, 1975, under an implied promise that his identity would be held in confidence;

(6) Testing or examination material used solely to determine individual qualifications for appointment or promotion in the Federal service the disclosure of which would compromise the objectivity or fairness of the testing or examination process; or

(7) Material used to evaluate potential for promotion in the armed services, but only to the extent that the disclosure of such material would reveal the identity of a source who furnished the information to the Government under an express promise that his identity would be held in confidence, or, prior to September 27, 1975, under an implied promise that his identity would be held in confidence;

(b) Publication in the Federal Register is made in accordance with the requirements (including general public notice) of the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 553, to include, at a minimum:

(1) The name of the system of records;

(2) The specific provision or provisions of the Privacy Act of 1974, and the appropriate sections of this Part promulgated pursuant thereto, from which the system is to be exempted; and

(3) The reasons for the exemption; and

(c) The system of records is exempted from one or more of the following provisions of the Privacy Act and the appropriate sections of this part promulgated pursuant thereto:

(1) 5 U.S.C. 552a(c)(3); 18 CFR 3b.226(c)—Making the accounting of disclosures available to the individual named in the record at his request;

(2) 5 U.S.C. 552a(d); 18 CFR 3b.221, 3b.224—Granting an individual the right of access to his records and permitting him to request amendment of such;

(3) 5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(1); 18 CFR 3b.201(a)—Requiring maintenance of relevant and necessary information in a system of records as required by statute or executive order of the President;

(4) 5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(4)(G); 18 CFR 3b.3(a)(8)—Requiring a description of procedures for determining if a system contains a record on an individual in the public notice of the system of records;

(5) 5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(4)(H); 18 CFR 3b.3(a)(9)—Requiring a description of procedures for gaining access to and contesting the contents of a record in the public notice of the system of records;

(6) 5 U.S.C. 552a(e)(4)(I); 18 CFR 3b.3(a)(10)—Requiring a description of the categories of the sources of records in the public notice of the system of records; and

(7) 5 U.S.C. 552a(f); 18 CFR 3b.220–3b.224—Requiring agency rules for determining if an individual is the subject of a record, for handling requests for access, for granting requests for access, for amending records, and for fees.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, title, agency office address, agency mailing address, telephone number, standard administrative code, and social security number.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301, 40 U.S.C. 486(c).

Purpose(s):

The records are used to develop and maintain current employee locator and directory listings. The locator listings are used by the HHS information centers, mailrooms, and others specifically for the purpose of locating employees and for routing mail. The directory listings are used to produce departmental telephone directories on an as needed basis.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Variously stored in card files, computer printouts, paper forms, magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Alphabetically by employee name in certain instances, also by agency and/or title. Some large systems use the SSN as control to update, change or delete information on individuals no longer within this system of records.

Safeguards:

Only authorized personnel have access to master lists which contain social security numbers.

Retention and disposal:

Retained as long as individual is employed by or associated with the Department, then information deleted from files by appropriate method.

System manager(s) and address:

Telecommunications management officials of the Department—See Appendix.

Notification procedure:

Direct inquiries to appropriate systems manager identified in Appendix.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and corrective action sought with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

Individual employee.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Investigatory Material Compiled for Security and Suitability Purposes, HHS/OS/OIG.

Security classification:

None for the system; however, a portion of the records within the system are classified at the level of Confidential and Secret.

System location:

Security and Protection Division, Room 523B, Humphrey Building, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, 200 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Prospective, current, and, former employees and others doing business with the Department.

Categories of records in the system:

Personnel security and suitability investigations.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Executive Orders 10450 and 12356.

Purpose(s):

Records in this system are maintained to assist the Secretary and other responsible officials in determining whether the appointment and retention of HHS employees is clearly consistent with the national security and whether they are otherwise suitable for employment. This system contains records of certain applicants to and employees of each Department component. See also "Retrievability" below.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

These records may be used as follows:

(1) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(3) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(4) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(5) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are maintained in security type vaults or safes or lock bar file cabinets with manipulation proof combination locks.

Retrievability:

The records are alphabetically indexed by name and date of birth of the individual subject of the file or by cross reference to another file. Access within HHS is limited to the Secretary, and on a need-to-know basis to other Department officials having program management responsibility.

Safeguards:

Direct access is restricted to authorized OIG staff; access within HHS is limited to the Secretary, Under Secretary and other officials and employees on a need-to-know basis. Access to the safes in which the records are stored is limited to those OIG employees with appropriate security clearances and the lock combination.

Retention and disposal:

Security investigative records on individuals who occupy sensitive positions are maintained during the term of their employment. Other security and suitability investigative records are maintained for ten years if subject to EO 10450. Other files may be destroyed after three years.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Security and Protection Division, Office of Investigations, OIG, Room 523B, Humphrey Bldg., U.S.
Department of Health and Human Services, 200 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Notification procedure:

Exempt. However, consideration will be given requests addressed to the system manager. For general inquiries, include the name and date of birth, and employment or other affiliation with the Department.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Exempt. However, consideration will be given requests addressed to the systems manager. Requests for correction should reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification.

Record source categories:

Federal, state or local agencies maintaining civil, criminal, suitability or other relevant enforcement information or other pertinent information correspondence and material or data obtained during the course of the conduct of the investigations.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

Exempt from certain provisions of the Act under 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(5). Pursuant to 45 CFR 5b.11(b)(2)(iv)(A), this system is exempt from the following subsections of the Act: (c)(3), (d)(1)-(4), and (e)(4) (G) and (H).

09-90-0003

System name:

Criminal Investigative Files of the Inspector General HHS/OS/OIG.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Office of the Inspector General, HHS Room 5246 North Bldg., 330 Independence Ave., SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Employees, former employees, grantees, contractors, sub-contractors, carriers, State agencies, State employees, providers and recipients under HHS programs, providers and recipients under State programs funded by the Department and others doing business with the Department.

Categories of records in the system:

Criminal Investigation Files.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

28 U.S.C. 535(b), 18 U.S.C.; Pub. L. 94-505, Oct. 15, 1976.

Purpose(s):

Pursuant to Pub. L. 94-505, this system is maintained for the purposes of conducting and documenting investigations conducted by OIG or other investigative agencies regarding HHS programs and operations, documenting the outcome of OIG reviews of allegations and complaints received concerning HHS programs operations, aiding in prosecutions brought against the subjects of OIG investigations, maintaining a record of the activities which were the subject of investigations, reporting the results of investigations to other Departmental components for their use in operating and evaluating their programs and in imposition of civil or administration sanctions, and acting as a repository and source for information necessary to fulfill the reporting requirements of 42 U.S.C. 3524

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

a. In the event that this system of records, maintained by this Agency to carry out its functions, indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto where such responsibility rests outside of OIG.

b. In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

c. A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

d. A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

e. In the event that this system of records, maintained by this agency to carry out its function, indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto where such responsibility rests outside OIG.

f. Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

g. When the Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system, relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safequards with respect to such records.

h. Disclosures may be made to organizations deemed qualified by the Secretary to carry out quality assessment.

i. There may also be disclosures in the course of employee discipline or competence determination proceedings.

j. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

k. In event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

l. A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a Federal, State, or local agency maintaining pertinent records, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to a Department decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records, which take the form of index cards, investigative reports, computer disc files, and computer printed listings are maintained under secure conditions. Written documents are maintained in security type safes or lock bar file cabinets with manipulation proof combination locks. Computer disc files are on-line in guarded mantrapped dual door combination locked computer rooms.

Retrievability:

The records are retrieved by manual or computer search of alphabetical indices or cross-indices. Indices list names of individuals, companies and organizations.

Safeguards:

Direct access is restricted to authorized staff members of the Office of Inspector General. Access within HHS is limited to the Secretary, Under-Secretary, Inspector General and other officials and employees on a need-to-know basis. Intra-agency transfers are made in accordance with the statement of Organization, Functions and Delegations of Authority as set out in a notice concerning the Office of Inspector General (42 FR 17531, April 1, 1977). All computer files and printed listings are safeguarded in accordance with the provisions of the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards 41 and 31, and the HHS, ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, "ADP Systems Security." All computer discs are password protected, prohibiting unauthorized access. See also storage section of notice.

Retention and disposal:

Investigative files are retained for 5 years after completion of the investigation and/or actions based thereon. Index and cross-reference cards are retained permanently. In instances of computer matching of files, only those records which meet predetermined criteria for investigation are maintained. All records which do not meet these criteria are destroyed. All original source computer tapes are returned or destroyed once computer matching has been accomplished.

System manager(s) and address:

Inspector General/Deputy Inspector General, Room 5262, North Building, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, 330 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C.
20201.

Notification procedure:

Exempt, however consideration will be given requests addressed to the system manager. For general inquiries include the name and date of birth of the individual.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under system manager(s) and address above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and corrective action sought with supporting justification.

Record source categories:

Departmental and other federal, state, and local government records; interviewers of witnesses; documents and other material furnished by nongovernment sources. Sources may include confidential sources.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

General exemption (j)(2), this system was formerly known as the Investigatory Materials compiled for Law Enforcement Purposes system. Pursuant to 45 CFR 5b.11, (b)(2)(i)(b), (40 FR 47413, Oct. 8, 1975) this system is exempt from the following subsections of the Act (c)(3), (d)(1)–(4), (e)(3), and (e)(4)(G)(h).

09–90–0005

System name:

Safety Management Information System (HHS Accident, Injury and Illness Reporting System), HHS/OS/ASMB/OFE/OSOH.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

At Departmental, Regional and Headquarters facilities (see Appendix.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

1. HHS employees, including both civilian and commissioned corps personnel, who are involved in an accident which arises out of and in the course of their employment whether occurring on HHS premises or not and results in:

a. A fatality.

b. Lost workdays beyond the day in which the accident occurred.

c. Nonfatal injuries which result in transfer to another job, termination of employment, medical treatment other than first aid, loss of consciousness or restriction of work or motion.

d. A possible tort claim.

e. A claim for compensation.

f. Property damage in excess of 50.00 dollars..

g. Interrupts or interferes with the orderly progress of work of other employees.

h. Radiation over exposure.

i. Biological exposure resulting in lost time of accidental release of biologicals where the public may be over-exposed.

2. Visiting scientists, contractor personnel, hospitalized patients, out-patients, employees of other Federal agencies, state or local governments or members of the public who suffer injury, illness or property damage on or in HHS premises or as a result of HHS activities.

Categories of records in the system:

This system consists of a variety of information and supporting documentations resulting from the reporting and investigation of accidents which have resulted in injury, illness, property damage or the interruption or interference with the orderly progress of work. The records contain information about individuals involved in or experiencing accidents including but not limited to the severity of the injury, whether consciousness was lost, the type of injury, culmination of any injury, days lost from work if any, the nature of the injury, illness or disease, the body part affected, causal factors, weather factors, agency of accident, whether unsafe mechanical, physical, or personal acts or factors were involved, the accidents area of origin and if fire was involved, the type and form of materials involved. Property damage (both public and private) is noted through the property sequence number, who owned the property involved, property damage and actual or estimated monetary loss, the HHS installation number if appropriate and the year of manufacture or construction if appropriate. Identifiers relating to a particular accident include the organization, case number assigned, date and time of occurrence, state or territory, site, type and classification of accident, estimated amount of tort claims if appropriate, name of individual(s) involved, the social security number, sex, age, grade series and level, CSC series, address, other Departments notified of accident, duty status, activity at time of accident and time on duty before accident. Management's evaluation and corrective action taken or proposed is also noted.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 19 of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (Pub. L. 91-596); U.S.C. 7902; 29 CFR Part 1960; Executive Order No. 12196.

Purpose(s):

The purpose of the system is to comply with the reporting and statistical analyses requirements of section 19 of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (Pub L. 91-596) as amended (29 U.S.C. 668); U.S.C. 7902; 29 CFR Part 1960; Executive Order 12196 and such other purposes as are described under routine uses of this system notice. The Safety Management Information System is a Department-wide system utilized by all organizational components of the Department. Thus in addition to the routine uses subsequently noted in this system notice there may be other ad hoc disclosures within the Department on an official business "need to know" basis.

a. Establish a written record of the causes of accidents.

b. Provide information to initiate and support corrective or preventive action.

c. Provide statistical information relating to accidents resulting in occupational injuries, illnesses, and/or property damage.

d. Provide management with information with which to evaluate the effectiveness of safety management programs.

e. Provide the means for complying with the reporting requirements of Section 19 of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 and such other reporting requirements as may be required by legislative or regulative requirements.

f. Provide such other summary descriptive statistics and analytical studies as necessary in support of the function for which the records are collected and maintained including general requests for statistical information without personal identification of individuals.

g. Information in these records is used by or may be disclosed to: a. The Office of Safety and Occupational Health, Office of the Secretary, HHS in the review of accident experience data to determine the adequacy of corrective actions, the effect of codes, standards and guides, the consolidation, summarization and dissemination of accident experience data throughout HHS and other Government Departments and agencies as needed or required. b. The supervisor, administrative officer or other official initiating and accident report, including each succeeding reviewing official in the chain of command through which the report passes to insure that corrective action, as needed and appropriate, is taken. c. Appropriately appointed Safety Directors, Officers, or others with safety responsibilities within the Department in the verifying, assembling, analyzing, summarizing and disseminating data concerning the accident experience in their areas of responsibility and the initiation of appropriate corrective action.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

A. To request from a Federal, state, local agency or private sources information relevant to the investigation of an accident and/or corrective action.

B. To respond to an inquiry from a member of Congress made on behalf of a constituent.

C. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department of any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

D. In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its functions indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

E. In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its function indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are or may be maintained on magnetic tapes, punchcards, lists, forms, discs, computer storage, in file folders, binders and index cards.

Retrievability:

1. At the Department level, the system is completely computerized with no other records normally maintained or retained in the Office of Safety and Occupational Health. Since individual indentifiers such as name, case number, and social security number are not within the computer storage banks, special programming would be required to extract individual records based on case number. Normal output consists of statistical reports and surveys including those required by the Department of Labor and Statistical Analysis in support of the Department occupational safety and health program for dissemination to the Principal Operating Components, Regions and Staff Offices.

2. The Principal Operating Components of the Department, their sub-components, Regional Offices and Staff Offices may maintain original or copies of the accident reports and supporting documentation by name, social security number, case number or cross reference.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of those records is made available to those personnel having a legitimate need for the information (those whose duties require review or access) including inspecting or evaluating personnel. Records, which under the law, may not be disclosed such as information pertinent to national security or trade secrets are maintained separately, adequately safeguarded and released only in accordance with the law. When there is doubt regarding the release of information, the matter will be referred, in advance of release, to the Office of the General Counsel, HHS.

Retention and disposal:

All accident reports, records, logs, and other information relating to an accident are retained by the Principal Operating Components and their agencies, the Regional Offices and the Office of the Secretary for at least five years following the end of the calendar year in which the accident occurred. Specific occupational safety and health standards (such as the standards, covering the handing of carcinogenic chemicals) may be required to be kept for up to twenty years. Records may be retained indefinitely.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Safety and Occupational Health, Department of Health and Human Services, 330 Independence Avenue,
SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Notification procedure:

Individuals wishing to inquire whether this system of records contains information about them should address their inquiries to one of the following as appropriate:

1. If employed or formerly employed in a HHS Regional Office, the Regional Occupational Safety and Health Manager of the Region involved (see list and addresses under appendix).

2. If employed or formerly employed in a HHS Principal Operating Component or sub-agency, a staff office or the Office of the Secretary, the Occupational Safety and Health Manager of the component where employed with the exception of the Food and Drug Administration (see list and addresses under appendix). The contact for the Food and Drug Administration is:

Privacy Act Coordinator, Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Maryland 20857.

Individuals requesting information about this system of records should provide their full name, social security number, name and address of office and agency in which currently or formerly employed and the accident(s) case number if known.

Record access procedures:

Individuals wishing to gain access to or contest their records should contact the following in person or writing as appropriate, with the exception of Food and Drug Administration. See "Notification" above.

1. If employed or formerly employed in an HHS Regional Office, the Regional Occupational and Health Manager of the Region involved (see list and addresses under appendix).

2. If employed or formerly employed in an HHS Principal Operating Component or sub-agency, a staff office or the Office of the Secretary, the Occupational Safety and Health Manager of the component where employed. (See list and addresses under appendix.) Individuals requesting information in this system of records should provide their full name, social security number (on a purely voluntary basis), case number if known, time and brief description of the accident in which they were involved and the name and address of office in which employed. (Access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and corrective action sought with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

The information in this system is obtained from the following sources: (1) The individual to whom the record pertains; (2) witnesses to the accident; (3) investigation officials (Federal, state, local); (4) medical personnel seeing the individual as a result of the accident; (5) supervisory personnel; (6) reviewing officials; (7) personnel offices; (8) investigative material furnished by Federal, state, or local agencies; (9) on site observations.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Applicants for Employment Records, HHS/OS/ASPER.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

This system is located in personnel offices and other offices of the Department authorized to receive applications for employment. See Appendix 1.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Persons who have applied for Federal employment or are employed in the Federal service.

Categories of records in the system:

These records contain information relating to the education and training; employment history and earnings; appraisal of past performance; convictions and offenses against the law; results of written tests; appraisal of potential; honors, awards or fellowships; military service; veterans preference, birthplace; birth date; social security number,; and home address of persons who have applied for Federal employment or are employed in the Federal service and correspondence related thereto. These records may also include information concerning the date of application, qualification status, employment consideration, priority grouping, and other information relating to the consideration of the individual for employment.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 1302, 3301, 3302, Executive Order 10577.

Purpose(s):

Records in this system are used to determine individuals' eligibility and evaluate their qualifications for placement in positions within the Department. These records are maintained in each component of the Department.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

These records may be used: (1) To respond to requests for information from the Office of Personnel Management, Members of Congress, or other inquiries from outside the Department, to the extent their request is compatible with the purpose for which the records are maintained.

(2) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(3) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(4) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(5) A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(6) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(7) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(8) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(9) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained on magnetic tapes, discs, drums, punched cards, microfiche, cards, lists, and forms.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by any combination of name, birth date, social security number and identification number.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of these records are limited to those persons whose official duties require such access. Personnel screening is employed to prevent unauthorized disclosure.

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained until the applicant is selected for a position, or for two years. After the applicant is selected for a position, the records are filed in the Official Personnel Folder which is retained until the employee leaves the Department. If the applicant is not selected for a position within two years, the records are destroyed. (See HHS Personnel Instruction 293-1, Exhibit X293-1-1, item 15.)

System manager(s) and address:

Personnel Officers of the Department. See Appendix 1.

Notification procedure:

Personnel office to which application is made (see Appendix 1). Individual should provide name, date of birth, social security number, approximate date of record and title of position for which application was made.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

Information in this system of records is provided by the individual to whom it applies, is derived from information he or she supplied; or is obtained from information supplied by others.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-90-0007

System name:

Complaints and Inquiries Records—Miscellaneous, HHS/OS/ASPER.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Personnel offices shown in Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1 and offices of operating officials in organizational units serviced by those personnel offices.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Current and former employees of the Department.

Categories of records in the system:

This system consists of records relating to an individual's employment status or conduct while employed by the Department. Examples of these records include: Correspondence from employees, Members of Congress, and members of the public alleging misconduct by an employee of the Department, miscellaneous complaints not covered by the Department's formal or informal grievance procedure, informal complaints handled by labor union officials, and miscellaneous debt correspondence received from creditors.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Executive Orders 11222, 10561 and 11491.

Purpose(s):

Records in this system are maintained to initiate, investigate and resolve various complaints and inquiries made by or against Department employees. See also "Retrievability" below.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information in these records may be used:

(1) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(2) In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

(3) A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(4) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(5) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(6) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 or 5 U.S.C. Chapter 71 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(7) Office of Personnel Management, Merit Systems Protection Board (including its Office of the Special Counsel), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the Federal Labor Relations Authority (including the General Counsel of the Authority and the Federal Service Impasses Panel) the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and to an arbitrator, in carrying out their functions.

(8) To respond to Members of Congress and members of the public with regard to complaints or inquiries presented by them.

(9) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(10) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Filed in folders and index cards.

Retrievability:

Records are filed by name. Records are used to produce summary descriptive statistics and analytical studies in support of the functions for which the records are collected and maintained and for related personnel management functions or pay studies; and for other purposes compatible with the intent for which the records system was created.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of these records are limited to those persons whose official duties require such access.

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained until there is no further administrative need for them, the individual leaves the Department, or one year has elapsed, and are then destroyed. (See HHS Personnel Instruction 293-1, Exhibit X293-1-2, item 7.)

System manager(s) and address:

Personnel Officers shown in Appendix 1 to Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, who service organizational units in which individuals are employed.

Notification procedure:

Operating officials in organizational unit in which employee is employed or personnel officers shown as systems managers in Appendix 1 Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006. Individuals should provide name, organization in which employed, and date of birth.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

Information in this system of records is obtained: (1) Directly from the individual, or (2) derived from information supplied by the individual, or (3) from information supplied by members of the public, other employees, Members of Congress, Department management officials, or (4) from police and court records relevant to the complaint about the employee.

System name:

Conflict of Interest Records, HHS/OS/ASPER.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Personnel Offices of the Department (See Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1) or authorized approving officials to be identified by those Personnel Offices.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Incumbents of Department positions the duties of which are of such a nature that incumbent's outside activities may come in conflict with the incumbent's official duties.

Categories of records in the system:

This system consists of a variety of records relating to an employee's conduct and outside activities. In addition to the name of the employee, position title, grade, salary, pay plan, and employing organization, the system includes information about outside employment, outside compensation and related information.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Executive Order 11222.

Purpose(s):

Records in this system are used to determine whether an employee's financial interests or outside activities are in conflict with the employee's duties as a Federal employee. Records are maintained in each component of the Department. See also "Retrievability" below.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information in this system of records may be used: (1) By the Office of Personnel Management, Merit Systems Protection Board (including its Office of the Special Counsel), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and the Federal Labor Relations Authority (including the General Counsel of the Authority and the Federal Service Impasses Panel) the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and to an arbitrator, in carrying out their functions.

(2) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(3) A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(4) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(5) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issued a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(6) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(7) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(8) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Conflict of Interest Records are maintained in file folders.

Retrievability:

Records are retrievable by name. They may be used for production of summary descriptive statistics and analytical studies in support of the functions for which the records are collected and maintained and for other purposes compatible with the intent for which the records system was created.

Safeguards:

These records are treated as controlled for Official Use Only and made available only to persons specifically authorized to receive them.

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained until 2 years after the individual discontinues the activity for which approval was required, or until the individual leaves the Department, and are then destroyed. (See HHS Personnel Instruction 293-1, Exhibit X293-1-1, item 25.)

Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary for EEO, 200 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Offices of designated EEO Officers.

See Appendix 1 for exact locations.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals, classes of individuals or organizations which have consulted an EEO Counselor regarding discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, physical disability or age because of a determination or decision made by a Department official or which have filed a formal allegation of discrimination.

Categories of records in the system:

This system of records contains information or documents concerning pre-complaint processing and formal allegations of discrimination. The records consist of counselors' reports, the initial allegations, letters or notices to the individual or organization, materials placed into the record to support or refute the decision or determination, statements of witnesses, investigative reports, instructions about action to be taken to comply with decisions, and related correspondence, opinions, recommendations, and final administrative actions.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Executive Order 11478, 42 USC 2000e and 29 USC 633a.

Purpose(s):

These records are used to initiate, investigate, and resolve discrimination complaints within the Department. They are maintained in each component of the Department. See also "Retrievability" below.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

These records and information in the records may be used:

(1) To respond to a request from a Member of Congress regarding the status of an appeal, complaint or grievance;

(2) To refer to Office of Personnel Management, Merit Systems Protection Board (including its Office of the Special Counsel), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the Federal Labor Relations Authority (including the General Counsel of the Authority and the Federal Service Impasses Panel) the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and to an arbitrator, in carrying out their functions;

(3) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(4) In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

(5) A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(6) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(7) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(8) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 or 5 U.S.C. Chapter 71 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(9) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(10) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of the individual.

(11) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

These records are maintained in file folders, binders, and index cards.

Retrievability:

These records are indexed by the names of the individuals or organizations on whom they are maintained. They may be used as a data source for management information for production of summary descriptive statistics and analytical studies in support of the function for which the records are collected and maintained, or for related personnel management functions or manpower studies; and to locate specific individuals for personnel research or other personnel management functions.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of these records are limited to those persons whose official duties require such access.

Retention and disposal:

The records are retained for four years after final disposition, and are then destroyed. (See HHS Personnel Instruction 293-1, Exhibit X293-1-1, item 26a(1).)

System manager(s) and address:

See Appendix 1.

Notification procedure:

Individuals and organizations which consulted an EEO counselor or filed a formal allegation of discrimination are aware of that fact. They may write the appropriate system manager indicated below or the general coordinator if the immediate system manager is unknown, regarding the existence of such records pertaining to them. The inquirers, as appropriate, should provide their name, date of birth, agency in which employed or agency in which the situation arose if different from employing agency, the approximate date, and the kind of action taken, when making inquiries about records.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, and state the corrective action sought and the reason for the correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

a. Individual to whom the record pertains.

b. Department or other officials.

c. Statements from employees or other witnesses.

d. Official documents relating to the counseling or formal allegation.

e. Correspondence from specific organizations or persons.

System name:

Employee Assistance Program Records HHS/OS/ASPER/OPS.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Designated offices providing counseling and/or referral for counseling for employees and their family members (see Appendix 1).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

This system covers Department employees, employees of other organizations serviced by the HHS EAP, or family members of any of these employees who have been counseled and/or referred for counseling for personal problems by the EAP.

Categories of records in the system:

The system contains records of each employee and family member who has utilized the EAP for a personal problem. Examples of information which may be found in each record are employee or family member name, date of birth, grade, job title, home address, telephone numbers, and supervisor's name and telephone number. In addition to the demographic data, certain clinical information is normally maintained in each record including a psychosocial history, assessment of personal problem, information regarding referrals to treatment facilities in the community, and intervention outcomes. Finally, if an employee is referred to the EAP by a supervisor, the record may contain information regarding the referral such as leave record, reasons for referral, and outcomes of supervisory interventions.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 7361, 7362, 7901, 7904, 44 U.S.C. 3101.

Purpose(s):

These records are used to document the nature and extent of the employee's or family member's personal problem and the background information necessary for formulating an intervention plan in an effort to resolve the personal problem and return the employee to full productivity. The record is also used to document, when appropriate, where the employee or family member has been referred for treatment or rehabilitation and the progress in such treatment.

Anonymous information from these records is also needed for the purpose of preparing statistical reports and analytical studies in support of the EAP's management.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

(1) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm, individual, or other group such as a Federal Employee Assistance Program consortium for the purpose of providing the EAP functions. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records. The contractor will surrender to the EAP all of these records as well as any new records at the time of contract termination.

(2) The Department may disclose information from this system of records for litigation purposes when

(a) HHS, or any of its components, or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity, or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee, or is a party to litigation, and HHS determines that such use of records is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the government party. The disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice. Where the records are not covered by the Confidentiality of Alcohol and Drug Abuse Patient Records regulations (42 CFR Part 2), disclosures may also be made to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal. Any disclosure of such patient records must be pursuant to a qualified service organization agreement that meets the requirements of 42 CFR Part 2 and must also comply with all other aspects of these regulations. The Director of the Employee Assistance Program (in ASPER) must personally approve any disclosure made under this routine use based on his or her determination that it is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Employee records are maintained in folders, on index cards and on computer readable media. Computer systems are discrete, for EAP use only, and/or are password protected.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by a case code number, unique to the employee or family member utilizing the program. These numbers are cross indexed by name.

Safeguards:

(1) Authorized Users: Access to these records is limited to EAP Administrators who work directly with employees and family members in each program location (see Appendix 1) and their immediate staffs (including staff counselors, staff secretaries, contract or consortia counselors and secretaries). All EAP Administrators, whether or not they directly provide clinical services, may access the records for the purposes of program evaluation, destroying records at the end of their period of maintenance, and transferring records from one contractor to another.

(2) Physical Safeguards: All records are stored in a metal filing cabinet equipped with at least a combination lock, and preferably a locking bar. This file cabinet is in a secured area, accessible only to the EAP staff, and is locked when not in use. Computer readable information is maintained in discrete systems and/or is password protected. Computers are also stored in secured areas, accessible to only the EAP staff. These records are always maintained separate from any other system of records.

(3) Procedural Safeguards: All persons having access to the records shall have previous training in the proper handling of records covered by the Privacy Act and 42 CFR Part 2 (Confidentiality of Alcohol and Drug Abuse Patient Records). These restrict disclosures to unique situations, such as medical emergencies, except when the employee or family member has consented in writing. Furthermore, employees and family members who utilize the EAP will be informed in writing of the confidentiality provisions; and secondary disclosure of information is prohibited without employee consent.

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained until three years after the employee or family member has ceased contact with the EAP or until any litigation is resolved. However, if an employee has been terminated from HHS employment, records are retained for at least three years after the official date of termination and until any litigation is resolved. Files are then destroyed.

System manager(s) and address:

The records of individuals participating in the EAP are managed by the EAP Administrators in the various regional and headquarters offices (Appendix 1).

Notification procedure:

Inquiries to determine whether the system contains a record about the requester should be addressed to the system manager where the counseling was provided (see Appendix 1). The individual should provide his or her name, grade, organization where employed, date of birth, and location and approximate date of counseling. Upon receiving a request, the EAP Administrator shall weigh the need for disclosure against the potential injury to the patient, to the physician-patient relationship, and to the treatment services. The EAP Administrator will then determine the extent to which any disclosure of all or any part of the record is necessary. 42 CFR Part 2 does not compel disclosure.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the EAP Administrator at the address found in Appendix 1, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction.

Record source categories:

Information in this system of records is: (1) Supplied directly by the individual, or (2) supplied by a member of the employee's family, or (3) derived from information supplied by the individual, or (4) supplied by sources to whom the employee and/or family member has been referred for assistance, or (5) supplied by Department officials, or (6) supplied by EAP counselors.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Employee Appraisal Program Records, HHS/OS/ASPER.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Personnel offices shown in Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1 and operating offices in organizational units serviced by those personnel offices.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Current Federal employees of the Department.

Categories of records in the system:

This system contains information which includes employee's name, SSN, employing organization, grade, title, series, and materials relating to the evaluations of employee's performance.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 4302, 5 U.S.C. 3301, 5 U.S.C. 3302, Executive Order 10577.

Purpose(s):

These records are used as a basis for awards, promotions, and other recognition, reduction-in-force standing, adverse actions, retention during probation, and other personnel actions. These records are maintained in each component of the Department.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information in these records may be used:

(1) By the Office of Personnel Management, Merit Systems Protection Board (including its Office of the Special Counsel), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the Federal Labor Relations Authority (including the General Counsel of the Authority and the Federal Service Impasses Panel) the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, and to an arbitrator in carrying out their functions;

(2) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(3) A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(4) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(5) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(6) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 or 5 U.S.C. Chapter 71 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(7) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(8) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(9) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in file folders, on magnetic tape, and on punch cards.

Retrievability:

Records are retrievable by name or social security number.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of these records are limited to those persons whose official duties require such access.

Retention and disposal:

Appraisals and satisfactory rating are retained until a new appraisal or rating is issued, 2 years have elapsed, or the individual leaves the Department, and are then destroyed. Unsatisfactory and outstanding ratings are filed in the Official Personnel Folder which is retained until the individual leaves the Department. (See HHS Personnel Instruction 293-1, Exhibit X293-1-2, Item 10.)

System manager(s) and address:

Personnel Officers shown in Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1.

Notification procedure:

Same as above. Employee should provide name, social security number and organization in which employed.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record or specify the information to be contested and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

Information in this system of records is provided by the individual, derived from information supplied by the individual or supplied by Department officials.

09-90-0012

System name:

Executive Development Records, HHS/OS/ASPER.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Personnel offices shown in Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Members of the Senior Executive Service, supergrade employees (GS-16-18) and equivalents, incumbents of managerial positions and employees in grades GS-13-15 who have applied for Executive Development Programs.

Categories of records in the system:

This system consists of a variety of records relating to an employee's application for, and participation in, the executive development program. In addition to the employee's name, the system contains the employee's title, grade and salary, Social Security Account Number, organization in which employed, date of entry into the Executive Development Program, training needs while participating in the program, individual's development plan, basis for participation in the Executive Development Program.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 4101 et. seq.

Purpose(s):

These records are used to document employee's application for and participation in the executive development program. They may be used as a basis for promotion, transfer, or reassignment. These records are maintained in each component of the Department. See also "Retrievability" below.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information in this system of records is used:

(1) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(2) A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(3) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(4) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(5) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 or 5 U.S.C. Chapter 71 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(6) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(7) By the Office of Personnel Management, Merit Systems Protection Board (including its Office of the Special Counsel), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and the Federal Labor Relations Authority (including the General Counsel of the Authority and the Federal Service Impasses Panel) in carrying out their functions.

(8) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(9) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Information in this system of records is maintained in file folders, magnetic tape, punch cards, and forms.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by name and Social Security Account Number. They may be used as base for preparing management, budgetary or statistical reports to support organizational planning or manpower utilization studies.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of these records are limited to those persons whose official duties require such access. Personnel screening is employed to prevent unauthorized disclosure.

Retention and disposal:

Records of an unsuccessful applicant are retained for 60 days after notification that he or she was not selected for participation, and are then destroyed. Records of a participant are retained for 5 years after the individual has ceased to participate in the program, and are then destroyed.

System manager(s) and address:

Heads of personnel offices which service the organizational unit in which the individual is employed. See Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1.

Notification procedure:

Same as above. Individuals should include their name, grade, title, and organization when contacting the system manager.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410).

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411).

09-90-0013

System name:

Federal Employees Occupational Health Program Records, HHS/OS/ASPER.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Personnel offices shown in Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1 and designated offices performing occupational health services for employees in organizations serviced by those personnel offices.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Current Federal employees of the Department

Categories of records in the system:

This system consists of a variety of records relating to an employee's participation in the Federal Occupational Health Program at units other than those operated by the Division of Federal Employee Health, Public Health Service. Examples of information which may be included in this system are the employee's name, SSN, date of birth, weight, height, medical history, blood type, nature of injury or complaint, type of treatment/medication received, examination findings, and laboratory results.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C 7901 et seq., Pub. L. 79-658.

Purpose(s):

These records are used to document visits by employees to health units. They serve as the record of injuries and illnesses and treatment given. Information from this system may be used by Department officials in connection with fitness for duty examinations. These records are maintained in each component of the Department. See also "Retrievability" below.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information in this system of records may be used:

(1) By authorized medical personnel in connection with the performance of their official duties.

(2) By the Office of Personnel Management, Merit Systems Protection Board (including its Office of the Special Counsel), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and the Federal Labor Relations Authority (including the General Counsel of the Authority and the Federal Service Impasses Panel) in carrying out their functions.

(3) By the Department of Labor in connection with a claim filed by an employee for compensation for job-related injury or disease.

(4) By private contractors engaged in providing medical services under Federal contract.

(5) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(7) A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(8) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(9) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(10) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 or 5 U.S.C. Chapter 71 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(11) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(12) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(13) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Stored in file folders, punch cards and data tape.

Retrievability:

Records are retrievable by name, date of birth, and SSN. Information from this system may be used for preparing statistical or summary reports about employee participation in the Federal Occupational Health Program.

Safeguards:

During the employment of the individual, medical records are maintained in files separate from the Official Personnel Folder and are located in lockable metal containers or in secured rooms with access limited to those whose official duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained until the individual leaves the Department. If they have no long-term value they are destroyed at this time. If they have continuing value they may be combined with the Official Personnel Folder which is forwarded to the Federal Personnel Records Center or to the new employing agency, as appropriate. (See FPM Supplement 293-31, Subchapter 5-7 for contents of the Official Personnel Folder.)

System manager(s) and address:

Personnel Officers shown in Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1, who service organizational units in which the individual is employed.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries should be addressed to the office where occupational medical services are provided. The individual should include name, SSN, title and organization. An individual who requests notification of or access to a medical record shall, at the time the request in made, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion. (These notification and access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.6), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the corrective. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

Information in this system of records is: (1) Supplied directly by the individual, or (2) derived from information supplied by the individual, or (3) supplied by the medical officer or nurse providing treatment or medication, or (4) supplied by the individual's private physician.

Personnel Offices shown in Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006,Appendix 1 and offices of operating officials in organizational units serviced by those personnel offices.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Department employees individually or as a group who have requested personal relief in a matter of concern or dissatisfaction which is subject to the control of Department management.

Categories of records in the system:

Information or documents relating to the grievance and personal relief sought; documented materials used in consideration of the grievance, and correspondence related to disposition of the grievance.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 1302, 3301, 3302; Executive Order 10577.

Purpose(s):

Records in this system are used to initiate, consider, and resolve employee grievances filed under Part 771 of 5 CFR. These records are maintained in each component of the Department. See also "Retrievability" below.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information in this system of records may be used:

(1) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(2) In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

(3) A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(4) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(5) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(6) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(7) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(8) By the Office of Personnel Management, Merit Systems Protection Board (including its Office of the Special Counsel), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and the Federal Labor Relations Authority (including the General Counsel of the Authority and the Federal Service Impasses Panel) in carrying out their function.

(9) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(10) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are maintained in file folders, binders and index cards.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by name of individual filing the grievance. Information from this system may be used by Department officials for preparing statistical summary or management reports.

Safeguards:

Records maintained by management are stored in secured rooms with access limited to those whose official duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained for 3 years after the grievance case is closed, and are then destroyed. (See HHS Personnel Instruction 293-1, Exhibit X293-1-1, item 31a.)

System manager(s) and address:

Heads of personnel offices which service organizational units in which employees who submit informal grievances are located. See Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1.

Notification procedure:

Individuals who have filed grievances are aware of that fact and have been provided information in writing concerning the disposition of the grievance. They may contact the official who signed the written notice, or the System Manager indicated above. They should provide their name, organization in which employed and date of birth and approximate date of the filing of the grievance.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Purpose(s):

Records in this system are used to insure that each employee receives the proper pay and allowances; that proper reductions and authorized allotments are made from employees' pay; and that employees are credited and charged with the proper amount of sick and annual leave. These records are maintained in each component of the Department. See also "Retrievability" below.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information in this system of records is used or may be used.

(1) To prepare W-2 Forms to submit to the Internal Revenue Service and to disclose to state and local government agencies having taxing authority pertinent records relating to employees, including name, home address, social security number (in accordance with Section 7 of Pub. L. 93-579), earned income, and amount of taxes withheld.

(2) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(3) A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(4) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(5) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(6) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 of 5 U.S.C. Chapter 71 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(7) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(8) By the Office of Personnel Management, Merit Systems Protection Board (including its Office of the Special Counsel), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and the Federal Labor Relations Authority (including the General Counsel of the Authority and the Federal Service Impasses Panel) in carrying out their functions.

(9) By the Department of Labor to make compensation determination in connection with a claim filed by the employee for compensation on account of a job-connected injury or disease.

(10) To respond to court orders for garnishment of an employee's pay for alimony or child support.

(11) To respond to orders from IRS for garnishment of an employee's pay for Federal income tax purposes.

(12) To the Department of Treasury for the purposes of preparing and issuing employee salary and compensation checks and U.S. Savings Bonds.

(13) By state officers of unemployment compensation in connection with claims filed by former HHS employes for unemployment compensation.

(14) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(15) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department of any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(16) By financial organizations designate to receive labor organization or management association dues withheld from employee's pay, in order to account for the amounts of such withheld dues which they receive.

(17) A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a State or local agency for the purpose of conducting computer matching programs designed to reduce fraud, waste and abuse in Federal, State and local public assistance programs and operations.

(18) A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a Federal agency for the purpose of conducting computer matching programs designed to reduce fraud, waste and abuse using loan or benefit records of a Federal, State or local agency to identify employees improperly receiving loans or benefits and to facilitate the collection of debts owed the United States.

(19) A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a Federal agency in response to a written request from that agency, personally signed by a supervisor, specifying the particular portion desired and the law enforcement activity for which the record is sought. The request for the record must be connected with the agency's auditing and investigative functions designed to reduce fraud, waste and abuse; it must be based on information which raises questions about an individual's eligibility for benefits or payments; and it must be made reasonably soon after the information is received.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Magnetic tape, microfilm, punch cards and forms.

Retrievability:

Records are maintained by pay period and are retrievable by name, SSN and Timekeeper number within each pay period. Records are also used to produce summary descriptive statistics and analytical studies in support of the functions for which the records are collected and maintained and for related personnel management functions or pay studies, and for other purposes compatible with the intent for which the records system was created.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of these records are limited to personnel whose official duties require such access. Personnel screening is employed to prevent unauthorized disclosure.

Retention and disposal:

Records submitted by the individual, such as allotment authorization forms, home address forms, and tax withholding forms are retained until superseded by new forms of until the individual leaves the Department. Most of these records are then destroyed. Some of these records must be retained for an additional period, or forwarded to the new employing agency. Time and attendance records are retained for five years and are then destroyed. The automated payroll master record, established when the individual is first employed and continually updated throughout the period of his or her employment, is retained until the individual leaves the Department.

09-90-0018

System name:

Personnel Records in Operating Offices, HHS/OS/ASPER.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Operating Offices of the Department at the organizational level of the individual's employment. Such offices are located within organizational components serviced by personnel offices shown in Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Current employees of the Department.

Categories of records in the system:

This system consists of a variety of records relating to personnel actions and determinations made about an individual while employed. These records may contain information about an individual relating to name; birth date; home address; telephone number; emergency address; social security number; veterans preference; tenure; work connected injuries; employment history; qualifications background; past and present salaries, grades and position titles; training; awards and other recognition; counseling; performance appraisal; conduct; pay and leave; and data documenting reasons for personnel actions, decisions or recommendations made about an employee; and background data and documentation leading to an adverse action or other personnel action being taken against an employee.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 1302, 2951, 4118, 4308, 4506, 7501, 7511, 7521 and Executive Order 10561.

Purpose(s):

These records are used by operating officials in carrying out their personnel management responsibilities. They may be used in this connection in recommending or taking personnel actions such as appointments, promotions, reassignments, within-grade increases, adverse actions; as a basis for employee training, recognition, or disciplinary actions; and as a basis for staffing and budgetary planning and control, organizational planning, and manpower utilization purposes. These records are maintained in each component of the Department.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information in these records may be used:

(1) By the Office of Personnel Management, Merit Systems Protection Board (including its Office of the Special Counsel), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and the Federal Labor Relations Authority (including the General Counsel of the Authority and the Federal Service Impasses Panel) in carrying out their functions.

(2) In the event an appeal is made outside the Department, records which are relevant may be referred to the appropriate agency charged with rendering a decision on the appeal.

(3) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(4) In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

(5) A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(6) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(7) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(8) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 or 5 U.S.C. Chapter 71 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(9) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(10) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(11) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in file folders, magnetic tape, and index cards.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by any combination of name, birth date, social security number, or identification number.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of these records are limited to those persons whose official duties require such access.

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained until there is no further administrative need to retain them, or the individual leaves the jurisdiction of the operating office, and are then either destroyed, or, if appropriate, are combined with the Official Personnel Folder, which is forwarded to the hiring Federal agency or, if the employee is leaving Federal service, to the National Personnel Records Center.

System manager(s) and address:

Personnel Officers of the Department. See Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09–90–0006, Appendix 1.

Notification procedure:

Immediate supervisors of individuals or the administrative offices of the organizational units in which employed. The system manager shown above may also provide further information concerning the existence of this system of records. Individuals should provide their name, social security number, and organization in which employed.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.).

Record source categories:

Information in this system of records either comes from the individual to whom it applies, is derived from information supplied by the individual, or is provided by Department officials.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

Note.—When supervisors/managers retain personal "supervisory" notes, i.e., information on employees, over which the agency exercises no control and does not require in its performance appraisal system, which remain for the personal use of the author and are not provided to any other persons, which are retained or discarded at the author's sole discretion, and which are not used in appraising an employee or in determining any rights, benefits or privileges of an employee, such notes are mere extensions of the supervisor's memory which are not subject to the Privacy Act and, therefore, not considered part of this system. If any of the above conditions are broken, these notes are no longer mere extensions of the supervisor's memory and become records subject to the Privacy Act in this system notice or another appropriate system notice.

09-90-0019

System name:

Special Employment Program Records, HHS/OS/ASPER.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Personnel Offices shown in Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1 and operating offices in organizational units services by those personnel offices.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Current Federal employees of the Department who are participating in special employment programs.

Categories of records in the system:

This system consists of a variety of records relating to an employee's participation in special employment programs such as the Upward Mobility College, START, STRIDE, ACCESS, Worker Trainee Opportunity, Junior Fellows, Management Intern, Personnel Intern and the HHS Fellows Program. Examples of information which this records system may contain include the employee's name, SSN, program enrolled in, employing agency, grade, job title, job series, sex, date of birth, status, education background, handicap code, application for employment, position description, assignment evaluations, Veterans preference, job counseling records, and letters of reference and recommendations.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 1301, 3301, 7151 et seq., Executive Order 11813.

Purpose(s):

Records are used by personnel offices and operating officials to select individuals for and monitor their progress in special employment programs; employee development and career planning; and as a basis for taking personnel actions. These records are maintained in each component of the Department.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information in this system may be used:

(1) By the Office of Personnel Management, Merit Systems Protection Board (including its Office of the Special Counsel), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and the Federal Labor Relations Authority (including the General Counsel of the Authority and the Federal Service Impasses Panel) in carrying out their functions.

(2) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(3) A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(4) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(5) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(6) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 or 5 U.S.C. Chapter 71 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(7) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(8) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(9) In the event of litigation where the defendent is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purposes for which the records collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Information in this system of records is maintained in file folders, data tape and punch cards.

Retrievability:

Records are retrievable by name and SSN.

Safeguards:

Access and use of these records are limited to those persons whose official duties require such access.

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained for two years after the individual's participation in a special placement program ends, and are then destroyed. (See HHS Personnel Instruction 293-1, Exhibit X293-1-2, item 9.)

System manager(s) and address:

Personnel Officers shown in Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1, who service organizational units in which the participant is employed.

Notification procedure:

Same as above. Individuals should include their name, SSN, grade, title, and organization when contacting the system manager.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

Information in this system of records is: (1) Supplied directly by the individual, or (2) derived from information supplied by the individual, or (3) supplied by Department officials.

System name:

Suitability for Employment Records, HHS/OS/ASPER.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Personnel Offices shown in Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Employees of the Department and applicants for employment.

Categories of records in the system:

This system consists of a variety of records relating to an individual's suitability for employment in terms of character, reputation and fitness, including letters of reference, responses to pre-employment inquiries. National Agency Checks and Inquiries material received from the Office of Personnel Management and Merit Systems Protection Board including its Office of the Special Counsel relating to non-sensitive positions, qualifications and character investigations, and other information which may relate to the suitability of the individual for the position.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5. U.S.C. 3301, 3302, 7301; Executive Order 10577; Executive Order 11222.

Purpose(s):

Records in this system are used by designated appointing and selecting authorities to make determinations concerning an individual's suitability for employment. These records are maintained in each component of the Department.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information in these records may be used:

(1) By the Office of Personnel Management, Merit Systems Protection Board (including its Office of the Special Counsel), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and the Federal Labor Relations Authority (including the General Counsel of the Authority and the Federal Service Impasses Panel) in carrying out their functions.

(2) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(3) In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

(4) A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(5) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(6) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(7) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 or 5 U.S.C. Chapter 71 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(8) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(9) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(10) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in file folders.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by any combination of name, date of birth, Social Security Number, or identification number.

Safeguards:

Records are maintained in confidential files and are located in lockable metal file cabinets or in metal file cabinets in secured rooms with access limited to those whose official duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

Records from the Office of Personnel Management and Merit Systems Protection Board including its Office of the Special Counsel concerning applicants for or incumbents of nonsensitive, positions, are retained until a decision is reached on whether to hire or retain the applicant or incumbent, and are then destroyed. Other records in this system are retained until there is no further administrative need for them, the individual leaves the Department, or one year has elapsed, and are then destroyed. (See HHS Personnel Instruction 293-1, Exhibit x293-1-2, items 1 and 2.)

System manager(s) and address:

Heads of personnel offices which service organizational units in which individual is employed or in which he/she applied for employment. See Applicants For Employment Records. HHS, System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1.

Notification procedure:

Same as above, individuals should indicate name, Social Security Number, date of birth, and organization in which employed, or to which they applied for employment.

Record access procedures:

Current Department employees or applicants should contact the appropriate system manager shown above. Former Department employees who are employed by the Federal Government who wish to gain access or contest the records maintained on them while employed by the Department should contact the appropriate official of their current employing agency in accordance with the appropriate records system notice of that agency. Former Department employees who have separated from Federal service should direct a request to: National Personnel Records Center, General Services Administration, 111 Winnebago Street, St. Louis, Missouri 63118.

Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)), Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

Information contained in the system is obtained from:

Applications and other personnel and security forms furnished by the individual.

Information furnished by other Federal agencies.

Information provided by sources such as employers, schools, references, former employers.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

Individuals will be provided information from the above record system except when in accordance with the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(5); 1. disclosure of such information would reveal the identity of a source who furnished information to the Government under a express promise that the identity of the source would be held in confidence, or 2. if the information was obtained prior to the effective date of Section 3, Pub. L. 93-579, disclosure of such information would reveal the identity of a source who provided information under an implied promise that the identity of the source woud be held in confidence. (45 CFR 5b.11.)

System name:

Training Management Information System, HHS/OS/ASPER

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Office of the Assistant Secretary for Personnel Administration, Department of Health and Human Services, 200 Independence Ave., SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Personnel offices shown in Applicants for Employment Records, HHS System 09-90-0006, Appendix 1.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All employees who receive training in a course which was more than 8 hours in length and which was authorized under the authority of the Government Employees Training Act.

Categories of records in the system:

The Training Management Information System consists of a variety of records relating to training received by an employee. In addition to the name of the employee, the system includes information about the employee's Social Security Account Number, position title, grade, salary, pay plan, series, tenure, years of continuous service, nature of training taken, cost of training and dates of training.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 4101 et seq., Executive Order 11348.

Purpose(s):

Records in this system are used to maintain a history of employee training, to help determine future training needs, to evaluate the Department's training program, and for audit and budgetary planning purposes. These records are maintained in each component of the Department.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Information in this system of records is used:

(1) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records, in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(2) A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employees, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(3) In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use of the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or presecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

(4) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(5) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 or 5 U.S.C. Chapter 71 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(6) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(7) By the Office of Personnel Management in carrying out its functions.

(8) To other Federal agencies or private organizations to authorize training.

(9) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the Congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(10) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Data tape.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by any combination of name, birth date, SSN or transaction number.

Safeguards:

The information is available only to authorized personnel. Personnel screening is used to prevent unauthorized disclosure.

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained in the automated data file until the individual leaves the Department.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals who have volunteered or have been proposed for duty as EEO Counselors and discrimination complaint investigators on a part-time basis.

Categories of records in the system:

This system of records contains information or documents concerning the personal characteristics of EEO counselors and investigators. The records consist of the name and other identifying data, title, location, training received, information concerning qualifying background, case assignments, and evaluations of EEO counselors and investigators serving on a part-time basis, and related information.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Executive Order 11478, Pub. L. 92-261, Pub. L. 93-259.

Purpose(s):

These records are used to identify, locate, and determine the availability of volunteer counselors and investigators for assignment; to determine training needs of counselors and investigators. These records are maintained in each component of the Department. See "Retrievability" below.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

These records and information in the records may be used:

(1) To provide resource to another Federal Agency, in response to its request for loan of investigators or counselors.

(2) A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(3) Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

(4) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 or 5 U.S.C. Chapter 71 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(5) The Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise, refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(6) By the Office of Personnel Management, Merit Systems Protection Board (including its office of the Special Counsel), Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, and the Federal Labor Relations Authority (including the General Counsel of the Authority and the Federal Service Impasses Panel) in carrying out their functions.

(7) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(8) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

These records are maintained in file folders, binders and index cards.

Retrievability:

These records are indexed by the names of the individuals on whom they are maintained. They may be used: To provide information for production of summary descriptive statistics and analytical studies in support of the function for which the records are collected and maintained, or for related personnel management functions or manpower studies; and to locate specific individuals for personnel research or other personnel management functions.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of these records are limited to those persons whose official duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

The records are maintained up to one year after volunteer has terminated his services, at which time they are destroyed.

System manager(s) and address:

See Discrimination Complaints Records System, HHS System 09–90–0009, Appendix 1 for General Coordinator and appropriate Immediate System Manager.

Notification procedure:

Individuals who have volunteered or been proposed as counselor or investigators are aware of that fact and the information contained in the record. They may, however, write the immediate system manager or coordinator indicated above regarding the existence of such records pertaining to them. The inquirers, as appropriate, should provide to the immediate system manager or coordinator, their name, agency in which they were proposed or served when making inquiries about records.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

System name:

Financial Transactions of HHS Accounting and Finance Offices.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

See Appendix 1.

Memoranda copy of claims submitted for reimbursement of travel and other expenditures while on official business may also be maintained at the administrative office of the HHS employee. Records concerning delinquent debts may also be maintained at the program office or by designated claims officers apart from the finance office.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All persons who receive a payment from OPDIV/Agency/Regional finance offices and all person owing monies to these HHS offices. Person receiving payments include, but are not limited to, travelers on official business, grantees, contractors, consultants, and recipients of loans and scholarships. Persons owing monies include, but are not limited to, persons who have been overpaid and who owe HHS a refund and persons who have received from HHS goods or services for which there is a charge or fee (e.g., Freedom of Information Act requesters).

The following systems of records contain similar payment and collection transaction records, some, but not all, of which duplicate records in this system:

Alcohol, Drug Abuse, and Mental Health Administration.

09–30–0023—Records of Contracts Awarded to Individuals, HHS/ADAMHA/OA.

09–30–0027—Grants and Cooperative Agreements: Research, Research Training, Research Scientist Development, Education, Demonstration, Fellowships, Clinical Training, Community Service, HHS/ADAMHA/OA.

Health Resources and Services Administration

09–15–0044—Health Education Assistance Loan (HEAL) Program Loan Control Master File, HHS/HRSA/BHPR.

09–15–0045—HRSA Loan Repayment/Debt Management Record System, HHS/HRSA/OA.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, identification number, address, purpose of payment, accounting classification and amount paid.

Also, in the event of an overpayment and for delinquent loans, grants or scholarships, the amount of the indebtedness, the repayment status and the amount to be collected.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Budget and Accounting Act of 1950 (Pub. L. 81–784), Debt Collection Act of 1982 (Pub. L. 97–365).

Purpose(s):

These records are an integral part of the accounting systems at principal operating component, agency, regional office and specific area locations. The records are used to keep track of all payments to individuals, exclusive of salaries and wages, based upon prior entry into the systems of the official commitment and obligation of government funds. When an individual is to repay funds advanced as a loan or scholarship, etc., the records will be used to establish a receivable record and to track repayment status. In the event of an overpayment to an individual, the record is used to establish a receivable record for recovery of the amount claimed. The records are also used internally to develop reports to the Internal Revenue Service and applicable state and local taxing officials of taxable income. This is a Department-wide notice of payment and collection activities at all locations listed in Appendix 1.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

1. Records will be routinely disclosed to the Treasury Department for check preparation.

2. Records may be disclosed to members of Congress concerning a Federal financial assistance program. Also, disclosure may be made to a congressional office from an individual's record in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

3. In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

4. A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a Federal, State or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

5. A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a Federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

6. Where Federal agencies having the power to subpoena other Federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

7. Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

8. A record may be disclosed to the Department of Justice, to a court, or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(1) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(2) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(3) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(4) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

9. A record about a loan applicant or potential contractor or grantee may be disclosed to credit reporting agencies to obtain a credit report in order to determine his/her creditworthiness.

10. When an individual applies for a loan under a loan program as to which the OMB has made a determination under I.R.C. 6103(a)(3), a record about his/her application may be disclosed to the Treasury Department to find out whether he/she has a delinquent tax account, for the sole purpose of determining his/her creditworthiness.

11. A record from this system may be disclosed to the following entities in order to help collect a debt owed the United States:

a. To another Federal agency so that agency can effect a salary offset;

b. To another Federal agency so that agency can effect an administrative offset under common law or under 31 U.S.C. 3716 (withholding from money payable to, or held on behalf of, the individual);

c. To the Treasury Department to request his/her mailing address under I.R.C. 6103(m)(2) in order to locate him/her or in order to have a credit report prepared;

d. To agents of the Department and to other third parties, including credit reporting agencies, to help locate him/her or to obtain a credit report on him/her, in order to help collect or compromise a debt;

e. To debt collection agents under 31 U.S.C. 3718 or under common law to help collect a debt; and

f. To the Justice Department for litigation for further administrative action.

Disclosure under part (d) of this use is limited to the individual's name, address, Social Security number, and other information necessary to identify him/her. Disclosure under parts (a)-(c) and (e) is limited to those items; the amount, status, and history of the claim; and the agency or program under which the claim arose. An address obtained from IRS may be disclosed to a credit reporting agency under part (d) only for purposes of preparing a commercial credit report on the individual. Part (a) applies to claims or debts arising or payable under the Social Security Act if and only if the employee consents in writing to the offset.

12. A record from this system may be disclosed to another Federal agency that has asked the Department to effect an administrative offset under common law or under 31 U.S.C. 3716 to help collect a debt owed the United States. Disclosure under this routine use is limited to: Name, address, Social Security number, and other information necessary to identify the individual, information about the money payable to or held for the individual, and other information concerning the administrative offset.

13. Disclosures with regard to claims or debts arising under or payble under the Social Security Act may be made from this system to "consumer reporting agencies" as defined in the Fair Credit Reporting Act (15 U.S.C. 1681a(f)) or the Federal Claims Collection Act of 1986 (31 U.S.C. 3701(a)(3)). However, this disclosure will not be made with regard to debts from overpayments to beneficiaries under Title II (Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance) and Title XVI (Supplementary Security Income) of this Act. The purpose of this disclosure is to aid in the collection of outstanding debts owed the Federal Government. Disclosure of records is limited to the individual's name, address, Social Security number, and other information necessary to establish the individual's identity; the amount, status, and history of the claim; and the agency or program under which the claim arose.

14. Information in this system of records is used to prepare W-2 and 1099 Forms to submit to the Internal Revenue Service and applicable state and local governments items considered to be included as income to an individual: Certain travel related payments to employees, all payments made to persons not treated as employees (e.g. fees to consultants and experts), and amounts written-off as legally or administratively uncollectable, in whole or in part.

15. A record may be disclosed to banks enrolled in the Treasury Credit Card Network to collect a payment or debt when the individual has given his/her credit card number for this purpose.

Disclosure to consumer reporting agencies:

Disclosure pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(b)(12): Disclosure may be made from this system to "consumer reporting agencies" as defined in the Fair Credit Reporting Act (15 U.S.C. 1681a(f)) or the Federal Claims Collection Act of 1966 (31 U.S.C. 3701(a)(3)). The purpose of this disclosure is to aid in the collection of outstanding debts owed to the Federal Government, typically, to provide an incentive for debtors to repay delinquent Federal Government debts by making these debts part of their credit records. Disclosure of records is limited to the individual's name, address, Social Security number, and other information necessary to establish the individual's identity; the amount, status, and history of the claim; and the agency or program under which the claim arose. The disclosure will be made only after the procedural requirements of 31 U.S.C. 3711(f) have been followed.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Hard copy documents are manually filed at agency and regional office sites; and on disc pack and magnetic tape at central computer sites.

Retrievability:

This varies according to the particular operating accounting system within the Operating Division, Agency and Regional Office. Usually the hard copy document is filed by name within accounting classification. Computer records may be indexed by social security number and voucher number. Intra-departmental uses and transfers concern the validation and certification for payment, and for HHS internal audits.

Safeguards:

1. Authorized Users: Employees and officials directly responsible for programmatic or fiscal activity, including administrative and staff personnel, financial management personnel, computer personnel, and managers who have responsibilities for implementing HHS funded programs.

2. Physical Safeguards: File folders, reports and other forms of personnel data, and electronic diskettes are stored in areas where fire and life safety codes are strictly enforced. All documents and diskettes are protected during lunch hours and nonworking hours in locked file cabinets or locked storage areas. Magnetic tapes and computer matching tapes are locked in a computer room and tape vault.

3. Procedural Safeguards: Password protection of automated records is provided. All authorized users protect information from public view and from unauthorized personnel entering an office.

The safeguards described above were established in accordance with HHS Chapter 45-13 of the General Administration Manual; and the HHS ADP Systems Manual Part 6, "ADP Systems Security."

Retention and disposal:

Records are purged from automated files once the accounting purpose has been served; printed copy and manual documents are retained and disposed of in accord with General Accounting Office principles and standards as authorized by the National Archives and Records Administration.

System manager(s) and address:

See Appendix 2.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries are to be made, either in writing or in person, to the organizations listed under "Location" in appendix 1, with the exception of Food and Drug Administration contact:

FDA Privacy Act Coordinator (HFW-30), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857.

Give name and social security number, purpose of payment or collection (travel, grant, etc.) and, if possible, the agency accounting classification.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also clearly specify the record contents being sought, and may include an accounting of disclosures that have been made of their records, if any. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information being contested, the corrective action sought, and the reasons for requesting the correction, along with supporting information to show how the record is inaccurate, incomplete, untimely or irrelevant.

Record source categories:

Travel vouchers submitted by the individual; grant, contract and loan award document; delinquent loan, grant and scholarship record; consultant invoice of services rendered; and application for travel advance.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-90-0025

System name:

Central Registry of Individuals Doing Business With HHS, HHS/OS/ASMB 2.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Division of Financial Operations and Fiscal Procedures, Room
739D1, Humphrey Building, 200 Independence Avenue, SW,
Washington, DC 20201.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals who are the recipients of Federal Domestic Assistance Grants, or of contracts awarded by HHS.

Categories of records in the system:

An index of names, addresses and identification number (SSN) of the individual doing business with HHS. No other personally identifiable data are maintained. The index is termed public information since data relative to Federal Domestic Assistance and Contracts are public information.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301.

Purpose(s):

This registry is maintained to provide a standard code to uniquely identify entities, including individuals, together with mailing address and other characteristic data to all principal operating components, agencies, regional offices and staff offices of the Department. The use of a single code per entity in all Departmental data systems enhances communication with an entity, as well diminishing the need to maintain duplicative data and files at various locations. Major categories of entities in the central file are those awarded contracts and awarded grants under Federal Domestic Assistance programs. Only those persons in the Department with a "need to know" have access to the published registry and to the automated records.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

a. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

b. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

c. In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

d. A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

e. Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

f. Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Hard copy code booklets are manually filed at agency and regional office sites; and on disc pack and magnetic tapes at central computer sites.

Retrievability:

Record may be found in the Code Book by either name or social security number; record in the disc pack and on magnetic tape is indexed by social security number. The Code Book provides a listing of data processing numbers for grant, contract and financial transactions. These numbers are used to access the name and address of the individual in the Automated Library (Central Registry). The information is used for check preparation, reports, mailings, etc.

Safeguards:

Safeguards to insure integrity of records, and that required to provide protection against loss by accident or carelessness.

Retention and disposal:

Records are purged from the automated file each two years; only persons actively dealing with HHS remain on file. Code Books are replaced each year. Inactive books are destroyed.

System manager(s) and address:

Deputy Assistant Secretary, Finance, Department of HHS,
Office of the Secretary, Room 705D1, Humphrey Building, 330 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries are to be made, either in writing or in person, to the organization listed under "location". Give name and social security number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under System Location, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and corrective action sought with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

Grant and Contract documents. Names, social security numbers and addresses are provided by the individual when applying for a grant or contract from the Department.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Congressional Correspondence Unit, HHS/OS/ASL.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Room 435G Humphrey Building, 200 Independence Avenue,
SW, Washington, D.C. 20201

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Members of Congress indexed by name.

Categories of records in the system:

Control information recording, direct inquiries and referrals of constituents' inquiries from Members of Congress, and responses to those inquiries, regarding the Department's activities, including, but not necessarily limited to: a. General program activities of the Department; b. individual case problems of named persons, families or institutions; c. employment or appointment interests. Control slips identifying the correspondent, the constituent on whose behalf the inquiry is made, the constituent's social security number if inquiry relates to a social security case, and a summary of the subject matter of the inquiry.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301.

Purpose(s):

To provide response to inquiries from a member of Congress made on behalf of a constituent regarding the Department's activities, including, but not limited to general program activities of the Department.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Inquiries which do not pertain to HHS, but fall under the jurisdiction of another Federal Agency, are transferred to that Agency with a request that a direct response be provided to the correspondent. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Maintained on magnetic (floppy) disks.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed alphabetically by name of the Members of Congress. Inquiries are forwarded to the HHS Agency which has jurisdiction over the subject matter for preparation of a response.

Safeguards:

Records are kept in office with access limited to those whose official duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

Records are reviewed biannually, and maintained for two years.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Congressional Liaison Office, Office of the Assistant Secretary for Legislation, Room 417 H Humphrey Bldg, 200
Independence Avenue, SW. Washington, D.C. 20201.

Notification procedure:

System Manager; address same as above. The name of the person who corresponded with the Department with reference to the constituent and the approximate date of that correspondence must be provided.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and corrective action sought with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

The information in CCU files is provided by the correspondent and by the agency which prepares the final response.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

HHS employees in key management and technical positions, such as the Secretary, Under Secretary, Assistant Secretaries, Deputy Assistant Secretaries, Commissioners, Regional Directors, Deputy Regional Directors, Agency Heads, Unit Managers.

Categories of records in the system:

Biographical files consist of approved, printed personal and professional résumés and standard portrait pictures and biographical and professional questionnaires providing name, title, office location, telephone number, date of appointment to HHS, home address, home telephone, date of birth, place of birth, marital status, spouse's name, children's names, children's date of birth, education, military service, professional career data, professional affiliations, publications and articles authored, awards, citations, prizes and honors received, civic, social and fraternal associations, outside interests, such as hobbies, sports, recreation.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301.

Purpose(s):

These records are maintained and made available to staff of the Department who have a need for photographs or background information on top officials of HHS.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request to that individual. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in individual and combined files and stored in standard five-drawer file cabinets in offices listed under System Location.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by the name in alphabetical order, of those in higher management and technical positions with the remainder combined in a 'miscellaneous' folder or folders. These records are made available to staff of the Department who have a need for photos of background information on these officials.

Safeguards:

Files are maintained in the offices of Public Affairs and requests are honored 'on a need to know' basis only.

Retention and disposal:

Records are periodically updated as circumstances warrant relative to promotions, reassignment, resignations, death.

System manager(s) and address:

Same as in Location above and Appendix 1.

Notification procedure:

Contact System Managers in areas where individual is employed. Addresses same as above with the exception of Food and Drug Administration, contact: FDA Privacy Coordinator (HF-50), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Md. 20857.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

System name:

Employee Suggestion Program Records, HHS/OS/ASPER.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

This system is located in employee suggestion offices of the Department. See Appendix 1 for exact locations.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals who have made suggestions in OS and in Operating Divisions of the Department; and/or suggestions made by individuals in other Federal Departments requiring an HHS evaluation.

Categories of records in the system:

Suggestions, evaluations of suggestions, name and address of individuals submitting suggestions, other identifying information such as salary and grade, including position title, and, optionally, a social security account number.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 4501 et seq.

Purpose(s):

Records in this system are used to control, evaluate, and make award determinations on employee suggestions. These records are maintained in each component of the Department.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

To the Office of Personnel Management for information, possible award. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are maintained in standard sized file cabinets.

Retrievability:

The records are indexed in alphabetical order by the name of the employee submitting the suggestion.

Safeguards:

Direct access restricted to authorized staff.

Retention and disposal:

After final action, suggestion records are maintained for two years and then destroyed.

System manager(s) and address:

See Appendix 1 for overall system manager and immediate system managers.

Notification procedure:

Contact the appropriate system manager indicated in Appendix 1.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411).

Record source categories:

Incoming suggestions, responses, evaluations and other material obtained during course of adjudication.

System name:

Secretariat Correspondence Control System. HHS/OS/ES.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Room 602C, Humphrey Bldg., 200 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20201.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals who have contacted the Secretary, the Under Secretary, or other HHS officials, or who have been contacted in writing to them.

Categories of records in the system:

Control information from the Secretary's, Under Secretary's, or other HHS officials' correspondence to include a subject narrative, organization drafting the response, and type of action required from the Department. This information is contained on hardcopy printouts, computer magnetic tape, and computer disk units.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301.

Purpose(s):

To provide for the Secretary, the Assistant Secretaries, and the Operating Divisions the capability to control, track and update document records as the documents are processed within the Department.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained as follows: Hardcopy printouts are stored in standard file cabinets in a locked area; computer records are stored on either magnetic tape resident in a computer tape library, or, an on-line computer disk unit at the operational computer site.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed chronologically by date of correspondence and also by name, subject and numerical control number. Records are available to staff responsible for preparation of responses to inquiries and to the staff of the Executive Secretariat(s). Records are used for control and reference purposes in staffing out issues and correspondence of concern to the Secretary, the Under Secretary, or operational divisions/staff office heads.

Safeguards:

Direct access is limited to the staff of the Executive Secretariat and OP DIV. staff control personnel to both hardcopy and computer resident records. Access is limited during non-working hours to the hardcopy records to these individuals with keys to both the file cabinets and rooms where the records are stored. Remote computer terminal locations are protected with individual user identification numbers and passwords to the computer system. Where possible, computer terminal locations are locked during non-working hours.

Retention and disposal:

Hard copy records are retired to the National Archives after three years. Control records are maintained for three years. Computer records are purged after correspondence is finalized to a history file.

System manager(s) and address:

Executive Secretary to the Department, Room 636G, Humphrey
Bldg., 200 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C.
20201.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries should be addressed to the System Manager. The inquirer should indicate the individual with whom the Secretary, Under Secretary, or OP DIV. staff office head corresponded, the date of the incoming correspondence and the date of the outgoing correspondence from the Secretary, the Under Secretary, of OP DIV. staff office head. Address is same as above.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and corrective action sought with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

Computer records are derived from the incoming correpondence for the Secretary and the Under Secretary.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System location:

Room 636G, Humphrey Building, 200 Independence Avenue,
SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals who have contacted the Secretary or the Under Secretary or who have been contacted in writing by them.

Categories of records in the system:

Hard copies of documents signed or initialed by the Secretary or the Under Secretary.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301.

Purpose(s):

The Secretary's Official Files are maintained to preserve the historical record of actions taken by the decisions made by the Secretary and the Under Secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, and component of the Department, or any employee of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are maintained in hard copy filed in standard file cabinets.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by subject, name, organization, and key words. Records are available to the staff of the Executive Secretariat and the Immediate Office of the Secretary for reference purposes in staffing out issues of concern to the Secretary of the Under Secretary.

Safeguards:

Direct access is limited to the staff of the Executive Secretariat. Access is limited during non-working hours to individuals with keys to the file room.

09-90-0050

System name:

Case Information Management System HHS/OS/OCR

Security classification:

None.

System location:

See System Manager and Appendix 1.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Persons filing complaints with the Office for Civil Rights.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, characteristics of the complaint and critical events in OCR's processing of the complaints.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act; Sections 799A and 855 of the Public Health Service Act; Section 504 of the 1973 Rehabilitation Act; the Age Discrimination Act; The Equal Employment Opportunity Provisions of the Public Telecommunications Financing Act of 1978; Title VI and Title XVI of the Public Health Service Act (the "community services obligation" of facilities funded under the Act); Title IX of the 1972 Education Amendments; Section 407 of the Drug Abuse Office and Treatment Act; and Section 321 of the Comprehensive Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism Prevention, Treatment, and Rehabilitation Act of 1970.

Purpose(s):

The system is designed to report the status of all complaints currently being investigated by OCR.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Magnetic disc and tape.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by case or complaint number, but may be recalled by name, address, or any other recipient characteristic by OCR staff engaged in compliance activities.

Safeguards:

The physical data processing storage is controlled by HHS which enforces appropriate security measures. This agency references data through communication terminals with access controlled by passwords. The Department's ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security, govern the control.

Retention and disposal:

Indefinite retention. Disposal by electronic erasure.

System manager(s) and address:

Deputy Director, Office for Program Operations, Office for Civil Rights, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington,
D.C. 20201.

And, Regional Directors, see Appendix 1.

Notification procedure:

Contact System Manager (above), or Regional Director (see Appendix 1). Include name and address of complainant, and name of the recipient against which the allegation was filed.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. Request should be made to the system manager in the regional office where the record is most likely to be kept (determined by location of the institution or facility against which the allegation was originally filed). When this location is in doubt request should be made to the Deputy Director, Office of Compliance and Enforcement, (see above, System Manager).

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official(s) at the address specified under system manager or Appendix 1, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and corrective action sought with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

09-90-0051

System name:

Complaint Files and Log, Office of Management and Administration, HHS/OS/OCR.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

See Appendix 1, System 09–90–0050.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals who file complaints alleging discrimination under the statutes identified below (Authority for Maintenance).

Categories of records in the system:

Complaint allegations, information gathered during the complaint investigation, findings, and results of the investigation, and correspondence relating to the investigation.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act; Sections 799 A and 855 of the Public Health Service Act; Section 504 of the 1973 Rehabilitation Act; the Age Discrimination Act; The Equal Employment Opportunity Provisions of the Public Telecommunications Financing Act of 1978; Title VI and Title XVI of the Public Health Service Act Title IX of the 1972 Education Amendments; Section 407 of the Drug Abuse Office and Treatment Act; and Section 321 of the Comprehensive Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism Prevention, Treatment, and Rehabilitation Act of 1970.

Purpose(s):

This file system is designed to store the results of all OCR regional investigations, for retrieval of information on the resolutions of complaints. Files are maintained to record the results of the complaint investigations so that OCR can determine if there was discrimination as charged in the original complaint.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Files may be reviewed by the Department of Justice, the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, or other Federal and State agencies when necessary to complete an investigation, enforce the statutes, or assure proper coordination.

OCR may contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating, or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any its components or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

File folders and file cards.

Retrievability:

By name for use by OCR staff in complaint investigations.

Safeguards:

Printed materials are filed in lockable cabinets. The Department's ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security, govern the control. Categories of users include OCR investigators, team leaders, branch chiefs, division directors, PRMs unit staff, Office of Compliance and Enforcement staff.

Retention and disposal:

2 years from date complaint is closed.

System manager(s) and address:

Deputy Director, Office for Program Operations, Office for Civil Rights, 330 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington,
D.C. 20201.

And Regional Directors, see Appendix 1 to Case Information
Management System HHS OS/OCR System 09–90–0050.

Notification procedure:

Contact system manager (above) or Regional Directors (see Appendix 1). Include name and address of complainant, a copy or summary of allegations contained in the original complaint, name of the institution against which the allegation was filed, and the date of the original allegation.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. Request should be made to the system manager in the regional office where the record is most likely to be kept (determined by location of the institution or facility against which the allegation was originally filed.) When this location is in doubt request should be made to the Deputy Director, Office of Compliance and Enforcement, Washington, D.C. (see above, System Manager).

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official(s) at the address specified under system manager or Appendix 1, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and corrective action sought with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

Complaint and information filed with the Department by or on behalf of the individual complainant, also data provided by the alleged discriminator and other parties.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09–90–0058

System name:

Freedom of Information Case Files and Correspondence Control Log, HHS/OS/ASPA/FOIA.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Freedom of Information/Privacy Act Division, Room 645F Humphrey Building, 200 Independence Avenue SW, Washington, DC 20201 (see Appendix I, following, for additional locations).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals or organizations requesting access to inspect and/or copy records of the Department under provisions of the Freedom of Information Act.

Categories of records in the system:

Name, address, and other individually identifying information about the requester, the request, and records reflecting processing of the request.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. 552.

Purpose(s):

Records are used by the Freedom of Information staff involved in FOIA correspondence and processing, as well as by appeals officials and members of the Office of General Counsel.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Records may be disclosed from this system for routine uses to:

1. The Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining advice as to whether or not the records should be disclosed.

2. A contractor for the purpose of collating, aggregating, analyzing, or otherwise refining records in this system. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards in working with such records.

3. A congressional office from the record of an individual in response to a verified inquiry from the congressional office made at the written request of that individual.

4. The Department of Justice, or to a court or other tribunal or to another party before such tribunal, when (a) HHS, or any component of HHS; or (b) any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or (c) any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or (d) the United States or any agency thereof, where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the court, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The original, or a copy, of the incoming request and the written response are maintained in case file folders and stored in metal file cabinets. Cross-reference data is maintained in a correspondence control log stored in a personal computer and printed as hard copy on paper as needed.

Retrievability:

Records are almost always retrieved by the name of the individual who made the FOIA request during a given calendar year. In addition, each request is assigned a case file number that identifies the year in which the request was made and the number of the request. For example, 89–432. Records also can be retrieved by this case file number.

Safeguards:

1. Authorized Users: Access is limited to involved program officials, FOIA staff, appeals officials, and members of the Office of General Counsel who are involved in the processing of FOIA requests and appeals.

2. Physical Safeguards: The case file folders are stored in file cabinets in secure areas that are either occupied by staff personnel involved in processing FOIA requests and appeals or locked up during non-working hours, or whenever staff are not present in these areas. In addition, entrance to the buildings where case files are maintained is controlled by security guards.

3. Procedural Safeguards: Access to records is limited to those staff members who are familiar with both the FOIA and the Privacy Act. System Managers are held responsible for safeguarding the records under their control.

Retention and disposal:

The National Archives and Records Administration issues General Records Schedules that provide disposition authorization for records common to several or all agencies of the Federal Government. Schedule 14 (June 1988) sets forth detailed disposition requirements for FOIA records.

1. Case files are retained for two years and then destroyed when access to all requested records is granted.

2. Case files are destroyed after six years when access to all or part of the records is denied.

3. In the event of an appeal, the files are destroyed six years after final determination by the Department, or three years after final adjudication by the courts, or six years after the time at which a requester could file suit, whichever is later.

4. Correspondence control logs are destroyed six years after the date of last entry.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Freedom of Information/Privacy Act Division, 645F Humphrey Building, 200 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20201 (See Appendix I, following, for additional system managers.)

Notification procedure:

System managers. Addresses same as above.

Record access procedures:

A person may request access to these records in writing, in person, or by telephone to the system managers listed above and in Appendix I. The managers may require proof of identity whenever they are in doubt about the identity of the person making the request.

Contesting record procedures:

A person may contest information in these records by contacting the system managers listed above and in Appendix I, and by identifying the information contested; the corrective action sought; and reasons for requesting the correction, along with supporting information to show how the record is inaccurate, incomplete, untimely, or irrelevant.

Record source categories:

Individuals and organizations making requests under the FOIA, and components of the Department and other agencies that search for and provide the records and related correspondence that are maintained in the case files.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Federal Advisory Committee Membership Files, HHS/OS/ASPER.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Department and component committee management offices. See Appendix 1.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals who have been or are presently members of or are being considered for membership on advisory committees within the jurisdiction of the Department of Health and Human Services. Additionally the system of records contains information about members of the public who have requested that they receive various publications through the inclusion of their names and addresses on various mailing lists.

Categories of records in the system:

Information maintained on those individuals who have requested participation on mailing lists is limited to name and mailing address. Information maintained on individuals who are past, present, or recommended members of advisory committees subject to this notice consists of one or more of the following name, title, sex, place and date of birth, home address, business address, organizational affiliation, phone number, degrees held, general educational background, ethnic background, resume, curriculum vitae, dates of term on advisory committee, status on advisory committee, reason for leaving advisory committee, previous or current membership on other advisory committees, special qualifications of the individual for the advisory committee membership, source who recommended the individual for membership on advisory committee and miscellaneous correspondence. Additionally, memoranda justifying the individual's selection are included in the file in cases in which the individual has served repetitively on advisory committees, has not had a one-year break in service on advisory committees, or where various statutory or other requirements for advisory committee membership cannot be met.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Federal Advisory Committee Act (5 U.S.C. App. I et seq.).

Purpose(s):

Records in this system are used in the administration and management of Federal advisory committees in the Department, including the preparation of reports; quarterly alphabetical listings of past, present, and recommended advisory committee members; lists of vacancies, acceptances, and separations; and documentation of nominations. These records are maintained in each component of the Department. See also "Retrievability" below.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Annual Report to the President; administrative reports to OMB and GSA.

In the event that this system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of is components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in hard-copy filed in file cabinets, on index cards, on magnetic tape, or in computer storage.

Retrievability:

For the most part records are maintained in an alphabetical index by name of the individual. Certain files are based on other factors, e.g., Advisory Committee name, with a cross index based on an alphabetical listing of individuals. Certain other records are retrievable by individually identifiable computer identification codes. Certain of the mailing lists which are maintained are indexed by ZIP Code and within zone by alphabetical listing by name of the individual. Records from the system are available to the staffs of the respective Advisory Committees, the Committee Management Officers, the Departmental Committee Management Officer and other Departmental staff on a need-to-know basis.

Safeguards:

Direct access to records is restricted to authorized personnel through locked files, rooms, and buildings as well as building pass and security guard sign-in systems. Certain facilities are also protected by closed circuit television systems. Computer systems are secured through locked magnetic tape libraries as well as lockword-password computer access systems.

Retention and disposal:

Retention is variable from one year to permanent retention depending upon the type of record, e.g., names of former members of advisory committees are retained permanently. Certain records are disposed of by referral to the Federal Records Center. Others are disposed of as trash by the system manager or office of security depending upon the confidentiality of the information contained on the record.

System manager(s) and address:

See Appendix 1.

Notification procedure:

Same as above with the exception of Food and Drug Administration, contact: FDA Privacy Coordinator (HF-50), Food and Drug Administration, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20852.

Verification of identification of individuals inquiring as to information contained in this System shall be in accordance with the procedures outlined in regulations published by the Department of Health and Human Services to implement the Privacy Act.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

The vast majority of information contained in records on individuals is obtained directly from the individual. Other information in the form of references and recommendations is obtained from other private individuals, program personnel, biographical reference books, private organizations, former employers, regional office of HHS, Members of Congress, and other government sources.

System name:

Administrative Claims. HHS/OS/OGC.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

See Appendix.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

HHS employees, recipients of Federal assistance under HHS funded programs, and members of the public who have a claim against HHS or against whom HHS has a claim—Federal Torts Claims Act, Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act, Federal Claims Collection Act, Federal Medical Care Recovery Act, Act for Waiver of Overpayment of Pay.

Categories of records in the system:

Information that is pertinent to the particular claim being asserted, including accident reports, hospital records, charges for medical services, certifications of overpayment, certifications of indebtedness, audits of payroll accounts during periods of overpayments, earning and leave statements, claims officers memorandum, final determinations made on claims, identity of debtors and information pertaining to how debts arose.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Federal Tort Claims Act, 28 U.S.C. 261–2680, 1346(b); Waiver of Overpayment of Pay Act, 5 U.S.C. 5584; Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act, 31 U.S.C. 240–243; Federal Claims Collection Act, 31 U.S.C. 951–953; Federal Medical Care Recovery Act, 42 U.S.C. 2651–2653.

Purpose(s):

To adjudicate claims asserted by or against the Department.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Records from this system may be disclosed as follows: 1. Federal, State, and local government agencies, private individuals, private and public hospitals, allegedly negligent parties, private attorneys, insurance companies, individual law enforcement officers, tribal officials, and other persons with relevant information for the purpose of investigating, settling, or adjudicating claims and subsequent litigation action.

2. To a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

4. In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its functions indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether local, state, federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

5. In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

6. To a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to a DHHS decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

7. To a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

8. To the Department of Justice or other appropriate federal agencies in defending claims against the United States when the claim is based upon an individual's mental or physical condition and is alleged to have arisen because of activities of the Public Health Service in connection with such individual.

9. A record from this system may be disclosed to the following entities in order to help collect a debt owed the United States:

a. To another Federal agency so that agency can effect a salary offset;

b. To another Federal agency so that agency can effect an administrative offset under common law or under 31 U.S.C. 3716 (withholding from money payable to, or held on behalf of, the individual);

c. To the Treasury Department to request his/her mailing address under I.R.C. 6103(m)(2) in order to locate him/her or in order to have a credit report prepared;

d. To agents of the Department and to other third parties to help locate him/her in order to help collect or compromise a debt;

e. To debt collection agents under 31 U.S.C. 3718 or under common law to help collect a debt; and

f. To the Justice Department for litigation or further administrative action.

Disclosure under part (d) of this use is limited to the individual's name, address, Social Security Number, and other information necessary to identify him/her. Disclosure under parts (a)–(c) and (e) is limited to those items; the amount, status, and history of the claim; and the agency or program under which the claim arose. An address obtained from IRS may be disclosed to a credit reporting agency under part (d) only for purposes of preparing a commercial credit report on the individual. Part (a) applies to claims or debts arising under or payable under the Social Security Act if and only if the employee consents in writing to the offset.

10. A record from this system may be disclosed to another federal agency that has asked the Department to effect an administrative offset, under common law or under 31 U.S.C. 3716, to help collect a debt owed the United States. Disclosure under this routine use is limited to: Name, address, Social Security Number, and other information necessary to identify the individual; information about the money payable to or held for the individual; and other information concerning the administrative offset.

11. Disclosures with regard to claims or debts arising under or payable under the Social Security Act may be made from this system to "consumer reporting agencies" as defined in the Fair Credit Reporting Act (15 U.S.C. 1681a(f)) or the Federal Claims Collection Act of 1966 (31 U.S.C. 3701(a)(3)). However, this disclosure will not be made with regard to debts from overpayments to beneficiaries under Title II (Old-Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance) and Title XVI (Supplemental Security Income) of this Act. The purpose of this disclosure is to aid in the collection of outstanding debts owed to the Federal Government. Disclosure of records is limited to the individual's name, address, Social Security number, and other information necessary to establish the individual's identity; the amount, status, and history of the claim; and the agency or program under which the claim arose.

12. When a debt becomes legally or administratively uncollectible in whole or in part, a record may be disclosed to the Internal Revenue Service to report the written-off part as income.

Disclosure to consumer reporting agencies:

Disclosures pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(b)(12): Disclosures may be made from this system to "consumer reporting agencies" as defined in the Fair Credit Reporting Act (15 U.S.C. 1681a(f)) or the Federal Claims Collections Act of 1966 (31 U.S.C. 3701(a)(3)). The purpose of this disclosure is to aid in the collection of outstanding debts owed to the Federal Government, typically, to provide an incentive for debtors to repay delinquent Federal Government debts by making these debts part of their credit records. Disclosure of records is limited to the individual's name, adddress, Social Security number, and other information necessary to establish the individual's identity; the amount, status, and history of the claim; and the agency or program under which the claim arose. This disclosure will be made only after the procedural requirements of 31 U.S.C. 3711(f) have been followed.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Legal size files in filing cabinets.

Retrievability:

Retrieved by name of the non-Government party, whether claimant, plaintiff, or alleged debtor. In some instances, these records are retrievable by cross reference to index cards, containing name of the party involved and the subject matter.

Safeguards:

Office buildings in which files are kept are locked after the close of the business day. These files are only accessible to General Counsel staff and designated claims program specialists in the Public Health Service and Social Security Administration.

Retention and disposal:

The records are maintained for an indefinite duration.

System manager(s) and address:

The agency official responsible for the system policies and practices outlined above is:

The General Counsel, Department of Health and Human Services, Office of the General Counsel, Room 722A, Humphrey Building, 200 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20201.

Notification procedure:

Any inquiries regarding this system of records should be addressed to the System Manager. An individual who requests notification of or access to a medical record shall, at the time the request is made, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion. (These notification and access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.6) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under System Manager(s) Address above, and reasonably identify the record, specify the information to be contested, and specify the corrective action sought, with supporting justification (i.e., how it is inaccurate, irrelevant, not timely, or incomplete). (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

The information in this system comes from a number of sources including private individuals, private and public hospitals, doctors, law enforcement agencies and officials, private attorneys, accident reports, third parties, claimants or beneficiaries and their relatives, other Federal agencies, State and local governments, agencies and instrumentalities.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Litigation Files, Administrative Complaints, and Adverse Personnel Actions. HHS/OS/OGC.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

See Appendix on the Administrative Claims System, 09-90-0062.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

The individuals on whom records are maintained in this system are individuals who are involved in litigation with the Department or the United States (regarding matters within the jurisdiction of the Department) either as plaintiffs or as defendants in both civil and criminal matters, and individuals who either file administrative complaints with the Department or are the subjects of administrative complaints initiated by the Department, except claims which are the subjects of records maintained in the Administrative Claims System, 09-90-0062.

Categories of records in the system:

These records contain information pertaining to the subject matter of the litigation, administrative complaint, or adverse personnel action. Such records would include complaints, litigation reports, administrative transcripts, various litigation documents, investigative materials, correspondence, briefs, court orders and judgments, and in cases where personal injury is involved, principally malpractice cases, evaluations by physician specialists (Public Health Service, Armed Forces, Institute of Pathology).

Authority for maintenance of the system:

The authority for maintaining this system are the various statutes, regulations, rules or orders pertaining to the subject matter of the litigation, administrative complaint or adverse personnel action, (e.g., Public Health Service Act, Social Security Act, Civil Rights Act, Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act).

Purpose(s):

To represent the Department and its components in court cases and administrative proceedings.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its functions indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether Federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a Federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a Federal agency, response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its function indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

To the Department of Justice or other appropriate Federal agencies in defending claims against the United States when the claim is based upon an individual's mental or physical condition and is alleged to have arisen because of activities of the Public Health Service in connection with such individual.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

These records consist of legal size files stored in file cabinets.

Retrievability:

These records are retrievable by name of the plaintiff or the first plaintiff if there is more than one, or by the name of the first defendant if the plaintiff is the United States. In the case of adverse personnel actions, records are retrievable by name of the individual involved.

Safeguards:

Office buildings in which these records are maintained are locked after the close of the business day. These records are only accessible by General Counsel staff.

Retention and disposal:

These records are maintained for an indefinite duration.

System manager(s) and address:

The agency official responsible for the system policies and practices outlined above is:

The General Counsel, Department of Health and Human Services, Office of the General Counsel, Hubert H. Humphrey Building, Room 722A, 200 Independence Avenue, SW,
Washington, D.C. 20201.

Notification procedure:

Any inquiries regarding these systems of records should be addressed to the System Manager. An individual who requests notification of or access to a medical record shall, at the time the request is made, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion. (These notification and access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.6) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.).

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.).

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address System Manager(s) and Address above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and corrective action sought with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.).

Record source categories:

The information for this system is obtained through a number of sources including the exchange of legal pleadings, documents, formal and informal discovery, program offices and component agencies, private attorneys, State and local governments, their agencies and instrumentalities, and officers of other Federal agencies and the individuals involved.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

System name:

Conflict of Interest—Standards of Conduct Records, HHS/OS/OGC

Security classification:

None.

System location:

See appendix on the Administrative Claims System, 09-90-0062.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Information about current and past HHS employees who are or have been the subject of conflict of interest or standards of conduct inquiries or determinations.

Categories of records in the system:

These records include information relating to acceptance or offer of gifts, entertainment and favors, outside employment; financial interests; use of government funds, property or official information; partisan political activity; or other matters relating to ethical standards of conduct.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

18 U.S.C. 202, 203, 205, 207, 208, 209; Executive Order 11222; and, 5 CFR 735.104, 45 CFR Part 73.

Purpose(s):

To maintain such information about employees or former employees of the Department who have been the subjects of standards of conduct or conflict of interest inquiries.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its functions indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether Federal, or foreign charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a Federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a Federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its function indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

To the Department of Justice or other appropriate Federal agencies in defending claims against the United States when the claim is based upon an individual's mental or physical condition and is alleged to have arisen because of activities of the Public Health Service in connection with such individual.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

These records are kept in legal size files in filing cabinets.

Retrievability:

These records are retrievable by name in most cases. In some instances, these records are retrievable by cross reference to index cards containing the name of the party involved and the subject matter.

Safeguards:

These records are only accessible to General Counsel staff. Office buildings in which these records are maintained are locked after the close of the business day.

Retention and disposal:

The records are maintained for an indefinite duration.

System manager(s) and address:

The agency official responsible for the systems policies and practices outlined above is:

The General Counsel, Department of Health and Human Services, Office of the General Counsel, Humphrey Building, Room 722A, 200 Independence Ave., SW, Washington, D.C.
20201.

Notification procedure:

Any inquiries regarding these system of records should be addressed to the System Manager.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the System Manager(s) and Address procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and corrective action sought with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

System location:

See Appendix on the Administrative Claims System. 09-90-0062

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Current Attorney Applicants for positions in the Office of the General Counsel.

Categories of records in the system:

The Attorney Applicant system consists of a variety of records relating to persons applying for attorney positions. These records contain information about an individual's birth date; home address; telephone number; social security number; educational background (e.g., law schools attended and grades); past work experience; writing samples furnished on request; recommendations from past employers and academic officials.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 3301 et seq.

Purpose(s):

To maintain current information concerning individuals interested in employment with the Office of General Counsel.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

These records are maintained in file folders, alphabetized by name, and in some cases the records are separated by individual law school affiliation and by the date the application is received. In some instances records are located in lockable conserva-file cabinets and in a locked secured room with access limited to those officials whose duties require access. In other instances records are maintained in file rooms or with other Office of the General Counsel files.

Retrievability:

These records are retrievable by name.

Safeguards:

Access is limited to those HHS officials whose duties require access.

Retention and disposal:

These records are retained in a current system for one year, and in some instances two years, after which time they are discarded.

System manager(s) and address:

The agency official responsible for the systems policies and practices outlined above is:

The General Counsel, Department of Health and Human Services, Office of the General Counsel, Humphrey Building,

Purpose(s):

To maintain the information and patent records for the entire Department.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Department of Justice Claims Section for purpose of defending the Government in litigation.

Scientific personnel, both in this agency, and other Government agencies, and in non-Governmental organizations such as Universities, who possess the expertise to understand the invention and evaluate its importance as a scientific advance.

Contract patent counsel and their employees and foreign contract personnel retained by the Department for patent searching and prosecution in both the United States and foreign Patent Offices.

All other Government agencies whom we contact regarding possible use, interest in, or ownership rights in our inventions.

Prospective licensees or technology finders who may further make the invention available to the public through sale, use or publication.

Parties, such as supervisors of inventors, whom we contact to determine ownership rights, and those parties contacting us to determine the Government's ownership.

The United States and foreign Patent Offices for our filing of patent applications. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, if likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

These records are kept in individual file folders.

Retrievability:

Indexed by both inventor's name and case identification number.

Safeguards:

During normal business hours a member of the staff of the Patent Section regulates the availability of the files. During evening and weekend hours, the building is closed, with a guard at the front entrance, and only personnel authorized to be in the building are permitted entry.

Retention and disposal:

The records are maintained here for the life of any patent issued (seventeen years), for seven years for any invention which is not patented, and they are sent to the Federal Records Center for retention when they are no longer required here.

System manager(s) and address:

Patent Counsel, Department of Health and Human Services,
Westwood Building—Room 5A03, 5333 Westbard Avenue,
Bethesda, Maryland 20016.

Notification procedure:

An individual is required to provide his own name together with that of any other individual who contributed to the making of an invention, on which the system contains a record. Any inquiries regarding these systems of records should be addressed to the System Manager.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

System name:

Federal Parent Locator Service and Federal Tax Offset System, HHS/OCSE.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Office of the Child Support Enforcement, Department of Health and Human Services, 370 L'Enfant Promenade SW,
Washington, DC 20447 (202) 252-5411.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Records are maintained on parents being sought for the purpose of establishing or enforcing support obligations against such a parent, through the courts through the Federal Income Tax offset process, or for locating a parent or child in cases of parental kidnapping or child custody determinations.

Categories of records in the system:

Name of Absent Parent or Child, Social Security Number (when available). Date of Birth, Place of Birth, Mother's maiden name, Father's full name, State case identification number, local identification number (State use only), State or locality originating request, date of origination, type of case (AFDC, non-AFDC full service, non-AFDC locate only, parental kidnapping), type of military service (Army, Navy, Marines, Air Force, Coast Guard, not in service, retired military (yes or no), Federal employee (yes or no), recent employer's address, known alias (last name only), average amount, offset amount, date requests sent to Federal departments (SAA, IRS, DOD, NPRC, VA, RRB), date of Federal departments' responses, and indication of the type of information received; such as last home or employer address was returned, and/or a Social Security Number was returned. The actual information returned pursuant to a request is retained in a separate file long enough to communicate that information to the State. (See Retention and Disposal section below).

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Pub. L. 93-647.
Pub. L. 96-611.
Pub. L. 97-35.

Purpose(s):

Sections 453 and 454 of the Social Security Act require the Secretary to establish and conduct a Parent Locator Service to obtain information as to the whereabouts of any absent parent when such information is to be used for establishing or enforcing support obligations against such absent parent, establishing or enforcing child custody determinations, or in cases of parental kidnapping.

The Omnibus Reconciliation Act authorized the Internal Revenue Service to collect past due child support obligations by offsetting Federal tax refunds due to the delinquent absent parent.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

The Federal Parent Locator Service will use and disclose information from the records maintained in this system to:

(1) Request the most recent home and employment addresses and Social Security Numbers of absent parents from any State or Federal government department, agency or instrumentality which might have such information in its records;

(2) Provide the most recent home and employment addresses and Social Security Numbers to State agencies under agreements covered by title IV-D of the Social Security Act for the purpose of locating absent parents in connection with establishing or enforcing child support obligations.

(3) Provide the most recent home and employment addresses and Social Security Numbers to State agencies under agreements covered by Section 463 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 663) for the purpose of locating absent parents or children in connection with activities by State courts and Federal attorneys and agents charged with making or enforcing child custody determinations or conducting investigations, enforcement proceedings or prosecutions concerning the unlawful taking or restraint of children;

(4) Provide the most recent home and employment addresses and Social Security Numbers to agents and attorneys of the United States, involved in activities in States which do not have agreements under Section 463 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 663) for purposes of locating absent parents or children in connection with Federal investigations, enforcement proceedings or prosecutions involving the unlawful taking or restraint of children.

(5) Provide the amount withheld from an individuals tax refund together with the taxpayers' current address to State agencies under agreements covered by Title IV-D of the Social Security Act for the purpose of enforcing child support obligations.

In cases involving International Child Support cases, the FPLS will route the name and SSN of the absent parent to the U.S. Department of State. The State Department will review the cases to identify politically sensitive requests.

Information on any case identified as "sensitive" by the State Department will not be released.

THE U. S. DEPARTMENT OF STATE IS DESIGNATED AS THE CENTRAL AUTHORITY: According to Pub. L. 100-300, Section 7(d), "The President shall designated a Federal agency which may obtain information from the Parent Locvator Service." Executive Order 12648 of August 11, 1988 states, "The Department of State is hereby designated as the Central Authority of the United States for the purposes of Hague Convention on the Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction."

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

PLS records are maintained on disk and magnetic tape, and hard copy. The record is defined as a request for address information.

Retrievability:

System records can be accessed by either a State assigned case identification number or Social Security Number.

Safeguards:

All requests from the State IV-D Agency must certify that (1) they are being made to locate an absent parent for the purpose of establishing paternity or securing child support, or in cases involving parental kidnapping or child custody determinations and for no other purpose; (2) the State IV-D agency has in effect protective measures to safeguard the personal information being transferred and received from the Federal Parent Locator Service; and (3) the State IV-D Agency will use or disclose this information for the purposes prescribed in 45 CFR 302.70. All Federal, State personnel and contractors, are required to take a nondisclosure oath. All input documents will be inventoried and accounted for. All inputs and outputs will be stored in a locked receptacle in a locked room. All outputs will be labeled "For Official Use Only" and treated accordingly. Operations control will be vested under a single system manager. Every State using the system will be verified via three levels of user ID's. All data files will be protected by unique passwords and security codes. Remote users have "read only" system access capabilities and cannot read any other function on the system. The system complies with the HHS, ADP Systems Manual Part 6, "ADP Systems Security".

Retention and disposal:

Records of address information provided in response to requests are maintained only long enough to communicate the information to the State or the Federal agent or attorney requesting it. After this time they are destroyed.

A record of the request only which includes information provided by the State, Federal agencies contacted, and an indication of the type of information so returned is stored on a history tape and hard copy. All history data will be retained for five years.

System name:

SSI/OPM Temporary Matching File, HHS/OS/OIG

Security classification:

None

System location:

Office of the Inspector General HHS, Room 2111, SSA Annex, Baltimore, Md. 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All Federal employees covered under Office of Personnel Management Central Personnel Data File (CPDR) who are also included in the Supplementary Security Income (SSI) file of the Social Security Administration.

Categories of records in the system:

Office of Personnel Management Central Personnel Data File extract including name of employee, date of birth, Social Security Number, work status, pay grade and duty station, and Supplementary Security Income Record File data including names, Social Security Number, address, SSI application data, disability data, income and resource data and payment data used in the administration of the SSI program.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Pub. L. 94-505

Purpose(s):

This system of records is maintained to facilitate the comparison of records to identify those Federal employees who may also be receiving SSI benefits concurrently. This is in accordance with the statutory requirement in Pub. L. 94-505 that the Inspector General prevent and detect fraud and abuse in the Department's programs.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its functions indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant, records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether Federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a Federal, State or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a Federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

A record from this system may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a Federal, State or local agency maintaining pertinent records if necessary to obtain a record relevant to a Department decision concerning the determination of initial or continuing eligibility for program benefits.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are stored on computer tape files and computer printed listings.

Retrievability:

The records are retrieved by computer using Social Security Number as the principal matching criterion. We disclose the records within the Department to the Social Security Administration for investigation and redetermination of SSI benefits.

Safeguards:

Direct access is restricted to authorized staff members of the Office of the Inspector General. Access within HHS is limited to those employees who are directly involved in the matching program on a need-to-know basis. Computer files and printed listing are maintained in security type safes or lock bar file cabinets. They are safeguarded in accordance with the provisions of the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards 41 and 31, and the HHS Information Processing Standards, HHS ADP System Manual Part 6, "ADP Systems Security." All computer tapes are password protected prohibiting unauthorized access.

Retention and disposal:

In instances of computer matching of files, only those records which meet predetermined criteria are maintained. All records which do not meet these criteria are destroyed. All original source computer tapes will be returned within 60 days. All records obtained as a result of the matching program will be degaussed as soon as possible within 6 months except for those records which are necessary to the completion of pending law enforcement activities or administrative activities of the matching program. Paper listings will be either shredded or burned.

System name:

Welfare Fraud Detection File, HHS/OS/OIG.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

At headquarters and regional offices of the OIG Audit Agency, Department of Health and Human Services. See Appendix.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Recipients of the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) Program.

Categories of records in the system:

The system consists of the AFDC recipient records maintained by the State Welfare Agencies. Records contain information on those individuals receiving AFDC payments for themselves or as a payee for dependent children under their guardianship. Records contain information on name, address, date of birth, social security number, sex, names of dependent children, their dates of birth and sex, and monthly grant amount.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Pub. L. 94–505, October 15, 1976.

Purpose(s):

This system of records is maintained to facilitate the development of a multiple fraud detection program for the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) Program. The program has as its major function the identification of cases which through misrepresentation are on the welfare rolls illegally.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

The record from this system may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a Federal, State, or local agency maintaining pertinent records if necessary to obtain a record relevant to a Department decision concerning the determination of initial or continuing eligibility for program benefits.

In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its function indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use to the appropriate agency, whether state or local charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

Where federal agencies having the power to subpoena other federal agencies' records, such as the Internal Revenue Service or the Civil Rights Commission, issue a subpoena to the Department for records in this system of records, the Department will make such records available.

When the Department contemplates that it will contract with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system, relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are stored on computer tape files and computer printed listings.

Retrievability:

The records in this system are retrieved by computer and manually using name or social security number.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of these records is restricted to those personnel having a legitimate need for the information including HHS Office of the Inspector General personnel and other relevant Departmental and State personnel. Access will be provided outside of the Office of the Inspector General only in those instances where additional information is needed from another agency (e.g., the Social Security Administration or the State Welfare Agency) or where referrals for investigation are warranted. All computer files and printed listings are safeguarded in accordance with the provisions of the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards 41 and 31, and the HHS Information Processing Standards, HHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, "ADP Systems Security." All computer tapes are password protected prohibiting unauthorized access. Once the program is completed, all computer tapes will be returned to their source, erased or degaussed, and printed listings destroyed.

Retention and disposal:

Records will be updated periodically and source computer tapes will be either returned to the States or destroyed. All computer work tapes will be erased or degaussed, and printed listings destroyed.

System name:

The Secretary's Advisory Committee Candidate Files HHS/OS/ES.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Department of Health and Human Services, Immediate Office of the Secretary, Special Assistant to the Secretary for Advisory Committees, Room 602E, Humphrey Building, 200 Independence Avenue SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Computer site and location: ADP Network Services, Inc., 40 2nd Avenue, Waltham, Mass. 02154.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals who are being considered for membership on advisory committees within the jurisdiction of the Department of Health and Human Services.

Categories of records in the system:

Information maintained on individuals recommended as members of Advisory Committees subject to this notice consists of one or more of the following: Name, title, sex, physically disabled indicator, place and date of birth, home address, business address, organizational affiliation, ethnic background, resume, curriculum vitae, dates of term(s) on advisory committee, current status on advisory committee, reason for leaving advisory committee, previous or current membership on other advisory committees, special qualifications of the individual for the advisory committee membership, source who recommended the individual for membership on advisory committee and miscellaneous correspondence. Additionally, letters of recommendation are included in the file.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 3301.

Purpose(s):

To provide the Secretary with the capability to search a file of candidate resumes for positions on HHS advisory committees.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

a. In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its functions indicates a violation or potential violation of law. Whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute of particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether federal, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto.

b. In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

c. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

d. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in hard-copy stored in file cabinets, on index cards, on magnetic tape, or in computer storage.

Retrievability:

For the most part records are maintained in an alphabetical index by name of the individual. Certain files are based on other factors, e.g., Advisory Committee name, with a cross index based on an alphabetical listing of individuals. Certain other records are retrievable by individually identifiable computer identification codes, last name, first name, sex, handicapped indicator, professional expertise and ethnic background. All fields within the individual computer record can be accessed by the computer system language, and are available for administrative purposes via on-line, interactive terminals either in hard-copy or electronic visual display devices for reports. Records of candidates for Advisory Committees will be created and maintained on the data base which is accessible by on-line, interactive computer technology. Uses include special administrative reports, quarterly alphabetical listings of past, present, and recommended members of Advisory Committees, computer lists of vacancies, acceptances, separations, active members, statistical reports by sex, youth, geographical location, etc.; documentation of nominations; and other administrative needs.

Safeguards:

Direct access to records is restricted to authorized personnel through locked files, rooms, and buildings as well as building pass and security guard-sign-in systems. Certain facilities are also protected by closed circuit television systems. Computer systems are secured through locked magnetic tape libraries as well as lockword-password computer access systems.

Retention and disposal:

Retention is variable from one year to permanent retention depending upon the type of record, e.g., names of former members of advisory committees are retained permanently. Records are disposed of as trash by the system manager or Office of Security depending on the confidentiality of the information contained on the record.

System manager(s) and address:

Special Assistant to the Secretary for Advisory Committee,
Room 602E, Humphrey Building, 200 Independence Avenue,
SW, Washingtion, D.C. 20201.

Notification procedure:

Write to the Systems Manager at the above address.

Verification of identification of individuals inquiring as to information contained in this system of records will be required by the submission of full last name, first name, and address of residence.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with the Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47410.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and corrective action sought with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7) Federal Register, October 8, 1975, page 47411.)

Record source categories:

The vast majority of information contained in records on individuals is obtained directly from the individual.Other information in the form of references and recommendations is obtained from other private individuals, program personnel, biographical reference books, private organizations, former employers, regional offices of HHS, Members of Congress, and other government sources.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

09–90–0088

System name:

National Long-Term Care Channeling Demonstration (NLTCCD), DHHS/OS/ASPE.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Mathematica Policy Research, Inc. (MPR), P.O. Box 2393, Princeton, New Jersey 03540. Channeling Agencies (See Appendix 2).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

The system will include records on a sample of approximately 14,000 individuals in ten states who have signed an informed consent form and are participating in the National Long-Term Care Channeling Demonstration and approximately 47,450 individuals who apply to receive channeling services but are found inappropriate for the intervention.

Categories of records in the system:

"Channeling" is a brokerage process through which elderly and multiply-impaired individuals are referred to receive needed services from two or more agencies. The ten channeling agencies (hereafter referred to as agency) will collect names, addresses, and interview information on functional disability and service needs of potential participants, and assign an identification number to each individual. For those individuals who are not appropriate for channeling, personal identifying information will be maintained at the agency. Interview data and a sequential identifier will be forwarded to the evaluation contractor. Appropriate channeling clients will be randomly assigned to treatment or control groups. All information concerning control group members will be forwarded to the evaluation contractor. All data collected by the agency on treatment group members will be maintained at the agency. Screening and non-clinical baseline interview data on treatment group members also will be forwarded with personal identifiers and field identifying numbers to the evaluation contractor. The evaluation contractor will augment the information provided by the agency with data collected from interviews, and from health and social service records.

Independently, the agency will develop hard-copy case records on treatment group members which contain detailed individual identifying data, clinical and other information required to develop care plans and coordinate services, and details of services ordered and utilized. The case records will be maintained up to seven years after an individual dies, withdraws voluntarily from the program, moves out of the area, ceases to be appropriate for channeling services, or is terminated because the project ends. A client tracking system which will include information on client identity and status, will be implemented at all sites. Information from this system will be shared with the evaluation contractor. A further system of records will be maintained at those sites deemed to follow the "complex channeling" model. At these sites, a financial tracking system, some parts of which identify clients either by name or other identifying information, will be implemented to monitor costs of services and to track service authorization and service use.

The evaluation contractor will collect and maintain data describing both individuals and facilities providing long-term care services. Data relating to individuals will include information collected by interview from the individual or his/her proxy and from families or informal care-givers, demographic and economic characteristics, health and functional status, service utilization, and out-of-pocket costs. In addition, utilization and cost data will be collected from Medicare and Medicaid claims and billing records and provider billings records. Individual identifiers will be names, addresses, and health insurance claim numbers for Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries, as well as identifying numbers supplied by the evaluation contractor.

The use and maintenance of identifying numbers is discussed below in the section on retrievability.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 421 of the Older Americans Act, sections 1110, 1115, 1875, and 1881 of the Social Security Act, and sections 1528 and 1533(d) of the Public Health Service Act.

Purpose(s):

In 1980, the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) initiated into National Long-Term Care Channeling Demonstration to develop and test methods to maximize the efficient use of existing long-term care resources. The Office of the Secretary (Assistant Secretary for Planning and Evaluation), the Administration on Aging, and the Health Care Financing Administration jointly manage this demonstration.

This demonstration was developed in response to serious concern at all levels of government about the rapid increase in nursing home costs, fragmentation of the existing service system, and federal financial incentives for nursing home placement for elders.

This national demonstration and evaluation have been established to test a community care approach to long-term care called "channeling." Channeling provides a central intake point in the community for older persons; a systematic assessment of the individual's needs, and continuing case management to develop, implement, and monitor a plan of care tailored to the individual's changing needs. (The channeling objectives can be found in Appendix 1.)

The channeling concept will be implemented by a community agency in ten states participating in the demonstration. (See Appendix 2.) Two models of channeling will be tested; one which relies on services already existing in the community, and one with additional service resources and a fixed budget approach.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

There will be two routine uses of information in the system. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual. In addition disclosure will be made to a contractor of AOA, HCFA or ASPE involved in the NLTCCD, for the performance of research and statistical activities in order to accomplish the purposes for which the records are collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Magnetic tape and disk, paper and card records.

Retrievability:

The channeling agencies will assign evaluation contractor-supplied field identifying numbers to each applicant's record. This field identifying number is used for data collection purposes only, data is readily linked by staff with a need-to-know to personal identifiers.

According to the path the individual follows, i.e., becoming a member of the research sample or not, and becoming a member of the treatment or the control group, separation of personal identifiers and descriptions of the individual will take place at different points. For applicants deemed inappropriate at the channeling agency, the record is retrievable only at the channeling agency, where records of these individuals and the agency to which they were referred will be maintained, but detailed information about the applicant will not be kept. For participants in the research sample, the record must remain retrievable for the duration of the research namely for the 18-month period of follow-up after application to channeling during which period individuals are re-interviewed, and for a subsequent period during which additional information is collected and merged with interview data. For treatment group members who are on the caseload of the channeling agency, the records must remain retrievable as long as the individual remains a client and for a period of up to seven years after that. At the research contractor, the data-collection (field) identifying number and any personal identifiers are removed from research files and replaced by a research-file identifying number. Thus, for data collection and validation purposes the "field" identifying number is used, and for file development and maintenance, the research-file identifying number is used. A master "link" file will be maintained which associates the two series of identifying numbers. Access to this file will be restricted to evaluation contractor staff who need to use the file to fulfill their professional duties.

Safeguards:

Channeling Agencies: Records will be kept in limited access areas. Records may only be accessed by agency personnel who need to know the contents of the records.

Mathematica Policy Research, Inc.: The evaluation contractor conforms to the DHHS ADP Systems Manual, "Part of ADP System Security." A system of separate identifiers is used to maximize security of records. Contact sheets with personal identifiers from interviews and abstracting forms are stored separately from non-individually identifiable data. Magnetic tape files and hard copy files with personal identifiers, and link files, are stored in locked cabinets or limited access areas. Research files are stripped of personal and field identifiers and are encoded with a distinct research identifier. Access to the linkages between identifiers is limited, and subject to the approval of the Project Director at Mathematica Policy Research, Inc.

MPR will maintain all records in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized employees and will notify all employees having access to records of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosurer of information on individuals.

Retention and disposal:

As explained above, different types of data will be maintained and different retention periods will apply according to whether the applicant is found inappropriate or appropriate, and, if appropriate, whether a treatment or control group member. Treatment and control group members' identifying information will be maintained by MPR through completion of fielding operations in the demonstration, and for a period of three years to allow for future follow-up. The channeling agencies will maintain clinical records on treatment group members for up to seven years after a client is terminated from the program, and limited personal information for individuals found inappropriate for channeling.

Data disposal will consist of shredding the hard copy (and so certifying) and degaussing computer records. There are no plans to dispose of non-identifiable indivdual data.

System manager(s) and address:

Assistant Secretary for Planning and Evaluation, U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, 200 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, D.C. 20201.

Notification procedure:

Individual specific information will be gathered through interviews with the clients and their families, from providers and from the Medicare and Medicaid claims systems. Information that pertains to the providers will be collected from demonstration files, and executive interviews with health and social services provider personnel.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

Appendix 1

The objectives of the channeling program are:

1. To marshall and direct long-term care resources in a community in ways that contain overall costs;
2. To increase access to a wider range of services than is currently available;
3. To match services used to the identified needs of clients;
4. To concentrate resources on those persons with the greatest need for long-term care;
5. To stimulate the development of needed in-home and community services which do not exist or are in short supply;
6. To reduce the unnecessary use of publicly-subsidized long-term care services, including costly medical and institutional services;
7. To promote efficiency and quality in community long-term care delivery systems;
8. To promote a reasonable division of labor between informal support systems (including families, neighbors, friends, privately-financed services and publicly-financed care; and
9. To maintain or enhance client outcomes, including physical and mental functioning and quality of life.

System name:

Management Information System Efficiency Reporter (MISER) HHS/ASPER/OHR.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Computer files are stored at these locations: (1) Division of Computer Research and Technology, National Institutes of Health, Building 12-A, Bethesda, Maryland 20205 and (2) Social Security Administration (SSA), EEO Office, 811 Altmeyer Building, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235. Paper files may be stored at the above locations as well as at the Management Information and Operations Support Staff Unit, Room 2412, Switzer Building, 330 C Street, SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Applicants for employment and current or former employees, who have a formal grievance, grievance reconsideration, merit system/prohibited personnel practice complaint, or EEO complaint against the agency or agency official investigators, examiners, contractors, and/or clerical support personnel, who are involved in case processing.

Categories of records in the system:

The automated and manual system consists of a variety of records pertaining to EEO complaints, HHS grievances, grievance reconsiderations, investigations of merit systems violations and prohibited personnel practices. In addition to the employees's name as a personal identifier, this system includes information such as Social Security account number, position title, grade, and series, organizational locations; race, sex, type of case; issue; basis; action on case; dates filed and received; processing events; names of staff involved in case processing and weekly, monthly, and yearly production data. These records also include documentary and physical evidence, correspondence, information from personnel files, affidavits, investigative reports, analytical papers, computer discs, tapes, and hard copy reports. The system includes EEO—case racking data of other components.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Executive Order 11478, 42 U.S.C. 200e 29 U.S.C. 833a, 5 U.S.C. 1302, 3301, 3302, Executive Order 10577, Executive Order 11767.

Purpose(s):

Information in this system of records is used in locating problem areas for personnel management evaluation, analyzing causes of lowered morale among Department employees, recommending policy regarding investigation and processing of complaints, case management and control, human resources planning, and to document investigations of merit systems and prohibited personnel practices complaints.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosures may be made:

1. To a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

2. To the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice, when desirable or necessary, to determine whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act.

3. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) The Department of Health and Human Service (HHS), any component of HHS or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where HHS determines that the claim, is sussessful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or (c) any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee. HHS may disclose such record as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. To Equal Employment Opportunity Commission to refine the complaints processing procedure and to provide technical assistance to Federal agencies the Departments as it relates to the efficiency and effectiveness of their complaints systems.

5. To the Office of Management and Budget to make a detailed and accurate assessment of the complaint program's cost effectiveness.

6. To the Merit Systems Protection Board (including its Office of the Special Counsel) to investigate alleged violations of merit system principles.

7. To the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) to carry out personnel management evaluations.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Magnetic tapes, disks, cassette tapes, bound notebooks, paper forms, and index cards in locked file cabinets.

Retrievability:

Information is retrieved by names, docket numbers, or other data elements (e.g., type of case, organizational unit, dates).

Safeguards:

Safeguards are established in accordance with Part 6, ADP Systems Manual. Access to and use of these records is limited to those persons whose official duties require such access. Records are kept in locked files or a locked room. Data stored in the automated system is accessed through the use of passwords known only to authorized personnel.

Retention and disposal:

Manual and automated records are destroyed by shredding or erasing after periods varying from one to five years after resolution or final disposition of the complaint or grievance.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Human Relations, Room 508-E, Hubert H. Humphrey Building, 200 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20201.

Notification procedure:

Exempt. However, consideration will be given to requests addressed to the System Manager.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Exempt. However, consideration will be given to a request written to the system manager. Request should specify the information to be contested, and state the corrective action sought and the justification for the correction.

Record source categories:

Information is either provided by the individual to whom EEO complaint, grievance, grievance reconsideration, merit system and prohibited personnel practice complaints apply; derived from information supplied by others; or is supplied by documents related to the investigation. Record sources may include a confidential source.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

Records in the system of records will be exempt from the provisions of the Privacy Act concerning: Making the accounting of certain disclosures available; providing notification access and amendment; and the corresponding provisions of the Department's Privacy Act regulation (45 CFR Part 5b). This exemption is based on 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2).

System name:

Health Care Program Violations, HHS/OS/OIG

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Office of Inspector General, Office of Investigations, 330
Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals, institutions or other suppliers of health care services or items, who have been suspended, excluded, or debarred from any public or private health care assistance, insurance or casualty program or plan, or convicted of defrauding such a program or plan. The persons and organizations would include all types of physicians, nurses, pharmacists, dentists, therapists, pharmacies, hospitals, clinics, nursing homes, manufacturers and vendors.

Categories of records in the system:

Public information on persons or organizations which have been convicted of fraud, suspended, excluded or debarred, including names, publicly available social security numbers, aliases and "doing-business-as," addresses, and other available unique identifiers related to fraud, waste and abuse; occupations and specialties, and institutional affiliations; types and dates of formal action (suspension, exclusion, debarment, indictment, conviction, acquittal, sentencing and reversals); sentences (incarceration, suspension, probation, public service, etc.) and amounts of fines; types of fraud, and service and amounts defrauded; program and program requirements violated; and sources of the information.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Title II of Pub. L. 94–505.

Purpose(s):

To reduce fraud and abuse in health care programs by providing a clearinghouse of public information on persons suspended, excluded or debarred from health care programs, or convicted of violations of such programs.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

1. Information maintained by this system may be disclosed, as a routine use, to Federal, State, local public and private agencies and organizations, as follows:

a. Agencies or organizations which reimburse or regulate reimbursement to persons or organizations for health-related services or items, to alert them to possible violations of their own payment programs or plans.

b. Agencies or organizations which license, certify or otherwise regulate the health-related activities of persons or organizations which provide health care service or items to alert them to possibly disqualifying actions, practices or conditions.

c. Agencies or organizations charged with investigating or prosecuting possible violations indicated in items a and b.

d. Upon request, agencies or organizations seeking information in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

e. Professional and business organizations concerned with standards and conduct of persons engaged in providing health services and items.

f. Scholars or other researchers investigating trends and characteristics in the health care field.

2. Disclosure may be made to a Congressional office from the record of and individual in response to an inquiry from the Congressional office made at the request of that individual.

3. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Justice Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any other of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the record were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are stored on computer tape files and computer-printed listings.

Retrievability:

The records are retrievable by agency-assigned case numbers, name, social security number, address, occupation, type of violation, program violated, service defrauded, institutional affiliation, and source of information.

Safeguards:

Direct access is restricted to authorized staff members of the Office of Inspector General (OIG). Computer files and printed listings are maintained in security type safes or lock bar file cabinets. They are safeguarded in accordance with the provision of the National Brueau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards 41 and 31, and the HHS Information Processing Standards, HHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, "ADP Systems Security". All computer tapes are password protected prohibiting unauthorized access.

Retention and disposal:

OIG maintains the records and files for three years, after which they are transferred to the Federal Records Center for an additional two years.

System manager(s) and address:

Inspector General/Deputy Inspector General, Department of Health and Human Services, 330 Independence Avenue SW, Room 5246, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to: Mr. Phil Cogan, Department of Health and Human Services, 330 Independence Avenue SW, Room 5238, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Record access procedures:

Same as Notification Procedure.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under Notification Procedure above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, and the corrective action sought, and the reasons for the correction, with supporting justification.

Record source categories:

Government and private agencies and organizations furnish records included in the system.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09–90–0102

System name:

Federal Personnel/HHS or HHS Funded Benefit and Loan Program Temporary Matching File HHS/OS/OIG.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Office of the Inspector General, DHHS, Room 5262, North Building, 330 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Federal personnel (employees, retirees, and survivors) who are also included in HHS or HHS funded benefit and loan program record files.

Categories of records in the system:

Federal personnel records including name, social security number, date of birth, sex, work status, pay grade, duty station, OPM claim number, health benefit enrollment code, retirement date, annuity rate, pay status of case, correspondence address, zip code, and HHS or HHS funded benefit and loan program records including name, social security number, date of birth, address, and data used to determine eligibility.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Pub. L. 94–505.

Purpose(s):

This system of records is maintained to facilitate the comparison of records to identify those federal employees, federal retirees, or their survivors who may also be receiving assistance under an HHS or HHS funded benefit or loan program. These records will then be used for the purpose of reviewing eligibility and identifying any debts owed under these programs.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

These records may be used as follows:

1. In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry out its functions indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system of records may be referred, as a routine use, to the appropriate agency, whether Federal, foreign, State or local, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, or rule, regulation or order issued pursuant thereto where such responsibility rests outside of OIG.

2. A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a Federal, State or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee or disciplinary or other administrative action concerning an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit.

3. A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a Federal agency in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee or disciplinary or other administrative action concerning an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit by the agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the agency's decision on the matter.

4. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

5. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to effectively represent such party, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

6. A record from this system may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a Federal, State, or local agency maintaining pertinent records if necessary to obtain a record relevant to a Department decision concerning the determination of initial or continuing eligibility for program benefits.

7. Disclosures may be made to the Office of Personnel Management or the Merit Systems Protection Board (including the Office of the Special Counsel) of information relevant and necessary to carrying out their functions.

8. Disclosures may be made to third party contacts where the party contacted may have information needed to establish or verify relevant information.

9. Disclosures may be made to Federal, State, and local agencies or to other agencies administrating federally funded programs where necessary to take action with regard to individuals not entitled to program benefits or individuals delinquent on loan payments under federally funded programs.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are stored on computer tape files and computer printed listings.

Retrievability:

The records are retrieved by computer using Social Security Number as the principal matching criterion.

Safeguards:

Direct access is restricted to authorized staff members of the Office of the Inspector General. Access within HHS is limited to those employees who are directly involved in the matching program on a need-to-know basis. Computer files and printed listing are maintained in security type safes or lock bar file cabinets. They are safeguarded in accordance with the provisions of the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards 41 and 31, and the HHS Information Processing Standards, HHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, "ADP Systems Security." All computer tapes are password protected prohibiting unauthorized access.

Retention and disposal:

In instances of computer matching of files, only those records which meet predetermined criteria are maintained. All records which do not meet these criteria are destroyed. All original source computer tapes will be returned within 60 days. All records obtained as a result of the matching program will be degaussed as soon as possible within 6 months except for those records which are necessary to the completion of pending law enforcement activities or administrative activities of the matching program. Paper listings will be either shredded or burned.

System manager(s) and address:

Notification procedure:

Contact: Richard McGowan, Public Affairs Officer, Office of Inspector General, Department of Health and Human Services, Room 5267, North Building, 330 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedure above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification.

Record source categories:

Records are furnished from the Central Personnel Data File (CPDF) maintained by the Office of Personnel Management, from other Federal agency personnel records systems, and from HHS or HHS-funded program records systems.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Research and Demonstration Data System, HHS/OCSE.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Office of Child Support Enforcement, Department of Health and Human Services, 6110 Executive Boulevard, Rockville, Maryland 20852.

Contractor Sites: Contractor addresses may be obtained by writing to the System Manger at the address below.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Records may be maintained on custodial parents, absent parents, and their children. Such persons may include those who are eligible for and receiving AFDC, Food Stamps, Medicaid, and Title XX social services as well as those who are non-AFDC recipients of Child Support Enforcement (CSE) services and their relations.

Categories of records in the system:

The system will maintain records which will be used for statistical and research analysis only, as well as other records which will be used to conduct program functions involving the research and demonstration projects. Participants will be informed at the time of data collection that information obtained by survey or interview exclusively for statistical and research purposes will be protected from disclosure for other purposes to the fullest extent permissible by law.

The information in this system may include for any person such items as name, social security number, date of birth, State case identification number, local identification number, type of case (AFDC, non-AFDC, full service, locate only, paternity, etc.), sex, education, race, marital status, medical insurance, AFDC benefits, Food Stamp benefits, Medicaid benefits, gross earned income, work expenses, disregards, child care expenses, unearned income, shelter expenses, Title XX payments, child support obligated amount, child support payments paid and received, employment, assets, and other information as may from time to time be needed. The actual information obtained will vary from research project to research project and may include all, none, or some of the items listed.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Pub. L. 93–647; Pub. L. 96–272; Sec. 1110 of Social Security Act; Pub. L. 98–378.

Purpose(s):

To enable researchers to obtain data needed to conduct various research and demonstration projects in the area of child support enforcement. These projects are to add to existing knowledge and promote improvements or new methods and techniques in the area of child support enforcement operations.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

(1) Disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department of Health and Human Service (HHS), any component of HHS, or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where HHS determines that the claim, if sucessful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or (c) any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee. In these cases, HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(2) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office at the request of the individual.

(3) Disclosure may be made to a contractor under contract to OCSE for the performance of research and statistical activities directly related to this system of records in conducting the research and demonstration projects and to provide a statistical data base for research studies.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Data may be maintained on disk, magnetic tape, paper records or other formats as appropriate for the individual research project.

Retrievability:

Access to records will vary from project to project and may include such methods as name, social security number, State-assigned case number, etc.

Safeguards:

All contractors must certify that they are in compliance with the Privacy Act of 1974 and the rules and regulations issued pursuant to that act in the design, development, or operation of any system of records on individuals in order to accomplish an agency function which the contract specifically identifies.

All contractors are also subject to the provisions of a "Confidentiality of Information" article. This article provides that "Unless otherwise specified, all financial, statistical, personnel and/or technical data which is furnished, produced, or otherwise available to the contractor during the performance of this contract are considered confidential and shall not be used for purposes other than performance of work under this contract nor released by the contractor without the prior written consent of the project officer. Any presentation of any statistical or analytical materials, or any reports based on information obtained from the studies covered by this contract, will be subject to review by the Government's project officer before publication or dissemination."

In addition, where automated systems are used, safeguards shall be established in accordance with the Department's ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security.

Retention and disposal:

At the conclusion of research and development studies, upon acceptance of the final report by OCSE, the identifying information will be separated from the records and stored in a locked file for a year, after which it will be destroyed.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Policy and Planning Division, Office of Child Support Enforcement, 6110 Executive Boulevard, Rockville, Maryland 20852.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by writing to the system manager at the above address and providing name, address and SSN. (Furnishing the SSN is voluntary, however, it would make searching for the individual's record easier and avoid delay. An individual who is unable or unwilling to furnish his or her SSN will be required to provide other information such as date and place of birth and both parents' names to enable us to locate the record. Also, it would be helpful but not absolutely necessary to identify the particular research project in which the individual participated.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS regulations, 45 CFR 5b.5.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These access procedures are in accordance with HHS regulations 45 CFR 5b.5.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under System Manager and Address above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and corrective action sought with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS regulations 45 CFR 5b.7.

Record source categories:

Records in this system will be derived from individuals, program records of other Federal/State welfare programs (e.g., AFDC, Medicaid, Food Stamps, SSI), survey data collected by contractors, child support enforcement agencies, Health Care Financing Administration, employers, and other departments, agencies, or instrumentalities of the United States or any State.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

System name:

Optional Form 55 Cards Issuance Log. HHS/OS/RIX/ORD/DAS.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

DHHS, Region IX, Office of the Regional Director, Division of Administrative Services, 50 United Nations Plaza, Room 30, San Franciso, California 94102.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All persons who have been issued United States Government Identification Cards (Optional Form 55, or OF-55) by the DHHS Region IX Division of Administrative Services. This includes (1) federal employees working in the federal office building at 50 United Nations Plaza, San Francisco, California; (2) certain private individuals ("contractors") providing services at that location; (3) DHHS employees working elsewhere in San Francisco; and (4) DHHS employees working in Region IX and requesting an official identification card.

Categories of records in the system:

Serial number of OF-55 card, date of issuance, name of individual to whom issued, individual's agency designation (for federal employees, the employing agency; for other individuals, indication of nonfederal status and/or the employer), and void date for the card. In addition, for individuals in the first three catagories above, the system will contain a small photograph of the individual.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

18 U.S.C. 499, 701; 40 U.S.C. 318a-318c, 486(c), 490; 41 CFR 101-20.302, 101-20.501 to .503.

Purpose(s):

The system is used with the identification cards in a building security plan for the federal office building at 50 United Nations Plaza, San Francisco. Agency staff may refer to the system when an individual presents a card for admission to the building, to determine whether the card is valid and whether the individual presenting it is the one to whom it was issued.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

(1) In the event that the system of records indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal, or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule, or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system may be referred to the appropriate federal, state, or local agency charged witht the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or enforcing or implementing the statute or rule, regulation, or order issued pursuant thereto.

(2) A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal, state, or local agency maintaining civil, criminal, or other relevant enforcement or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant, or other benefit. A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention or an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

(3) Where a contract between a component of the Department and a labor organization recognized under E.O. 11491 provides that the agency will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission, records in this system of records may be disclosed to such organization.

(4) Disclosures may be made to persons participating in employee discipline or competence determination proceedings for the purposes of such proceedings.

(5) Disclosure from the record of an individual may be made to a congressional office in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(6) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her indiviudal capacity where the Department of Justice has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose to the Department of Justice such records as it deems desirable or necessary to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(7) Upon request any member of the unit(s) responsible for building security at the federal office building located at 50 United Nations Plaza, San Francisco, California, the Department may disclose such records as are needed to ensure the integrity and proper functioning of the building access security system in effect in that building.

(8) In the event that an individual to whom we issued an OF-55 card is the subject of an investigation for a violation or potential violation of law, whether criminal, civil, or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule, or order issued pursuant thereto, relevant records in the system may be released to the appropriate federal, state, or local law enforcement agency charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violationor charged with enforcing or implementing the statute enforcing or implementing the statute or rule, regulation, or order issued pursuant thereto.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The printed information is recorded in log format and kept in a binder. The photographs (only of HHS San Francisco employees and Federal employees and contractors needing access card to 50 United Nations Plaza building) are also stored in the binder, but on separate pages from the printed information. (Only the individual's OF-55 serial number accompanies the photograph.)

Retrievability:

The records are retrieved by serial numbers of the OF-55 cards. (Retrieval of the printed information by manual search of employees' and contractors' names would also be possible under exigent circumstances.)

If abuse of the building access security system or unauthorized use of card is suspected, the Division of Administrative Services may provide the individual's name and component/office to the Regional Director and/or the employee's supervisor for investigation.

Safeguards:

Direct access is restricted to the System Manager (see below). The log binder is kept in a locked file cabinet. The System Manager's office is locked during non-work hours.

Retention and disposal:

When an employee resigns, retires, or otherwise terminates employment, or a contractor no longer needs access to the 50 United Nations Plaza building, his/her OF-55 card must be surrendered. When it is returned to the System Manager, the employee's or contractor's log entry will be removed and his/her photograph and card will be destroyed. If a new card is issued to an employee or contractor when his/her old card expires, the log entry will be updated to reflect the new card's serial number and void date.

System manager(s) and address:

Chief, Logistics Branch, Division of Administrative Services,
DHHS, 50 United Nations Plaza, Room 30, San Francisco,
California 94102.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries should be addressed to the System Manager; the serial number on the OF-55 card should be provided.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager specified above; reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested and indicate corrective action sought and reason for corrections with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

Name and agency designation are supplied by the employee or contractor. The photograph is taken when the OF-55 card is issued. Serial number, date of issuance, and void date are assigned or supplied by the Division of Administrative Services when the OF-55 card is issued.

System name:

Automated Litigation Tracking System. HHS/OS/OGC.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

The database and software for this computerized system will be located at the Parklawn Computer Center (part of the Public Health Service) located at 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Maryland 20857.

Each OGC location identified in the Appendix on the Administrative Claims System (09-90-0062) Federal Register, Wednesday, October 13, 1982 (47 FR 45540-45542) will have access to the database and software via one or more CRT terminals.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

The individuals on whom records are maintained in this system are: (1) Individuals who are involved in litigation with the Department or the United States (regarding matters within the jurisdiction of the Department) either as plaintiffs or as defendants in both civil and criminal matters, (2) individuals who either file administrative compliants with the Department or are the subjects of administrative complaints initiated by the Department, including claims which are the subjects of records maintained in the Administrative Claims System, 09-90-0062, (3) individuals who are named parties in cases in which the Department believes it will or may become involved, and (4) OGC attorneys to whom cases are assigned.

Categories of records in the system:

The records contain information to identify: (1) The cases and legal actions that the Department either is involved in or in which it believes it will or may become involved, (2) the people involved in each case, (3) where within the government the case has been assigned, (4) what the status of the case is, including the key events that may have occurred, and (5) the legal and programmatic issues of the case.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

The authority for maintaining this system are the various statutes, regulations, rules or orders pertaining to the subject matter of the litigation, administrative complaint or adverse personnel action, (e.g., Public Health Service Act; Social Security Act; Civil Rights Act; Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act; Federal Tort Claims Act, 28 U.S.C. 2671-2680, 1346(b); Waiver of Overpayment of Pay Act, 5 U.S.C. 5584; Military Personnel and Civilian Employees Claims Act, 31 U.S.C. 240-243; Federal Claims Collection Act, 31 U.S.C. 951-953; and Federal Medical Care Recovery Act, 42 U.S.C. 2651-2653).

Purpose(s):

To enable the Office of the General Counsel to: (1) More efficiently and effectively use its resources in court and administrative proceedings, (2) provide a research tool that will permit attorneys to identify when and where similar litigation has occurred, and (3) enable management to better balance the attorney workload.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Records are used in communicating with, among others, Federal, State, and local law enforcement agencies, private individuals, private and public hospitals, allegedly negligent parties, private attorneys, insurance companies, the United States Attorney and other Federal officials and agencies, individual law enforcement officers, and tribal officials. These communications are all for the purpose of investigating, settling, or denying claims and subsequent litigation action.

Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

In the event that a system of records maintained by this agency to carry outs its functions indicates a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule or order issued pursuant thereto, the relevant records in the system or records may referred, as a routing use to the appropriate agency, whether Federal, state, local, or foreign, charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting such violation or charged with enforcing or implementing the statute, rule, regulation, or order issued pursuant thereto.

In the event the Department deems it desirable or necessary, in determining whether particular records are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act, disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice for the purpose of obtaining its advice.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed as a "routine use" to a Federal, state or local agency maintaining civil, criminal or other relevant enforcement records or other pertinent records, such as current licenses, if necessary to obtain a record relevant to an agency decision concerning the hiring or retention of an employee, the issurance of a security clearance, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to a Federal agency, in response to its request, in connection with the hiring or retention of an employee, the issuance of a security clearance, the reporting of an investigation of an employee, the letting of a contract, or the issuance of a license, grant or other benefit by the requesting agency, to the extent that the record is relevant and necessary to the requesting agency's decision on the matter.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to the Department of Justice or other appropriate Federal agencies in defending claims against the United States when the claim is based upon an individual's mental or physical condition and is alleged to have arisen because of activities of the Public Health Service in connection with such individual.

A record from this system of records may be disclosed to any Federal, state or local agency where the Department deems that the information is needed for any aspect of administering a Federal, state, or local program.

Records from this system may be disclosed to a private firm under contract to the Department for the purpose of having that firm convert the records to machine readable form, or collate, analyze, aggregate or otherwise refine the information in the records. The contractor will be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Information will be stored on a variety of computer-readable, electronic media, including disc, mass storage, and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

The records in this system will be indexed by the court's docket number for the litigation and will be retrievable by any information contained in the record, including by: The name of either party, the Social Security Number (only for records on cases involving claims against one or more programs administered by the Social Security Administration or the Health Care Financing Administration), the name of the attorney assigned the case, and the legal or programmatic issues involved.

Only OGC staff will be permitted to retrieve information from this system.

Safeguards:

The buildings where these records are stored on electronic media are safeguarded by a variety of physical security systems which permit access only by authorized computer center personnel and authorized visitors escorted by computer center staff.

The computer terminals used to access the records are kept in rooms which are locked at the close of the business day and are generally accessible only to General Counsel personnel.

Electronically, the records are protected from unauthorized access by several password oriented systems which produce an audit trail of all attempts (successful and unsuccessful) to access the records. In general, this system complies with all security guidelines published by the Department (Part 6, ADP Systems Manual), which embodies the guidance presented by the National Bureau of Standards in the Federal Information Processing Standards.

Retention and disposal:

Records are maintained until the litigation or other judicial proceedings have ended and for varying periods of time thereafter, subject to the Federal Records Act and applicable retention schedules.

System manager(s) and address:

The agency official responsible for the system policies and practices outlined above is: The General Counsel, Department of Health and Human Services, Office of the General Counsel, Hubert H. Humphrey Building, Room 722A, 200 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20201.

Notification procedure:

Any inquiries regarding these systems of records should be addressed to the System Manager. An individual who requests notification of or access to a medical record shall, at the time the request is made, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. Access will not be provided to materials compiled by the Department for litigation purposes, such as information about briefs and recommendations to appeal or not to appeal, except when such access is granted by the court as a result of discovery or due process.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official designated in the section, "System Manager(s) and address", above; reasonably identify the record and specify the information that is to be contested; and state the corrective action sought and your reasons for requesting the correction, with supporting evidence to show why the record is not accurate, timely, complete, relevant or necessary.

Record source categories:

The information for this system is obtained through a number of sources including the exchange of legal pleadings, documents, formal and informal discovery, program offices and component agencies, private attorneys, State and local governments, their agencies and instrumentalities, and officers of other Federal agencies and the individuals involved.

Purposes(s):

To assist HDS programs in carrying out their responsibilities to disseminate program information.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

1. Disclosure may be made to a Congressional office from the record of an individual in response to a verified inquiry from the Congressional office made at the written request of that individual.

2. Disclosure may be made to the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when:

(a) HHS or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, andf disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Computer tape.

Retrievability:

Addresses will be retrieved by name, interest in HDS programs, field of activity, type of organization or level of government, scope of organization, whether the addresses provide information or services or both, or type of media.

Safeguards:

1. Authorized Uses: Only authorized personnel within the Department may access the HUD mailing list.

2. Physical Safeguards: Computer tapes are stored in locked files in secured areas. Computer terminals are in secured areas.

3. Procedural Safeguards: Employees who maintain the tapes in this system are instructed to grant regular access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords/keywords known to authorized personnel. These passwords/keywords are changed frequently.

4. Implementation Guidelines: Part 6, 'Automated Information System Security' of the HHS Information Resources Management Manual.

Retention and disposal:

List is annually circularized as required by the Joint Committee on Printing and those not responding are dropped from the list.

Purpose(s):

To enable HDS to determine the effectiveness of certain programs it administers by having HDS contractors perform evaluation studies of various HDS programs.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to:

(1) HDS contractors in order to perform the program evaluation studies for which the records are maintained. These contractors are required to comply with the requirements of the Privacy Act with respect to the records.

(2) HDS contractors engaged in program evaluation support activities such as collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system. These contractors will be required to comply with the requirements of the Privacy Act with respect to the records.

(3) A Congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry which the Congressional office made at the written request of that individual.

(4) The Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when:

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determine that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however,that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

File folders, microfilms, charts, graphs, computer tapes, disks, and punch cards.

Retrievability:

By name, Social Security Number when supplied voluntarily in addition to some other alternative system of retrieval, or other identifying number or symbol.

Safeguards:

Measures to prevent unauthorized disclosures are required as appropriate for each contractor location and for the particular records maintained under each contract. Each contractor implements personnel, physical and procedural safeguards such as the following:

(1) Authorized users: Records maintained in this system are accessible to only contractors compiling or using the information necessary to perform the program evaluation activities for which the system is designed.

(2) Physical safeguards: Records are kept in limited access areas. Offices and record storage locations are locked during off-duty hours. Input data for computer files is coded to preclude easy identification of individuals. Information on individual identities is kept separate from data used for analysis.

(3) Procedural and Technical safeguards: Access to manual files is available only to authorized personnel, as described above. Access to computer files is controlled through security codes known only to authorized users. Names and other information sufficient for easy identification of individuals are not included in data files used for analysis. These files are indexed by code number or symbols. Code numbers or symbols and complete identifying information in the individual are linked only if there is a specific need, such as for data verification and follow up.

Contractors maintaining records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosure of the records except as authorized by the system manager and permitted by the Privacy Act. Privacy Act requirements are specifically included in all contracts for program evaluation activities supported by this system. The system manager is the Director, Office of Policy Coordination and Review, HDS. HDS project officers responsible for overseeing performances of HDS contractors will also oversee compliance with these Privacy Act requirements.

The particular safeguards implemented at each site are developed in accordance with 45 CFR Part 5b, Chapter 45-13, "Safeguarding Records Contained in Systems of Records", of the HHS General Administration Manual, and Part 6 ADP Systems Security, of the HHS ADP Systems Manual and the National Bureau of Standards, Federal Information Processing Standards (FIPS Pub. 41 and FIPS Pub. 31).

Retention and disposal:

Contractors are to retain records as long as necessary to accomplish the purpose for which the records were kept. Disposal methods include erasing computer tapes and disks, burning hard copies, shredding or any other method which effectively obliterates that data contained in the records.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Policy, Planning and Legislation, OHDS, Hubert H. Humphrey Building, Room 306-E, 200 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, D.C. 20201, Telephone (202) 245-7027

Notification procedure:

To determine if a file exists, write to the system manager and provide the following information:

a. System name: Records Maintained on Individuals for Program Evaluation Purposes Under Contracts, HHS, HDS;

b. The requester's complete name at the time of program participation;

c. Facility used by (if applicable), and home address of, the requester at the time of participation; and

d. In some cases, where records are retrieved by an identifying number, it may be necessary to provide that number. A requester may be asked to voluntarily disclose his or her Social Security Number (SSN) in which case statutory authority for SSN solicitations will be provided to the requester. The SSN will only be used to retrieve any records that may be retained on the requester. Should a requester refuse to disclose his or her SSN then the system will be designed to ensure that his or her records will still be retrievable by some alternative means.

The requester must also verify his or her indentity by: Providing one piece of tangible identification (e.g., driver's license, passport, etc.); or submitting a notarized request; or providing a written certification that the requester is who he or she claims to be and understands that the knowing and willful request for or acquisition of a record pertaining to an individual under false pretenses is a criminal offense under the Privacy Act, subject to a maximum fine of five thousand dollars.

A parent or guardian who requests notification of, or access to, the record of a minor or legal incompetent must verify his or her relationship to the minor or incompetent person in the manner prescribed by 45 CFR 5b.5(b)(2)(iii), in addition to verifying his or her own identity.

Record access procedures:

Write to the system manager and provide the same information as required under the notification procedures above. Requesters should also reasonable specify the record content being sought. Requesters may ask for a list of accounting of the disclosures which have been made of their records.

Contesting record procedures:

Write to the system manager at the address specified above and reasonable identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the corrective action and the reasons for the correction, and provide supporting justification to show that the record is inaccurate, incomplete, irrelevant, untimely, or unnecessary. Refusals to correct a record may be appealed in writing to the Assistant Secretary for Human Development Services, pursuant to 45 CFR 5b.8(a)(iv).

Record source categories:

The data contained in these records is furnished by the individual and third party contacts having specific knowledge about the individual that is needed to complete the program evaluation.

System name:

Medicare Bill File (Statistics) HHS, HCFA, BDMS.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

HCFA DATA CENTER, Lyon Building, 7131 Rutherford Road, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Persons enrolled in hospital insurance or supplemental medical benefits parts of the Medicare program.

Categories of records in the system:

Bill data, demographic data on the beneficiary; diagnosis and surgery codes; provider characteristics and identifying number (including physicians).

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1875 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 13950).

Purpose(s):

To study the operation and effectiveness of the Medicare program.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

best copy available

Disclosure may be made: (1) To a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(2) To the Bureau of Census for use in processing research and statistical data directly related to the administration of Social Security programs.

(3) To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or is party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided however, that in each case HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(4) To an individual or organization for a research evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, or the restoration or maintenance of health if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained:

b. Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individually identifiable form.

(2) is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record might bring, and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished;

c. Requires the information recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature of retaining such information, and

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual.

(b) For use in another research project, under these same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA.

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit or

(d) When required by law:

d. Secures a written statement attesting to the information recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

(5) To entities with a legitimate need for data for statistical analyses bearing on Medicare payment policies for inpatient hospital services. Information disclosed for this purpose will not include a beneficiary's health insurance claim number, race, or Medicare status code, the beneficiary's age will be identified only bv age intervals; the beneficiary's residence will be identified only to the extent of stating whether he or she resides in the same State as the provider, the admission and discharge dates will be identified only by calendar quarter; and the date of surgery will be identified only as the number of days after admission.

Each of the Medicare Provider Analysis and Review (MEDPAR) file—short-stay hospital services file, long-term hospital services file, skilled nursing facility services file, and other provider services file—will be modified in accordance with the foregoing provisions for release. The entity must agree:

(a) Not to try to identify individual beneficiaries.

(b) Not to disclose raw data to any persons except contractors for data processing and storage (and it must agree to require any such contractor not to release any data and not to retain any data after performing the contract).

(c) Not to link this information to other beneficiary-specific records.

(d) Not to publish or otherwise disclose data in a form raising unacceptable possibilities that beneficiaries could be identified, and

(e) To safeguard the confidentiality of the data and to try to prevent unauthorized access to it.

(6) To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

(7) With respect to the QC/MEDPAR File, to entities with a legitimate need for data for the purpose of conducting research or evaluation on the quality and effectiveness of care provided in hospitals. Research or evaluation under this routine use must focus on the improvement of health care or measures for determining, validating, and monitoring the quality and effectiveness of hospital care in such areas as access to care, outcomes of care, and effectiveness of care in improving, restoring, or maintaining the independence and functioning of Medicare beneficiaries. Information disclosed under this routine use will be limited to the data elements described in Appendix A.

The QC/MEDPAR File may be released to an entity if HCFA determines:

a. That the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the data were provided, collected, or obtained.

b. That the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot reasonably be accomplished unless the data are provided in the detailed form described in Appendix A:

(2) Is reasonably likely to be accomplished in view of the capabilities of the requesting entity and other factors; and

(3) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the possible effect on the privacy of the individual that the disclosure of the data might bring.

c. In order for HCFA to determine that the requirements in section (b) are met, the entity must submit and HCFA must approve:

(1) A research or evaluation plan specifying the objectives of the research or evaluation, the manner in which the data will be used, the financial support for the plan, and the date the research or evaluation will be completed. Evaluation plans designed to assist specific providers must be supported by letters of commitment to the evaluation by the providers. Values or differences in values that would trigger provider action must be addressed in the evaluation plan as well as the action the provider intends to take; and

(2) A copy of any report by a panel of recognized experts reviewing the research or evaluation plan (when such review has been performed).

(d) The entity and its contractors, if any, must sign a statement acknowledging that section 1106(a) of the Social Security Act, which prohibits the disclosure of confidential information and imposes criminal penalties, may apply. They must also agree to the following:

(1) Not to link the data to other beneficiary-specific records nor to use the data to identify individual beneficiaries;

(2) Not to use the data for purposes that are not related to HCFA-approved research or evaluation of the quality and effectiveness of hospital inpatient care. Prohibited uses include but are not limited to: marketing (for example, identification and targeting of under or over-served health service markets primarily for the purposes of commercial benefit), insurance (for example, redlining areas deemed to offer bad health insurance or underwriting risks), and adverse selection (for example, identifying patients with high-risk diagnoses). The data must not be made available by the entity or its contractor for an activity not approved by HCFA, even if carried on within the entity or its contractor.;

(3) Not to disclose the data to any persons or organizations unless the data are in aggregated form as described in paragraph 5. The data may be disclosed to a contractor for data processing if:

(a) The entity has specified in the research plan submitted to HCFA that the contractor would receive the data for that purpose, or the entity has obtained written authorization from HCFA to make the disclosure to the contractor, and

(b) The contractor has signed a confidentiality statement with HCFA:

(4) Not to publish or otherwise disclose the data in the form raising unacceptable possibilities that beneficiaries could be identified (i.e., the data must not be beneficiary-specific and must be aggregated to a level where no data cells have ten or fewer beneficiaries);

(5) To submit a copy of its plans for any aggregation of the data intended for publication to HCFA for approval prior to publication;

(6) To establish appropriate administrative, technical, procedural and physical safeguards to protect the confidentiality of the data and to prevent unauthorized access to it;

(7) To return all files to HCFA, and destory any copies that may have been made, at the completion of the research or evaluation plan.

(8) To an agency of a State Government, or established by State law, for purposes of determining, evaluating and/or assessing cost, effectiveness, and/or the quality of health care services provided in the State, if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the data were provided, collected, or obtained;

b. Establishes that the data are exempt from disclosure under the State and/or local Freedom of Information Act;

c. Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot reasonably be accomplished unless the data are provided in individually identifiable form;

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individuals that additional exposure of the record might bring, and;

(3) There is a reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished; and

d. Requires the recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record;

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the request, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification for retaining such information;

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except;

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual;

(b) For use in another project under the same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA;

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the project, if information that would enable project subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit, or

(d) When required by law; and

(4) Secure a written statement attesting to the recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions. The recipient must agree to the following;

(1) Not to use the data for purposes that are not related to the evaluation of cost, quality, and effectiveness of care;

(2) Not to publish or otherwise disclose the data in a form raising unacceptable possibilities that beneficiaries could be identified (i.e., the data must not be beneficiary-specific and must be aggregated to a level when no data cells have ten or fewer beneficiaries); and

(3) To submit a copy of any aggregation of the data intended for publication to HCFA for approval prior to publication.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

All records are stored on magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

All records are indexed by health insurance claim number and by hospital provider number.

Safeguards:

For computerized records, safeguards established in accordance with Department standards and National Bureau of Standards guidelines (e.g., security codes) will be used, limiting access to authorized personnel.

Retention and disposal:

Records are maintained with identifiers as long as needed for program research.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Bureau of Data Management and Strategy, Room 1-A-11, Security Office Park, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

For purpose of access, write the systems manager, who will require name of system, health insurance claim number and for verification purposes, name (women's maiden name, if applicable), social security number, address, date of birth and sex; and to ascertain whether the individual's record is in the system, utilization and date of utilization under Part A or Part B of Medicare services, home health agency, hospital (inpatient), hospital (outpatient) or skilled nursing facility.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought (These access procedures are in accordance with the Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the system manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

Medicare enrollment records: Medicare bill records: Medicare provider records for a sample of persons treated as hospital patients (inpatient and outpatient) and skilled nursing facility patients.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

Annual 5 percent Summary File of Services Reimbursed Under the Medicare Program (Statistics), HHS, HCFA, BDMS.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Office of Systems Operations, OS, SSA 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Sample of Medicare enrollees with reimbursed services prior to January 1, 1975.

Categories of records in the system:

Demographic characteristics; amount of reimbursement by type of service.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1875 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395ll).

Purpose(s):

To study the characteristics of persons receiving Medicare reimbursed services and the types of services they received.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

(1) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(2)To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States of any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(3)To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidential to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

All records are stored on magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

All records are indexed by claim number.

Safeguards:

For computerized records, safeguards are established in accordance with guidelines in DHHS ADP Systems Manual Part 6, "ADP Systems Security," (e.g. security codes) will be used, limiting access to authorized personnel.

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained with indentifiers as long as needed for purposes of program research.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Bureau of Data Management and Strategy, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 2424, Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

For purposes of access, write the systems manager who will require name of system, health insurance claim number, and for verification purposes, name (woman's maiden name if applicable), address, social security number, date of birth and sex, and to ascertain whether the individual's record is in the system, whether any reimbursable services prior to 1974 or 1975 and the date (month and year) of such services.

System name:

Municipal Health Services Program, HHS/HCFA/ORD.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Health Care Financing Administration (primary location), Bureau of Support Services, Office of Direct Reimbursement, Health Services Studies Division (DHSS), 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207, and

University of Chicago, Center for Health Administration Studies (CHAS), 5720 Woodlawn Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60637.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Medicare beneficiaries who obtain health care services at any of the 20 clinics being funded by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation under the Municipal Health Services Program (MHSP).

Categories of records in the system:

Bills submitted by MHSP clinics to claim Federal reimbursement for services provided to Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 402(a) of the Social Security Amendments of 1967, as amended by section 222(b)(1) of Pub. L. 92–603.

Purpose(s):

To provide billing data necessary to permit reimbursement and evaluation of the clinics participating in the MHSP.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

(1) Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of the individual.

(2)To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States of any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(4)To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidential to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Office of Research and Demonstrations (ORD) will store data of hardcopy billing forms and machine readable media in storage area.

Retrievability:

ORD retrieves the data by beneficiary name, date of service, and clinic name, ORD will use the data to determine the appropriate level of reimbursement to be made to MHSP clinics.

Safeguards:

ORD will maintain all records in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized employees and will notify all employees having access to records of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information on individuals, ORD will store hardcopy in file cabinets in a locked office. For computerized records, HCFA will initiate ADP systems security procedures with reference to the guidelines contained in the DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP System Security (e.g., HHS will store machine readable media in locked cabinets in a locked room accessible only to authorized personnel).

Retention and disposal:

ORD will retain hardcopy bills and machine readable media tapes with identifiers in secure storage areas. HCFA waivers permitting reimbursement to MHSP clinics will be effective through 1989: Therefore HCFA will retain all hardcopy and magnetic tape of disc data until December 1990. At that time, HCFA will destroy all hardcopy and strip all machine readable media of all identifying names and numbers by degaussing.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 2230, Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

Individuals should address inquiries and requests concerning system records to the system manager, named above, specifying name, date of service, and clinic.

Record access procedures:

Any beneficiary who participates in the MHSP may request his or her data record in writing. Access procedure is the same as notification procedure. Requestor should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)).

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedure above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7)).

Record source categories:

The information contained in this record system originates at MHSP clinics, specified in Appendix A to this notice, whenever a Medicare beneficiary obtains clinic services. Clinics in four of the cities, specified in Appendix B to this notice, will store hardcopies or machine readable media copies of the bills in their city health departments.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

System name:

Study of the Comparative Effectiveness of State Approaches to Regulation of Medicare Supplemental Policies: Medigap, HHS/HCFA/ORD.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

SRI International, 333 Ravenswood Avenue, Menlo Park, California 94025.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Medicare beneficiaries (age 65 and older) who reside in the six participating States and disabled Medicare beneficiaries (under 65) nationwide.

Categories of records in the system:

Questionnaires administered to approximately 4,800 Medicare beneficiaries. These questionnaires will provide information on each beneficiary concerning sociodemographic characteristics, such as education, knowledge of and experience with Medicare, number and type of private health insurance policies, identifying information about the policies held and purchasing behavior. A copy of each insurance policy will be obtained from the beneficiary if possible or from the insurance company with the policyholder's consent. Questionnaires will show beneficiary name and health insurance claim name (HI claim number) or other unique identifier. Insurance policies will have policyholder's identifying number. The National Center for Health Services Research (NCHSR) questionnaire will be administered to the same study sample of Medicare beneficiaries and will provide information concerning each respondent's knowledge of the risks of needing insurance coverage for long term care services, the availability of insurance for such risks, the preferences for specific insurance benefits for long term care and their willingness to pay for those benefits.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

HCFA authority is based on Section 1882 of the Social Security Act as amended by Section 507, paragraphs (f)(1) and (f)(2) of Pub. L. 96-265. NCHSR authority is based on Sections 304 and 305 of the Public Health Service Act, as amended by the Health Services Research, Health Statistics, and Medical Libraries Act of 1974. Pub. L. 93-353, and the Health Services Research, Health Statistics and Health Care Technology Act of 1978, Pub. L. 95-623.

Purpose(s):

The purpose of this system of records is to provide information on consumers' purchasing behavior, the policies they hold and the circumstances of insurance sales transactions in order to analyze the effectiveness of varying State insurance regulations on:

- Limiting marketing and agent abuse;
- Assuring the dissemination of such information to individuals entitled to benefits under this title (and to other consumers) as is necessary to permit informed choice;
- Promoting policies which provide reasonable economic benefits for such individuals;
- Reducing the purchase of unnecessarily duplicative coverage; and
- Improving price competition.

The purpose of the disabled beneficiary survey is to provide national estimates of the proportion of this population who have supplemental health insurance.

In addition the NCHSR system of records is to provide information on consumer's knowledge of the risks of needing long-term care, the availability of insurance for such risks, the preference for specific insurance benefits and their willingness to pay for those benefits. This information will be used to contribute to a study of the market potential for private long-term care insurance.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

1. The contractor will receive all information in the system from beneficiary questionnaires and their health insurance policies either in hard copy, magnetic tape, or cards and store it in a master file. The contractor will use this information to assess the comparative effectiveness of various State regulatory approaches to Medicare supplemental insurance. Once the beneficiary questionnaire information is linked with the health insurance policy information of the beneficiary, all personal identifiers will be removed from the file.

2. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry which the congressional office makes at the request of that individual.

3. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States of any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidential to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The contractor will store records in hard copy and magnetic tape form.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by Health Insurance claim number or other unique identifier.

Safeguards:

The contractor will maintain all records in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized employees and will notify all employees having access to records of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information on individuals. Authorized HCFA representatives will, upon request, be granted access to premises where records are kept for the purpose of inspecting physical security arrangements. However, no data will be released with identifying information. For computerized records, the contractor will initiate automated data processing (ADP) system security procedures required by the Department's ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security, e.g., use of passwords.

Retention and disposal:

The contractor will hold hard-copy records, magnetic tapes, and cards until beneficiary specific data are received and compiled. All identifying information and hard-copy will then be destroyed thus protecting the confidentiality of all information collected. The contractor will retain all records for the life of the contract and then these records will become the custody of the Office of Research and Demonstrations, HCFA. The contractor will not retain any beneficiary based files. Data supplied to HCFA and NCHSR will not include beneficiary identifiers. No data which would possibly identify an individual will be supplied.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 2230 Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the systems manager at the address indicated above, specifying name, address and health insurance claim number. These notification and access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR Part 5b).

Record access procedures:

Individuals participating in the Survery may request their data records in writing. Access procedure is the same as the notification procedure. Requestor should reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR Part 5b)).

Contesting record procedures:

An individual who wishes to contest the contents of any record in this system should contact the system manager and reasonably identify and specify the information to be contested. State the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR Part 5b)).

Record source categories:

Sources of information contained in this record system include Medicare beneficiaries, insurance companies, survey contractor and subcontractors (if any), and selected HCFA files.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-70-0028

System name:

Study of the Social, Ethical, and Economic Consequences of Medicare Coverage for Heart Transplants; HHS/HCFA/ORD.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

The location of the system for the duration of the contract will be: Battelle Human Affairs Research Centers, 4000 N.E. 41st Street, Seattle, Washington 98105. Additional information on the contractor site will be available by writing to the System Manager at the address below.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Heart transplant recipients or their families.

Categories of records in the system:

Questionnaires administered to approximately 100 living heart transplant recipients and approximately 100 families of deceased heart transplant recipients. These questionnaires will provide information on each transplant patient concerning survival rates, cost of the heart transplant procedure, and the impact of the procedure on the quality of life of the patient and his/her family. Relevant medical data will also be abstracted from patient medical records maintained at each transplant center.

Questionnaires will show a patient indentification number although patient names will not appear on the questionnaires. To the extent that these patients are eligible for and have received Medicare benefits for the treatment of end-stage cardiac disease, these data will also become part of the proposed system of records. Additional data will also be obtained from the four to six participating heart transplant programs. These data include yearly hospital charge data, Medicare cost reports, cost data on equipment, facilities and personnel resources needed to perform transplants, and other similar data.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1875 of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

To provide information on all aspects of heart transplantation including the cost of transplant procedures and follow-up, the status of patients following transplant, and the implications the End-stage Renal Disease Program has for Medicare coverage of heart transplants.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

1. The contractor will use this information to assess the potential implications of a possible Medicare decision to pay for heart transplants on the Medicare program, Medicare beneficiaries, and the providers of health care.

2. Disclosure may be made to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry which the congressional office makes at the request of that individual.

3. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States of any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidential to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by a unique identifier.

Safeguards:

The contractor will maintain all records in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized employees and will notify all employees having access to records of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information on individuals. Authorized HCFA representatives will, upon request, be granted access to premises where records are kept for the purpose of inspecting physical security arrangements. However, no data will be released with identifying information. For computerized records, the contractor will initiate automated data processing (ADP) system security procedures required by the DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security, e.g., use of passwords.

Retention and disposal:

The contractor will hold hard-copy records, magnetic tapes, and cards until beneficiary specific data are received and integrated. All identifying information and hard-copy records will then be destroyed, thus protecting the confidentiality of all information collected. The contractor will retain all records for the life of the contract and then these records will become the custody of the Office of Research and Demonstrations, HCFA. Data supplied to HCFA will not include individual identifiers. No data which would possibly identify an individual will be supplied.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 2230,Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the Systems Manager at the address indicated above, specify name, address and patient identification number. These notification and access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR Part 5b).

Record access procedures:

Individuals participating in the survey may request their data records in writing. Access procedure is the same as the notification procedure. Requestor should reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.)

Contesting record procedures:

An individual who wishes to contest the contents of any record in this system should contact the System Manager and reasonably identify and specify the information to be contested. State the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.)

Record source categories:

Sources of information contained in this record system include heart transplant patients, heart transplant centers, survey contractor and subcontractors (if any), and selected HCFA files. For example, data routinely reported on HCFA Form 1453, Inpatient Hospital and Skilled Nursing Facility Admission and Billing Form, will be requested.

Categories of records in the system:

Demographic characteristics (e.g., age, education, source of medical care), factors related to choice of alternative health plans, data on satisfaction with alternative health plans, and health status measures.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 402 of the Social Security Amendments of 1967, Pub. L. 90–248, as amended by section 222(b) of the Social Security Amendments of 1972, Pub. L. 92–603, 42 U.S.C. 1395b–1.

Purpose(s):

To provide data necessary to evaluate HCFA's Medicare competition demonstration projects, including information to study the marketing effectiveness of alternative health plans enrolling Medicare beneficiaries in these demonstrations, the potential selection bias in alternative health plan enrollment that may be associated with an enrollee's health status, and beneficiary satisfaction with the AHP option.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

1. To the contractor, Mathematica Policy Research, Inc., who will use this information to evaluate HCFA's Medicare competition demonstration projects.

2. To a congressional office, from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

3. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States of any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4.To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidential to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by beneficiary name or other unique identifier assigned by the contractor.

Safeguards:

The contractor, Mathematica Policy Research, Inc., will maintain all records in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized employees and will notify all employees having access to records of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information on individuals. For computerized records, the contractor will initiate automated data processing (ADP) system security procedures required by DHHS ADP System Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security (e.g., use of passwords), and the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards.

Retention and disposal:

Hardcopy data collection forms and magnetic tapes with identifiers will be retained in secure storage areas. The disposal technique of degaussing will be used to strip magnetic tape of all identifying names and numbers in December 1988. Hardcopy will be destroyed at this time.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstration, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 2230,Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the System Management at the address indicated above, specify name, address, and Health Insurance number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current).

Record source categories:

Sources of information contained in this record system include surveys to be conducted of Medicare beneficiaries by the evaluation contractor, Mathematica Policy Research, Inc.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09–70–0030

System name:

National Long-Term Care Survey Follow-up, DHHS/HCFA/ORD.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

The system will include records of elderly Medicare beneficiaries who have been identified in the National Long-Term Care Survey as having a functional limitation. This information pertains to Medicare beneficiaries living in institutions, in their communities, and deceased beneficiaries.

Categories of records in the system:

The data records will include information on personal care; mobility; physical, mental, and social functioning; formal and informal services and supports; income and assets; and instrumental activities such as managing money and taking medicine plus basic information on nursing home stays, living arrangements, and demographics from persons who have no limitations.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1875(a) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 139511).

Purpose(s):

To provide a national data base on the incidence and prevalance of dependency among the functionally limited elderly person; the services they use, and their resources for providing long-term care in their communities and in institutions. The data will be used for developing long-term care policies for those who will require such care.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

1. To a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the Congressional office made at the request of that individual.

2. To contractors under contract with the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) or the National Center for Health Services Research (NCHSR) of the Department of Health and Human Services (DHSS) for projects involved in the Long-Term Care Initiative. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

3. In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

To an individual or organization for a research, demonstration, evaluation, or epidemiologic project related to the prevention of disease or disability, or the restoration or maintenance of health if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained;

b. Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in an individually identifiable form; and

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record might bring; and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished.

c. Requires the information recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such information, and

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual; or

(b) For use in another research project, under these same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA; or

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit; or

(d) When required by law.

d. Secures a written statement attesting to the information recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Magnetic tape and disc, paper and card records.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by a unique identifying number which is linked to names, addresses, and Medicare numbers at the Census Bureau.

Safeguards:

All individuals having access to the system of records will sign a pledge of confidentiality or will be sworn Census employees. Automated records will be maintained in accordance with the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards, the DHHS ADP System Manual, Part 6, ADP System Security, and the Census Administrative Manual, Chapter C-2 "Confidential Data, Sensitive Information and Requests Under the Freedom of Information and Privacy Act."

Retention and disposal:

On the possibility that a further follow-up may be undertaken, tape and hard copy of all interviews will be retained for a period not to exceed five years, after which they will be destroyed. Data disposal will consist of burning or shredding the hard copy (and so certifying) and degaussing computer records. There are no plans to dispose of non-identifiable individual data.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations, Health Care Financing Administration, 6325 Security Boulevard, Room 2230, Oak Meadows Building, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

An individual requesting notice as to whether the system of records contains information pertaining to him/her, should write to the Systems Manager, at the above address, indicating his/her full name, current address, including ZIP Code at the time she/he was first interviewed for the survey, and the date of birth. The individual may simultaneously request records access as described below.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager at the address given above, reasonably identify the record as described above, specify the information being contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete or not current).

Record source categories:

Individual-specific information will be gathered through interviews with beneficiaries, their proxies, or their survivors.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

System name:

Evaluation of the HCFA Alcoholism Services Demonstration. HHS/HCFA/ORD.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Lawrence Johnson & Associates, Inc., 4545 42nd Street, NW., Suite 103, Washington, D.C. 20016; SysteMetrics, Inc., 104 W. Anapamu, Santa Barbara, California 93101.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries using alcoholism services in freestanding demonstration providers and selected hospital service units in the following states and counties; New Jersey: Atlantic, Bergen, Burlington, Camden, Cape May, Cumberland, Essex, Gloucester, Hudson, Hunterdon, Mercer, Middlesex, Monmouth, Morris, Ocean, Passaic, Salem, Somerset, Sussex, Union, Warren; New York: Albany, Allegany, Cattaraugus, Cayuga, Chautauqua, Chemung, Chenango, Clinton, Columbia, Cortland, Delaware, Erie, Essex, Franklin, Fulton, Genesee, Greene, Hamilton, Herkimer, Jefferson, Lewis, Livingston, Madison, Monroe, Montgomery, Niagara, Oneida, Onondaga, Ontario, Orleans, Oswego, Otsego, Rensselaer, St. Lawrence, Saratoga, Schenectady, Schoharie, Schuyler, Seneca, Steuben, Tiago, Tompkins, Warren, Washington, Wayne, Wyoming, Yates.

Categories of records in the system:

Demographic characteristics, such as age, sex, race, educational level, and marital status; factors related to general physical and psychological health; factors related to history of alcohol use and abuse.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 402 of the Social Security Amendments of 1967, Pub. L. 90-248, as amended by section 222(b) of the Social Security Amendments of 1972, Pub. L. 92-603, 42 U.S.C. 1395b-1, and section 1115(a) of the Social Security Act as amended by section 404 of Pub. L. 95-216.

Purpose(s):

To provide data necessary to evaluate HCFA's Alcoholism Services Demonstration project, including differences in behavioral outcome, utilization of detoxification and rehabilitative services, and total health care costs for Medicare and Medicaid clients of hospital-based alcoholism service providers and freestanding demonstration providers.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

1. For the exchange of information between the contractor and subcontractor, who will use this information to assess the feasibility of expanding coverage of alcoholism services to Medicare recipients and Medicaid eligibles to include services provided by freestanding residential treatment centers and freestanding outpatient treatment facilities.

2. To a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry which the congressional office makes at the request of that individual.

3.To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States of any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4.To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidential to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by beneficiary name and/or health insurance number.

Safeguards:

The contractor will maintain all records in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized employees and will notify all employees having access to records of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information on individuals. In addition, all employees using the data will sign statements assuring confidentiality of the data. For computerized records, the contractor will initiate automated data processing (ADP) system security procedures required by DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security (e.g., use of passwords), and the National Bureau of Standards Federal information Processing Standards. Lastly, disclosure of the contents of records which pertain to an individual's alcohol abuse is restricted under the provisions of the Confidentiality of Alcohol and Drug Abuse Patient Records regulations, 42 CFR, Part 2, as authorized by 21 U.S.C. 1175 and 42 U.S.C. 290dd-3, as amended by Pub. L. 98-24.

Retention and disposal:

Hardcopy data collection forms and magnetic tapes with identifiers will be retained in secure storage areas. The disposal technique of degaussing will be used to strip magnetic tape of all identifying names and numbers in December 1986. Hardcopy will be destroyed at this time.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 2230, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 2230, Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the System Manager at the address indicated above, specify name, address, and health Insurance number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it, e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete or not current.

Record source categories:

Sources of information contained in this records system include surveys to be conducted of Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries by an evaluation contractor, and data abstracted from existing records systems such as the Medicare Bill File, Medicare Enrollment Records, Medicaid Tape-to-Tape Files, state Medicaid billing and enrollment files, State Alcoholism Authority client files, and MADRS.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-70-0032

System name:

Physicians' Practice Costs and Incomes Survey, HHS/HCFA/ORD.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

NORC, 1115 East 60th Street, Chicago, Illinois, 60637.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

The individuals covered by this system will be a sample of 5,000 physicians who provide patient care at least 20 hours per week in either an office or hospital based setting, and who live in the 50 United States and the District of Columbia.

Categories of records in the system:

Practice costs (e.g., rent or depreciation for space and equipment, employee salaries and fringe benefits, malpractice insurance, transportation), gross and net income, deferred income and fringe benefits, practice financial arrangements, participation in Medicare and Medicaid, fees, workloads, locus of care, physician-hospital relationships.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1842(b)(3) of the Social Security Act as amended by Section 224(a) Pub. L. 92-603 (42 U.S.C. 1395u(b)(3)).

Purpose(s):

To provide data required to update the cost share weights of the Medicare Economic Index, and to evaluate the effect of federal policy for physician reimbursement on their participation in Medicare and Medicaid and on the locus of care, to monitor the effects of competition on physicians' practices' financial arrangements, to begin to monitor the effects of prospective payment on physicians' delivery of health care.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

1. To the contractor, NORC, who will use this information during the data collection phase of the survey.

2. To a congressional office, from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

3. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States of any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidential to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by a unique identifier assigned by the contractor to each physician record.

Safeguards:

The contractor, NORC, will maintain all records in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized employees and will notify all employees having access to records of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information on individuals. For computerized records, the contractor will initiate automated data processing (ADP) system security procedures required by DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security (e.g., use of passwords), and the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards. HCFA and other contractors using the data will not be able to identify the individual physicians who participated in the survey.

Retention and disposal:

Hardcopy lists of names and case identification numbers will be retained in secure storage areas. Individual records delivered to HCFA on the final data tape will contain no individual names, and the case identifiers will be different from those used by the contractor. The disposal technique of degaussing will be used to strip magnetic tape of all identifying names and numbers in September 1988. Hardcopy lists of names and identifying numbers will be destroyed at this time.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations, Health Care Financing Administration,Room 2230, Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the System Manager at the address indicated above and specify name and address.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current).

Record source categories:

Sources of information contained in this record system include data collected from physicians by means of a telephone interview survey. Data will also be provided by the American Medical Association from its master file of physicians in the U.S.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of tae act:

None.

09-70-0033

System name:

Person-Level Medicaid Data System, HHS/HCFA/ORD.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Office of Research, ORD, HCFA, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Persons who are enrolled in the Medicaid program under either Federal or State provisions.

Categories of records in the system:

Data from 5 State Medicaid agencies (California, Georgia, Michigan, New York, and Tennessee) showing the demographic characteristics of the enrolled population, claims submitted for covered medical services, and provider characteristics.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1902(a)(6) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396(a)(6)).

Purpose(s):

To study Medicaid use and expenditures in order to increase HCFA's understanding of the Medicaid and Medicare programs and to improve HCFA's ability to conduct program evaluation, strengthen program management, evaluate policy alternatives, conduct and evaluate demonstration projects, and advise States in the area of Medicaid financing. The proposed system will be used for purposes of research and statistics only.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

(1) To a Congressional office from the records of an individual in response to an inquiry from the Congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(2) To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidential to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

(3) To a State Medicaid agency of a State participating in the Person-Level Medicaid Data System project. Disclosure may be made to a State only of data on eligibles in that State and only for purposes of research and statistics.

(4) To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States of any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

All records are stored on magnetic tape and computer disk.

Retrievability:

Enrollment records are retrieved by Medicaid and Medicare identification numbers. Provider records are retrieved by Medicaid and Medicare provider identification numbers. Claims records contain both enrollee and provider identification numbers.

Safeguards:

For computerized records, safeguards established in accordance with guidelines in the DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, "ADP Systems Security," (e.g., security codes, use of passwords) will be used, limiting access to authorized personnel.

Retention and disposal:

Records are maintained in a secure storage area with identifiers as long as needed for program research. Records will be disposed 3 years after research is completed.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 2230, Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the System Manager at the address shown above and give: (1) Name of system, (2) Medicaid identification number, (3) person's name, (maiden name, if applicable), (4) social security number (provision of social security number is voluntary), (5) address, (6) date of birth, and (7) sex. To ascertain whether the individual had utilization, give date of service and type of Medicaid service (i.e., outpatient, physician, dental, prescription, long-term care, home health, inpatient acute care, etc.).

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information being contested. State the reason for contesting the records procedure with supporting justification, (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete or not current).

Record source categories:

Medicaid and Medicare enrollment, claims, and provider records.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-70-0034

System name:

Evaluation of Social/Health Maintenance Organization (S/HMO) Demonstrations, HHS/HCFA/ORD.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

To be determined on or about September 1, 1985 by HCFA's selection of an evaluation contractor. Contact the systems manager for the location of the contractor.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Medicare beneficiaries residing in the following states and counties who join the social/health maintenance organization demonstrations and comparison group beneficiaries who choose not to enroll: California: Los Angeles, Orange; Minnesota: Hennepin, Ramsey; New York: Bronx, Kings, Queens; Oregon: Multnomah.

Categories of records in the system:

Demographic characteristics (e.g., income, education, source of medical care), factors related to choice of S/HMO, data on satisfaction with S/HMO, data related to use of community-based and institutional long-term care services and informal care-givers; health and functional status assessment data.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 402 of the Social Security Amendments of 1967, Pub. L. 90–248, as amended by section 222(b) of the Social Security Amendments of 1972, Pub. L. 92–603, 42 U.S.C. 1395b–1.

Purpose(s):

To provide data necessary to evaluate HCFA's Social/Health Maintenance Organization demonstration projects, including information to study the impact of the S/HMO on Medicare beneficiaries' use of acute care and long-term care services; health status; choice of the S/HMO option; and satisfaction with the S/HMO alternative.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

1. To the evaluation contractor who will use this information to evaluate HCFA's S/HMO demonstration projects.

2. To a congressional office, from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

3. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States of any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. To an individual or organization for a research, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, the restoration or maintenance of health, or the containment of costs in the Medicare and/or Medicaid programs if HCFA:

(a) Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained;

(b) Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individually identifiable form;

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record might bring; and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use will be accomplished;

c. Requires the information recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such information, and

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual,

(b) For use in another research project, under these some conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA,

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit, or

(d) When required by law:

d. Secures a written statement attesting to the information recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

5. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by beneficiary's name and health insurance claim number.

Safeguards:

The contractor will maintain all records in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized employees and will notify all employees having access to records of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information on individuals. For computerized records, the contractor will initiate automated data processing (ADP) system security procedures required by DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security (e.g., use of passwords), and the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards.

Retention and disposal:

Hardcopy data collection forms and magnetic tapes with identifiers will be retained in secure storage areas. The disposal technique of degaussing will be used to strip magnetic tape of all identifying names and numbers in December 1992. Hardcopy records will be destroyed at this time.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations, Health Care Financing Administration, 2230 Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the System Manager at the address indicated above, specify name, address, and health insurance number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requestors should reasonably specify the record contents being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager named above and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current).

Record source categories:

Sources of information contained in this records system include surveys to be conducted of Medicare beneficiaries and their informal care-givers by HCFA's evaluation contractor.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09–70–0035

System name:

Aftercare Evaluation System (AES).

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Health Care Financing Administration, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207, (Contact system manager for location of Magnetic Computerized records). Contractor (see Appendix A).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Medicare Beneficiaries.

Categories of records in the system:

The system contains information concerning a patient's name, Health Insurance Claim number, medical diagnosis, conditions, diagnoses and procedures, functional impairments, social and demographic problems in the receipt of services, services (e.g., physical therapy, nursing, meals or wheels), living arrangement (e.g., living alone, with family), and outcomes of aftercare.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 9305(c), 9305(h), 9305(i), and 9313(d) of Pub. L. 99–509.

Purpose(s):

To assess the adequacy of the amount of care received, and linking adverse outcomes with inadequate care. To evaluate the methodology to assess the risk of inadequate services and adverse outcomes. To describe the problems of receipt of care. To develop preliminary estimate of the incident of high risk patients and incident of receipt of inadequate services and adverse outcomes for use and development of the national sample design.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosures may be made to:

(1) A contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications system containing or supporting records in the system.

(2) A congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office at the request of that individual.

(3) To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(4) To an individual or organization for a research, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, or the restoration or maintenance of health if HCFA:

(a) Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained.

(b) Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individually identifiable form.

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record might bring, and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished:

(c) Requires the information recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such information, and

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual.

(b) For use in another research project, under these same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA.

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit or

(d) When required by law.

(d) Secures a written statement attesting to the information and recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic media.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by the Health Insurance Claim Number.

Safeguards:

a. Authorized Users: Only agency employees and contractor personnel whose duties require the use of information in the system. In addition, such agency employees and contractor personnel are advised that the information is confidential and of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information.

b. Physical Safeguards: Records are stored in locked files or secured areas. Computer terminals are in secured areas.

c. Procedural Safeguards: Employees who maintain records in the system are instructed to grant regular access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords known only to authorized personnel.

Contractors who maintain records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosure of the records except as authorized by the system manager and permitted by the Privacy Act. Privacy Act language is included in contracts related to this system.

d. Implementation Guidelines: Safeguards are implemented in accordance with all guidelines required by the Department of Health and Human Services. Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the Department of HHS' Automated Data Processing Manual, Part 6, "ADP System Security."

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained for 5 years after the last action on the record.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, ORD, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 300 Meadows East Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries and requests for system records should be addressed to the system manager at the address above. The requestor must specify the Health Insurance Claim Number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the system manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e. g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevent, incomplete or not current). (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

HCFA obtains the identifying information in this system from the hospital records of which some will be verified by beneficiaries. In addition to these hospital records other information will be obtained from interview with the patients and caregivers.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

System name:

Evaluation of Competitive Bidding for Durable Medical Equipment Demonstration.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Abt Associates, Inc., Suite 500, 4250 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C. 20008

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Medicare beneficiaries residing in approximately six demonstration sites and three control sites who receive DME services.

Categories of records in the system:

Demographic characteristics (e.g., age, education, income), measures of health and functional status, cost and utilization of health services, and satisfaction with services.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 402 of the Social Security Amendments of 1967, Pub. L. 90-248, as amended by section 222(b) of the Social Security Amendments of 1972, Pub. L. 92-603, 42 U.S.C. 1395b-1.

Purpose(s):

To provide data necessary to evaluate the impact of HCFA's competitive bidding for durable medical equipment demonstration on the cost, utilization, and quality of DME services.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

1. To the evaluation contractor, to be selected by HCFA, who will use this information to evaluate HCFA's competitive bidding for durable medical equipment demonstration. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

2. To a congressional office, from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

3. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when:

(a) HHS, or any component thereof: or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. To an individual or organization for a research, demonstration, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, the restoration or maintenance of health, or the efficacy or efficiency of HCFA programs if HCFA:

a. Determines that the proposed use does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained, including such limitations as may be imposed or provided under the Privacy Act;

b. Determines that the purpose for which the proposed use is to be made:

(i) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in a form that identifies individuals,

(ii) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect on or risk to the privacy of the individual by such limited additional exposure that unauthorized disclosure of the record might bring, and

(iii) There is a reasonable probability that the objective of the use will be accomplished;

c. Requires the recipient of the information to:

(i) Establish appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and

(ii) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project, unless the recipient receives written authorization from HCFA that is justified based on research objectives for retaining such information, and

(iii) Make no further use of the record except:

(a) For use in emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual following written authorization of HCFA.

(b) For disclosure to a person, identified in advance by HCFA, for the purpose of conducting an audit of the research project, provided information which would identify research subjects is destroyed by the person authorized to conduct the audit at the earliest opportunity, consistent with the purpose of the audit, or

(c) When further approved by HCFA.

d. Secures a written, legally binding statement by the recipient of the information attesting that the recipient understands the provisions of paragraph 4(c) and all terms and conditions of the Privacy Act.

5 To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidential to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by beneficiary's name and health insurance claim number.

Safeguards:

Employees who maintain records in this system are instructed to grant access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords/keywords/numbers known only to the authorized personnel. These passwords/keywords are changed as needed.

Contractors who maintain records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosures of the records except as authorized by the system manager in accordance with the Privacy Act. Privacy Act requirements are specifically included in contracts related to this system. The project officer and contract officer oversee compliance with these requirements. The particular safeguards implemented are developed in accordance with the DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security (e.g., use of passwords), and the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards.

Retention and disposal:

Hardcopy data collection forms and magnetic tapes with identifiers will be retained in secure storage areas. The disposal technique of degaussing will be used to strip magnetic tape of all identifying names and numbers in December 1989. Hardcopy records will be destroyed at this time.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations, Health Care Financing Administration, 2230 Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the System Manager at the address indicated above, specify name, address, and health insurance number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requestors should reasonably specify the record contents being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager named above and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current).

Record source categories:

Information contained in these records is obtained from surveys to be conducted of Medicare beneficiaries by HCFA's evaluation contractor.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-70-0037

System name:

1988 Physician's Practice Costs and Incomes Survey, HHS/HCFA/ORD.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

A Contractor site will be determined when the contract is executed. Contact the Systems Manager for the location of the Contractor.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

The individuals covered by this system will be a sample of at least 5000 physicians who provide patient care at least 20 hours per week in either an office or hospital based setting, and who live in the 50 United States and the District of Columbia.

Categories of records in the system:

Practice costs (e.g., rent or depreciation for space and equipment, employee salaries and fringe benefits, malpractice insurance, transportation), gross and net income, deferred income and fringe benefits, practice financial arrangements, fees, workloads.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1845(e)(4)(C)(ii) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 139w-1(e)(4)(C)(ii)). Section 1842(b)(3) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395u(b)(3)).

Purpose(s):

To provide data required for development of the Geographic Cost of Practice Index and to refine the cost share weights of the Medicare Economic Index.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

1. To contractors for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system. or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

2. To a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

3. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however that in each case HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by a unique identifier assigned by the contractor to each physician record.

Safeguards:

The contractor will maintain all records in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized employees and will notify all employees having access to records of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information on individuals. For computerized records, the contractor will initiate automated processing (ADP) system security procedures required by DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems (e.g., use of passwords), and the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards. HCFA and other contractors using the data will not be able to identify the individual physicians who participated in the survey.

Retention and disposal:

Hardcopy lists of names and case identification numbers will be retained in secure storage areas. Individual records delivered to HCFA on the final data tape will contain no individual names, and the case identifiers will be different from those used by the contractor. All identifying names and numbers will be stripped from the magnetic tape. Hardcopy lists of names and identifying numbers will be destroyed at this time.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 223, Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the System Manager at the address indicated above and specify name and address.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current.) (These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

Source of information contained in this record system include data collected from physicians by means of a telephone interview survey. Data will also be provided by the American Medical Association from its master file of physicians in the U.S.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

5. To an individual or organization for research, demonstration, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, the restoration or maintenance of health, or the efficacy or efficiency of HCFA programs if HCFA:

a. Determines that the proposed use does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained, including such limitations as may be imposed or provided under the Privacy Act;

b. Determines that the purpose for which the proposed use is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in a form that identifies individuals;

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect on or risk to the privacy of the individual by such limited additional exposure that unauthorized disclosure of the record might bring; and

(3) There is a reasonable probability that the objective of the use will be accomplished;

c. Requires the recipient of the information to:

(1) Establish appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record;

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project, unless the recipient receives written authorization from HCFA that is justified based on research objectives for retaining such information; and

(3) Make no further use of the record except:

(a) For use in emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual following written authorization of HCFA;

(b) For disclosure to a person, identified in advance by HCFA, for the purpose of conducting an audit of the research project, provided information which would identify research subjects is destroyed by the person authorized to conduct the audit at the earliest opportunity, consistent with the purpose of the audit; or

(c) When further approved by HCFA.

d. Secures a written, legally binding statement by the recipient of the information attesting that the recipient understands the provisions of paragraph 4(c) and all terms and conditions of the Privacy Act.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

09-70-0039

System name:

Evaluation of the Medicare Alzheimer's Disease Demonstration.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Evaluation contractor to be selected by HCFA. Contact system's manager for the location of the contractor.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Medicare beneficiaries with Alzheimer's disease and related dementias who are participating as a treatment or control group member in one of the 5 to 10 demonstration sites to be chosen under this study. (Information will also be obtained from each participant's informal caregiver(s), but that information will be collected as a part of each participant's record.)

Categories of records in the system:

The system will contain information concerning a participant's name, Health Insurance Claim number, demographic characteristics (e.g., age, education, income), medical diagnoses and conditions, receipt of services, functional status, and cost and utilization of health services. Medical, social, and other information is also expected to be collected from each patient's informal caregiver(s) as part of the participant's record in order to evaluate the impact of the demonstration on caregivers.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 9342 of Pub. L. 99-509, the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1986 and 42 U.S.C. 1395b-1 note.

Purpose(s):

To provide data necessary to evaluate the impact of HCFA's Medicare Alzheimer's Disease Demonstration on access, cost, utilization, and quality of services to the participants in this study as well as their informal caregivers.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

1. To the evaluation contractor, to be selected by HCFA, who will use this information to evaluate the Medicare Alzheimer's Disease Demonstration. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

2. To a congressional office, from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

3. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components;

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating, or otherwise refining or processing records in this system, or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating it with ADP software. Data would also be available to users incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications system containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by beneficiary's name and health insurance claim number.

Safeguards:

The contractor will maintain all records in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized employees and will notify all employees having access to records of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information on individuals. For computerized records, the contractor will initiate automated data processing (ADP) system security procedures required by HHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, "ADP Systems Security" (e.g., use of passwords), and the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards.

Retention and disposal:

Hardcopy data collection forms and magnetic tapes with identifiers will be retained in secure storage areas. Records will be retained for one year after the termination of the evaluation contract. The disposal techniques of degaussing will be used to strip magnetic tape of all identifying names and numbers. Hardcopy records will be destroyed at this time.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations, Health Care Financing Administration, 2230 Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Medicare and non-Medicare heart transplant recipients and donors.

Categories of records in the system:

The system contains individual's name, health insurance claim number or social security number (SSN), demographic and utilization information under the Medicare program, and clinical information such as the etiology of the heart disease, medical history and/or current findings, pre-transplant laboratory data, date of transplant, complications, immunosuppressive protocol, date and cause of death, and readmissions.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1875 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395 II), as amended.

Purpose(s):

To collect data on heart transplants of Medicare and non-Medicare recipients and donors in order to evaluate the Medicare criteria for facilities, on patient selection, heart transplant facility experience levels, and patient outcomes.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to:

1. The Organ Procurement and Transplantation Network (OPTN), established in accordance with section 372 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 274);

2. A contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying, and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications system containing or supporting records in the system;

3. A Congressional office from the records of an individual in response to an inquiry from the Congressional office at the request of the individual;

4. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when:

a. HHS or any component thereof; or

b. Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

c. Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity (when the Department of Justice (or HHS where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee); or

d. The United States or any agency thereof (when HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components),

Is a party to litigation or has interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

5. Organizations deemed qualified by the Health Care Financing Administration to carry out quality assessment, medical audits, or utilization review;

6. To a recipient for a research project, if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use of disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained;

b. Determines that the research purpose for which the disclosure is to be made: (1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individually identifiable form, and (2) warrants the risk to the privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record might bring;

c. Requires the recipient to: (1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and (2) remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the research project, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such information, and (3) makes no further use or disclosure of the record except: (a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual, (b) for use in another research project, under these same conditions, and with written authorization of the Department, (c) for disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit, or (d) when required by law;

d. Secure a written statement attesting to the recipient's understanding of, and willingness to abide by these provisions.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic media.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by the Health Insurance Claim Number or SSN.

Safeguards:

a. Authorized Users: Agency employees and contractor personnel whose duties require the use of information in the system. In addition, such agency employees and contractor personnel are advised that the information is confidential and of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure information.

b. Physical Safeguards: Records are stored in locked files or secured areas. Computer terminals are in secured areas.

c. Procedural Safeguards: Employees who maintain records in the system are instructed to grant regular access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords known only to authorized personnel.

Contractors who maintain records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosure of the records except as authorized by the system manager and permitted by the Privacy Act. Privacy Act language is in contracts related to this system.

d. Implementation Guidelines: Safeguards implemented in accordance with all guidelines required by the Department of Health and Human Services. Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the Department of HHS' automated Data Processing Manual, Part 6, "ADP System Security."

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained for 5 years after the last action on the record.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, BDMS, Health Care Financing Administration, 1–E–9 Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries and requests for system records should be addressed to the system manager at the address above. The requestor must specify the health insurance claim number or SSN.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the system manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current). (These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

HCFA obtains the identifying information in this system from the hospital records or directly from the individuals. In addition to these hospital records, other information will be obtained from interviews with the patients and caregivers.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

09–70–0041

System name:

Evaluation of the OBRA 87 Medicare Payment of Influenza Vaccination Demonstration.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Abt Associates, Inc., 55 Wheeler Street, Cambridge, MA 02138.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Medicare beneficiaries in demonstration areas and in comparison sites. Areas participating in the demonstration are selected through a competitive grant process.

Categories of records in the system:

Name; health insurance claim number; address; cost and utilization of health services; diagnosis; previous influenza vaccination status; surveillance and virologic testing of hospitalized cases of influenza.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 4071 of the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1987 (OBRA 87), Pub. L. 100–203.

Purpose(s):

To provide data necessary to evaluate the impact of the OBRA 1987 Influenza Vaccination Demonstration.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

1. To other contractors for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating, or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ACP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications system containing or supporting records in the system

2. To a congressional office, form the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

3. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when:

a. HHS, or any component thereof; or

b. Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

c. Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

d. The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. To an individual or organization for research, demonstration, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, the restoration or maintenance of health, or the efficacy or efficiency of HCFA programs if HCFA:

a. Determines that the proposed use does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained, including such limitations as may be imposed or provided under the Privacy Act;

b. Determines that the purpose for which the proposed use is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in a form that identifies individuals;

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect on or risk to the privacy of the individual by such limited additional exposure that unauthorized disclosure of the record might bring; and

(3) There is a reasonable probability that the objective of the use will be accomplished;

c. Requires the recipient of the information to:

(1) Establish appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record;

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the ndividual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project, unless the recipient receives written authorization from HCFA that is justified based on research objectives for retaining such information; and

(3) Make no further use of the record except:

(a) For use in emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual following written authorization of HCFA;

(b) For disclosure to a person, identified in advance by HCFA, for the purpose of conducting an audit of the research project, provided information which would identify research subjects is destroyed by the person authorized to conduct the audit at the earliest opportunity, consistent with the purpose of the audit; or

(c) When further approved by HCFA.

d. Secures a written, legally binding statement by the recipient of the information attesting that the recipient understands the provisions of paragraph 4(c) and all terms and conditions of the Privacy Act.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper, magnetic tape, and floppy diskettes.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by beneficiary's name and health insurance claim number.

Safeguards:

Employees who maintain records in this system are instructed to grant access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords/keywords/numbers known only to the authorized personnel. These passwords/keywords/numbers are changed as needed.

Contractors who maintain records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosures of the records except as authorized by the system manager in accordance with the Privacy Act. Privacy Act requirements are specifically included in contracts related to this system. The project officer and contract officer oversee compliance with these requirements. The particular safeguards implemented are developed in accordance with the HHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security (e.g., use of passwords), and the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards.

Retention and disposal:

Hardcopy data collection forms and magnetic tapes with identifiers will be retained in secure storage areas. The disposal technique of degaussing will be used to strip magnetic tape and floppy diskettes of all identifying names and numbers in June 1993. Hardcopy records will be destroyed at this time.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations, Health Care Financing Administration, 2230 Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the System Manager at the address indicated above, specify name, address, and health insurance number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requestors should reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager named above and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current). (These procedures are in accordance with DHHS Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

Information contained in these records is obtained from HCFA's existing system of records, prescription forms from demonstration providers, and information directly from participants.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

09-70-0042

System name:

Medicare-Cancer Registry Record System, HHS/HCFA/ORD.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Office of Statistics and Data Management, BDMS, HCFA 6325 Security Boulevard Baltimore Maryland 21207

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Medicare beneficiaries diagnosed with cancer in 11 geographic areas of the United States.

Categories of records in the system:

Data from 11 Surveillance, Epidemiology, and End Results (SEER) program cancer registries linked with Medicare enrollment and claims data. The areas covered by the 11 registries are Iowa, Utah, Hawaii, New Mexico, Connecticut, New Jersey, Puerto Rico, San Francisco-Oakland, Atlanta, Detroit, and Seattle.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1875(a) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 139511(a)) and Sections 301 and 410–416 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 241 and 281-285a-5).

Purpose(s):

To study the use of health care services by Medicare beneficiaries with cancer. Treatment costs by cancer site, stage at diagnosis, and comorbidities will be examined. The proposed system will be used for purposes of research and statistics only.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

(1) To a Congressional office from the records of an individual in response to an inquiry from the Congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(2) To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

(3) To an individual or organization for a research, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, or the restoration or maintenance of health or the use of health services, if HCFA and NCI:

(a) Determine that the use of disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which record was provided, collected, or obtained.

(b) Determine that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

1. Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individually identifiable form;

2. Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record might bring; and

3. There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished.

(c) Require the information recipient to:

1. Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record; and

2. Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such information; and

3. Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual;

(b) For use in another research project, under these same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA and NCI;

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit; or

(d) When required by law.

(d) Secure a written statement attesting to the information recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

(4) To the individual registries participating in the SEER program for purposes of analyzing records in the system. Relevant records will be disclosed to the registries only for purposes of research and evaluation. Only records on individuals in a particular registry will be disclosed to that registry.

(5) To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when:

(a) HHS or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employees in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS where it is authorized to so so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof, where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components;

is a party to litigation or has interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

All records are stored on magnetic tape and computer disk.

Retrievability:

Records will be retrieved by Medicare identification numbers. Safeguards: For computerized records, safeguards established in accordance with guidelines in the DHHS Systems Manual, Part 6 "ADP Systems Security", (e.g., security codes, use of passwords) will be used, limiting access to authorized personnel.

Safeguards:

For computerized records, safeguards established in accordance with guidelines in the DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, "ADP Systems Security," (e.g., security codes, use of passworks) will be used, limiting access to authorized personnel.

Retention and disposal:

Records are maintained in a secure storage area with identifiers as long as needed for program research. Records will be disposed 3 years after research is completed.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Bureau of Data Management and Strategy. Health Care Financing Administration, 1-E-9 Oak Meadows Bldg., 6325 Security Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the System Manager at the address shown above and give (1) name of system, (2) Medicare identification number, (3) person's name, and (4) address.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information being contested. State the reason for contesting the records procedures with supporting justification, (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current).

Record source categories:

Surveillance, Epidemiology, and End Results (SEER) program cancer registry records and Medicare enrollment and claims files.

Is a party to litigation or has an inteest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. To an individual or organization for research, demonstration, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, the restoration or maintenance of health, or the efficacy or efficiency of HCFA programs if HCFA:

a. Determines that the proposed use does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained, including such limitations as may be imposed or provided under the Privacy Act;

b. Determines that the purpose for which the proposed use is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in a form that identifies individuals;

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect on or risk to the privacy of the individual by such limited additional exposure that unauthorized disclosure of the record might bring; and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective of the use will be accomplished;

c. Requires the recipient of the information to:

(1) Establish appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record;

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project, unless the recipient receives written authorization from HCFA that is justified based on research objectives for retaining such information; and

(3) Make no further use of the record except:

(a) For use in emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual following written authorization of HCFA;

(b) For disclosure to a person, identified in advance by HCFA, for the purpose of conducting an audit of the research project, provided information which would identify research subjects is destroyed by the person authorized to conduct the audit at the earliest opportunity, consistent with the purpose of the audit; or

(c) When further approved by HCFA.

d. Secures a written, legally binding statement by the recipient of the information attesting that the recipient understands the provisions of paragraph 4(c) and all terms and conditions of the Privacy Act.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by beneficiary's name and health insurance claim number.

Safeguards:

Employees who maintain records in this system are instructed to grant access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords/keywords/numbers known only to the authorized personnel. These passwords/keywords are changed as needed.

Contractors who maintain records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosures of the records except as authorized by the system manager in accordance with the Privacy Act. 09–70–0045

System name:

Evaluation of the Arizona Health Care Cost Containment and Long Term Care Systems Demonstration.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Contact system manager for location of contractor. See "System Manager(s) and Address" for system manager location.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Persons residing in Arizona who qualify for medical assistance under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), or the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) programs, and a sample of persons in these programs in another state(s) chosen for comparison with Arizona.

Categories of records in the system:

Records in the system will contain information taken from the preadmission screening instrument, including beneficiary name, address, age, social security and Medicare numbers, demographic data, social worker assessment, available social supports and services, medical conditions, history and treatments, and a cost-effectiveness analysis of proposed treatment. The system will also include information on past encounters with AHCCCS facilities, visit types (inpatient or outpatient), the type of facility visited, and the nature of the health resources utilized. During this project, approval for a beneficiary survey may be requested, in accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act and 5 CFR Part 1320. Data from such a survey would be included in the proposed system of records. In additon, data from a previous beneficiary survey approved by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), "Evaluation of Arizona Health Care Cost Containment System", HCFA-386, OMB Number 0938-0281, may be included in the proposed system of records.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1115 Waiver authority of Title XIX (Medicaid) requirements under which the AHCCCS program is operated.

Purpose(s):

The primary objective of the AHCCCS demonstration is to assess the merits of providing medical care to indigent persons on a capitated basis, compared to a traditional fee-for-service system. This system of records will be used to study and evaluate the performance of the AHCCCS demonstration.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

1. To contractor(s) for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating, or otherwise refining or processing records in the system or for developing, modifying, and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance of an ADP or telecommunications system containing or supporting records in the system.

2. To a congressional office, from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

3. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when:

a. HHS, or any component thereof; or

b. Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

c. Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

d. The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components.

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purposes for which the records were collected.

4. To an individual or organization for research, demonstration, evaluation, or epidemiological study related to the prevention of disease or disability, the restoration or maintenance of health, or the efficacy or efficiency of HCFA programs if HCFA:

a. Determines that the proposed use does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained, including such limitations as may be imposed or provided under the Privayc Act;

b. Determines that the purpose for which the proposed use is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in a format that identifies individuals;

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect on or risk to the privacy or the individual by such limited additonal exposure that unauthorized disclosure of the record might bring; and

(3) There is a reasonable probability that the objective of the use will be accomplished;

c. Requires the recipient of the information to:

(1) Establish appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record;

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project, unless the recipient receives written authorization from HCFA that is justified based on research objectives for retaining such information; and

(3) Makes no further use of the record except:

(a) For use in emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual following written authorization of HCFA.

(b) For disclosure to a person, identified in advance by HCFA, for the purpose of conducting an audit of the research project, providing information which would identify research subjects is destroyed by the person authorized to conduct the audit at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit; or

(c) when further approved by HCFA.

d. Secures a written, legally binding statement from the recipient of the information attesting that the recipient understands the provisions of paragraph 4(c) and all terms and conditions of the Privacy Act.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by beneficiary's name, health insurance claim, or social security number.

Safeguards:

Employees who maintain records in this system will be instructed to grant access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers will be accessed through the use of passwords, keywords, numbers, or some combination thereof known only to the authorized personnel. These passwords, keywords or numbers will be changed as needed.

Contractors who maintain records in this system will be instructed to make no further disclosures of the records except as authorized by the system manager in accordance with the Privacy Act. (See title and business address of responsible agency official under "System Manager(s) and Address".) Privacy Act requirements will be specifically included in contracts related to this system. The project officer and contract officer will oversee compliance with these requirements. The particular safeguards implemented will be developed in accordance with the HHS Information Resource Manual (IRM), Part 6, "Systems Security Policies" (e.g., use of passwords), and the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards.

Retention and disposal:

Hardcopy data collection forms and magnetic tapes with identifiers will be retained in secure storage areas. The disposal technique of degaussing will be used to strip magnetic tape of all identifying names and numbers by December 2003, ten years after project completion. Hardcopy records will also be destroyed by that time.

System manager(s) and address:

The responsible agency official (System Manager) is the Director, Office of Research and Demonstrations. The address is the Health Care Financing Administration, Room 2230, Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the System Manager at the address indicated above, specifying name, address, and health insurance claim or social security number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager named above and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting the record (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current). (These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

Information contained in these records will be obtained from encounter records provided by the AHCCCS administrator, from AHCCCS beneficiary surveys conducted by HCFA's evaluation contractor, and from existing HCFA Medicare record systems.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Home Health Quality Indicator System (HHQUIS).

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Health Care Financing Administration, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207. (Contact system manager for location of Magnetic Computerized records). Contractor (see Appendix A).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Medicare Beneficiaries.

Categories of records in the system:

The system contains information concerning the patient's name, Health Insurance Claim number, medical diagnoses, surgical procedures, conditions, problems, functional status, living arrangement, utilization of services, outcomes of care.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 207 of Pub. L. 100–360.

Purpose(s):

To assess the quality of Medicare home health care. To determine the appropriate balance between outcome, process, and structural measures for quality assurance purposes. To develop outcome-based measures of home health care quality that are reliable and valid. To evaluate the differential impacts of various types of outcome measures on the data collection and administrative costs for HCFA and home health agencies. To determine how differences in patient outcomes are related to differences in patient characteristics, and how case mix differences can be recognized in outcome-based quality indicators.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosures may be made to:

1. A contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications system containing or supporting records in the system.

2. A congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office at the request of that individual.

3. The Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such a tribunal, when

a. HHS, or any component thereof; or

b. Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

c. Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

d. The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components;

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. An individual or organization for a research, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, or the restoration or maintenance of health if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained.

b. Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individually identifiable form;

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual that an additional exposure of the record might bring; and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished.

c. Requires the information recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such information, and

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual;

(b) For use in another research project, under these same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA;

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit; or

(d) When required by law.

d. Secure a written statement attesting to the recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic media.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by the Health Insurance Claim Number.

Safeguards:

a. Authorized Users: Only agency employees and contractor personnel whose duties require the use of information in the system. In addition, such agency employees and contractor personnel are advised that the information is confidential and of the criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure information.

b. Physical safeguards: Records are stored in locked files or secured areas. Computer terminals are in secured areas.

c. Procedural safeguards: Employees who maintain records in the system are instructed to grant regular access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords known only to authorized personnel.

Contractors who maintain records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosure of the records except as authorized by the system manager and permitted by the Privacy Act. Contracts related to this system contain Privacy Act language.

d. Implementation Guidelines: Safeguards implemented in accordance with all guidelines required by the Department of Health and Human Services. Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the Department of HHS' automated Data Processing Manual, part 6, "ADP System Security."

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained for 5 years after the last action on the record.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, ORD, Health Care Financing Administration, 2230 Oak Meadows Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries and requests for system records should be addressed to the system manager at the address above. The requestor must specify the Health Insurance Claim Number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the system manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete or not current). (These procedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

HCFA obtains the identifying information in this system from the home health patient records of which some will be verified by beneficiaries. In addition to these patient records other information will be obtained from interview with the patients and caregivers.

Sections 1842, 1862(b) and 1874 of title XVIII of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395u, 1395y(b) and 1395kk).

Purpose(s):

To properly pay medical insurance benefits to or on behalf of entitled beneficiaries.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to: (1) Claimants, their authorized representatives or representatives payees to the extent necessary to pursue claims made under title XVIII of the Social Security Act (Medicare)

(2) Third-party contacts (without the consent of the individuals to whom the information pertains) in situations where the party to be contacted has, or is expected to have information relating to the individual's capability to manage his or her affairs or to his or her eligibility for or entitlement to benefits under the Medicare program when:

(a) The individual is unable to provide the information being sought (an individual is considered to be unable to provide certain types of information when any of the following conditions exist: Individual is incapable or of questionable mental capability, cannot read or write, cannot afford the cost of obtaining the information, a language barrier exists, or the custodian of the information will not, as a matter of policy, provide it to the individual), or

(b) The data are needed to establish the validity of evidence or to verify the accuracy of information presented by the individual, and it concerns one or more of the following; the individual's eligibility to benefits under the Medicare program: The amount of reimbursement: Any case in which the evidence is being reviewed as a result of suspected abuse or fraud, concern for program integrity, or for quality appraisal, or evaluation and measurement of system activities.

(3) Third-party contacts where necessary to establish or verify information provided by representative payees or payee applicants.

(4) The Treasury Department for investigating alleged theft, forgery, or unlawful negotiation of Medicare reimbursement checks.

(5) The U.S Postal Service for investigating alleged forgery or theft of Medicare checks.

(6) The Department of Justice for investigating and prosecuting violations of the Social Security Act to which criminal penalties attach, or other criminal statutes as they pertain to the Social Security Act programs, for representing the Secretary, and for investigating issues of fraud by agency officers or employees, or violation of civil rights.

(7) The Railroad Retirement Board for administering provisions of the Railroad Retirement and Social Security Acts relating to railroad employment.

(8) Professional Review Organizations in connection with their review of claims, or in connection with studies or other review activities, conducted pursuant to Part B of title XI of the Social Security Act.

(9) State Licensing Boards for review of unethical practices of nonprofessional conduct.

(10) Providers and suppliers of services (and their authorized billing agents) directly or dealing through fiscal intermediaries or carriers, for administration of provisions of title XVIII.

(11) An individual or organization for a research, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, or the restoration or maintenance of health if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use of disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained;

b. Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individually identifiable form.

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record might bring, and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished:

(c) Requires the information recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such information, and

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual.

(b) For use in another research project, under these same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA.

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit, or

(d) When required by law;

d. Secures a written statement attesting to the information recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

(12) State welfare departments pursuant to agreements with the Department of Health and Human Services for administration of State supplementation payments for determinations of eligibility for Medicaid, for enrollment of welfare recipients for medical insurance under section 1843 of the Social Security Act, for quality control studies, for determining eligibility of recipients of assistance under titles IV and XIX of the Social Security Act, and for the complete administration of the Medicaid program.

(13) A congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office at the request of that individual.

(14) State audit agencies in connection with the audit of Medicare eligibility considerations. Disclosures of physicians' customary charge data are made to State audit agencies in order to ascertain the correctness of title XIX charges and payments.

(15) The Department of Justice to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereon; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and

HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(16) Peer review groups, consisting of members of State, County, or local medical societies or medical care foundations (physicians), appointed by the medical society or foundation at the request of the carrier to assist in the resolution of questions of medical necessity, utilization of particular procedures or practices, or overutilization of services with respect to Medicare claims submitted to the carrier.

(17) Physicians and other supplies of services who are attempting to validate individual items on which the amounts include in the annual Physician/Supplier Payment List or similar publications are based.

(18) Senior citizen volunteers working in intermediaries' and carriers' offices to assist Medicare beneficiaries in response to beneficiaries' requests for assistance.

(19) A contractor working with Medicare carriers/intermediaries to identify and recover erroneous Medicare payments for which workers' compensation programs are liable.

(20) State and other governmental Workers' Compensation Agencies working with the Health Care Financing Administration to assure that workers' compensation payments are made where Medicare has erroneously paid and workers' compensation programs are liable.

(21) Release information, without the beneficiary's authorization, to insurance companies, self-insurers, Health Maintenance Organizations, multiple employer trusts and other groups providing protection against medical expenses of their enrollees. Information to be disclosed shall be limited to Medicare entitlements data. In order to receive the information the entity must agree to the following conditions:

a. To certify that the individual on whom the information is being provided is one of its insureds;

b. To utilize the information solely for the purpose of processing the identified individual's insurance claims; and

c. To safeguard the confidentiality of the data and to prevent unauthorized access to it.

(22) To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

(23) To an agency of a State Government, or established by State law, for purposes of determining, evaluating and/or assessing cost, effectiveness, and/or the quality of health care services provided in the State, if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use of disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the data were provided, collected, or obtained;

b. Establishes that the data are exempt from disclosure under the State and/or local Freedom of Information Act;

c. Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made;

(1) Cannot reasonably be accomplished unless the data are provided in individually identifiable form;

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individuals that additional exposure of the record might bring, and;

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished; and

d. Requires the recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record;

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the request, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification for retaining such information;

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual;

(b) For use in another project under the same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA;

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the project, if information that would enable project subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit, or

(d) When required by law; and

(4) Secure a written statement attesting to the recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions. The recipient must agree to the following:

(1) Not to use the data for purpose that are not related to the evaluation of cost, quality and effectiveness of care;

(2) Not to publish or otherwise disclose the data in a form raising unacceptable possibilities that beneficiaries could be identified (i.e., the data must not be beneficiary-specific and must be aggregated to a level when no data cells have ten or fewer beneficiaries); and

(3) To submit a copy of any aggregation of the data intended for publication to HCFA for approval prior to publication.

(24) To insurers, underwriters, third party administrators, self-insurers, group health plans, employers, health maintenance organizations, health and welfare benefit funds, Federal agencies, a State or local government or political subdivision of either (when the organization has assumed the role of an insurer, underwriter, or third party administrator, or in the case of a State that assumes the liabilities of an insolvent insurer, through a State created insolvent insurer pool or fund), multiple-employer trusts, no-fault, medical, automobile insurers, workers' compensation carriers or plans, liability insurers, and other groups providing protection against medical expenses who are primary payers to Medicare in accordance with 42 U.S.C. 1395y(b), or any entity having knowledge of the occurrence of any event affecting (A) an individual's right to any such benefit or payment, or (B) the initial or continued right to any such benefit or payment (for example, a State Medicaid Agency, State Workers' Compensation Board, or Department of Motor Vehicles) for the purpose of coordination of benefits with the Medicare program and implementation of the Medicare Secondary Payer provisions at 42 U.S.C. 1395y(b). The information HCFA may disclose will be:

- Beneficiary Name
- Beneficiary Address
- Beneficiary Health Insurance Claim Number
- Beneficiary Social Security Number
- Beneficiary Sex
- Beneficiary Date of Birth
- Amount of Medicare Conditional Payment

To administer the Medicare Secondary payer provisions at 42 U.S.C. 1395y(b)(2), (3), (4) more effectively, HCFA would receive (to the extent that it is available) and may disclose the following types of information from insurers, underwriters, third party administrators, self-insureds, etc.:

- Subscriber Name and Address
- Subscriber Date of Birth
- Subscriber Social Security Number
- Dependent Name
- Dependent Date of Birth
- Dependent Social Security Number
- Dependent Relationship to Subscriber
- Insurer/Underwriter/TPA Name and Address
- Insurer/Underwriter/TPA Group Number
- Insurer/Underwriter/TPA Group Name
- Prescription Drug Coverage
- Policy Number
- Effective Date of Coverage
- Employer Name, Employer Identification Number (EIN) and Address
- Employment Status
- Amounts of Payment

To administer the Medicare Secondary payer provision at 42 U.S.C. 1395y(b)(1) more effectively for entities such as Workers Compensation carriers or boards, liability insurers, no-fault and automobile medical policies or plans, HCFA would receive (to the extent that it is available) and may disclose the following information:

- Beneficiary's Name and Address
- Beneficiary's Date of Birth
- Beneficiary's Social Security Number*
- Name of Insured *
- Insurer Name and Address
- Type of coverage; automobile medical, no-fault, liability payment, or workers' compensation settlement.
- Insured's Policy Number
- Effective Date of Coverage
- Date of accident, injury or illness
- Amount of payment under liability, no-fault, or automobile medical policies, plans, and workers compensation settlements.
- Employer Name and Address (Workers' Compensation only)

* Name of insured could be the driver of the car, a business, the beneficiary (i.e., the name of the individual or entity which carries the insurance policy or plan).

In order to receive this information the entity must agree to the following conditions:

a. To utilize the information solely for the purpose of coordination of benefits with the Medicare program in accordance with 42 U.S.C. 1395y(b);

b. To safeguard the confidentiality of the data and to prevent unauthorized access to it;

c. To prohibit the use of beneficiary-specific data for purposes other than for the coordination of benefits between the recipient organization and the Medicare program. The agreement would allow the entities to use the information to determine cases where they have primary responsibility for payment or cases where Medicare has primary responsibility for payment. Examples of prohibited uses would include but are not limited to: Creation of a mailing list, sale or transfer of data.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records maintained on paper, tape, disc, and punchcards.

Retrievability:

System is indexed by health insurance claim number. The record is prepared by the beneficiary and is used by carriers to determine amount of Part B benefits. The bills are retained by the carriers.

Safeguards:

Unauthorized personnel are denied access to the records area. Disclosure is limited. Physical safeguards related to the transmission and reception of data between Rockville and Baltimore are those requirements established by the DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6.

Retention and disposal:

Records are closed at the end of the calendar year in which paid, held two additional years, transferred to Federal Records Center and destroyed after another 2 years.

System manager(s) and address:

Health Care Financing Administration, Bureau of Program Operations, Director, Division of Carrier Procedures, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Md 21207.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries and requests for system records should be addressed to the most convenient social security office, the appropriate carrier, the HCFA Regional Office, or to the system manager named above. The individual should furnish his or her health insurance claim number and the name as shown on social security records. An individual who requests notification of or access to a medical record shall at the time the request is made, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the records contents being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification.

Record source categories:

The data contained in these records is either furnished by the individual or, in the case of some Medicare secondary payer situations, through third party contacts. In most cases, the identifying information is provided to the physician by the individual. The physician then adds the medical information and submits the bill to the carrier for payment.

System name:

Health Insurance Master Record, HHS/HCFA/BPO.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Health Care Financing Administration, Bureau of Data Management and Strategy, 6325 Security Blvd., Baltimore, Md. 21207.

Federal Records Centers

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals age 65 or over who have been, or currently are, entitled to health insurance (Medicare) benefits under title XVIII of the Social Security Act; individuals under age 65 who have been, or currently are, entitled to such benefits on the basis of having been entitled for not less than 24 months to disability benefits under title II of the Act or under the Railroad Retirement Act and individuals who have been, or currently are, entitled to such benefits because they have end-stage renal disease; or individuals whose enrollment in an employer group health benefits plan covers the beneficiary.

Categories of records in the system:

The system contains information on enrollment, entitlement, utilization, query and reply activity, health insurance bill and payment record processing workers' compensation entitlement information, and entitlement information from the Veterans Administration (VA), Health Insurance Master Record maintenance, and Medicare secondary payer records containing other party liability insurance information necessary for appropriate Medicare claim payment.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 1814, 1833 and 1862(b) of title XVIII of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396f, 1395l and 1395y(b)).

Purpose(s):

To maintain information on Medicare beneficiary eligibility and costs in order to reply to inquiries from contractors and intermediaries and to maintain utilization data for health insurance bill and payment record processing.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to:

(1) The Railroad Retirement Board for administering provisions of the Railroad Retirement and Social Security Act relating to railroad employment.

(2) State Welfare Department pursuant to agreements with the Depoartment of Health and Human Services for determining Medicaid and Medicare eligibility for quality control studies, for determining eligibility of recipients of assistance under title IV, XVIII, and XIX of the Social Security Act, and for the complete administration of the Medicaid program.

(3) State audit agencies for auditing State Medicaid eligibility considerations.

(4) Providers and suppliers of services directly or dealing through fiscal intermediaries or carriers for administration of title XVIII.

(5) A congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(6) An individual or organization for a research, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, or the restoration or maintenance of health if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use of disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained;

b. Determines that the purpose of which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individually identifiable form.

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record might bring, and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished:

c. Requires the information recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such information, and

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual.

(b) For use in another research project, under these same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA.

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit, or

(d) When required by law:

d. Secures a written statement attesting to the information recipient(s) understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

(7) The Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when:

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(8) To a contractor when the Department contracts with a private firm for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating, or otherwise refining records in this system. Relevant records will be disclosed to such a contractor. The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.

(8) State welfare agencies that require access to the two files which are extracted from the Health Insurance Master Record. These files are the Carrier Alphabetical State File (CASF) and Beneficiary State File (BEST). Most State agencies require access to the CASF and BEST files for improved administration of the Medicaid program. Routine uses of the CASF and BEST files for State agencies are: (a) Obtaining a beneficiary's correct health insurance claim number and (b) screening of prepayment and post-payment Medicaid claims.

(10) Third-party contacts (without the consent of the individual to whom the information pertains) in situations where the party to be contacted has, or is expected to have information relating to the individual's capability or manage his or her affairs or to his or her eligibility for an entitlement to benefits under the Medicare program when:

(a) The individual is unable to provide the information being sought (an individual is considered to be unable to provide certain types of information when any of the following conditions exist: Individuals is incapable or of questionable mental capability, cannot read or write, cannot afford the cost of obtaining the information, a language barrier exists, or the custodian of the information will not, as a matter of policy, provide it to the individual): or

(b) The data are needed to establish the validity of evidence or to verify the accuracy of information presented by the individual, and it concerns one or more of the following: The individual's eligibility to benefits under the Medicare program; the amount of reimbursement; any case in which the evidence is being reviewed as a result of suspected abuse or fraud, concern for program integrity, or for quality appraisal, or evaluation and measurement of system activities.

(11) Release information, without the beneficairy's authorization, to insurance companies, self-insurers, Health Maintenance Organizations, multiple employer trusts and other groups providing protection against medical expenses of their enrollees. Information to be disclosed shall be limited to Medicare entitlement data. In order to receive this information the entity must agree to the following conditions:

a. To certify that the individual about whom the information is being provided is one of its insureds:

b. To utilize the information solely for the purpose of processing the identified individual's insurance claims; and

c. To safeguard the confidentiality of the data and to prevent unauthorized access to it.

(12) To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors, incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

(13) To an agency of a State Government, or established by State law, for purposes of determining, evaluating and/or assessing cost, effectiveness, and/or the quality of health care services provided in the State, if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the data were provided, collected, or obtained:

b. Establishes that the data are exempt from disclosure under the State and/or local Freedom of Information Act;

c. Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made;

(1) Cannot reasonably be accomplished unless the data are provided in individually identifiable form;

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individuals that additional exposure of the record might bring, and;

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished; and

d. Requires the recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record;

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the request, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification for retaining such information;

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except;

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual;

(b) For use in another project under the same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA;

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the project, if information that would enable project subject to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit, or

(d) When required by law; and

(4) Secure a written statement attesting to the recipient's understanding of an willingness to abide by these provisions. The recipient must agree to the following:

(1) Not to use the data for purposes that are not related to the evaluation of cost, quality, and effectiveness of care;

(2) Not to publish or otherwise disclose the data in a form raising unacceptable possibilities that beneficiaries could be identified (i.e., the data must not be beneficiary-specific and must be aggregated to a level when no data cells have ten or fewer beneficiaries); and

(3) To submit a copy of any aggregation of the data intended for publication to HCFA for approval prior to publication.

(14) To a group health plan (i.e., health maintenance organization (HMO), or a competitive medical plans (CMP) with a Medicare contract, or a Medicare-approved health care prepayment plan (HCPP), directly or through a contractor on a case-by-case basis for the purpose of determining the eligibility of a Medicare beneficiary to enroll in the group health plan. Group health plans will have access only to one record at a time and only through a CRT terminal. A password must be entered to gain access to the file. Both the beneficiary name and the Health Insurance Claim number must be entered to access individual records within the file. The information disclosed will be the minimum necessary to determine eligibility for enrollment.

(15) To a contractor when HCFA contracts with a private firm for the purpose of refining or otherwise processing data and disclosing such data to group health plans consistent with routine use No. 14. The contractor will be required to safeguard the confidentiality of the data and prevent unauthorized use or disclosure.

(16) To insurers, underwriters, third party administrators, self-insurers, group health plans, employers, health maintenance organizations, health and welfare benefit funds, Federal agencies, a State or local government or political subdivision of either (when the organization has asumed the role of an insurer, underwriter, or third party administrator, or in the case of a State that assumes the liabilities of an insolvent insurer, through a State created insolvent insurer pool or fund), multiple-employer trusts, no-fault, medical, automobile insurers, workers' compensation carriers or plans, liability insurers, and other groups providing protection against medical expenses who are primary payers to Medicare in accordance with 42 USC 1395y(b), or any entity having knowledge of the occurrence of any event affecting (A) an individual's right to any such benefit or payment, or (B) the initial or continued right to any such benefit or payment (for example, a State Medicaid Agency, State Workers' Compensation Board, or Department of Motor Vehicles) for the purpose of coordination of benefits with the Medicare program and implementation of the Medicare Secondary Payer provisions at 42 USC 1395y(b). The information HCFA may disclose will be:

- Beneficiary Name
- Beneficiary Address
- Beneficiary Health Insurance Claim Number
- Beneficiary Social Security Number
- Beneficiary Sex
- Beneficiary Date of Birth
- Amount of Medicare Conditional Payment

To administer the Medicare Secondary payer provisions at 42 U.S.C. 1395y(b) (2), (3), (4) more effectively, HCFA would receive (to the extent that it is available) and may disclose the following types of information from insurers, underwriters, third party administrators, self-insureds, etc.:

- Subscriber Name and Address
- Subscriber Date of Birth
- Subscriber Social Security Number
- Dependent Name
- Dependent Date of Birth
- Dependent Social Security Number
- Dependent Relationship to Subscriber
- Insurer/Underwriter/TPA Name and Address
- Insurer/Underwriter/TPA Group Number
- Insurer/Underwriter/TPA Group Name
- Prescription Drug Coverage
- Policy Number
- Effective Date of Coverage
- Employer Name, Employer Identification Number (EIN) and Address
- Employment Status
- Amounts of Payment

To administer the Medicare Secondary payer provision at 42 U.S.C. 1395y(b)(1) more effectively for entities such as Workers Compensation carriers or boards, liability insurers, no-fault and automobile medical policies or plans, HCFA would receive (to the extent that it is available) and may disclose the following information:

- Beneficiary's Name and Address
- Beneficiary's Date of Birth
- Social Security Number*
- Name of Insured*
- Insurer Name and Address
- Type of coverage; automobile medical, no-fault, liability payment, or workers' compensation settlement
- Insured's Policy Number
- Effective Date of Coverage
- Date of accident, injury or illness
- Amount of payment under liability, no-fault, or automobile medical policies, plans, and workers' compensation settlements
- Employer Name and Address (Workers' Compensation only)

* Name of insured could be the driver of the car, a business, the beneficiary (i.e., the name of the individual or entity which carries the insurance policy or plan).

In order to receive this information the entity must agree to the following conditions:

a. To utilize the information solely for the purpose of coordination of benefits with the Medicare program in accordance with 42 U.S.C. 1395y(b);

b. To safeguard the confidentiality of the data and to prevent unauthorized access to it;

c. To prohibit the use of beneficiary-specific data for purposes other than for the coordination of benefits between the recipient organization and the Medicare program. The agreement would allow the entities to use the information to determine cases where they have primary responsibility for payment or cases where Medicare has primary responsibility for payment. Examples of prohibited uses would include but are not limited to: Creation of a mailing list, sale or transfer of data.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records maintained on paper, listings, microfilm, magnetic tape disc and punchcards.

Retrievability:

System is sequence by health insurance claim number, and is used to carry out the tasks of enrollment query/reply activity, and health insurance bill and payment record processings. Copies of selected parts of the records will be used by the Office of Statistics and Data Management.

Safeguards:

Unauthorized personnel are denied access to the records areas. Disclosure is limited to routine use. For computerized records electronically transmitted between Central Office and field office locations (including Medicare contractors) systems securities are established in accordance with DHHS ADP Systems Manual. Part 6, "ADP Systems Security." Safeguards include a lock/unlock passwords system, exclusive use of leased telephone lines, a terminal oriented transaction matrix, and audit trail.

Retention and disposal:

Records are generally added to the file several months prior to entitlement. After the death of a beneficiary, his or her records may be placed in an inactive file following a period of no billing or query activity. The current 5 years of Part B and current 5 spells of Part A utilization data are maintained. All noncurrent data is microfilmed prior to elimination from the system.

System manager(s) and address:

Health Care Financing Administration, Bureau of Program Operations, Director, Division of Entitlement Requirements, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21207.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries and requests for system records should be addressed to he most conventional social security office, the appropriate carrier or intermediary, the HCFA Regional Office, or the system manager named above. The individual should furnish his or her health insur- nce claim number and name as shown on Medicare records.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably pecify the record contents being sought. (These access procedures re in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).))

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification pro- edures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the formation to be contested. State the corrective action sought and he reasons for the correction with supporting justification. (These rocedures are in accordance with Department Regulations (45 CFR b.7)).

Record source categories:

The data contained in these records are furnished by the individ- al, or in the case of some Medicare secondary payer situations, rough third party contacts. There are cases, however, in which the entifying information is provided to the physician by the individual; e physician then adds the medical information and submits the bill the carrier for payment. Updating information is also obtained om the Master Beneficiary Record.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

* Name of insured could be the driver of the car, a business, the beneficiary (i.e., the name of the individual or entity which carries the insurance policy or plan).

In order to receive this information the entity must agree to the following conditions:

a. To utilize the information solely for the purpose of coordination of benefits with the Medicare program in accordance with 42 USC 1395y(b);

b. To safeguard the confidentiality of the data and to prevent unauthorized access to it;

c. To prohibit the use of beneficiary-specific data for purposes other than for the coordination of benefits between the recipient organization and the Medicare program. The agreement would allow the entities to use the information to determine cases where they have primary responsibility for payment or cases where Medicare has primary responsibility for payment. Examples of prohibited uses would include but are not limited to: Creation of a mailing list, sale or transfer of data.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records maintained on paper forms, magnetic tape and microfilm.

Retrievability:

The system is indexed by health insurance claim number. The record is prepared by the hospital or other provider with identifying information received from the beneficiary to establish eligibility for Medicare and document and support payments to providers by the intermediaries. The bill data are forwarded to the Health Care Financing Administration, Bureau of Data Management and Strategy, Baltimore, Md., where they are used to update the central office records.

Safeguards:

Disclosure of records is limited. The file area is closed to unauthorized personnel. Physical safeguards related to the transmission and reception of the data between Rockville and Baltimore are those requirements established by the DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6.

Retention and disposal:

Records are closed out at the end of the calendar year in which paid, held 2 more years, transferred to the Federal Records Center and destroyed after another 6 years.

System manager(s) and address:

Health Care Financing Administration Director, Division of Provider Procedures, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21207.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries and requests for systems records should be addressed to the social security office nearest the requester's residence, the appropriate intermediary, the HCFA Regional Office, or to the system manager named above. The individual should furnish his or her health insurance number and name as shown on social security records. An individual who requests notification of or access to a medical record shall, at the time the request is made, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the records contents being sought.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification.

Record source categories:

The identifying information contained in these records is obtained by the provider from the individual or, in the case of some Medicare secondary payer situations, through third party contacts. The medical information is entered by the provider of medical services.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

To meet and implement statutory requirements of Section 299I, Public Law 92-603, which extended Medicare coverage to eligible persons with ESRD; Public Law 95-292, which required the establishment of a medical information system on the ESRD program; Public Law 99-509, which mandated a national ESRD patient registry; to support State and local ESRD programs and legislative requirements; and to support ESRD research and public service programs.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to:

1. A congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of the individual.

2. Organizations deemed qualified by the Health Care Financing Administration to carry out quality assessment, and/or medical audits of utilization review.

3. The Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

a. HHS, or any component thereof; or

b. Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

c. Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

d. The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components;

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. An individual or organization for a research, demonstration, evaluation, or epidemiologic project related to the prevention of disease or disability, or the restoration or maintenance of health if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or ob- ained;

b. Determines that the research purpose for which the disclosure is o be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provid- d in individually identifiable form, and

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on he privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record night bring, and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use vould be accomplished.

c. Requires the recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safe- uards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual o be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction an be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the research roject, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a esearch or health nature for retaining such information, and

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of ny individual, or

(b) For use in another research project, under these same condi- ons, and with written authorization of HCFA, or

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose an audit related to the research project, if information that would able research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at e earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit, or

(d) When required by law;

d. Secures a written statement attesting to the recipient's under- anding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

5. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggre- ting or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to the contractor incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance,or maintenance, for ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

6. To an agency of a State Government, or established by State law, for purposes of determining, evaluating and/or assessing cost, effectiveness, and/or the quality of health care services provided in the State, if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the data were provided, collected, or obtained;

b. Establishes that the data are exempt from disclosure under the State and/or local Freedom of Information Act;

c. Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot reasonably be accomplished unless the data are provided individually identifiable form;

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual(s) that additional exposure of the record might bring, and;

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished; and

d. Requires the recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record;

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the request, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification for retaining such information;

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual;

(b) For use in another project under the same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA;

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the project, if information that would enable project subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit; or

(d) When required by law; and

(4) Secure a written statement attesting to the recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions. The recipient must agree to the following:

(a) Not to use the data for purposes that are not related to the evaluation of cost, quality, and effectiveness of care;

(b) Not to publish or otherwise disclose the data in a form raising unacceptable possibilities that beneficiaries could be identified (i.e., the data must not be beneficiary-specific and must be aggregated to a level when no data cells have ten or fewer beneficiaries); and

(c) To submit a copy of any aggregation of the data intended for publication to HCFA for approval prior to publication.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Electronic medium and selected hard copy backup.

Retrievability:

Data may be retrieved from beneficiary records by health insurance claim number (HIC) or the DVA identification number, or by individual name; and from the provider of service records by Medicare identification number or, for DVA health care facilities, the PMMIS facility identification number.

Safeguards:

Employees who maintain records in this system will be instructed to grant access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers will be accessed through the use of passwords, keywords, numbers, or some combination thereof known only to the authorized personnel. These passwords, keywords, or numbers will be changed in accordance with HCFA systems security guidelines.

Privacy Act requirements will be specifically included in contracts related to this system. The project officer and contract officer will oversee compliance with these requirements. The particular safeguards implemented will be developed in accordance with the HHS, Information Resource Manual (IRM), Part 6, "Systems Security Policies" (i.e., use of passwords), and the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards.

Retention and disposal:

Hard copy is destroyed after 1 year by shredding. All other information is maintained indefinitely.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Bureau of Data Management and Strategy, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 126, Security Office Park Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

An individual requesting notice as to whether the system of records contains information pertaining to him/her should write to the System Manager, at the above address, indicating his/her full name, current address (including ZIP CODE), and health insurance claim number or DVA identification number.

Record access procedure:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Records, or information in records, may be contested by writing to the System Manager named above and reasonably identifying the record, specifying the information to be contested, and stating the reason for contesting the record (e.g., it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current). (These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

Information contained in these records is obtained from Medicare ESRD medical evidence reports, kidney transplant reports, ESRD beneficiary reimbursement method selection forms, ESRD death notification forms, Medicare bills, HCFA Medicare Master Files, ESRD facility surveys, ESRD facility certification notices, and the Medicare/Medicaid Automated Certification System (MMACS).

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

Social Security Administration Program Service Centers

Division of International Operations (see Appendices A and B at the end of the notices for the Social Security Administration)

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

This system contains records of all retirement, survivors, disability, or health insurance beneficiaries entitled to hospital insurance and/or supplementary medical insurance who are, or have been, subject to direct billing for insurance premiums. This includes individuals who: (1) Are currently being billed directly for insurance premiums; and (2) are not currently in direct billing status but have either a premium arrearage (or overpayment) of record or were at one time in direct billing status. It does not contain a record of any hospital or supplementary medical insurance enrollee who has had premiums deducted from monthly benefits or paid through a third party payer arrangement continuously from the initial month of entitlement.

Categories of records in the system:

It contains identifying information as well as information regarding entitlement to hospital or supplementary medical insurance, current address information, individual records of premium, payments, premium adjustments, refunds of excess payments, and current amounts due.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 1840(e) and 1871 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395s(e) and 1395hh).

Purpose(s):

To provide a master record of billing and collection for all retirement, survivors, disability, and health insurance beneficiaries entitled to hospital insurance and/or supplementary medical insurance who are, or have been, subject to direct billing for Medicare insurance premiums. Monthly record updates are provided to the Social Security Administration.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made:

(1) To a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

(2) To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States of any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(3) To a "lock box" contractor. An extract of this file (name, address, claim numbers, premium liability, period of liability, and termination date, when necessary) will be provided in order to (a) print and release the Medicare premium bills, (b) process the returned remittance in a secure "lock box" operation, and (c) prepare a transaction tape for transmission to HCFA. ("Lock box" is a remittance process performed under security to assure non-access to remittance information by unauthorized personnel or the public.)

(4) To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidential to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Primary record storage is by magnetic tape and disk. Monthly updates of the record are also provided to the Social Security Administration in microform records.

Retrievability:

Magnetic tape, disk and microform records are indexed by social security number, or claim account numbers, it is used to: (1) Generate monthly and quarterly premium billing notices; (2) record and process premium payments and adjustments; (3) refund excess premium payments; (4) terminate hospital and/or supplementary medical insurance coverage for non-payment of premiums; (5) reverse termination actions; (6) maintain a history of premium payments, adjustments, or other events which alter the billing status; and (7) provide up-to-date premium and billing information to Health Care Financing Administration and Social Security Administration clerical and electronic operations. Information is used to respond to specific beneficiary inquiries or to facilitate the proper adjustment of social security benefit payments. Information is also accessed electronically by social security benefit programs for the proper adjustment of payment amounts.

Safeguards:

Magnetic tape, and disk records are protected through standard security measures used for all of Social Security Administration's computer records: Microform records are subject to the same rules and security as all other information in Social Security Administration relating to claims and beneficiary records: Limited access to Social Security Administration offices; limited employee access to need to know.

Retention and disposal:

Microfilm and tape records can routinely be sent to the Federal Records Center after 2 years. However, since this record is updated monthly, even though the physical records are released to the Federal Records Center, current record will contain full history of all transactions. An inactive tape file, i.e., a file containing the records of cases where the enrollee has died, been in payment status for 2 or more years, etc., is maintained in each program service center. This file currently has no disposal schedule.

System manager(s) and address:

Health Care Financing Administration, Bureau of Program Operations, Director, Division of Entitlement Requirements, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

In order to ascertain whether or not this system contains information about him/her, an individual should contact the most convenient social security office and provide health insurance claim number as shown on Medicare health insurance card.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These access procedures are in accordance with DHHS Regulations, 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the official at the address specified under notification procedures above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with DHHS Regulations, 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

The identification and entitlement/termination information for this system is extracted from Social Security Administration's Master Beneficiary Record. All other information is compiled from the individual's premium billing and payment histories.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Medicare Physician Identification and Eligibility System (MPIES), HHS/HCFA/BPO.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) (Paper Media), 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207. (Contact system manager for location of Magnetic Media computerized records.) Medicare Carriers (See Appendix A).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All physicians, as defined by section 1861(r) of Title XVIII of the Social Security Act who request and/or receive Medicare reimbursement for their medical services.

Categories of records in the system:

The system contains a unique physician identification number (UPIN) for each physician and information concerning a physician's birth, residence, medical education, and eligibility information for Medicare reimbursement.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 9202(g) of Pub. L. 89–272; 1832(a)(2) (B)(i) and (F); 1833(a)(1)(C) and (G); 1842(a)(1), (b)(3)(B)(ii), (b)(3)(D), (b)(7)(C), (b)(7)(D), (h)(1), (h)(4), (h)(5), and (J); 1861(q), (r), (s)(1) and (aa)(1)(A); and 1862 of Title XVIII of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

To maintain unique identification of each physician requesting and/or receiving Medicare reimbursement.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosures may be made to:

(1) A contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications system containing or supporting records in the system.

(2) A congressional office from the record of an individual physician in response to an inquiry from the congressional office at the request of that individual physician.

(3) The Railroad Retirement Board for administering provisions of the Railroad Retirement and Social Security Acts relating to railroad employment.

(4) Professional Review Organizations in connection with their review of claims, or in connection with studies or other review activities, conducted pursuant to Part B of Title XI of the Social Security Act.

(5) To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components.

Is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the government party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(6) The Department of Justice for investigation and prosecuting violations of the Social Security Act to which criminal penalties attach, or other criminal statutes as they pertain to the Social Security Act programs, for representing the Secretary, and for investigating issues of fraud by agency officers or employees, or violation of civil rights.

(7) State Licensing Boards for review of unethical practices or nonprofessional conduct.

(8) To the American Medical Association (AMA), for the purpose of attempting to identify medical doctors when the Registry is unable to establish identity after matching carrier-submitted data to the data extract provided by the AMA. The AMA would attempt to establish medical doctor identity by matching the Registry's MPIES data to data in the AMA Physician Masterfile.

The AMA agrees:

a. To use the Registry's MPIES data solely for an attempted match as described above;

b. To make no copies of the MPIES data it receives from the Registry, except for one back-up copy;

c. To return the MPIES data to the Registry upon completion of its matching operation, and erase back-up copies of the MPIES data;

d. To establish appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the records; and,

e. To sign a written statement attesting to its understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

(9) To an individual or organization for research or evaluation, if HCFA:

a. Determines that the proposed use does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained;

b. Determines that the purpose for which the proposed use is to be made:

(i) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in a form that identifies individuals,

(ii) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect on/or risk to the privacy of the individual which such limited additional exposure of the record might bring, and

(iii) There is a reasonable probability that the objective of the use would be accomplished;

c. Requires the recipient of the information to:

(i) Establish appropriate administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and

(ii) Remove or destroy the information that enables the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project, unless the recipient receives written authorization from HCFA that it is justified based on research objectives for retaining such information, and

(iii) Make no further use of the record except:

(a) For use in another research project, under emergency circumstance affecting the health or safety of any individual, following written authorization of HCFA,

(b) For disclosure to an indentified person approved by HCFA for the purpose of auditing the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit, or

(c) When further approved by HCFA;

d. Secures a written statement by the recipient of the information attesting to the recipient's understanding of, and willingness to abide by, these provisions.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic media.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved alphabetically by the physicians' name or by their UPIN.

Safeguards:

a. Authorized Users: Only agency employees and contractor personnel whose duties require the use of information in the system. In addition, such agency employees and contractor personnel are advised that the information is confidential and of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information.

b. Physical Safeguards: Records are stored in locked files or secured areas. Computer terminals are in secured areas.

c. Procedural Safeguards: Employees who maintain records in the system are instructed to grant regular access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords known only to authorized personnel.

Contractors who maintain records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosure of the records except as authorized by the system manager and permitted by the Privacy Act. Privacy Act language is included in contracts related to this system.

d. Implementation Guidelines: Safeguards implemented in accordance with all guidelines required by the Department of Health and Human Services. Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with HHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, "ADP Systems Security."

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained indefinitely, except in the instance of a physician's death, in which case HCFA would retain such records for a 10 year period following the physician's death.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Bureau of Program Operations, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 300 Meadows East Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries and requests for system records should be addressed to the system manager at the address above. The requestor must specify the physician's name, date of birth, and medical school.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the system manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it; e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete or not current. (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

HCFA obtains the identifying information in this system from carriers. Information in these records concerning physicians' eligibility for Medicare reimbursement is obtained either directly or through Medicare Regional Offices, contractors, and PROs; from the Department of Justice; State or local judicial systems; medical licensing and certification agencies or organizations; and medical societies and associations.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

(9) State Licensing Board for review of unethical practices or nonprofessional conduct.

(10) Providers and suppliers of services (and their authorized billing agents) directly or dealing through fiscal intermediaries of carriers, for administration of provisions of title XVIII.

(11) An individual or organization for a research, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability; or the restoration or maintenance of health, if HCFA:

(a) Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained;

(b) Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individually identifiable form.

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record might bring, and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished:

(c) Requires the information recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the indiviudal to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purposes of the project, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such information, and

(3) Make no further use for disclosure of the record except for:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual.

(b) For use in another research project, under these same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA.

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit, or

(d) When required by law:

Secures a written statement attesting to the information recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

(12) State welfare departments pursuant to agreements with the Department of Health and Human Services for administration of State supplementation payment for determination of eligibility for Medicaid, for enrollment of welfare recipients for medical insurance under section 1843 of the Social Security Act, for quality control studies, for determining eligibility of recipients of assistance under titles IV and XIX of the Social Security Act, and for the complete administration of the Medicaid program.

(13) A congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office at the request of the individual.

(14) State audit agencies in connection with the audit of Medicare eligibility considerations. Disclosures of physicians' customary charge data are made to State audit agencies in order to ascertain the correctness of title XIX charges and payments.

(15) The Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when:

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(16) Peer review groups, consisting of members of State, County, or local medical societies or medical care foundations (physicians), appointed by the medical society or foundation at the request of the carrier to assist in the resolution of questions of medical necessity, utilization of particular procedures or practices, or overutilization of services with respect to Medicare claims submitted to the carrier.

(17) Physicians and other suppliers of services who are attempting to validate individual items on which the amounts included in the annual Physician/Supplier Payment List or similar publications are based.

(18) Senior citizen volunteers, working in intermediarie's and carrier's offices to assit Medicare beneficiaries in response to beneficiarie's requests for assistance.

(19) A contractor working with Medicare carriers/intermediaries to identify and recover erroneous Medicare payments for which workers' compensation programs are liable.

(20) State and other governmental Workers' Compensation Agencies working with the Health Care Financing Administration to coordinate benefits payable under the Medicare program with benefits payable under workers' compensation programs.

(21) Insurance companies, self-insurers, Health Maintenance Organizations, multiple employer trusts and other groups providing protection against medical expenses of their enrollees. Information to be disclosed shall be limited to Medicare entitlement data. In order to receive this information the entity must agree to the following conditions:

(a) To certify that the individual on whom the information is being provided is one of its insureds;

(b) To utilize the information solely for the purpose of processing the identified individual's insurance claims; and

(c) To safeguard the confidentiality of the data and to prevent unauthorized access to it.

(22) To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Date would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

(23) To an agency of a State Government, or established by State law, for purposes of determining, evaluating and/or assessing cost, effectiveness, and/or the quality of health care services provided in the State, if HCFA:

(a) Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the data were provided, collected, or obtained;

b. Establishes that the data are exempt from disclosure under the State and/or local Freedom of Information Act;

c. Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made;

(1) Cannot reasonably be accomplished unless the data are provided in individually identifiable form;

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individuals that additional exposure of the record might bring, and;

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished; and

d. Requires the recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record,

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the request, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification for retaining such information;

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual;

(b) For use in another project under the same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA:

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the project, if information that would enable project subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the prupose of the audit, or

(d) When required by law; and

(4) Secure a written statement attesting to the recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions. The recipient must agree to the following:

(1) Not to use the data for purposes that are not related to the evaluation of cost, quality, and effectiveness of care;

(2) Not to publish or otherwise disclose the data in a form raising unacceptable possibilities that beneficiaries could be identified (i.e., the data must not be beneficiary-specific and must be aggregated to a level when no data cells have ten or fewer beneficiaries); and

(3) To submit a copy of any aggregation of the data intended for publication to HCFA for approval prior to publication.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Magnetic media (Magnetic Tape, Disks, Microfiche).

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by the Health Insurance Claim Number.

Safeguards:

a. Authorized Users: Only agency employees and contractor personnel whose duties require the use of information in the system. In addition, such agency employees and contractor personnel are advised that the information is confidential and of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information.

b. Physical Safeguards: Records are stored in locked files or secured areas. Computer terminals are in secured areas.

c. Procedural Safeguards: Employees who maintain records in the system are instructed to grant regular access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords known only to authorized personnel.

Contractors who maintain records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosure of the records except as authorized by the system manager and permitted by the Privacy Act. Privacy Act language is included in contracts related to this system.

d. Implementation Guidelines: Safeguards implemented in accordance with all guidelines required by the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the HHS' Automated Data Processing Manual, Part 6, "ADP System Security".

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained for an indefinite period of time dependent on individual beneficiary coverage.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Bureau of Program Operations, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 300, Meadows East Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21207.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries and requests for system records should be addressed to the system manager at the address above. The requestor must specify the Health Insurance Claim Number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (The procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the system manager named above and identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete or not current). (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

The data contained in these records is furnished by the individual. In most cases, the identifying information is provided to the physician by the individual. The record source categories are the Health Insurance Master Record, Part A Intermediary Medical Claims Record, Part B Carrier Medicare Claims Record, Medicare Secondary Payer Record, Third Party Liability Record, Medicaid Entitlement Record, Health Maintenance Organizations Record, and Hospice Record.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09–70–0527

System name:

HCFA Utilization Review Investigatory Files HHS/HCFA/BPO.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

See Appendix A.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Persons or entities alleged to have violated the provisions of the Social Security Act related to the Medicare (Title XVIII) or Medicaid (Title XIX) program or other criminal statutes as they pertain to Social Security Act programs where substantial basis for criminal prosecution exists, defendants in criminal prosecution cases, or persons or entities alleged to have abused the Medicare or Medicaid program. This last category of individuals would, for example, include persons or entities alleged to have rendered unnecessary services to medicare beneficiaries and/or Medicaid recipients, overutilized services, engaged in improper billing procedures, or breached the assignment agreement. Also included are persons or entities chosen as subjects of a validation review.

Categories of records in the system:

Information maintained in each record includes the identity of individual(s) chosen for validation review or the suspect of utilization review, the area of service under validation study or the nature of the alleged offense, documentation of the investigation into the alleged offense (including identification of beneficiaries, recipients and witnesses, statements, medical records, payment records, or complaints from beneficiaries recipients and others, correspondence and forms, documentation of complaints, and reports of medical review committees or consultants (including professional review organizations), and the disposition fo the case by the HCFA Regional Office, Office of the Inspector General, Medicaid State agency or State Medicaid Fraud Control Unit, or the U.S. Attorney.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205, 1106, 1107, 1815, 1816, 1833, 1842, 1872, 1874, 1876, 1877, and 1902 of the Social Security Act. (42 U.S.C. 405, 1306, 1307, 1395g, 1395h, 1395l, 1395u, 1395ii, 1395kk, 1395mm, 1395nn, and 1396a)

Purpose(s):

To determine if a violation of a provision of the Social Security Act of related penal or civil provision of the United States Code has been committed; to determine if HHS has made proper payments as prescribed under sections 1815 and 1833 of the Security Act and whether the Medicare or Medicaid programs have been abused; and to coordinate Title XVIII and Title XIX investigations and prevent duplication. HCFA discloses case file material to the HHS Office of the Inspector General when a case is referred for full fraud investigation.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

HCFA uses material in this system as the basis for referral of the case to the HHS Office of the Inspector General or the:

(1) Department of Justice for consideration of criminal prosecution or civil action or to

(2) State or local licensing authorities (including State medical review boards), professional review organizations, peer review groups, medical consultants, or other professional associations for possible administrative action.

(3) HCFA discloses such information to officers or employees of State governments as well as the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS) program for use in conducting or directing investigations of possible fraud or abuse against the Title XVIII, XIX, or CHAMPUS programs, as well as State attorneys in connection with State programs involving the Health Care Financing Administration.

(4) HCFA also uses the material to determine the direction of investigation of potential fraud or abuse situations which includes contact with third parties for the purpose of establishing or negating a violation.

(5) HCFA discloses cases involving fraudulent tax returns or forger of Medicare checks to the:

(a) Treasury Department;

(b) To the postal authorities, and to appropriate law enforcement agencies.

(6) HCFA may make disclosures to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry which the congressional office makes at the request of that individual.

(7) To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when:

a. HHS, or any component thereof; or

b. Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

c. Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

d. The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determined that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper files maintained in locked file cabinets.

Retrievability:

The staff indexes and retrieves records by case number or by the name of the subject of the investigation.

Safeguards:

The system is maintained in accordance with the requirements of the DHHS ADP System Manual, Part 6, "Systems Security." HCFA keeps the file cabinets locked in a room that is locked after office hours. No one has access to the files room except HCFA Regional Office staff and other authorized personnel on a need to know basis.

Retention and disposal:

HCFA places the records in an inactive file after final action on the case. It closes out the inactive file at the end of the calendar year in which final action was taken, holds it 2 additional years, transfers it to the Federal Records Center, who destroys it after 3 additional years.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Bureau of Program Operations, Health Care Financing Administration, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record pertaining to an active abuse investigation or a closed fraud or abuse investigation of which the individual is/was a subject by requesting such information in writing. He or she should direct inquiries to HCFA, Bureau of Program Operations, Office of Program Validation; 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21207 or the appropriate HCFA Regional Office (see app. C.2).

Under 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2), case files on active fraud investigation cannot determine if this system contains a record pertaining to an active fraud investigation of which the individual is a subject.

These notifications procedures are in accordance with Department regulations (45 CFR 5b.5).

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents they seek. As with the notification procedure above, case files on active fraud investigations are exempt from access by the individuals who are the subjects of the investigations pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2). However, access to information which is a matter of public record or documents which the individual furnished will be permitted. These access procedures are in accordance with Department regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the appropriate official at the address specified under notification procedures above, reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the corrective action sought and the reason for the correction with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department regulations—45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

The information contained in this record systems is the result of a criminal or program abuse investigation and may be derived from such sources as the suspect, beneficiaries, witnesses, professional review organizations, professional or peer view committees, medical consultants, Title XIX State agencies or State Medicaid Fraud Control Units, Social Security Administration, Health Care Financing Administration, carrier or intermediary employees with a knowledge of the case.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

HHS claims exemption of certain records (case files on active fraud investigations) in this system from the notification and access procedures under 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2) inasmuch as these records are investigatory materials complied for program (law) enforcement in anticipation of a criminal or administrative proceedings. (See Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.11))

A. Health Insurance Claims

Medicare records are maintained at the HCFA Central Office (see section 1 below for the address). Health insurance records of the Medicare progarm can also be accessed through a representative of the HCFA Regional Office (see section 2 below for addresses). System name: Drug Bill Processor Records on Medicare Prescription Drug Beneficiaries.

Security classification: None.

System location: Contact the System Manager for location of records.

Categories of individuals covered by the system: Medicare beneficiaries eligible for the Medicare outpatient prescription drug benefit.

Categories of records in the system: The system contains beneficiary-specific Medicare Part B enrollment data, including name, date of birth, sex, race, Health Insurance Claim Number (HICN), address, marital status, and date of death. It also contains information on Medicare prescription drug benefit entitlement, deductible status, Medicare-covered outpatient prescription drug use history, representative payee name and address, and Medicare secondary payer records containing other party liability insurance information necessary for appropriate Medicare payment.

Authority for maintenance of the system: Section 1842(o)(4) of Pub. L. 100–360.

Purpose(s):

The system is intended to facilitate proper and expeditious payment of Medicare prescription drug benefits to or on behalf of entitled beneficiaries; to allow eligibility for Medicare prescription drug benefits and deductible status to be ascertained at the point of sale; to ensure that beneficiaries who travel or move will not lose credit for payments toward the deductible; to facilitate the prevention of outpatient prescription drug interactions; to allow for prospective and retrospective utilization review. Beneficiary-specific outpatient prescription drug information will be available to authorized personnel of enrolled pharmacies only in instances of potential outpatient prescription drug interactions, and the information available will be limited to the prescription drug(s) implicated.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: Disclosure may be made to:

1. Claimants, their authorized representatives, or their representative payers or payees to the extent necessary to pursue payment of Medicare-covered outpatient prescription drug bills.

2. Third-party contacts (without the consent of the individual to whom the information pertains) in situations where the party to be contacted has, or is expected to have information relating to the individual's capability to manage her/his affairs or to her/his eligibility for or entitlement to prescription drug benefits under the Medicare program when:

a. The individual is unable to provide the information being sought. An individual is considered to be unable to provide certain types of information when any of the following conditions exist: The individual is incapable or of questionable mental capability, cannot read or write, cannot afford the cost of obtaining the information, a language barrier exists, or the custodian of the information will not, as a matter of policy, provide it to the individual.

b. The data are needed to establish the validity of evidence or to verify the accuracy of information presented by the individual or an authorized representative, and it concerns one or more of the following: The individual's eligibility for prescription drug benefits under the Medicare program; the amount of reimbursement; any case in which the evidence is being reviewed for the purposes of an audit or as a result of suspected abuse or fraud, concern for program integrity or quality appraisal, or evaluation and measurement of system activities.

3. Federal, State, and local law enforcement authorities for investigating alleged theft, forgery, or unlawful negotiation of Medicare reimbursement checks.

4. The U.S. Postal Service for investigating alleged forgery or theft of Medicare checks.

5. The Department of Justice for investigating and prosecuting violations of the Social Security Act to which criminal penalties attach, or other criminal statutes as they pertain to the Social Security Act programs, for representing the Secretary, and for investigating issues of fraud by agency officers or employees, or violation of civil rights.

6. The Department of Justice, when:

a. HHS or any HHS component,

b. Any HHS employee in her/his official capacity,

c. Any HHS employee in her/his individual capacity, where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee, or

d. The United States or any United States agency, where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any HHS component

is a party to litigation, or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, in each case, that HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

7. A court or adjudicative body before which HHS is authorized to appear, when:

a. HHS or any HHS component,

b. Any HHS employee in her/his official capacity,

c. Any HHS employee in her/his individual capacity, where HHS has agreed to represent the employee, or

d. The United States or any United States agency, where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any HHS component is a party to litigation, or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, in each case, that HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

8. The Railroad Retirement Board for administering provisions of the Railroad Retirement and Social Security Acts relating to railroad employment.

9. Peer Review Organizations in connection with their review of claims, or in connection with studies of other review activities, conducted pursuant to Part B of Title XI of the Social Security Act.

10. Peer review groups, consisting of members of State, County, or local health care societies or health care foundations (health care professionals), appointed by the society or foundation at the request of the processor, carrier, or intermediary to assist in the resolution of questions of medical necessity, over-, under-, or misuse of services or prescription drugs with respect to Medicare claims submitted to the processor, carrier, or intermediary.

11. State Licensing Boards for review of unethical practices or nonprofessional conduct.

12. An individual or organization for a research, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease and disability; or the restoration or maintenance of health, if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained and

b. Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individually identifiable form,

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record might bring, and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished; and

c. Requires the information recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record,

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such informaiton, and

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual,

(b) For use in another research project under these same conditions and with written authorization of HCFA,

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the adiut, or

(d) When required by law;

(4) Furnish a written statement attesting to the information recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

13. State welfare departments, pursuant to agreements with the Department of Health and Human Services for administration of State supplementation payments, for enrollment of welfare recipients under the Social Security Act, for quality control studies, for determining eligibility of recipients of assistance under Titles IV and XIX of the Social Security Act, and for the complete administration of the Medicaid program. Re-release of records is prohibited without the express, written consent of HCFA.

14. State audit agencies in connection with the audit of Medicaid prescription drug benefit eligibility and payment determinations, with respect to recipients who also are (or may be) Medicare beneficiaries.

15. To an agency of a State Government, or established by State law, for purposes of determining, evaluating, and/or assessing cost, effectiveness, and/or the quality of health care services provided in the State, if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained,

b. Establishes that the data are exempt from disclosure under the State and/or local Freedom of Information Act,

c. Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot reasonably be accomplished unless the data are provided in individually identifiable form,

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the indiviudals that additional exposure of the record might bring, and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished; and

d. Requires the information recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record,

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the request, unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such information, and

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

(a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual,

(b) For use in another project under the same conditions and with written authorization of HCFA,

(c) For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the project, if information that would allow project subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit, or

(d) When required by law; and

(4) Secure a written statement attesting to the recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions. The recipient must agree to the following:

(a) Not to use the data for purposes that are not related to the evaluation of cost, quality, and effectiveness of care,

(b) Not to publish or otherwise disclose the data in a form raising unacceptable possibilities that beneficiaries could be identified (i.e., the data must not be beneficiary specific and must be aggregated to a level in which no data cells have ten or fewer beneficiaries), and

(c) To submit a copy of any aggregation of the data intended for publication to HCFA for approval prior to publication.

16. A congressional office requesting the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office at the request of that individual.

17. Senior citizen volunteers working to assist Medicare beneficiaries in response to beneficiaries' requests for assistance.

18. A contractor working with Medicare processors to identify and recover erroneous Medicare payments for which other insurance programs are liable.

19. State and other governmental Workers' Compensation Agencies working with benefits payable under workers' compensation programs.

20. Insurance companies, self-insurers, Health Maintenance Organizations, multiple employer trusts, and other groups, including government programs providing protection from outpatient prescription drug expenses of their enrollees. Information to be disclosed shall be limited to Medicare prescription drug benefit entitlement data on specified individuals. In order to receive this information, the entity must agree to the following conditions:

a. To certify that the individual on whom the information is bring provided is one of its insureds,

b. To use the information solely for the purpose of processing the identified individual's insurance claims, and

c. To safeguard the confidentiality of the data and to prevent unauthorized access to it.

21. Authorized personnel of enrolled pharmacies for the purposes of establishing or verifying beneficiary eligibility, determining whether the annual Medicare prescription drug deductible has been reached or exceeded, and informing beneficiaries of potential outpatient prescription drug interactions.

22. A contractor of HCFA for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating, or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying, and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage: Paper and magnetic media.

Retrievability: Records are retrieved by the HICN.

Safeguards:

a. Authorized Users: Only authorized employees of HCFA and of HCFA's contractors and personnel of enrolled pharmacies whose duties require the use of information in the system shall have access to beneficiaries' records. Such agency employees, personnel of contractors, and personnel of enrolled pharmacies having access to records are precluded from disclosing and using any program data for non-programmatic uses and are advised of the confidentiality of the records and of the criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of the information on individuals (5 USC 552a(i) and (m).

b. Physical Safeguards: Under all conditions, sensitive data are safeguarded from disclosure and protected from unauthorized modification or destruction. All records, computer terminals, and point-of-sale (POS) devices are maintained in secure areas and are accessible only to authorized employees of HCFA and of HCFA's contractors and to authorized personnel of enrolled pharmacies.

c. Procedural Safeguards: Every user is required to present a valid password before being allowed access to the system. Only those persons whose duties require access to beneficiaries' records will be given passwords. Terminals are prevented from gaining access to sensitive data not required at those work stations. The system will record every attempt to access or modify any beneficiary's record.

Authorized pharmacy personnel have only limited read/write access to beneficiaries' records. The information available is strictly limited to that necessary to establish or verify beneficiary eligibility and entitlement, to determine whether the annual Medicare prescription drug deductible has been reached or exceeded, and to counsel beneficiaries on any potential prescription drug interactions detected by the system.

Contractors who maintain records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosure of the records except as authorized by the system manager and permitted by the Privacy Act. Privacy Act language is included in all contracts related to this system.

d. Implementation Guidelines: Safeguards are implemented in accordance with all guidelines required by the HHS. Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the HHS Information Resources Management Manual, Part 6, "Automated Information System Security"; OMB Circular A-130; HCFA's Administrative Issuances System Guide, HCFA.g:0805-1; and the applicable Federal Information Processing Standards and Federal Telecommunication Standards.

Retention and disposal: Medicare beneficiary prescription drug data will be maintained on line for six months. Records will then be stored at the drug bill processor sites for twenty-one months and at the Federal Records Center for an additional five years before being destroyed.

System manager(s) and address: Director, Bureau of Program Operations, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 300 Meadows East Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure: Inquiries and requests for system records should be addressed to the System Manager at the address above. The requestor must specify the Health Insurance Claim Number.

Record access procedures: Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)).

Contesting record procedures: Contact the System Manager and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current). These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).

Record source categories: HCFA obtains the identifying information in this system from the HCFA Master Beneficiary Record, enrolled pharmacies, and beneficiaries.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act: None.

System name:

Physical Therapists In Independent Practice (Individuals), HHS/HCFA-HSQB.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

HCFA Data Center in Central Office at Lyons Building, 7131 Rutherford Rd., Baltimore, Maryland and DHHS ten Regional Offices (See Appendix A).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Physical Therapists in Independent Practice (PTIPs) who furnish outpatient physical therapy services and who have an individual practitioner status as approved under 42 CFR 405.1731.

Categories of records in the system:

The system contains information about a therapist's name, identification number, address and survey and certification information.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1861(p) and 1864 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395 x(p) and 1395(aa) Implementing regulation: 42 CFR 405.1730–405.1737.

Purpose(s):

To provide information of PTIPs as to the quality, quantity and availability of health care related services in the United States rendered by PTIPs. It serves as a unique source of program related and health management information on all PTIPs in the nation who participate in the Medicare/Medicaid programs.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosures may be made:

1. To providers and suppliers of services (and their authorized billing agents) directly or dealing through fiscal intermediaries or carriers, for administration of provisions of title XVIII and title XIX.
2. To the private sector in the health care industry requesting information generally relating to PTIPs without disclosing the identity of any individuals and as approved by HCFA that disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.
3. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for ADP or telecommunications sytems containing or supporting records in the system.
4. To a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office at the request of that individual.
5. To a beneficiary who has the need to know the quality of care rendered by a particular PTIP.
6. To other government agencies requesting information generally relating to PTIPs without disclosing the identity of any individuals and as approved by HCFA that disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.
7. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when
   (a) HHS, or any component thereof; or
   (b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or
   (c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or
   (d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper, magnetic tape and direct access storage device.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by the PTIP's identification number, name, address or survey and certification information.

Safeguards:

a. Authorized Users: Only agency employees and contractor personnel whose duties require the use of information in the system. In addition, such agency employees and contractor personnel are advised that the information is confidential and of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information.

b. Physical Safeguards: Records are stored in locked files or secured areas. Computer terminals are in secured areas.

c. Procedural Safeguards: Employees who maintain records in the system are instructed to grant regular access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords known only to authorized personnel.

Contractors who maintain records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosure of the records except as authorized by the system manager and permitted by the Privacy Act. Privacy Act language is included in contracts related to this system.

d. Implementation guidelines: Safeguards implemented in accordance with all guidelines required by the Department of Health and Human Services. Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the Department of HHS' Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security."

Retention and disposal:

Paper copies of the records are maintained in a secure storage area with identifiers. Purging of paper copies occurs three years from the last completed survey. Computerized records are maintained for a period of the last four surveys.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Division of Data and Program Analysis, Health Standards and Quality Bureau, Health Care Financing Administration, 2-D-2 Meadows East Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the system manager at the address indicated above and specify name or identification number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the System Manager named above, and reasonably identify the record(s) and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current). (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

Sources of information contained in this record system include data collected from PTIPs with an individual practitioner status as surveyed and collected by the State agency and transmitted to the regional office and Baltimore.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Pro Data Management System (PDMS).

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Health Care Financing Administration, Health Standards and Quality Bureau, Office of Peer Review, Division of Program Operations, 2nd Floor, Meadows East Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Health Care Financing Administration, Regional Offices. See Appendix A

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

A record will be generated for each Medicare beneficiary case reviewd by a PRO.

Categories of records in the system:

1. PRO ID

A unique identifier assigned to the PRO for identification and reporting purposes.

2. Record Type

Identifies the type of record being submitted (e.g., new, replacement or cancelled record).

3. Provider ID

A coded number of a Medicare provider used to group review data.

4. Health Insurance Claim (HIC) Number

The Medicare beneficiary's unique Medicare Health Insurance Claim Number.

5. Admission/Service Date

If record is an inpatient admission, the date of admission to the facility or if outpatient, date of service provided.

6. Discharge Date

If record is an inpatient admission, the date of discharge from the facility.

7. Basis for Selection

The original category of required review from which the case was selected.

8. Review Selection and Completion Dates

Date selected and date review completed.

9. Completed Review Results

—Admissions review data
—DRG validation data
—Generic screen data (quality of care)
—Coverage review data
—Discharge review
—Reconsideration and appeal data
—PRO initiative adjustment data
—Review of hospital issued notices of non-coverage

10. Review Type

Indicates whether the review was performed on a pre-discharge, prepayment or retrospective basis.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

This system is established under the authority of Section 1866(a)(1)(F) and (d) of the Social Security Act, which requires hospitals participating in the Medicare program to have an agreement with a PRO for the latter to review various aspects of the hospital's activities; Part B of the Social Security Act, which established the Utilization and Quality Control Peer Review Organization (PRO) program; Section 1862(g) of the Social Security Act, which requires the Secretary to enter into contracts with PROs to assist him in making certain types of determinations in the Medicare program and Section 1874(a) and (b) of the Social Security Act, which authorize the Secretary to administer the Medicare program through contracts with others, including contracts for procuring data as may be necessary in carrying out his functions under the Medicare statute and regulations at 45 CFR Part 5b.

Purpose(s):

This system will be used to collect data on the selection and subsequent medical review of required areas of review in the acute hospital setting, specialty hospitals and exempt units, swing beds, hospital outpatient areas and ambulatory surgical centers (ASC). The system will allow for PRO generation and submission to HCFA of a unique record with all applicable review information relevant to contractor performance and data analysis. The HIC number is utilized because it represents the only unique constant identifier available to allow for identification and tracking of a particular record. The HIC number will also eliminate the probability of double counting records when determining the number of reviews performed for reimbursement purposes and identifying erroneous record submissions. Additionally, this system will allow for project officer (PRO) and SuperPRO selection of samples for re-review to validate the accuracy of contractor performance. (SuperPRO is an organization under contract with HCFA to review the quality of PRO medical review decisions on a sample basis.)

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosures may be made:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office at the request of the subject individual.

2. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof;

where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided that in each case HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

3. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

4. To a third party where:

(a) HCFA needs information from the third party to verify information relating to program integrity, quality of care, and evaluation and measurement of system activities;

(b) The party to whom disclosure is to be made has, or is reasonably expected to have such information, and disclosure is needed in order to obtain the information; and

(c) HCFA determines that the purpose of disclosure is compatible with the purposes for which the records were collected.

5. To a Peer Review Organization, SuperPRO, or an entity under contract to HCFA or the Department acting in a manner consistent with maintaining the integrity of the Medicare program if HCFA determines that disclosure of beneficiary-specific information is necessary or relevant to an official investigation or litigation regarding a specific case, and if HCFA determines:

(a) That the use or disclosure of information does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained; and

(b) That the purpose for which disclosure is to be made:

(1) Is compatible with the purposes for which the records were collected;

(2) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individual identifiable form; and

(3) Is of sufficient importance to warrant any effect on the privacy of the individual that disclosure of the record might bring; and

(c) That adequate safeguards have been instituted so as to protect the confidentiality of the data and prevent unauthorized access to it; and

(d) That the appropriate procedures, format, and media will be used for the data disclosure process.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are maintained at the system location site in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and computer discs).

Retrievability:

The data in this system are retrieved by PRO ID and HIC number.

Safeguards:

Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the Department of HHS' Information Resources Management Manual, "Part 6, Automated Information Systems Security." This includes maintaining the records in a secure enclosure.

Access to specific records is limited to those who have a need for them in the performance of their official duties.

Retention and disposal:

Records are maintained on-line in the system from the date of submission to approximately three years (length of contract).

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Peer Review, Health Care Financing Administration, 2-D-2 Meadows East Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the system manager at the address indicated above or to the appropriate regional office (see Appendix A), and specify Health Insurance Number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requestors should reasonably specify the information in the records being sought. You may also request an accounting of disclosures that have been made of your records, if any. (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the system manager named above and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, and state the corrective action sought and your reasons for requesting the correction, along with information to show how the record is inaccurate, incomplete, untimely, irrelevant, or otherwise in need of correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations 45 CFR 5b.7.)

Record source categories:

These records will be generated by the PRO from data received from the servicing fiscal intermediary (FI) or carrier responsible for the processing of Medicare hospital bills and data generated by the PRO itself as a direct result of medical review performed. Other sources would include Medicare beneficiaries, congressional office, HCFA, Medicare providers, Medicare intermediary/carrier, Office of the Inspector General, etc. The magnetic tape record will only include information to be compiled in the data base (e.g., Peer Review Organizations identifier, HIC, admission/service and discharge dates, review selection and results).

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

HCFA Severity of Illness Data File HHS/HCFA/HSQB.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Health Care Financing Administration, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207, Contact: MediQual Systems, Inc., 1900 West Park Drive, Westborough, MA 01581.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

A statistically stratified sample of Medicare patient cases selected by HCFA from hospitals nationwide.

Categories of records in the system:

The system contains the first six characters of the individual's last name, health insurance claim number or social security number (SSN), date of admission, date of discharge, assigned DRG, clinical information including history, pre-admission findings, and findings during the initial period of hospitalization, i.e., the first 48 hours following admission or the pre-operative period if an operation was performed during the first 48 hours.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1874 (42 U.S.C. 1395kk) (a), (b), and Section 1875 (42 U.S.C. 1395ll) (a), as amended by the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

To obtain clinical data characterizing the severity of illness of patients upon hospital admission in order to assess its impact upon mortality rates.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to:

1. A contractor for the purpose of:

a. Identifying specific medical records and abstracting those medical records for severity of illness information to be used in this study; or

b. Collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for ADP or telecommunication systems containing or supporting records in the system.

2. A Congressional office from the records of an individual in response to an inquiry from the Congressional office at the request of the individual;

3. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when:

a. HHS or any component thereof; or

b. Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

c. Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

d. The United States or any agency thereof (when HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components), is a party to litigation or has interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected;

4. Organizations deemed qualified by the Health Care Financing Administration to carry out quality assessment, medical audit, or utilization review;

5. To an individual or organization for a research, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, or the restoration or maintenance of health if HCFA:

a. Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained;

b. Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made: (1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individually identifiable form, and (2) is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record might bring, and (3) there is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished;

c. Requires the recipient to: (1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and (2) remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such information, and (3) make no further use or disclosure of the record except: (a) In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual, (b) for use in another research project, under these same conditions, and with written authorization of the HCFA, (c) for disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purposes of the audit, or (d) when required by law;

d. Secures a written statement attesting to the information recipient's understanding of, and willingness to abide by these provisions.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic media.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by the health insurance claim number or SSN, patient name, or hospital patient number.

Safeguards:

a. Authorized Users: Agency employees and contractor personnel whose duties require the use of information in the system. In addition, such agency employees and contractor personnel are advised that the information is confidential and of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information.

b. Physical Safeguards: Records are stored in locked files or secured areas. Computer terminals are in secured areas.

c. Procedural Safeguards: Employees who maintain records in the system are instructed to grant regular access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords known only to authorized personnel.

Contractors who maintain records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosure of the records except as authorized by the system manager and permitted by the Privacy Act. Privacy Act language is in contracts related to this system.

d. Implementation Guidelines: Safeguards implemented in accordance with all guidelines required by the Department of Health and Human Services. Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the Department of HHS' Automated Data Proceeding Manual, Part 6, "ADP System Security."

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained for 5 years after the last action on the record.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, HSQB, Health Care Financing Administration, 2-D-2 Meadows East Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries and requests for system records should be addressed to: Director, BDMS, Health Care Financing Administration, 1-E-9 Oak Meadows Building, 6340 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

The requestor must specify the health insurance claim number or SSN.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the system manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete, or not current). (These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

HCFA obtains the identifying information in this system from the hospital records and from existing systems.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-70-2002

System name:

HCFA Program Integrity/Program Validation Case Files HHS/HCFA/BQC.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

HCFA Bureau of Quality Control, Office of Program Validation, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Md. 21207, or HCFA Regional Office locations (see Appendix C, Section 2), and Federal Records Centers.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Persons or entities alleged to have violated the provisions of the Social Security Act related to the Medicare (Title XVIII) or Medicaid (Title XIX) program or other criminal statutes as they pertain to Social Security Act programs where substantial basis for criminal prosecution exists, defendants in criminal prosecution cases, or persons or entities alleged to have abused the Medicare or Medicaid program. This last category of individuals would, for example, include persons or entities alleged to have rendered unnecessary services to medicare beneficiaries and/or Medicaid recipients, overutilized services, engaged in improper billing procedures, or breached the assignment agreement. Also included are persons or entities chosen as subjects of a validation review.

Categories of records in the system:

Information maintained in each record includes the identity of individual(s) chosen for validation review or the suspect of an integrity review, the area of service under validation study or the nature of the alleged offense, documentation of the investigation into the alleged offense (including identification of beneficiaries, recipients and witnesses, statements, medical records, payment records, or complaints from beneficiaries recipients and others, correspondence and forms, documentation of complaints, and reports of medical review committees or consultants (including professional standards review organizations), and the disposition of the case by the Office of Program Validation or the HCFA Regional Office, Office of the Inspector General, Medicaid State agency or State Medicaid Fraud Control Unit, or the U.S. Attorney.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205, 1106, 1107, 1815, 1816, 1833, 1842, 1872, 1874, 1876, 1877, and 1902 of the Social Security Act. (42 U.S.C. 405, 1306, 1307, 1395g, 1395h, 1395l, 1395u, 1395ii, 1395kk, 1395mm, 1395nn, and 1396a)

Purpose(s):

To determine if a violation of a provision of the Social Security Act or a related penal or civil provision of the United States Code has been committed; to determine if HHS has made proper payments as prescribed under sections 1815 and 1833 of the Social Security Act and whether the Medicare or Medicaid programs have been abused; and to coordinate Title XVIII and Title XIX investigations and prevent duplication. HCFA discloses case file material to the HHS Office of the Inspector General when a case is referred for full fraud investigation.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

HCFA uses material in this system as the basis for referral of the case to the HHS Office of the Inspector General or the (1) Department of Justice for consideration of criminal prosecution or civil action or to (2) State or local licensing authorities (including State medical review boards), professional standards review organizations, peer review groups, medical consultants, or other professional associations for possible administrative action.

(3) HCFA discloses such information to officers or employees of State governments as well as the civilian health and medical program of the Uniformed Services (CHAMPUS) program for use in conducting or directing investigations of possible fraud or abuse against the Title XVIII, XIX, or CHAMPUS programs, as well as State attorneys in connection with State programs involving the Health Care Financing Administration.

(4) HCFA also uses the material to determine the direction of investigation of potential fraud or abuse situations, which includes contact with third parties for the purpose of establishing or negating a violation.

(5) HCFA discloses cases involving fraudulent tax returns or forgery of Medicare checks to the (a) Treasury Department, (b) to the postal authorities, and to appropriate law enforcement agencies.

(6) HCFA may make disclosures to a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry which the congressional office makes at the request of that individual.

(7) In the event of litigation where the defendant is (a) the Department, any component of the Department, or any employee of the Department in his or her official capacity; (b) the United States where the Department determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of the Department or any of its components; or (c) any Department employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee, the Department may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper files maintained in locked file cabinets.

Retrievability:

The staff indexes and retrieves records by case number or by the name of the subject of the investigation.

Safeguards:

The system is maintained in accordance with the requirements of the DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, "Systems Security." HCFA keeps the file cabinets locked in a room that is locked after office hours. No one has access to the files except Office of Program Validation and HCFA Regional Office staff or other authorized personnel on a need to know basis.

Retention and disposal:

HCFA places the records in an inactive file after final action on the case. It closes out the inactive file at the end of the calendar year in which final action was taken, holds it 2 additional years, transfers it to the Federal Records Center, who destroys it after 3 additional years.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Bureau of Quality Control, Office of Program Validation HCFA, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Md. 21207 or HCFA Regional Office Locations (see Appendix C, Section 2).

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record pertaining to an active abuse investigation or a closed fraud or abuse investigation of which the individual is/was a subject by requesting such information in writing. He or she should direct inquiries to HCFA, Bureau of Quality Control, Office of Program Validation; 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Md 21207 or the appropriate HCFA Regional Office (see app. C.2).

Under 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2), case files on active fraud investigations are exempt from notification procedures. Therefore, an individual cannot determine if this system contains a record pertaining to an active fraud investigation of which the individual is a subject.

An individual who requests notification of or access to a medical record shall, at the time he makes the request, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion.

These notification procedures are in accordance with Department regulations (45 CFR 5b.5).

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents they seek. As with the notification procedures above, case files on active fraud investigations are exempt from access by the individuals who are the subjects of the investigations pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2). However, access to information which is a matter of public record or documents which the individual furnished will be permitted. These access procedures are in accordance with Department regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the appropriate official at the address specified under notification procedures above, reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. (These procedures are in accordance with Department regulations—45 CFR 5b.7).

Record source categories:

The information contained in this record systems is the result of a criminal or program abuse investigation and may be derived from such sources as the suspect, beneficiaries, witnesses, professional standards review organizations, professional or peer review committees, medical consultants, Title XIX State agencies or State Medicaid Fraud Control Units, Social Security Administration, Health Care Financing Administration, carrier or intermediary employees with a knowledge of the case.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

HHS claims exemption of certain records (case files on active fraud investigations) in this system from the notification and access procedures under 5 U.S.C. 552a(k)(2) inasmuch as these records are investigatory materials compiled for program (law) enforcement in anticipation of a criminal or administrative proceeding. (See Department Regulations (45 CFR 5b.11)).

Appendix C. Health Insurance Claims

Medicare records are maintained at the HCFA Central Office (see section 1 below for the address). Health insurance records of the Medicare program can also be accessed through a representative of the HCFA Regional Office (see section 2 below for addresses). Medicare claims records are also maintained by private insurance organizations who share in administering provisions of the health insurance program. These private insurance organizations, referred to as carriers and intermediaries, are under contract to the Health Care Financing Administration and the Social Security Administration to perform specific tasks in the Medicare program. See section 3 below for addresses for intermediaries and section 4 addresses for carriers.

System name:

Completion of State Medicaid Quality Control (MQC) Reviews, HHS/HCFA/BQC.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

HCFA central office or regional offices. (See Attachment A). A contractor site will be determined when and if the contract is executed. Contact the systems manager for the location of the contractor.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Sampled Medicaid beneficiaries in the District of Columbia and all States.

Categories of records in the system:

Documents (e.g., resource, income payment relating to the eligibility, and payment status of Medicaid beneficiaries).

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1903(u) of the Social Security Act (42 USC 1396b(u)) was enacted by section 133 of the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act of 1982 (TEFRA), Pub.L. 97-248.

Implementing regulation 42 CFR 431.804(c)(6) (48 FR 54224, December 1, 1983).

Purpose(s):

To complete State MQC sample reviews for any State that fails to complete: (1) A timely and valid MQC sample, or (2) individual reviews required to make a projection of their error rate or determine their actual error rate.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosures may be made:

1. To the contractor which will use this information to conduct the reviews.

2. To the State Medicaid agency which refused to complete the sample.

3. To collateral contacts to verify client eligibility. Collateral contacts are contacts with third parties that include but are not limited to contacts with private individuals, banks, insurance companies, nursing homes, private businesses, Federal agencies and any entity that can provide information necessary to derive at a definitive eligibility decision and determine the payment status of the beneficiary.

4. To a congressional office, from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

5. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States of any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

6. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidential to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by beneficiary name, social security number or other unique identifier by HCFA or the State.

Safeguards:

HCFA and/or the contractor will maintain all records in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized employees and will notify all employees having access to records of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information on individuals. For computerized records, if required, HCFA and/or the contractor will initiate automated data processing (ADP) system security procedures required by DHHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security (e.g., use of passwords), and the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards.

Retention and disposal:

Hard copy records will be maintained. Disposal occurs three years from the last action on the case.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Bureau of Quality Control, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 200, East High Rise Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists write to the System Manager at the address indicated above. Specify name, address, and State.

Record access procedures:

Categories of records in the system:

Documents (e.g., names of recipients and family members; SSN's; unique identifiers, if any; portions of eligibility applications; questionnaires; State forms relating to health insurance information and responsible third parties; correspondence with insurance companies, attorneys, and other responsible third party payors).

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1902(a)(25) of the Social Security Act. Implementing regulations at 42 CFR Part 433, Subpart D, "Third Party Liability".

Purpose(s):

To gather data from which a methodology can be created to estimate and report cost avoidance savings in States, and to estimate third party resources available for Medicaid recipients.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosures may be made:

1. To the State Medicaid agencies that will use this information to update their files and made third party recoveries, as appropriate.

2. To collateral contacts to verify availability of third party resources. Collateral contacts are contacts with third parties that include but are not limited to insurance companies, employers, attorneys, absent parents, Federal and State agencies, and any other entity that can provide information necessary to arrive at a definitive decision as to the availability of third party resources.

3. To a congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

4. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components,

Is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

5. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications system containing or supporting records in the system.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Information will be retrieved by recipient name, social security number, or other unique identifier, by HCFA or the State.

Safeguards:

HCFA and/or the contractor will maintain all records in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized employees and will notify all employees having access to records of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information on individuals. For computerized records, if required, HCFA and/or the contractor will initiate automated data processing (ADP) systems security procedures required by HHS ADP Systems Manual, Part 6, ADP Systems Security (e.g., use of passwords), and the National Bureau of Standards Federal Information Processing Standards.

Retention and disposal:

Hard copy records will be maintained during the life of the contract. Disposal occurs when the contract is terminated.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Bureau of Quality Control, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 200, East High Rise Building, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the System Manager at the address indicated above. Specify name, address, and State.

Record access procedures:

Authority for maintenance of the system:

This system is established under the authority of section 1106(a) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1306(a)) and sections 1874 and 1876 of Title XVIII of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395kk and 1395mm).

Purpose(s):

The Beneficiary Inquiry Tracking System (BITS) will be used to track and monitor the resolution of the inquiries made by or on behalf of Medicare beneficiaries who are or who have been enrolled in a Group Health Plan. A Group Health Plan is a Health Maintenance Organization (HMO), Competitive Medical Plan (CMP), or a Health Care Prepayment Plan (HCPP) which has executed a contract with HCFA to provide services to Medicare beneficiaries on a prepaid or cost basis.

BITS is one of several approaches HCFA will utilize to promote the effective administration and operation, and to maintain the integrity of the Medicare HMO/CMP program. The primary function of BITS will be to track and monitor the status of inquiries received by HCFA and HCFA's ten regional offices (RO) regarding Medicare Group Health Plans. This will assist the ROs in managing their inquiry caseloads and will facilitate timely resolution of the inquiries. In addition, BITS will serve a valuable program monitoring and evaluation function. The data accumulated in BITS will be aggregated and used to generate reports documenting on a national, regional, or plan level the volume and specific types of inquiries received for or on behalf of Medicare beneficiaries. The Office of Prepaid Health Care (OPHC) will use these reports to conduct various analyses and to develop program indicators for operational (e.g., contract renewal) and programmatic issues. Based upon analysis of these reports, OPHC will be able to identify potential problems or conflicts that exist within the Medicare HMO program. If a particular analysis reveals a significant volume of inquiries or compliants which appear to be valid, HCFA will pursue further investigation and/or corrective actions that may be appropriate. In this manner, BITS will be integrated into and will complement other monitoring and oversight activities of the Department, HCFA, and OPHC.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosures may be made:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office at the request of the subject individual.

2. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency there of where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

3. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

4. To a third party where:

(a) HCFA needs information from the third party to verify information presented by the inquiring individual relating to program integrity, quality of care, evaluation and measurement of system activities, entitlement to benefits, or amount of reimbursement,

(b) The individual is unable to provide the information sought by HCFA, i.e., there is a reasonable basis to conclude that the individual is of questionable mental capability, cannot read or write, cannot communicate due to a language barrier, or lacks access to the information, or that some similar circumstances exists;

(c) The party to whom disclosure is to be made has, or is reasonably expected to have such information, and disclosure is needed in order to obtain the information; and

(d) HCFA determines that the purpose of disclosure is compatible with the purposes for which the records were collected.

5. To a State Insurance Commissioner or other state regulator with similar authority, Professional Review Organization, Quality Review Organization, or an entity under contract to HCFA or the Department acting in a manner consistent with maintaining the integrity of the Medicare program if HCFA determines that disclosure of beneficiary-specific information is necessary or relevant to an official investigation or litigation regarding a specific case, and if HCFA determines:

(a) That the use or disclosure of information does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained; and

(b) That the purpose for which disclosure is to be made:

(1) Is compatible with the purposes for which the records were collected;

(2) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individual identifiable form; and

(3) Is of sufficient importance to warrant any effect on the privacy of the individual that disclosure of the record might bring; and

(c) That adequate safeguards have been instituted so as to protect the confidentiality of the data and prevent unauthorized access to it; and

(d) That the appropriate procedures, format, and media will be used for the data disclosure process.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are maintained at each of the system location sites in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and computer discs) and in paper form.

Retrievability:

The data in this system are retrieved by beneficiary name, social security number or record number.

Safeguards:

Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the Department of HHS' Information Resources Management Manual, "Part 6, Automated Information Systems Security." This includes maintaining the records in a secure enclosure.

Access to specific records is limited to those who have a need for them in the performance of their official duties.

Paper records are maintained in locked files in buildings which are secured after normal business hours.

Retention and disposal:

Records are maintained on-line in the system from the date of inquiry until two years after the final response is released.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Prepaid Health Care, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 4360 HHS North Building, 330 Independence Avenue, SW., Washington, DC 20201

Notification procedures:

To determine if a record exists, write to the system manager at the address indicated above or to the HMO Coordinator at the appropriate regional office (see Appendix A), and specify beneficiary name or Social Security Number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requestors should reasonably specify the information in the records being sought. You may also request an accounting of disclosures that have been made of your records, if any. (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the system manager named above and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, and state the corrective action sought and your reasons for requesting the correction, along with information to show how the record is inaccurate, incomplete, untimely, irrelevant, or otherwise in need of correction. (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).

Record source categories:

The identifying information contained in these records is obtained from the inquiries of or those made on behalf of Medicare beneficiaries and the following sources: Congressional office; Health Maintenance Organization (HMO) or a Group Plan; HCFA Central Office; Social Security Administration; providers; Medicare Intermediary/Carrier; Office of the Inspector General; Professional Review Organization; State Insurance Commissioner/State Regulator; Disenrollment Survey; and all others. The paper record includes the original incoming inquiry, any supporting documentation obtained during the investigation process, and the final inquiry response. The magnetic tape record will only include information to be compiled in the data base (e.g., name, dates associated with inquiry resolution, type of inquiry) and not any descriptive data items.

System location:

Health Care Financing Administration, Office of Prepaid Health Care, Room 4360 HHS Cohen Building, Washington, DC 20201.

Contractor (to be selected).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Any Medicare beneficiary who is or has been enrolled in a health maintenance organization (HMO) or competitive medical plan (CMP) and who has requested a reconsideration appeal by HCFA, or any persons who act on behalf of these beneficiaries.

Categories of records in the system:

Information in the record includes the following:

1. Beneficiary Name and/or Name of Beneficiary Representative and Addresses.
2. Health Insurance Claim (HIC) Number.
3. Health Plan Name and Address.
4. Health Plan Number.
5. Beneficiary Medical Records and Statement of Facts.
6. Claims Data: Date Claim Received by Health Plan, Date(s) of Service.
7. Routine Items: Beneficiary Enrollment Form and Disenrollment Request, Verification of Enrollment HMO Status, Date Reconsideration Request Submitted to HCFA, Date(s) of Determination(s) by Plan and HCFA.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

This system is established under the authority of Section 1876 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395mm).

Purpose(s):

To keep account of reconsiderations requested by or on behalf of Medicare HMO/CMP enrollees and to promote the effectiveness and integrity of the Medicare HMO/CMP program.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosures may be made:

1. To a Congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office at the request of the subject individual.

2. To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components:

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided that in each case HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

3. To a Contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for ADP or telecommunications systems containing or supporting records in the system.

4. To a third party where:

(a) HCFA needs information from the third party to verify information presented by the beneficiary or beneficiary representative relating to the beneficiary's entitlement to benefits, the amount of reimbursement, or a similar question;

(b) The individual is unable to provide the information sought by HCFA, i.e., there is a reasonable basis to conclude that the individual is of questionable mental capability, cannot read or write, cannot communicate due to a language barrier, or lacks access to information, or that some similar circumstance exists;

(c) The party to whom disclosure is to be made has, or is reasonably expected to have, information to assist the individual and disclosure is needed in order to obtain this information; and

(d) HCFA determines that the purpose of disclosure is compatible with the purposes for which the records were collected.

5. To a State Insurance Commissioner or other state regulator with similar authority, Peer Review Organization (PRO), Quality Review Organization (QRO), or an entity under contract to HCFA or the Department acting in a manner consistent with maintaining the integrity of the Medicare program, if HCFA determines that disclosure of beneficiary—specific information is necessary or relevant to an official investigation or litigation regarding a specific case, and if HCFA determines:

(a) That the use or disclosure of information does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained;

(b) That the purpose for which disclosure is to be made:

(1) Is compatible with the purposes for which the records were collected;

(2) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individual identifiable form; and

(3) Is of sufficient importance to warrant any effect on the privacy of the individual that disclosure of the record might bring;

(c) That adequate safeguards have been instituted so as to protect the confidentiality of the data and prevent unauthorized access to it; and

(d) That the appropriate procedures, format, and media will be used for the data disclosure process.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are maintained at each of the system location sites in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and computer discs) and in paper form.

Retrievability:

The data in this system are retrieved by beneficiary name, health insurance claim (HIC) number, health plan, or record number.

Safeguards:

Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the Department of HHS' Information Resources Management Manual, "Part 6, Automated Information Systems Security". This includes maintaining the records in a secure enclosure.

Access to specific records is limited to those who have a need for them in the performance of their official duties.

Paper records are maintained in locked files in buildings which are secured after normal business hours.

Retention and disposal:

Records are maintained on-line in the system from the date of inquiry until two years after the final response is released.

System manager(s) and address:

Project Officer, Medicare HMO/CMP Beneficiary Reconsideration System, Office of Prepaid Health Care, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 4360, HHS Cohen Building, 330 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20201

Notification procedure:

To determine if a record exists, write to the system manager at the address indicated above or to the HMO Coordinator at the appropriate regional office (see Appendix A), and specify beneficiary name, HIC number, and health plan.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requestors should reasonably specify the information in the records being sought. You may also request an accounting of disclosures that have been made of your records, if any. These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2)).

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the system manager named above and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested, state the corrective action sought and your reasons for requesting the corrections, along with information to show how the record is inaccurate, incomplete, untimely, irrelevant, or otherwise in need of correction. These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).

Record source categories:

The identifying information contained in these records is obtained from the reconsideration requests made by or on behalf of Medicare beneficiaries and from inquiries from the following sources: Congressional office, the Health Plan, HCFA Central Office, Social Security Administration, providers; Medicare Intermediary/Carrier, State Insurance Commissioner/State Regulator, Disenrollment Survey, and all others. The paper record includes the original incoming reconsideration request or inquiry, any supporting documentation obtained during the investigation process, and the final response.

The magnetic tape record or computer disc record will only include information to be compiled in data base (e.g., name, dates associated with the reconsideration request or inquiry resolution, type of inquiry) and will not include any descriptive data items.

System name:

Medicare Hearings and Appeals System (MHAS).

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Health Care Financing Administration, 6325 Security Boulevard (Paper Media), Baltimore, Maryland 21207. (Contact system manager for location of Magnetic Media computerized records.)

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All individuals who request a hearing by an administrative law judge (ALJ) or appeal an ALJ decision on cases administered by HCFA pursuant to Titles XI, XVIII, and XIX of the Social Security Act, as amended.

Categories of records in the system:

The system contains information concerning Medicare beneficiaries and physicians and other persons involved in furnishing services to Health Insurance beneficiaries. Information on beneficiaries may include: Name, address, SSN, medical services, equipment, and supplies for which Medicare reimbursement is requested, and material used to determine amount of benefits allowable under Medicare. Information on physicians and other persons may include: Name, address, specialty, identification number, medical services for which Medicare reimbursement is requested, material used to determine amount of benefits allowable under Medicare, and material used to determine whether a sanction or suspension is warranted.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205, 1155, 1156, 1869, and 1872 of the Social Security Act, as amended.

Purpose(s):

The Hearing and Appeals File contains information used in processing the claimant's Request for Hearing or Appeal; information for the conduct of the hearing or appeal; information the Administrative Law Judge uses to reach a decision; and information to reply to future correspondence.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosures may be made to: (1) A contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining or processing records in this system or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating ADP software. Data would also be disclosed to contractors incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications system containing or supporting records in the system.

(2) A congressional office from the record of an individual in response to an inquiry from the congressional office at the request of that individual.

(3) To the Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components, is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

(4) The Department of Justice for investigation and prosecuting violations of the Social Security Act to which criminal penalties attach, or other criminal statutes as they pertain to the Social Security Act programs, for representing the Secretary, and for investigating issues of fraud by agency officers or employees, or violation of civil rights.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Paper and magnetic media.

Retrievability:

Records are normally retrieved numerically by the docket control number. However, records will be cross-referenced by the beneficiary's social security number, physician's or other individual's identification number, and alphabetically by name, in order to associate correspondence.

Safeguards:

a. Authorized Users: Only agency employees and contractor personnel whose duties require the use of information in the system. In addition, such agency employees and contractor personnel are advised that the information is confidential and of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information.

b. Physical Safeguards: Records are stored in locked files or secured areas. Computer terminals are in secured areas.

c. Procedural Safeguards: Employees who maintain records in the system are instructed to grant regular access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords known only to authorized personnel.

Contractors who maintain records in this system are instructed to make no further disclosure of the records except as authorized by the system manager and permitted by the Privacy Act. Privacy Act language is included in contracts related to this system.

d. Implementation Guidelines: Safeguards are implemented in accordance with all guidelines required by the Department of Health and Human Services. Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the Department of HHS' Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security."

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained for 10 years after the last action on the record.

System manager(s) and address:

Associate Administrator/Office of Associate Administrator of Operations, Health Care Financing Administration, Room 742, East High Rise, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries and requests for system records should be addressed to the system manager at the address above. The requestor must specify the case control number or the claimant's name and health insurance claim number or provider number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedure. Requestors should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations, 45 CFR 5b.7.)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the system manager named above, and reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it (e.g., why it is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete or not current). (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations, 45 CFR 5b.7.)

Record source categories:

HCFA obtains the identifying information in this system from the request for a Medicare hearing or appeal. Information in these records are obtained from Medicare carrier or intermediary, or Peer Review Organization records.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Medicaid Statistical Information System (MEDSTAT).

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Health Care Financing Administration, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207 (Contact system manager for location of magnetic computerized records.)

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Persons enrolled in Medicaid in participating States.

Categories of records in the system:

Medicaid enrollment records, and Paid health care claims records.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 1902(a)(6) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396a(a)(6)).

Purpose(s):

1. To make available high quality, accurate, flexible, and timely data on the Medicaid program by collecting standardized enrollment and paid claims data that will be reported, verified, and maintained on an ongoing basis.

2. To establish a single primary source of Medicaid data at the Federal level for maintaining a single, accurate, and comprehensive Medicaid data base that can be analyzed to produce regular statistical reports; to support research of important policy, quality and effectiveness of care, and epidemiological issues; and to support detecting fraud, abuse, and waste regarding the Medicaid program.

3. To eliminate the need for special data collection efforts to obtain the data necessary to support special studies.

4. To reduce the State reporting burden by eliminating redundant reporting and the need to prepare complex, time consuming summary information.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made to:

1. A contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating, or otherwise refining or processing records in this system, or for developing, modifying and/or manipulating it with ADP software. Data would also be available to users incidental to consultation, programming, operation, user assistance, or maintenance for an ADP or telecommunications system containing or supporting records in the system.

2. The congressional office of an individual, in response to an inquiry from that congressional office at the request of the individual involved.

3. The Department of Justice, to a court or other tribunal, or to another party before such tribunal, when

(a) HHS, or any component thereof; or

(b) Any HHS employee in his or her official capacity; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her capacity where the Department of Justice (or HHS, where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d) The United States or any agency thereof where HHS determines that the litigation is likely to affect HHS or any of its components;

Is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and HHS determines that the use of such records by the Department of Justice, the tribunal, or the other party is relevant and necessary to the litigation and would help in the effective representation of the governmental party, provided, however, that in each case, HHS determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. An individual or organization for a research, evaluation, or epidemiological project related to the prevention of disease or disability, the restoration or maintenance of health, or the study of the costs of providing health care, if HCFA:

(a) Determines that the use or disclosure does not violate legal limitations under which the record was provided, collected, or obtained.

(b) Determines that the purpose for which the disclosure is to be made:

(1) Cannot be reasonably accomplished unless the record is provided in individually identifiable form;

(2) Is of sufficient importance to warrant the effect and/or risk on the privacy of the individual that additional exposure of the record might bring; and

(3) There is reasonable probability that the objective for the use would be accomplished.

(c) Requires the information recipient to:

(1) Establish reasonable administrative, technical, and physical safeguards to prevent unauthorized use or disclosure of the record, and

(2) Remove or destroy the information that allows the individual to be identified at the earliest time at which removal or destruction can be accomplished consistent with the purpose of the project unless the recipient presents an adequate justification of a research or health nature for retaining such information, and

(3) Make no further use or disclosure of the record except:

a. In emergency circumstances affecting the health or safety of any individual;

b. For use in another research project, under these same conditions, and with written authorization of HCFA;

c. For disclosure to a properly identified person for the purpose of an audit related to the research project, if information that would enable research subjects to be identified is removed or destroyed at the earliest opportunity consistent with the purpose of the audit; or

d. When required by law.

(d) Secures a written statement attesting to the information recipient's understanding of and willingness to abide by these provisions.

5. Employees of a State government for the purposes of investigating potential fraud, abuse, or waste related to the Medicaid program or for research relating to the Medicaid program.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Magnetic media.

Retrievability:

Records may be retrieved by the MEDSTAT identification number (which may be either a State-assigned identifier or a social security number.)

Safeguards:

a. Authorized Users: Only HHS employees and contract personnel whose duties require the use of the system may access the data. In addition, such HHS employees and contractor personnel are advised that the information is confidential and that criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of private information may be applied.

b. Physical Safeguards: Data tapes are stored in secured facilities and access is protected by Resource Access Control Facility (RACF) data security system. Access to data on disk is secured by using RACF, Model 204 password security, MEDSTAT system password security, file-level password security, and field-level password security.

c. Procedural Safeguards: Employees who maintain records in the system are instructed to grant regular access only to authorized users. Data stored in computers are accessed through the use of passwords known only to authorized personnel. Contractors who maintain records in the system are instructed to make no further disclosure of the records except as authorized by the system manager and permitted by the Privacy Act.

d. Implementation Guidelines: Safeguards are implemented in accordance with all guidelines required by the Department of Health and Human Services. Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the Department of Health and Human Services' automated Data Processing Manual, Part 6 "ADP System Security."

Retention and disposal:

Records will be retained for 10 years after the last action on the record.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Medicaid Estimates and Statistics, Health Care Financing Administration, J-1, EQ05, 6325 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21207.

Notification procedure:

Inquiries and requests for system records should be addressed to the system manager at the address above. The requestor must specify the State, Medicaid Identifier number, date of birth, and social security number.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requestors must reasonably specify the information being sought. (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.5(a)(2).)

Contesting record procedures:

Contact the system manager named above, reasonably identify the record (provide State, Medicaid identifier number, date of birth, and social security number), and specify the information to be contested. State the reason for contesting it; e.g., why the information is inaccurate, irrelevant, incomplete or not current. (These procedures are in accordance with Departmental Regulations (45 CFR 5b.7).)

Record source categories:

HCFA obtains the identifying information in this system from State Medicaid Agencies. Almost all information in the proposed system is derived from States' Medicaid Management Information Systems.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Commissioner's Correspondence File, HHS/SSA/OC.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Room 922, Altmeyer Building, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235 and Social Security Administration, Room 656G Hubert H. Humphrey Building, 200 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Any person or group who writes directly to the Commissioner of Social Security.

Categories of records in the system:

The Commissioner's incoming personnel correspondence and responses to such correspondence.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 205 of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

This system is established solely for reference when applying to subsequent inquiries.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored in paper form and in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and disk).

Retrievability:

Records in this system are indexed and retrieved by the name of the correspondent.

Safeguards:

Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the Department of Health and Human Services' Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." This includes maintaining the records in a secured enclosure attended by security guards. Anyone entering or leaving the enclosure must have a special badge issued only to authorized personnel. Access to specific records in this system is limited to members of the Executive Secretariat's staff. Also, employees are periodically briefed on Privacy Act requirements and SSA confidentiality rules, including the criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of or access to personal records. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personnel records.)

Retention and disposal:

General correspondence is held 2 years. Paper files are destroyed by shredding when deemed appropriate. Computer files are archived after 12 months.

System manager(s) and address:

Chief, Baltimore Branch, Executive Secretariat, 922 Altmeyer Building, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by writing to the following address: Office of the Commissioner, 922 Altmeyer Building, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

When requesting notification or access to a record in this system, the individual should refer to this system and provide his or her name and return address. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requesters should reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These access procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requestors should reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Incoming correspondence and responses to the correspondence.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

Social Security Administration, Office of Disability Operations, Dickenson Tower Building, 1500 Woodlawn Drive, Baltimore, MD 21241
Social Security Administration, Office of Hearings and Appeals, Ballston Center, Tower 2, 800 Randolph Road, Arlington, VA 22204 and Health Care Financing Administration, Medicare Bureau, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Records are maintained for individuals who forward a request for information to the Commissioner of Social Security and for individuals whose requests to members of Congress, the President, etc., are forwarded to the Commissioner for response.

This system also contains records on Social Security beneficiaries (or persons inquiring on their behalf) who are reporting failure to receive a check or checks which they believe are due or are inquiring about other matters which have been determined to be of critical or sensitive nature.

Categories of records in the system:

Information in the records includes the following: Name of individual involved (and Social Security number if given); name of third party inquirer (if present); type of correspondence; organizational component having initial responsibility for the inquiry; Congressman's name (if a congressional inquiry); inquiry source code (indicates which congressman's office referred an inquiry to the Social Security Administration (SSA)); address-to code (official to whom inquiry is directed); signature code (official whose name will appear on the reply); computer identification code (10-digit code cross-referred to the name of the individual); subject matter code; location of information (component and date of receipt); and response information (type and date of Social Security Administration response).

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 205(a) and 1631 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. sections 405(a) and 1383) and section 413 of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act (Black Lung Act).

Purpose(s):

Information is maintained in this system solely to aid in the control of correspondence through the various processing steps. This system is used to control processing of correspondence within the SSA Central Office complex and the SSA Office of Hearings and Appeals in Arlington, Virginia, and to provide management information regarding the correspondence process.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Department of the Treasury to determine if payment was issued or check returned for cash.

3.Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records

4. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

5. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are maintained in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and computer discs and in paper form.

Retrievability:

The data in this system are retrieved by both name and computer identification number, which are cross-referred.

Safeguards:

Safeguards for automated records have been establish in accordance with the HHS Automatic Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." This includes maintaining the records in secured enclosures attended by security guards. Anyone entering or leaving the enclosures must have a special badge issued only to authorized personnel. Access to specific records is limited to employees who have a need for them in the performance of their official duties. Paper records are maintained in locked files or in buildings which are secured after normal business hours. Also, all employees periodically are briefed on Privacy Act requirements and SSA confidentiality rules, including the criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of or access to personal records. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal records.)

Retention and disposal:

Records are maintained on-line in the system from the time of control until 13 months after the final response is released. Magnetic tape records are maintained for an additional 24 months before being erased. Paper records are disposed of by shredding when deemed no longer needed.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Public Inquiries, Social Security Administration, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by writing to the following address: Chief, Correspondence Systems and Analysis Branch, Office of Public Inquiries, Social Security Administration, 6401, Security Boulevard, Baltimore, 21235.

When requesting notification of or access to records, the individual should provide his or her name, the person to whom the inquiry was sent, and the date of the inquiry. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requesters should reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These access procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requesters should reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Records in this system are derived from inquiries directed to the Commissioner of Social Security from members of the public; individuals or someone acting on their behalf; the individual's claims record (maintained in the system 09-60-0089); and contacts within and outside SSA.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-60-0003

System name:

Hearing File and Attorney Fee File, HHS/SSA/OHA.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Hearing File: Preparation of new hearing files was discontinued as of May 30, 1975. Files prepared prior to that date are still used, when available, by Office of Hearings and Appeals (OHA) employees at appropriate work stations. Existing files are maintained at: Social Security Administration, Office of Hearings and Appeals, 801 North Randolph Street, Arlington, Virginia 22203.

Attorney fee information is maintained primarily in the appropriate hearing offices (see Appendix G for address information).

When the Administrative Law Judge recommends approval of a requested fee amount which exceeds 3,000 or when there is a requested administrative review of fees initially authorized by the Administrative law Judge, the files are maintained by the regional chief Administrative Law Judge in the appropriate regional office (see Appendix G for Address information).

Attorney fee files relating to requested administrative review of fees initially authorized by the regional chief Administrative law Judges, as well as those where the Attorney Fee staff has sole jurisdiction, are maintained at: Social Security Administration, Office of Hearings and Appeals, 200 Glebe Road Arlington, Virginia 22203.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Claimants Title II (Retirement, Survivors and Disability Insurance), Title IX (claimants subject to professional standards review), Title XVI (Supplemental Security Income), Title XVIII (Health Insurance), and claimants for Black Lung Benefits under provisions of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act; and attorneys representing claimants in Social Security Administration proceedings.

Categories of records in the system:

When present, the hearing file generally contains: Request for hearing, notice of hearing, "Appearance at Hearing" Card signed by claimant, correspondence to and from claimant, representative, or other source of evidence, cassette recordings of hearing, HA-503 card (case control device), decision (or dismissal order) and any material otherwise in an Appeals File.The hearing file (when present) may also contain the following information which is otherwise maintained as the Attorney Fee File: Attorney Fee Petition; Fee Authorization Order; related correspondence and control card; and when appropriate, request for administrative review and Attorney Fee Analyst recommendation.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205,1631(d)(1), and 1872 of the Social Secutity Act, as amended, and Section 413(b) of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act, as amended.

Purpose(s):

The Hearing File contains information used in processing the claimant's Request for Hearing; information for the conduct of the hearing, if any; and information the Administrative law Judge uses to reach a decision. Attorney Fee Files are used in processing attorney fee petitions and to respond to correspondence and other inquiries related to representation of claimants.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be make for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components: or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

3. To applicants, claimants, beneficiaries, other than the subject individual, authorized representatives, experts, and other participants at a hearing to the extent necessary to pursue a claim or other matter on appeal.

4. To an attorney to the extent necessary to dispose of an attorney fee petition.

5. To the Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury, as necessary, for the purpose of auditing the Social Security Administration's compliance with safeguard provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended.

6. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

7. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

8. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored in paper form (e.g., individual case folders and file control cards).

Retrievability:

Records are indexed and retrieved by name and Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Hearing File folders are stored in filing cabinets. Attorney Fee File control cards are stored in filing containers. The folders are kept on filing shelves. The records are kept in a secured storage area with access to and use of these records limited to those persons whose official duties require such access. All employees are instructed in Social Security Administration confidentiality rules as part of their initial orientation training. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal records.)

Retention and disposal:

After all actions are completed, hearing files are forwarded to the Federal Archives Records Center. Attorney fee file folders are destroyed after 2 years, control card after 5 years, by shredding.

System manager(s) and address:

Associate Commissioner, Office of Hearings and Appeals, Room 402, 3833 North Fairfax Drive, Arlington, Virginia 22203.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record pertaining to him or her by writing to the system manager at the address shown below: Social Security Administration, Office of Hearings and Appeals, P.O. Box 2518, Washington, D.C. 20013.

When requesting notification of or access to records, the individual should provide his/her name and Social Security number. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters also should reasonably specify the record contents they are seeking. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters also should reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the correction action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Information in this system is derived from the claimant, his or her representative, appropriate members of the public, the Social Security Administration and other Federal, State and local agencies.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Working File of the Appeals Council, HHS/SSA/OHA.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Hearing and Appeals, 801 North Randolph Street, Arlington, Virginia 22203.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Claimants—Title II (Retirement, Survivors and Disability Insurance); Title VI (Supplemental Security Income); Title XVIII (Health Insurance); Title XI (Claimants subject to Professional Standards Review) and claimants for Black Lung benefits under provisions of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act.

Categories of records in the system:

This file generally contains: Hearings and Appeals analyst's recommendation to the Appeals Council; a copy of the Administrative Law Judge decision or dismissal; a copy of the Request for Review by the Appeals Council form; copies of correspondence and replies relating to the case; requests to Medical Support Staff and their comments, if not entered into the record; copies of Appeals Council actions on the case; notice of denial of request for review, order of remand, notice of granting review, Appeals Council decisions; copies of all post-adjudicative actions or correspondence; copies of transcripts when available.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205, 1631(d)(1), and 1872 of the Social Security Act, as amended, and section 413(b) of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act, as amended.

Purpose(s):

The Appeals File is established to be an internal working file used in connection with a recommendation to, or action by, the Appeals Council in an individual case. The Office of Hearings and Appeals creates the file when there is no hearing file. Members of the Appeals Council and their support staff use the Appeals File when working on cases on appeal and when handling post-adjudicative actions and correspondence.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

3. To the Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury, as necessary, for the purpose of auditing the Social Security Administration's compliance with safeguard provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended.

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are maintained in paper form (e.g., paper folder files on filing shelves).

Retrievability:

The records are indexed and retrieved by use of the Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Access to and use of these records limited to those persons whose official duties require such access. All employees are instructed in Social Security Administration confidentiality rules as part of their initial orientation. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

The records are destroyed 12 calendar months after the Appeals Council's final action where no court action is initiated. In active court cases, the records are destroyed 4 calendar months after final court action. All files are destroyed by shredding.

System manager(s) and address:

Associate Commissioner, Office of Hearings and Appeals, Room 402, 3833 North Fairfax Drive, Arlington, Virginia 22203.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by writing to the following address and providing his or her name and Social Security number (or the name and Social Security number under which the claim was filed). (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.)

Storage of Hearing Records: Tape Cassettes and Audiograph Discs, HHS/SSA/OHA.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Hearings and Appeals, 801 North Randolph Street, Arlington, Virginia 22203.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Claimants—Title II (Retirement, Survivors and Disability Insurance); Title XI (Claimants subject Professional Standards Review); Title XVI (Supplemental Security Income); Title XVIII (Health Insurance) and claimants for Black Lung benefits pursuant to provisions of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act.

Categories of records in the system:

Recording of actual hearing before an Administrative Law Judge. Hearing cassettes are recorded on reel tapes. Each reel tape contains a consolidation of approximately 940 cassettes.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205, 1631, and 1872 of the Social Security Act, as amended, and section 413(b) of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act, as amended.

Purpose(s):

The tape cassettes and audiograph discs system is the basic record of the hearing conducted in an individual case by the Administrative Law Judge. It is the source from which the document transcript is prepared. Social Security employees use the information as a reference to respond to subsequent correspondence and/or further appeal of the claim and to process an attorney fee petition when appropriate.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

6. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are stored on cassette tapes, master tape reels, and in disc storage containers.

Retrievability:

The records are indexed by name and Social Security number.

Safeguards:

The containers are housed on racks in a secure storage area with access to the records limited to employees with a job related need to know. All employees are instructed in Social Security Administration confidentiality rules as part of their initial orientation training. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Tape cassettes dated prior to 1981 are transferred to the Washington National Records Center (WNRC) 12 months after the last action on the case. The cassettes are destroyed (erased) after 10 years in the WNRC. Tape cassettes dated 1981 and after, after recording on reels, are erased and returned to blank stock after 6 months. Master reels are transferred to the WNRC when 3 years old and then erased after 10 years. Disks are erased when 3 years old.

Access to and use of the records are limited to those employees whose official duties require such access. System security for the automated records has been established in accordance with the HHS Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." This includes maintaining the records in secured enclosure attended by armed marshals. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

The records are retained until they are retired to a Federal Archives Records Center; magnetic tape records then are erased and returned to stock. Paper records are disposed of by shredding.

System manager(s) and address:

Associate Commissioner, Office of Hearings and Appeals, Room 402, 3833 North Fairfax Drive, Arlington, Virginia 22203.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record pertaining to him or her by following the instructions below:

For cases at the Appeals Council write to: Social Security Administration, Office of Hearings and Appeals, P.O. Box 2518, Washington, D.C. 20013.

For cases at the Hearing Office write to the Hearing Office at the appropriate address in Appendix G.

When requesting notification, the individual should provide his or her name, address and Social Security number. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These access procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Information in this system is obtained from claimants, representatives, appropriate members of the public, the Social Security Administration and other Federal, State and local agencies.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Hearings and Appeals, Vocational Consultant Program Staff, 801 North Randolph Street, Arlington, Virginia 22203

Social Security Administration, Office of Hearings and Appeals, Appeals Council, Office of Hearings and Appeals, 801 North Randolph Street, Arlington, Virginia 22203 and each hearing office (see Appendix G for address information)

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals under contract to provide expert or consultative services to the Office of Hearings and Appeals.

Categories of records in the system:

A list of all Vocational Experts and Medical Advisors under contract, who are within the area serviced by the hearing office, and their usage. A list of all Medical Consultants under contract for services in Central Office. In addition, a folder is kept for each expert containing name, Social Security Number, a copy of the contract, qualifications, travel orders, invoices, and correspondence and other written records concerning usage as a expert, including evaluation or services.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205, 1631(d)(1), and 1872 of the Social Security Act, as amended and section 413(d) of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act, as amended.

Purpose(s):

The purposes of this system are as follows: Listing alphabetically by name of vocational expert and medical advisor is used to select the expert or advisor on a rotational basis for use in a hearing case. Listing alphabetically by name of consultant is used to select a consultant as needed in a case before the Appeals Council. Records maintained in contractor files are used for carrying out administrative management responsibilities. These may be used in connection with budgetary planning, assessing services and usage, renewal of contracts, and preparing statistical or summary reports.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

3. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

4. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

5. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored in paper form.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved alphabetically by name.

Safeguards:

Folders are maintained in locked filing cabinets. Access to and use are limited to those persons whose official duties require such access. All employees are instructed in Social Security Administration confidentiality rules as part of their initial training. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained for at least 2 years after expiration of contract at which time they are disposed of by shredding.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Management, Budget, and Personnel, Office of Human Resources, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Employees of the Social Security Administration (SSA).

Categories of records in the system:

These records include tests, test scores, responses to test items and questionnaires, interview data, and special ratings of employees obtained in test validation and other research.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Title 5, U.S. Code Sec. 3301, Sec. 1303.

Purpose(s):

This system is established for certain research projects such as those that involve longitudinal studies. Research data are collected on a project by project basis, and are used for the construction, analysis and validation of tests, for research on personnel measurement and selection methods and techniques such as performance evaluation or productivity. Many data are collected under conditions assuring their confidentiality. Personal information in this system of records is used by the Performance Management Branch in its research activities. Merit Promotion Test and Assessment Center Systems are established to be used as factors weighted under SSA Merit Promotion Programs.

These records also may be used as a data source for production of summary descriptive statistics and analytical studies in support of the function for which the records are collected and maintained, or for related personnel management functions or manpower studies.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To the Office of Personnel Management for personnel research purposes.

2. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

3. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee.

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

4. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

5. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

6. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in file folders, on punched cards, microfiche, computer tape, and in computer storage.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by one or more of the following: Region or headquarters, name, Social Security number, date of participation, and type of test or assessment center.

Safeguards:

System security for automated records have been established in accordance with the HHS Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." This includes maintaining the records in secured areas attended by security guards. Anyone entering or leaving the areas must have a special badge issued only to authorized personnel. Access to the records is limited to personnel who have a need for them in the performance of their official duties. Manual records are maintained in locked files or rooms. Also, all SSA employees periodically are briefed on Privacy Act requirements and SSA confidentiality rules, including the criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of or access to personal records. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Test answer sheets are retained for 1 year and then destroyed by burning. All other covered records are retained indefinitely.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Human Resources, Office of Management, Budget and Personnel, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him/her by writing to the system manager at the address above and providing the name of this system, his/her name, identifier where required (e.g., Social Security number), and place of SSA employment or former employment. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.)

These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requestors should reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These access procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requestor should reasonably identify the records, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Information in this system is obtained from individual SSA employees, their supervisors, assessment center assessors or SSA personnel files and records.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

Under the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 552a, subsection (k)(6), which provides for exempting "testing or examination material used solely to determine individual qualifications for appointment or promotion in the Federal service the disclosure of which would compromise the objectivity or fairness of the testing or examination process, "we exempt from disclosure SSA merit promotion tests, test item files, answer keys, completed answer sheets, transmutation tables and schedules, and ratings given for the purpose of validating tests.

Information in this system of records is used by SSA managememt for manpower planning and production control (to identify backlogs, and systems and procedure problems, manpower utilization, budget estimatioms, appraisal of employees).

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

3. To the appropriate Federal, State, or local agency charged with the responsibility of investigating or prosecuting a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal, or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute, or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule, or order issued pursuant thereto, if this system of records indicates that a violation may have occurred.

4. To the Department of Justice to obtain its advice if HHS/SSA deems it desirable or necessary in determining whether particular records from this system are required to be disclosed under the Freedom of Information Act.

5. To Federal agencies who have the power to subpoena other Federal agencies' records upon receipt of a subpoena to HHS/SSA.

6. Where a contract between HHS/SSA and a labor organization recognized under Executive Order 11491 provides that HHS/SSA will disclose personal records relevant to the organization's mission.

7. Where the appropriate official of HHS/SSA pursuant to the Department's Freedom of Information Regulation, determines that it is in the public interest to disclose a record which is otherwise exempt from mandatory disclosure.

8. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, analyzing, aggregating, or otherwise refining records in this system when HHS/SSA contracts with a private firm.

9. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similiar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

10. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

11. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

System name:

Quality Review System, HHS/SSA/OA.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Systems, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Randomly selected applicants for and/or beneficiaries of:

a. Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments under Title XVI of the Social Security Act. Records of some SSI beneficiaries may have been transferred from State welfare rolls for aid to the aged, blind, and disabled.

b. Retirement, Survivors, and Disability insurance benefits under Title II of the Social Security Act.

Categories of records in the system:

a. Supplemental Security Income Quality Review: Quality Review Data Base, selected casefile, contingency sample master file, quality assurance universe file, designated case file, designated case transmission file, designated case extract file, and sample control list. These records may contain: Social Security number, State and county of residence, type of claim, information regarding federally administered supplementation payments, Social Security claims numbers, living arrangements and family composition, income and medical information, sex, race, resources, third party contacts, and indications of processing errors.

b. Retirement and Survivors Insurance and Disability Insurance Quality Review: These records contain information regarding Federal payments and other information listed in (a) above.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205(a), 1631(d), and 1631(e) of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

The Quality Review Data Base is used for accumulating and tabulating data to determine the accuracy of the entitlement status of applicants/beneficiaries and of benefit amounts paid under the Retirement and Survivors Insurance program and the Disability Insurance program, and the eligibility status of applicants/beneficiaries and of benefit amounts paid under the Supplemental Security Income program. Title XVI data also are used to calculate Federal fiscal liability case and gross dollar error rates for State suplementation funds administered by SSA. Other categories of records provide data necessary to complete the data base and to provide information to SA's Field Assessment Office Divisions of Payment and Eligibility Quality and Field and Satellite Offices so that they may review cases to obtain information on the general level of accuracy of the entire beneficiary rolls in the programs noted previously.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

With respect to SSI data, disclosure may be made as indicated below:

1. To the appropriate Federal agency charged with the responsibility for investigating or prosecuting a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal, or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule, or order issued pursuant thereto, if this system of records indicates that a violation may have occurred.

2. To the Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury, as necessary, for the purpose of auditing the Social Security Administration's compliance with safeguard provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended.

3. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, evaluating, analyzing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system when HHS, Social Security Administration contracts with a private firm. (The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.)

4. In the course of employee discipline or competence determination proceedings.

5. To members of the community and local, State, and Federal agencies in order to locate the individual (when his or her whereabouts are unknown), to establish the validity of evidence or to verify the accuracy of information presented by the applicant/beneficiary, representative payee, legal guardian or other representative of the applicant/beneficiary.

6. To State Welfare Departments pursuant to agreements with the Social Security Administration for the Federal administration of State supplementation payments.

7. To State agencies for administration of the Medicaid Quality Control system.

8. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

9. Where Federal agencies having the power to subpoena other Federal agencies' records, issue a subpoena to HHS or the Social Security Administration SSA will make such records available.

10. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

11. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

With respect to Title II data, routine disclosure is made only as indicated in items 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, and 9.

12. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and disks).

Retrievability:

Records are indexed and retrieved by any set of record characteristics; e.g., Social Security number, or name.

Safeguards:

System security has been established for the records in accordance with the HHS Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." Tapes are stored in tape vault in the Division of Data Processing Operations, Office of Systems Operations, or in protected storage racks, disks in protected storage racks. The entire area is secured by guarded entrances, with admission limited to authorized personnel. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

The Quality Review data base is retained indefinitely. Tape records are erased after 30–500 days.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Payment and Eligibility Quality, Office of Assessment, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by writing to the following address: Director, Division of Quality Review Policy and Sample Control, Division of Payment and Eligibility Quality, Office of Assessment, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

When requesting notification of or access to records, the individual should provide his/her name and Social Security number. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. An individual who requests notification of or access to a medical record shall, at the time he or she makes the request, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion.

A parent or guardian who requests notification of or access to a minor's medical record shall at the time he or she makes the request designate a physician or other health professional (other than a family member) who will be willing to review the record and inform the parent or guardian of its contents at the physician's or health professional's discretion.

These access procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Information in the Social Security Administration Quality Review System is furnished by applicants for and beneficiaries of the Retirement and Survivors Insurance program, the Disability Insurance program, and the Supplemental Security Income program, representative payees of such individuals (where appropriate), Social Security Administration offices, other Federal and State agencies, and private sources.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Quality Review Case File, HHS/SSA/OA.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Assessment, Office of Payment and Eligibility Quality, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235

Field (10) and Satellite (27) Offices (See Appendices L.1 and L.2 for address information).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Randomly selected applicants for and/or beneficiaries of:

a. Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments under Title XVI of the Social Security Act. Records of some SSI beneficiaries may have been transferred from State welfare rolls for Aid to the Aged, Blind, and Disabled.

b. Retirement, Survivors, and Disability Insurance benefits under Title II of the Social Security Act.

Categories of records in the system:

The Quality Review Casefile contains information from Social Security Administration records and information obtained by Quality Review Specialists from Retirement and Survivors Insurance, Disability Insurance and SSI applicants and or beneficiaries and from third party sources. These casefiles may contain information relating to any combination of these three programs.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205(a), 1631(d)(1) and 1631(e)(1)(B) of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

Both Title II and Title XVI Quality Review Casefiles are used for accumulating data concerning the eligibility or entitlement of applicants/beneficiaries and of benefit amounts paid under the retirement, survivors, and disability insurance programs, and the supplemental security income program. Casefiles also provide data necessary to complete the Quality Review Data Base and to provide information to the Social Security Administration's Field Assessment Office Divisions of Payment and Eligibility Quality Field and Satellite Offices needed to review cases in order to obtain information on the general level of accuracy of the entire beneficiary rolls in the programs noted previously.

Data obtained from Title XVI Quality Review Casefiles also are used to calculate the Federal fiscal liability case and gross dollar error rates for State supplementation funds administered by SSA.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

With respect to SSI data, disclosure may be made as indicated below:

1. To the appropriate Federal agency charged with the responsibility for investigating or prosecuting a violation or potential violation of law, whether civil, criminal, or regulatory in nature, and whether arising by general statute or particular program statute, or by regulation, rule, or order issued pursuant thereto, if this system of records indicates that a violation may have occurred.

2. To the Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury, as necessary, for the purpose of auditing the Social Security Administration's compliance with safeguard provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended.

3. To a contractor for the purpose of collating, evaluating, analysing, aggregating or otherwise refining records in this system when HHS, Social Security Administration contracts with a private firm. (The contractor shall be required to maintain Privacy Act safeguards with respect to such records.)

4. In the course of employee discipline or competence determination proceedings.

5. To members of the community and local, State, and Federal agencies in order to locate the individual (when his or her whereabouts are unknown), to establish the validity of evidence or to verify the accuracy of information presented by the applicant/beneficiary, representative payee, legal guardian or other representative of the applicant/beneficiary.

6. To State Welfare Departments pursuant to agreements with the Social Security Administration for the Federal administration of State supplementation payments.

7. State agencies for administration of the Medicaid Quality Control System.

8. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

9. Where Federal agencies having the power to subpoena other Federal agencies' records, issue a subpoena to HHS or the Social Security Administration, SSA will make such records available.

10. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

11. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

With respect to title II data, routine disclosure is made only as indicated in items 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, 9, and 10.

12. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in paper form (e.g., paper forms in manila folders).

Retrievability:

The Quality Review Casefiles are retrieved by use of the Social Security number. Retrieval will be speedier if the individual's State of residence, program under which benefits were received and/or applied for, and sample selection month are supplied.

Safeguards:

With respect to Title XVI, Quality Review Casefiles are stored in the Field Assessment Satellite Offices that have jurisdictional responsibility for review of the selected sample cases. With respect to Title II, Quality Review Casefiles are stored in the Field Assessment Office Divisions of Payment and Eligibility Quality, Field Offices and, where appropriate, in the Satellite Field Assessment Offices that have jurisdictional responsibility for review of the selected sample cases. All Quality Review Casefiles are stored either in locked cabinets and or locked rooms in space serviced by GSA guards. Access is limited to SSA employees with responsibility for reviewing and maintaining such casefiles and, in the case of SSI Quality Review Casefiles, to State Medicaid Quality Control employees pursuant to item 7 above. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration applies to protect personal records.)

Retention and disposal:

a. Titles XVI Quality Review Casefile are retained for 18 months after the close of the 6-month period for which the cases were selected for quality review or until 36 months after fiscal settlement (Federal fiscal liability situation) for the sample period for which the individual case was selected is reached between SSA and the individual States, whichever is later.

b. Title II Quality Review Casefiles are retained for 18 months after the close of the 6 month sample period for which the cases were selected for review.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Payment and Eligibility Quality, Office of Assessment, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by writing to the Field Assessment Officer at the respective Field Assessment Office (see Appendix L.1 for address information). When requesting notification of or access to records, the individual should provide his/her name, Social Security number, State or residence and type of claim filed (e.g., Retirement, Survivor's or Disability Insurance). (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. An individual who requests notification of or access to a medical record shall, at the time he or she makes the request, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion.

A parent or guardian who requests notification of or access to minor's medical record shall at the time he or she makes the request designate a physician or other health professional (other than a family member) who will be willing to review the record and inform the parent or guardian of its contents at the physician's or health professional's discretion.

These access procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Information in the Quality Review Casefile is furnished by applicant/beneficiaries under the Retirement and Survivors Insurance program, the Disability Insurance program, and the Supplemental Security Income program, representatives of such individuals (where appropriate), Social Security Administration offices, and other Federal, State, and local agencies, and from private sources.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

System name:

Disability Determination Service Processing File, HHS/SSA/ODP.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Each Disability Determination Services (DDS's) office (see Appendix B.2 for the name and address for each State DDS).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Claimants for Disability Insurance and Black Lung benefits, and Supplemental Security Income payments alleging a disability for whom the Disability Determination Service processes claims.

Categories of records in the system:

Name and Social Security number of wage earner, claimant's name and address, date of birth, diagnosis, beginning and ending dates of disability, basis for determination, work history information, educational level, reexamination date (if applicable), date of application, names and titles of persons making or reviewing the determination and certain administrative data. Also included could be data relative to the location of the file and the status of the claim, copies of medical reports, and data relating to the evaluation and measurement of the effectiveness of claims policies.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301, 30 U.S.C. 923(b), and Sections 221, 1633, and 1634 of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

The records are used primarily for the processing of disability and black lung claims for detection and correction of deficiencies and problems involved in this processing, and for case control purposes.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To State Vocational Rehabilitation agencies or State crippled children's service agencies (or agencies providing services to disabled children) for the consideration of rehabilitation services per sections 222 and 1615 of the Social Security Act.

2. To State audit agencies utilizing this information for verifying proper expenditure of Federal funds by the State in support of the Disability Determination Service (DDS).

3. To the Veterans Administration of information requested for purposes of determining eligibility for or amount of VA benefits, or verifying other information with respect thereto.

4. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

5. In response to legal process of interrogatories relating to the enforcement of an individual's child support or alimony obligations, as required by sections 459 and 461 of the Social Security Act.

6. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

7. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

8. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

9. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof, or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in paper form, on magnetic tape or disk packs. The method of storage may vary from State to State.

Retrievability:

The records are filed by a combination of name and Social Security number depending on the Disability Determination Services' preference.

Safeguards:

Automated records are maintained in accordance with HHS Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." The records are accessible only to Disability Determination Service personnel and subject to the restrictions on disclosures under 5 U.S.C. 552(b)(6), 21 U.S.C. 1175, and 42 U.S.C. 1306. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration applies to protect personal information.

Retention and disposal:

May vary from State to State according to the preference, but generally each State destroys its files over a period varying from 6 months to 36 months unless held in an inactive storage under security measures for a longer period.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Disability Programs, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by providing his/her name and Social Security number to the Disability Determination Service Administrator, Disability Determination Services, C/O State in which he or she resides and/or information is likely to be maintained. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) (See Appendix B.2 for address information.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought.

An individual who requests notification of, or access to a medical record shall, at the time he or she makes the request, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion.

A parent or guardian who requests notification of, or access to a minor's medical record shall at the time he or she makes the request designate a physician or other health professional (other than a family member) who will be willing to review the record and inform the parent or guardian of its contents at the physician's discretion. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

System name:

Black Lung Payment System, HHS/SSA/OUVR.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration Office of System Operations, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All Black Lung beneficiaries currently entitled to receive a Black Lung (BL) benefit and beneficiaries terminated because of a termination event as defined in the Black Lung Benefits Act (BLBA).

Categories of records in the system:

This system consists of two files, a Payment Master Record and a Benefit Master Record which are matched once a month.

The Payment Master Record reflects the Social Security number (SSN) and the payment identification code under which BL benefits are awarded and payment data such as the monthly payment amount; the scheduled payment amount; offset information; the number of beneficiaries on the account as well as the number of beneficiaries in the payment; the month of accrual; the month of debit; credit information; future month of adjustment diary dates; cross-reference information; payee name and address information, direct deposit data, and statistical information.

The Benefit Master Record contains a benefit record for each beneficiary on the account and includes the SSN; the payment and benefit identification codes; the payment status; the monthly benefit amount; the beneficiary's name; type of benefit; date of birth; race; sex; offset information; credit information; date of filing; date of entitlement; representative payee information, and statistical information.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 413 and 415 of the BLBA (30 U.S.C. 923 and 925).

Purpose(s):

The data in this system are used by Social Security employees for responding to inquiries; computer exception processing; conversion of benefits; end of the month reconciliations; statistical studies; to generate payment tapes for Treasury; and for exchange with Department of Labor to administering provisions of the BLBA.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS or any employee of HHS in his/her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee is his/her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to Justice to enable that department or present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

3. To the Office of the President for the purpose of responding to an individual pursuant to an inquiry from that individual or from a third party on his/her behalf.

4. Upon request, information on the identity and location of aliens may be disclosed to the Department of Justice (Criminal Division, Office of Special Investigations) for the purpose of detecting, investigating, and where appropriate, taking legal action against suspected Nazi war criminals in the United States.

5. To third party contacts (including private collection agencies under contract with the Social Security Administration (SSA)) for the purpose of their assisting SSA in recovering overpayments.

6. To the Department of the Treasury of issue BL checks.

7. To the Department of Labor for administering provisions of the BLBA.

8. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its programs. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractural or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

9. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

10. Upon request, pursuant to 38 U.S.C. 3006 information may be disclosed to the Veterans Administration (VA) for the purpose of determining eligibility for or amount of VA benefits or verifying other information with respect to VA Pension and Dependency and Indemnity Compensation Benefit Programs.

11. Information may be disclosed to State WC agencies or private WC carriers (or agents on their behalf) for the purpose of the effecient administration of the BL program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA enters into a signed agreement with a State WC agency or private WC carrier to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to the Black Lung Payment System.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape), disc, microfiche, and in paper form.

Retrievability:

Records in this system are retrieved by SSN.

Safeguards:

Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the HHS Automated Data Processing (ADP) Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." This includes storing the records in secured areas with armed security guards. Anyone entering or leaving the areas must have a special badge issued only to authorized personnel. The records are available to employees only in the performance of their official duties. Paper records are maintained in areas with limited access and offices are locked after business hours.

All employees of SSA are periodically briefed on Privacy Act requirements and SSA confidentiality rules, including the criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of or access to personnal records. (See 47 FR 45671, October 13, 1982, Appendix J for additional information relating to safeguards SSA employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Magnetic tape records are retained for up to 90 days after which they are erased and returned to stock. Paper records are destroyed by shredding after use or disposed of through contractual arrangements with trash collectors. Paper records needed for documentation of the claims folder are retained indefinitely in SSA facilities or in Federal Records Centers. All master records are retained on magnetic disc for on-line query purposes. The query files are updated daily. Microfiche records are disposed of by shredding or the application of heat after periodic replacement of a complete file.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Claims and Payment Requirements, Office of Systems Requirements, Social Security Administration, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21235

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him/her by contacting the system manager at the address shown above and providing his/her name, SSN, approximate date and place claim was filed, type of claim and return address. (Furnishing the SSN is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

An Individual requesting notification of records in person need not furnish any special documents of identity. It is expected that documents he/she would normally carry on his/her person would be sufficient (e.g., credit cards, drivers license, or voter registration card). An individual requesting notification of records via mail or telephone must furnish his/her name, date of birth and address in order to establish identity, plus any additional information which is specified in this section or the Record access procedures section below.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures above. Also, requesters should reasonably specify the record contents they are seeking. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures above. Also, requesters should reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification showing how the record is incomplete, untimely, inaccurate or irrelevant. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Information in this system is prepared from Black Lung claims folders which are maintained in the system of records 09–60–0089—Claim Folders.

System location:

Offices of the Disability Determination Services (DDS) of each State that may currently maintain this type of file. (See the appendix which accompanies this notice for the name and address of each DDS.)

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Physicians who have expressed a willingness to conduct consultative examinations for the DDS and, in some instances, other physicians with whom the DDS has contact. The latter are usually treating physicians. This file also includes, but is not limited to, psychologists, social workers, nurses, audiologists and vocational consultants who express a willingness to conduct some type of consultative service for the DDS.

Categories of records in the system:

Information relative to a consultant's specialty, past experience as to the promptness with which reports are submitted, general thoroughness of reports, fees received, etc., and perhaps comments on the consultant's own preferences (such as appointment hours, etc.)

Authority for maintenance of the system:

5 U.S.C. 301, 30 U.S.C. 923(b), and Sections 221, and 1633 of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

DDS personnel use this information in the selection of a consultant when additional medical or vocational evidence is needed for claims under Titles II and XVI of the Social Security Act or Title IV of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from the office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

3. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting the Social Security Administration (SSA) in the efficient administration of its program.

We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

4. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

5. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Each DDS maintains its own records and the method of storage may vary from State to State. Generally, the information is on a file card maintained in a standard card file cabinet. However, some States may used an automated format.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by the consultant's surname.

Safeguards:

Only authorized SSA and DDS personnel have access to these records. Personal information other than the name of the consultant is subject to the disclosure restrictions of 5 U.S.C. 552(b)(6), 21 U.S.C. 1175, and 42 U.S.C.

Retention and disposal:

Disability Determination Services policy as to retention and disposal varies from State to State, but generally, the file is destroyed upon death, retirement, or relocation of the consultant.

System manager(s) and address:

Associate Commissioner, Office of Disability, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by providing name and address to the Disability Determination Services Administrator, Disability Determination Services, C/O the State in which he or she resides and/or information is likely to be maintained (see the appendix accompanying this notice for address information). These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters also should reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These access procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters also should reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification showing how the record is incomplete, untimely, inaccurate or irrelevant. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Information is obtained mostly from the consultant. Observations of DDS personnel about the consultant, such as the individual's general promptness in filing reports, may occasionally be found in a consultant's file.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

Categories of records in the system:

Social Security numbers of claimants and dates requests were received and processed.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 221 of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

Records in this system are used to prepare monthly processing time reports.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from the office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Internal Revenue Service, Treasury Department, as necessary for the purpose of auditing the Social Security Administration's compliance with safeguard provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended.

3. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are stored in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tapes).

Retrievability:

The records are retrieved by use of the Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Safeguards for the records have been established in accordance with the Department of Health and Human Services Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." Only authorized personnel having a need for this information in the performance of their official duties have access to this data under stringent security measures involving guards, identity cards and photographs, etc. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

The records are maintained until a determination decision is made, at which time the tape records are erased.

System manager(s) and address:

SSA Privacy Officer, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by contacting the system manager at the address shown above and furnishing his or her name, Social Security number, approximate date and place claim was filed, type of claim (Disability Black Lung, of Supplemental Security Income), and return address. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These access procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

System name:

Vocational Rehabilitation Savings Calculation, HHS/SSA/ODP.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Systems Operations, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Disability beneficiaries reported by State vocational rehabilitation agencies as no longer receiving vocational rehabilitation service.

Categories of records in the system:

Records in this system consist of the name and Social Security number of the beneficiary and identifying information about the notice of disclosure, the date of termination or reduction in benefits, if any, amount of benefit, amount of savings and other miscellaneous data.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 222 and 1615 of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

This record serves primarily as a source for furnishing statistical and benefit information on the vocational rehabilitation reimbursement program.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from the office made at the request of the subject of a record.

Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records in this system are stored in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tapes).

Retrievability:

Records are indexed and retrieved by use of the Social Security number.

Safeguards:

System security has been established for this system in accordance with the Department of Health and Human Services' Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." Only authorized personnel having a need for this information in the performance of their official duties have access to this data under stringent security measures involving guards, identity cards and photographs, etc. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Tapes are maintained indefinitely.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Disability Programs, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by contacting the system manager at the address shown above and furnishing his or here name, Social Security number, approximate date and place claim was filed, type of claim (Disability Insurance or Supplemental Security Income), and return address. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.)

Record access procedures:

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Assessment, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Each individual who has filed an application for Social Security Disability Insurance benefits and/or Supplementary Security Income disability payments.

Categories of records in the system:

Information in this system consists of the claimant's name and Social Security numbers; and demographic, diagnostic, and other types of data generated as a result of a review of the State actions on the claim.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 221 of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

This system is used for the purpose of assisting in the assessment of the quality of disability determinations made by State Disability Determination Services. Records are used to report monthly results of the review of the State disability determination progress.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from the office made at the request of the subject of a record.

Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in paper form and in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and disk).

Retrievability:

The records are indexed and retrieved by use of the Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Paper records are kept in secured physical areas. Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the Department of Health and Human Services Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." This includes maintaining automated records in an enclosure attended by security guards. Data is tramsmitted from Field Assessment Offices and headquarters to Computer Sciences Corporation (CSC) time sharing computer facilities, and return, over leased lines provided through CSC. Internal computer security is safeguarded by account numbers, access codes, passwords and edit checks. These assure that only authorized access to the computer system is permitted, that the particular data requested from the system can be released to the requester, and that control is maintained over the locations to which systems data may be sent. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal records.)

Retention and disposal:

The records are maintained for a period of 48 months. Paper records are disposed of by shredding; tape and disc records are destroyed magnetically.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Disability Program Quality, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him/her by writing to the system manager at the address shown above and furnishing name, Social Security number, approximate date and place claim was filed, type of claim (Disability or Supplemental Security Income), and address. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.)

An individual who requests notification of or access to a medical record shall, at the time he or she makes the request, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion.

A parent of guardian who requests notification of or access to a minor's medical record shall at the time he or she makes the request designate a physician or other health professional (other than a family member) who will be willing to review the record and inform the parent of guardian of its contents at the physician's or health professional's discretion. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requesters should reasonably specify the record contents they are accessing. These access procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Records are prepared from Form SSA 3094 and show decision, diagnosis and other information.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-60-0058

System name:

Master Files of Social Security Number Holders, HHS/SSA/OSR.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Systems Operations, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21235

Social Security Administration, Office of Central Operations, Office of Central Records Operations, Metro West Building, 300 N. Greene Street, Baltimore, MD 21201

Social Security Administration, Office of System Requirements, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21235

Records also may be maintained at contractor sites (contract the system manager at the address below to obtain contract addresses).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

This system contains a record of each individual who has applied for and/or obtained a Social Security number (SSN).

Categories of records in the system:

This system contains all of the information received on original applications for SSN's (e.g., name, date and place of birth, both parents names, and race/ethnic data) and any changes in the information on the applications that are submitted by the SSN holder. Cross-references may be noted where multiple numbers have been issued to the same individual and an indication may be shown that a benefit claim has been made under a particular SSN(s).

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205(a) and 205(c)(2) of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

Information in this system is used by the Social Security Administration (SSA) to assign SSN's. The information also is used for a number of administrative purposes such as:

- By SSA components for various Titles II, XVI and XVIII claims purposes including usage of the SSN itself as a case control number and a secondary beneficiary cross-reference control number for enforcement purposes and use of the SSN record data for verification of claimant identity factors and for other claims purposes related to establishing benefit entitlement;
- By SSA as a basic control for retained earnings information;
- By SSA as a basic control and data source to prevent issuance of multiple SSN's;
- As the means to identify incorrectly reported names or SSN's on earnings reports;
- For resolution of earnings discrepancy cases;
- For statistical studies;
- By the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Audit Agency for auditing benefit payments under Social Security programs;
- By the HHS Office of Child Support Enforcement for locating parents who owe child support;
- By the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health for epidemiological research studies required by the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1974;
- By the SSA Office of Refugee Resettlement for administering Cuban refugee assistance payments; and
- By the HHS Health Care Finance Administration for administering Title XVIII claims.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. Employers are notified of the SSN's of employees in order to complete their records for reporting wages to the SSA pursuant to the Federal Insurance Contributions Act and section 218 of the Social Security Act.

15. To the VA for the following purposes:

(a) For the purpose of validating of SSN's of compensation recipients/pensioners in order to provide the release of accurate pension/compensation data by the VA to SSA for Social Security program purposes.

(b) Upon request, for purposes of determining eligibility for or amount of VA benefits, or verifying other information with respect thereto.

16. To Federal agencies which use the SSN as a numerical identifier in their recordkeeping systems, for the purpose of validating SSN's.

17. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) HHS, any component of HHS or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

18. State audit agencies for auditing State supplementation payments and Medicaid eligibility considerations.

19. Information necessary to adjudicate claims filed under an international Social Security agreement that the United States has entered into pursuant to section 233 of the Social Security Act may be disclosed to a foreign country which is a party to that agreement.

20. To Federal, State or local agencies (or agents on their behalf) for the purpose of validating SSN used in administering cash or noncash income maintenance programs or health maintenance programs (including programs under the Social Security Act).

21. To third party contacts in situations where the party to be contacted has, or is expected to have, information which will verify documents when SSA is unable to determine if such documents are authentic.

22. Upon request, information on the identity and location of aliens may be disclosed to the Department of Justice (Criminal Division, Office of Special Investigations) for the purpose of detecting, investigating and, where appropriate, taking legal action against suspected Nazi war criminals in the United States.

23. To the Selective Service System for the purpose of enforcing draft registration pursuant to the provisions of the Military Selective Service Act (50 U.S.C. App. 462, as amended by section 916 of Pub. L. 97-86).

24. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its programs. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

25. Validated SSN information may be disclosed to organizations/agencies such as prison systems which are required by law to furnish SSA with SSN information.

26. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

27. Disclosure of Social Security numbers and dates of birth may be made to the Veterans Administration (VA) or third parties under contract to that agency for the purpose of conducting VA medical research and epidemiological studies.

28. Upon receipt of a request from a person or other entity who hires a job applicant, or recruits or refers for a fee, a job applicant for employment in the United States, SSA will disclose information necessary to validate the SSN of the job applicant in the conduct of a pilot SSN validation process under the provisions of sections 205 and 702 of the Social Security Act.

29. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

30. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records in this system are maintained in paper form (e.g., paper lists and punch cards); magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and disk with on-line access) and in microfilm and microfiche form.

Retrievability:

Records in this system are indexed by both SSN and name.

Safeguards:

Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the HHS Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." This includes maintaining the magnetic tapes and disks within a secured enclosure attended by security guards. Anyone entering or leaving this enclosure must have a special badge issued only to authorized personnel.

For computerized records electronically transmitted between Central Office and field office locations (including organizations administering SSA programs under contractual agreements), safeguards include a lock/unlock password system, exclusive use of leased telephone lines, a terminal oriented transaction matrix, and an audit trail. All microfilm, microfiche, and paper files are accessible only by authorized personnel who have a need for the records in the performance of their official duties.

Expansion and improvement of SSA's telecommunications systems has resulted in the acquisition of terminals equipped with physical key locks. The terminals also are fitted with adapters to permit the future installation of data encryption devices and devices to permit the identification of terminals users.

Retention and disposal:

All paper forms are retained for 5 years after they have been filmed or entered on tape and the accurracy has been verified. They then are destroyed by shredding. All tape, disks, microfilm and microfiche files are updated periodically. Out-of-date magnetic tapes and disks are erased. The out-of-date microfiche is disposed of by the application of heat.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Pre-Claims Requirements, Social Security Administration, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record pertaining to him/her by providing his/her name, signature and SSN, or if the SSN is not known, name, signature, date and place of birth, mother's maiden neme, and father's mame, and evidence of identity to the address shown under system manager above. (Furnishing the SSN is not voluntary, but it makes searching for an individual's record easier and avoids delay.) (See Appendix K to this publication for documentation individuals may be required to furnish to establish their identity when requesting information pertaining to themselves from SSA.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requesters should reasonably specify the record contents they are seeking. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requesters should reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification showing how the record is incomplete, untimely, inaccurate or irrelevant. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Information in this system is obtained from SSN applicants (or individuals acting on their behalf). The SSN itself is assigned to the individual as a result of internal processes of this system.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

Records also may be located at contractor sites (contact the system manager at the address below for contractor addresses).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Any person who has been issued a Social Security number (SSN) and who may or may not have earnings under Social Security or self-employment income; or any person requesting, reporting, or changing and/or inquiring about earnings information; or any person having a vested interest in a private pension fund.

Categories of records in the system:

This system contains records of every SSN holder, his/her name, date of birth, sex, and race and a summary of his/her yearly earnings and quarters of coverage; special employment codes (i.e., self-employment, military, agriculture, and railroad); benefit status information; employer identification (i.e., employer identification numbers and pension plan numbers); minister waiver forms (i.e., forms filed by the clergy for the election or waiver of coverage under the Social Security Act); correspondence received from individuals pertaining to the above mentioned items; the replies to such correspondence; and pension plan information (i.e., nature, form, and amount of vested benefits).

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205(a) and 205(c)(2) of the Social Security Act, the Federal Records Act of 1950 (64 Stat. 583), and the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (Pub. L. 93-406).

Purpose(s):

This system is used for the following purposes:

- As a primary working record file of all SSN holders;
- As a quarterly record detail file to provide full data in wage investigation cases;
- To provide information for determining amount of benefits;
- To record all incorrect or incomplete earnings items;
- To reinstate incorrectly or incompletely reported earnings items;
- To record the latest employer of a wage earner;
- For statistical studies;
- For identification of possible overpayments of benefits;
- For identification of individuals entitled to additional benefits;
- To provide information to employers/former employers for correcting or reconstructing records and for Social Security tax purposes;
- To provide workers and self-employed individuals with earnings statements or quarters of coverage statements;
- To provide information to the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) Audit Agency for auditing benefit payments under Social Security programs;
- To provide information to the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health for epidemiological research studies required by the Occupational Health and Safety Act of 1974;
- To assist Social Security Administration (SSA) in responding to general inquiries about Social Security including their earnings or adjustments to earnings, and in preparing responses to subsequent inquiries; and
- To store minister waivers, thus preventing an erroneous payment of Social Security benefits.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To employers or former employers, including State Social Security Administrators, for correcting and reconstructing State employee earnings records and for Social Security purposes.

2. To the Department of the Treasury for:

(a) Investigating the alleged forgery, or unlawful negotiation of Social Security checks; and

20. Tax return information (e.g., information with respect to net earnings from self-employment, wages, payments of retirement income which have been disclosed to SSA and business and employment addresses) may be disclosed, upon written request, to appropriate officers and employees of a State or local child support enforcement agency for purposes of, and to the extent necessary in,

(a) Establishing and collecting child support obligations from individuals who owe such obligations, and

(b) Locating those individuals

Under a progam established under title IV–D of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 651ff).

21. The fact that a veteran is or is not eligible for Retirement Insurance benefits under the Social Security program may be disclosed to the Office of Personnel Management (OPM) for its use in determining that veteran's eligibility for a civil service retirement annuity and the amount of such annuity.

22. Employee and employer name and address information may be disclosed to the DOJ (Immigration and Naturalization Service) for the purpose of informing that agency of the identities and locations of aliens who appear to be illegally employed.

23. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its programs. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this systems of records.

24. Information derived from this system may be disclosed to the OPM for the purpose of computing civil service annuity offsets of civil service annuitants with military service or the survivors of such individuals pursuant to provisions of section 307 of Public Law 97–253.

25. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

26. Disclosure of tax return information will be made to OPM, upon OPM's written request, for the purpose of administering the Civil Service and Federal Employees with Chapters 83 and 84 of Title 4, United States Code.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records in this system are maintained as paper forms, correspondence in manila folders on open shelving, paper lists, punchcards, microfilm, magnetic tapes, and discs with on-line access files.

Retrievability:

Records in this system are indexed by SSN, name, and employer identification number.

Safeguards:

Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the HHS Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." This includes maintaining the magnetic tapes and discs within an enclosure attended by security guards. Anyone entering or leaving this enclosure must have special badges which are issued ony to authorized personnel.

For computerized records, electronically transmitted between Central Office and field office locations (including organizations administering SSA programs under contractual agreements), safeguards include a lock/unlock password system, exclusive use of leased telephone lines, a terminal–oriented transaction matrix, and an audit trail. All microfilm and paper files are accessible only by authorized personnel who have a need for the information in the performance of their official duties.

Expansion and improvement of SSA's telecommunications systems has resulted in acquisition of terminals equipped with physical key locks. The terminals also are fitted with adapters to permit the future installation of data encryption devices and devices to permit the identification of terminals users.(See Appendix J in this publication for additional information relating to safeguards SSA employs to protect personal information).

Retention and disposal: All paper forms and cards are retained until they are filmed or are entered on tape and their accuracy is verified, then they are destroyed by shredding. All tapes, discs, and microfilm files are updated periodically. The out-of-date magnetic tapes and discs are erased. The out-of-date microfilm is shredded.

SSA retains correspondence 1 year when it concerns documents returned to an individual, denials of confidential information, release of confidential information to an authorized third party, and undeliverable material; for 4 years when it concerns information and evidence pertaining to coverage, wage, and self-employment determinations, or when the statute of limitations is involved; and permanently when it affects future claims development especially coverage, wage, and self-employment determinations. Correspondence is destroyed, when appropriate, by shredding.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Pre-Claims Requirements, Social Security Administrator, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record pertaining to him or her by providing his/her name, signature, and SSN, or, if the SSN is not known, name, signature, date and place of birth, mother's maiden name, and father's name to the address shown under system manager and referring to this system. (Furnishing the SSN is voluntary, but it willmake searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) (See Appendix K to this publication for documentation individuals may be required to furnish to establish their identity when requesting information pertaining to themselves from SSA.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requesters should reasonably specify the record contents they are seeking. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

SSN applicants, employers, self-employed individuals; DOJ (Immigration and Naturalization Service); the Department of Treasury (Internal Revenue Service); an existing system of records maintained by SSA, the Master Beneficiary Record (09–60–0090); correspondence, replies to correspondence, and earnings modifications resulting from SSA internal processes.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09–60–0063

System name:

Resource Accounting and Project Management System, HHS/SSA/OS.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of System Operations, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All employees of the Social Security Administration who are responsible for ADP-related workloads.

Categories of records in the system:

Personnel, including skills and availability utilization, and machine resource expenditures by work effort for ADP-related workloads. Information is captured by use of individual clerk number to identify employee time and by information contained in computer run card to identify machine time. Time is associated to work effort by a project/service request/task number structure. Data captured relating to work efforts includes: Description of work, planned, authorized and obligated resources by skill category, responsible organizational component and responsible manager, user(s) priority and start and target dates.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 702 of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

Information in this system is used to project and account for all Office of Systems personnel and machine resource expenditures as they relate to ADP-related workloads. Report packages and on-line capabilities are available for use by all levels of management within the SSA Office of Systems. Data included in the reports may be sorted in various ways to show information including personnel utilization, work effort in progress as well as budget and project status.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendent is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Service (HHS), any component of HHS, or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determined that the claim, if successful is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

3. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

4. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tapes and discs).

Retrievability:

Personnel records are indexed based on individual clerk number. Work efforts are identified by project service request number.

Safeguards:

Safeguards are established in accordance with the HHS Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." Information is distributed to the user and project managers only. The records are accessible only by use of assigned secure passwords. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administratioin employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Active records will remain on-line until complete. Records will be purged on an annual basis with complete records transferred to tape for 2 years. At the end of 2 years, tapes are erased and returned to stock.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Division of Strategic Planning and Integration, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

System location:

District and branch office (see Appendix F.1 for address information).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Beneficiaries, applicants and inquirers of information relating to the various Social Security programs and the Black Lung program.

Categories of records in the system:

The file contains the name, address, and Social Security number of the individuals. It also contains development notes concerning the requesting and receipt of documents required for a claim for benefits. Benefit amounts and date of entitlement may also be displayed.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 205(a) of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

Information in this system is used as an interviewing tool, record of clearance of claims and sometimes as a log of activity pertinent to continued entitlement to benefits.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from the office made on behalf of the subject of a record.

Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored in paper from (8 x 10½ cards) filed in standard file cabinets.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by name and Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Access to records is restricted to authorized personnel who have a need for the records in the performance of their official duties. The buildings which house the records are secured after normal business hours. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Specific destruction dates are established depending on whether a claim is allowed or disallowed. Generally, the records are maintained for 6 months then destroyed.

System manager(s) and address:

Associate Commissioner, Office of Field Operations, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

09-60-0089

System name:

Claims Folders System, HHS/SSA/OOPP.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

The claims folders are generally set up in district or branch offices when claims for benefits are filed (see Appendix F.1 for address information). They are retained there until all development has been completed, and then transferred to the appropriate reviewing office as set out below. Supplemental security income claims folders are held in district or branch offices pending establishment of a payment record, or until the appeal period, in a denied claim situation, has expired. The folders are then transferred to a folder-staging facility in Chicago prior to transfer to the Chicago Federal Archives Records Center.

Retirement and survivors insurance claims folders are maintained primarily in social security program service centers. However, if an individual to which the claim pertains resides outside the United States or any of its possessions, the folder is maintained in the Office of International Policy. See Appendix A for address information regarding the Program Service Centers and the Office of International Policy.

Disability insurance claims folders for individuals under age 62 are maintained primarily in the Office of Disability Operations, or if the individual resides outside the United States or any of its possessions, the Office of International Policy. Disability insurance claims folders for disabled individuals over age 62 are maintained in the Program Service Centers or the Office of International Policy (see Appendix A for address information).

Claims folders relating to Black Lung claims are maintained in the Office of Disability Operations (see Appendix B.1 for address information).

Supplemental security income claims folders are maintained in the Chicago Federal Archives Records Center.

In addition, claims folders are transferred to numerous other locations throughout the Social Security Administration and the General Service Administration and infrequently may be temporarily transferred to other Federal agencies (Department of Justice, or Office of the General Counsel, Department of Health and Human Services). The disability claims folders are also transferred to state agencies for disability and vocational rehabilitation determinations (see Appendix B.3 for address information).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Claimants for retirement, survivors, disability, health insurance, or black lung benefits or supplemental security income payments.

Categories of records in the system:

The claims folder is established when a claim for benefits is filed. It contains application for benefits, earnings record information established and maintained by the Social Security Administration, documents supporting factors of entitlement and continuing eligibility, payment documentation, and correspondence to and from claimants and/or representatives.

It also may contain data collected as a result of inquiries or complaints; and evalustion and measurement study of effectiveness of claims policies.

Separate files may be maintained of certain actions which are entered directly into the computer processes. These relate to reports of changes of address, work status, and other post-adjudicative reports.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 202-205, 223, 226, 228, 1611, 1631, 1818, 1836, and 1840 of the Social Security Act and Section 411 of the Federal Coal Mine and Health Safety Act.

Purpose(s):

The claims folder constitutes the basic record for payments and determinations under the Social Security Act and the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act (Black Lung Act). Data are used to produce and maintain the Master Beneficiary Record (09-60-0090) which is the automated payment system for retirement, survivors, and disability benefits; the Supplemental Security Income Record (09-60-0103) system for the aged, blind, and disabled payments; the Black Lung Payments System (09-60-0045) for black lung claims; and the Health Insurance Billing and Collection Master Record system (09-70-0522) for hospital and supplementary medical (medicare) insurance benefits.

This paper file is controlled by the Social Security Administration Claims Control System (09-60-0091) while the claim is pending development for adjudication in the district or branch office, and by the Case Control System (09-60-0092) once the folder the folder has been transferred to the reviewing office (program service centers, Office of International Policy, or the Office of Disability Programs).

The claims folders are used throughout the Social Security Administration for the purposes of determining, organizing, and maintaining documents for making normal determinations as to eligibility for benefits, the amount of benefits, reviewing continuing eligibility, holding hearings or administrative review processes, and to ensure that proper adjustments are made based on events affecting entitlement. The folder may be referred to State Disability Determination Sections or Vocational Rehabilitation Agencies in disability cases. They may also be used for quality review, evaluation, and measurement studies, and other statistical and research purposes.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To third party contacts in situations where the party to be contacted has, or is expected to have, information relating to the individual's capability to manage his/her affairs or his/her eligibility for or entitlement to benefits under the social security program when:

(a) The individual is unable to provide information being sought (an individual is considered to be unable to provide certain types of information when any of the following conditions exist):

(i) He/she is incapable or of questionable mental capability;

(ii) He/she cannot read or write;

(iii) He/she cannot afford the cost of obtaining the information;

(iv) A language barrier exists; or

(v) The custodian of the information will not, as a matter of policy provide it to the individuals; or

(b) The data are needed to establish the validity of evidence or to verify the accuracy of information presented by the individual, and it concerns one or more of the following:

(i) His/her eligibility for benefits under the Social Security program;

(ii) The amount of his/her benefit payment; or

(iii) Any case in which the evidence is being reviewed as a result of suspected abuse or fraud, concern for program integrity, or for quality appraisal, or evaluation and measurement activities.

2. To third party contacts where necessary to establish or verify information provided by representative payees or payee applicants.

3. To a person (or persons) on the rolls when a claim is filed by an individual which is adverse to the person on the rolls; i.e.:

(i) An award of benefits to a new claimant precludes an award to a prior claimant; or

(ii) An award of benefits to a new claimant will reduce the benefit payments to the individual(s) on the rolls; but only for information concerning the facts relevant to the interests of each party in a claim.

4. To employers or former employers for correcting or reconstructing earnings records and for social security tax purposes only.

5. To the Treasury Department for collecting Social Security taxes or as otherwise pertinent to tax and benefit payment provisions of the Social Security Act, (including Social Security Number verification services) and for investigating alleged theft, forgery, or unlawful negotiation of Social Security checks.

6. To the United States Postal Service for investigating alleged forgery of theft of Social Security checks.

7. To the Department of Justice for investigating and prosecuting violations of the Social Security Act to which criminal penalties attach, for representing the Secretary, and for investigating issues of fraud by agency officers or employees, or violation of civil rights.

8. To the Department of State for administering the Social Security Act in foreign countries through facilities and services of that agency.

9. To the American Institute on Taiwan for administering the Social Security Act on Taiwan through facilities and services of that organization.

10. To the Veterans Administration, Regional Office Philippines, for administering the Social Security Act in the Philippines through facilities and services of that agency.

11. To the Department of Interior for administering the Social Security Act in the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands through facilities of that agency.

12. To the Railroad Retirement Board for administering provisions of the Social Security Act relating to railroad employment.

13. To State Social Security Administrators for administration of agreements pursuant to section 218 (State and local).

14. To State audit agencies for auditing State supplementation payments and Medicaid eligibility considerations, and expenditures of Federal funds by the State in support of the Disability Determination Section (DDS).

15. To private medical and vocational consultants for use in making preparation for, or evaluating the results of, consultative medical examinations or vocational assessments which they were engaged to perform by the Social Security Administration or a State agency acting in accord with section 221 or 1633.

16. To specified business and other community members and Federal, State, and local agencies for verification of eligibility for benefits under section 1631(e).

18. To applicants, claimants, prospective applicants or claimants, other than the data subject, their authorized representatives or representative payees to the extent necessary to pursue Social Security claims and receive an account of benefit payments.

19. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

20. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its component; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

21. In response to legal process or interrogatories relating to the enforcement of an individual's child support or alimony obligations, as required by sections 459 and 461 of the Social Security Act.

22. To Federal, State, or local agencies (or agents on their behalf) for administering cash or noncash income maintenance or health maintenance programs. Such disclosures include, but are not limited to, release of information to:

(a) The Railroad Retirement Board for administering provisions of the Railroad Retirement Act relating to railroad employment and for administering the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act;

(b) The Veterans Administration for administering 38 U.S.C. 412, and upon request, information needed to determine eligibility for or amount of VA benefits or verifying other information with respect thereto;

(c) The Department of Labor for administering provisions of Title IV of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act;

(d) State welfare departments for administering sections 205(c)(b)(i)(II) and 402(a)(25) of the Social Security Act requiring information about assigned Social Security Act requiring information about assigned Social Security Numbers for Aid to Families with Dependent Children program purposes only;

(e) State agencies for making determinations of Medicaid eligibility; and

(f) State agencies for making determinations of food stamp eligibility under the food stamp program.

23. To State welfare departments pursuant to ageements with the Social Security Administration for administration of State supplementation payments; for enrollment of welfare recipients for medical insurance under section 1843 of the Social Security Act; and for conducting independent quality assurance reviews of supplemental security income recipient records, provided that the agreement for Federal administration of the supplementation provides for such an independent review.

24. To State Vocational Rehabilitation agencies or State crippled childrens's service agencies (or other agencies providing services to disabled children) for consideration rehabilitation services per sections 222a and 1615 of the Social Security Act.

25. Information necessary to adjudicate claims filed under an international Social Security agreement that the United States has entered into pursuant to Section 233 of the Social Security Act way be disclosed to a foreign country that is a party to that agreement.

26. To the Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury, for the purpose of auditing the Social Security Administration's compliance with safeguard provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended.

27. To the Office of the President for responding to an individual pursuant to an inquiry received from that individual or from a third party on his or her behalf.

28. To third party contacts (including private collection agencies under contract with the Social Security Administration (SSA), for the purpose of their assisting SSA in recovering overpayments.

29. To the Department of Justice (Immigration and Naturalization Service), upon request, to identify and locate aliens in the United States pursuant to the provisions of section 290(c) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1360(c)).

30. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

31. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

32. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigationor has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Claims folders are maintained in file cabinets by service area as set out in location above.

Retrievability:

Claims folders are filed by Social Security Number.

Safeguards:

Claims folders are protected through Limited access to Social Security Administration records, limited employee access to need to know. All employees are instructed in Social Security Administration confidentiality rules as a part of their initial orientation training.

Retention and disposal:

The claims folder is initially maintained in the reviewing office. Later, both active and inactive folders are transferred to the Federal Archives and Records Center for storage and inactive (no one is entitled to benefits) folders are scheduled for destruction. The time for retention prior to destruction is 5-year retention—no record of surviving potential beneficiaries; 20-year retention—withdrawn claims, claims disallowed or lump-sum death payments only, and 55-year retention—potential future claimants indicated in the file.

When a subsequent claim is filed on the social security number, the claims file is recalled from the Records Center. Similarly, the claims files may be recalled from the Records Center at any time by the Social Security Administration as necessary in the administration of social security programs.

System manager(s) and address:

SSA Privacy Officer, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record pertaining to him or her by contacting the most convenient Social Security office (see Appendix F.1 for address and telephone information).

When requesting notification, an individual should provide his or her name, social security number, the type of claim he or she filed (retirement, survivors, disability, health insurance, black lung special minimum payments, or supplemental security income; if more than one claim is filed, each should be identified), whether he or she is or has been receiving benefits, whether payments are being received under his or her own social security number, and if not, the name and social security number under which received, if benefits have not been received, the approximate date and place the claim was filed, and his or her address and/or telephone number.

An individual who requests notification of or access to a medical record shall, at the time he or she makes the request, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion. However, SSA will grant direct access to a subject individual if the responsible SSA official determines that direct access is not likely to have an adverse effect on him or her. If the responsible SSA official is unable to make a determination, or makes the determination that some harm may occur to an individual, the official will send the record to the designated representative and inform the subject individual in writing that the records have been sent.

A parent or guardian who requests notification of or access to a minor's medical record shall at the time he or she makes the request designate a physician or other health professional (other than a family member) who will be willing to review the record and inform the parent or guardian of its contents at the physician's or health professional's discretion.

These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.12

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the information being sought. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record and specify the information to be contested. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

This information is obtained from the claimants, accumulated by the Social Security Administration from reports of employers or self-employed individuals, various local, State, and Federal agencies, claimant representatives and other sources to support factors of entitlement and continuing eligibilities.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-60-0090

System name:

Master Beneficiary Record (MBR), HHS/SSA/OSR.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of System Operations, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All Social Security beneficiaries who are or were entitled to receive Retirement, Survivors, or Disability Insurance (RSDI) benefits, including individuals who have received a RSDI payment since November 1978 even if their payment is not part of an ongoing award of benefits; individuals (nonclaimants) whose former spouses apply for RSDI benefit on their earnings records; persons who are only enrolled in the Hospital and/or Supplementary Medical Insurance (SMI) programs; and claimants whose benefits have been denied or disallowed.

The system also contains short reference to records for persons entitled to Supplemental Security Income payments, Black Lung benefits or Railroad Retirement Board (RRB) benefits.

Categories of records in the system:

The MBR contains information about each claimant who has applied for RSDI benefits, or to be enrolled in the Hospital or SMI programs; a record of the amount of Federal tax withheld on benefits paid to nonresident aliens; and the aggregate amount of benefit payments, repayments and reductions with respect to an individual in a calendar year. A record is maintained under each individual's Social Security number (SSN). However, if the individual has filed on another person's SSN, only a short 'pointer' record is maintained. Personal and general data about the claim is maintained under the SSN of that claim. Data about the claimant can be assessed using the claimant's SSN or the SSN on which benefits have been awarded or claimed (claim account number (CAN)).

There are three types of data in each CAN:

Account data. This includes the primary insurance amount, insured status of the SSN holder (if no monthly benefits are payable), data relating to the computation (use of military service credits, railroad retirement credits, or the foreign country when the primary insurance amount is based on wage credits under a totalization agreement), and, if only survivor's benefits have been paid, identifying data about the SSN holder (full name, date of birth, date of death and verification of date of death).

Payment data. This includes the payee name and address, data about a financial institution (if benefits are sent directly to the institution for deposit), the monthly payment amount, the amount and date of a one-time payment of past due benefits, and, where appropriate, a scheduled future payment. Payment data can refer to one beneficiary or several beneficiaries in a combined payment.

Beneficiary data. This includes personal information (name, date of birth, sex, date of filing, relationship to the SSN holder, other SSN's, benefit amount and payment status), and, if applicable, information about a representative payee, data about disability entitlement, worker's compensation offset data, estimates and report of earnings, or student entitlement information.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 202a-205, 223, 226, 228, 1818, 1836, and 1840 of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

Data in this system are used by a broad range of Social Security employees for responding to inquiries, generating followups on beneficiary reporting events, computer exception processing, statistical studies, conversion of benefits, and generating records for the Department of the Treasury to pay the correct benefit amount.

Data in this system also are available to the Department of Health and Human Services' (HHS') Inspector General for use in the performance of his/her duties.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses: Indicated below:

1. To applicants or claimants, prospective applicants or claimants (other than the data subject), their authorized representatives or representative payees to the extent necessary to pursue Social Security claims and receive and account for benefits.

2. To third party contacts in situations where the party to be contacted has, or is expected to have, information relating to the individual's capability to manage his/her affairs or his/her eligibility for, or entitlement to, benefits under the Social Security program when:

(a) The individual is unable to provide information being sought. An individual is considered to be unable or provide certain types of information when:

(1) He/she is incapable or of questionable mental capability;

(2) He/she cannot read or write;

(3) He/she cannot afford the cost of obtaining the information;

(4) A language barrier exists; or

(5) The custodian of the information will not, as a matter of policy, provide it to the individual.

(b) The data are needed to establish the validity of evidence or to verify the accuracy of information presented by the individual, and it concerns one or more of the following:

(1) His/her eligibility for benefits under the Social Security program;

(2) The amount of his/her benefit payment; or

(3) Any case in which the evidence is being reviewed as a result of suspected fraud, concern for program integrity, quality appraisal, or evaluation and measurement activities.

3. To third party contacts where necessary to establish or verify information provided by representative payees or payee applicants.

4. To a person (or persons) on the rolls when a claim is filed by another individual which is adverse to the person on the rolls:

(a) An award of benefits to a new claimant precludes an award to a prior claimant; or

(b) An award of benefits to a new claimant will reduce the benefit payments to the individual(s) on the roll;

but only for information concerning the facts relevant to the interests of each party in a claim.

5. To the Department of the Treasury for:

(a) Collecting Social Security taxes or as otherwise pertinent to tax and benefit payment provisions of the Social Security Act (including SSN verification services);

(b) Investigating the alleged theft, forgery, or unlawful negotiation of Social Security checks;

(c) Determining the Federal tax liability on Social Security benefits pursuant to 26 U.S.C. 6050, as amended by Pub. L. 98-21. The information disclosed will consist of the following:

(1) The aggregate amount of Social Security benefits paid with respect to any individual during any calendar year;

(2) The aggregate amount of Social Security benefits repaid by such individual during such calendar year;

(3) The aggregate reductions under section 224 of the Social Security Act in benefits which would otherwise have been paid to such individual during the calendar year on account of amounts received under a workmen's compensation act; and

(4) The name and address of such individual; and

(d) Depositing the tax withheld on benefits paid to nonresident aliens in the Treasury (Social Security Trust Funds) pursuant to 26 U.S.C. 871, as amended by Pub. L. 98-21.

6. To the United States Postal Service for investigating the alleged theft or forgery of Social Security checks.

7. To the Department of Justice for:

(a) Investigating and prosecuting violations of the Social Security Act to which criminal penalties attach;

(b) Representing the Secretary of HHS: and

(c) Investigating issues of fraud by agency officers or employees, or violation of civil rights.

8. To the Department of State for administering the Social Security Act in foreign countries through services and facilities of that agency.

9. To the American Institute on Taiwan for administering the Social Security Act on Taiwan through services and facilities of that agency.

10. To the Veterans Administration (VA), Philippines Regional Office, for administering the Social Security Act in the Philippines through the services and facilities of that agency.

11. To the Department of the Interior for administering the Social Security Act in the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands through services and facilities of that agency.

12. Information necessary to adjudicate claims filed under an international Social Security agreement that the United States has entered into pursuant to Section 233 of the Social Security Act may be disclosed to a foreign country which is a party to that agreement.

13. To the Office of the President for the purpose of responding to an individual pursuant to an inquiry received from that individual or from a third party on his/her behalf.

14. To the Office of Education for determining eligibility of applicants for basic educational opportunity grants.

15. To the Bureau of Census when it performs as a collecting agent or data processor for research and statistical purposes directly relating to this system of records.

16. To the Department of the Treasury, Office of Tax Analysis, for studying the effects of income taxes and taxes on earnings.

17. To the Office of Personnel Management for the study of the relationship of civil service annuities to minimum Social Security benefits, and the effects on the trust fund.

18. To State Social Security Administrators for administering agreements pursuant to Section 218 of the Social Security Act.

19. To the Department of Energy for their study of the long-term effects of low-level radiation exposure.

20. To contractors under contract to the Social Security Administration (SSA) (or under contract to another agency with funds provided by SSA) for the performance of research and statistical activities directly relating to this system of records.

21. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

22. To the Department of Labor for conducting statistical studies of the relationship of private pensions and Social Security benefits to prior earnings.

23. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) HHS, any component of HHS, or any employee of HHS in his/her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his/her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

24. In response to legal process or interrogatories relating to the enforcement of an individual's child support or alimony obligations as required by sections 459 and 461 of the Social Security Act.

25. To Federal, State, or local agencies (or agents on their behalf) for administering income maintenance or health maintenance programs (including programs under the Social Security Act). Such disclosures include, but are not limited to, release of information to:

(a) RRB for administering provisions of the Railroad Retirement Act relating to railroad employment; for administering the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act and for administering provisions of the Social Security Act relating to railroad employment;

(b) VA for administering 38 U.S.C. 412, and upon request, for determining eligibility for, or amount of, veterans benefits or verifying other information with respect thereto;

(c) State welfare departments for administering sections 205(c)(2)(B)(i)(II) and 401(a)(25) of the Social Security Act requiring information about assigned SSN's for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program purposes and for determining a recipient's eligibility under the AFDC program; and

(d) State agencies for administering the Medicaid program.

26. Upon request, information on the identity and location of aliens may be disclosed to the Department of Justice (Criminal Division, Office of Special Investigations) for the purpose of detecting, investigating and, where appropriate, taking legal action against suspected Nazi war criminals in the United States.

27. To third party contacts (including private collection agencies under contract with SSA) for the purpose of their assisting SSA is recovering overpayments.

28. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its programs. We contemplate disclosing information under the routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

29. Information may be disclosed to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York for the purpose of making direct deposit/electronic funds transfer of Social Security benefits to foreign-resident beneficiaries.

30. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and magnetic disk) and in microform and paper form.

Retrievability:

Records in this system are indexed and retrieved SSN.

Safeguards:

Safeguards for automated records have been established in accordance with the HHS Automated Data Processing (ADP) Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." All magnetic tapes and discs are within an enclosure attended by security guards. Anyone entering or leaving this enclosure must have special badges which are issued only to authorized personnel. All microform and paper files are accessible only by authorized personnel and are locked after working hours.

For computerized records, electronically transmitted between SSA's central office and field office locations (including organizations administering SSA programs under contractual agreements), safeguards include a lock/unlock password system, exclusive use of leased telephone lines, a terminal oriented transaction matrix, and an audit trail. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards SSA employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Primary data storage is on magnetic disc. A new version of the disk file is generated each month based on changes to the beneficiary's record (adjustment in benefit amount, termination, or new entitlements). The prior version is written to tape and retained for 90 days in SSA's main data processing facility and is then sent to a secured storage facility for indefinite retention.

Selected records also are retained on magnetic disc for on-line query purposes. The query files are updated monthly and retained indefinitely. Microform records are disposed of by shredding or the application of heat after periodic replacement of a complete file.

Paper records are usually destroyed after use, by shredding, except where needed for documentation of the claims folder, in which case they are retained therein indefinitely (see the notice for the Claims Folders System, 09-60-0089).

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Claims and Payment Requirements, Office of System Requirements, Social Security Administration, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, MD 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by contacting the most convenient Social Security officer and providing his/her name, Social Security claim number (SSN plus alphabetic symbols), address, and proper identification. (See Appendix F.1 for address and telephone information.) (Furnishing the SSN is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) (See Appendix K to this publication for documentation individuals may be required to furnish to establish their identity when requesting information pertaining to them from SSA.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification showing how the record is untimely, incomplete, inaccurate or irrelevant. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Data for the MBR come primarily from the Claims Folders System (09-60-0089) and/or is furnished by the beneficiary at the time of filing for benefits, via the application form and necessary proofs, and during the period of entitlement when notices of events such as changes of address, work, marriage, are given the SSA by the beneficiary; and from States regarding Health Insurance third party premium payment/buy-in cases.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-60-0091

System name:

Social Security Administration Claims Control System. HHS/SSA/OSR.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Systems, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

This system contains a record for each individual who has filed a claim for Retirement, Survivors and Disability Insurance benefits and/or Health Insurance benefits on a particular Social Security number. Only one record is established for each Social Security number even though more than one claim may be filed simultaneously (e.g., claims for the wage earner, his wife, and children on one Social Security number).

Categories of records in the system:

Data in this system consist of the wage earner's name and Social Security number; the date the application was filed (for a few cases it is not included because it is not known when the record is established); the type of action (i.e., Retirement, Survivors, Disability, and/or Health Insurance Benefits); the potential month of entitlement (for monthly benefits this will be the first month for which benefits may be paid); the code for the district office that processed the application; the district office that released the claim to the State agency or processing center; the present location of the claim; and the date the claim was released by one office and received by another.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 205q of the Social Security Act. (This provision necessitates a systems control of claims to ensure payment within prescribed time pars.)

Purpose(s):

This record system is used to control claims from the point they originate in a district/branch office until they are finally processed to completion. The record enables the Social Security Administration to identify those claims for which inordinate delays occur. Once identified, expeditious processing is initiated. Additionally, the data present in the system is useful in the reconstruction of a claim if the application were to be lost.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Magnetic tape and disk for online and offline retrieval.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Safeguards have been established in accordance with the Department of Health and Human Services' Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." Magnetic tape and disk records protected through standard security measures used for all SSA's computer records—limited access to Social Security Administration offices—limited employee access to computer facilities based on specific authorization.

For computerized records, electronically transmitted between Central Office and field office locations (including organizations administering SSA programs under contractual agreements), safeguards include a lock/unlock password system, exclusive use of leased telephone lines, a terminal oriented transaction matrix, and an aduit trail. (See Appendix J to this publication for information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

The records on the magnetic tapes are purged when the decision of award or disallowance is made on the Social Security number or at 1 year from the date the record is established, whichever occurs first. The old versions of tapes are erased and returned to stock. The disk files are continuously updated and retained indefinitely.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of User Requirements and Validation, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by contacting the most convenient Social Security office (see Appendix F for address information) and providing his/her Social Security claim number (Social Security number plus alphabetic symbols), name, address and proper identification. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. The data in this system are extremely limited since the system is a mechanism used by SSA to control and expedite the processing of claims. However, requesters who wish to reference this system, should provide their name, social security number, approximate date and place claim was filed, type of claim (retirement, survivors, disability, or health insurance), and return address or phone number. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. It is maintained that little of the data in this system is contestible; however, should an individual wish to contest it upon review, he or she may do so by contacting staff at the office specified under notification procedures above. If he or she decides to contest the data, he or she should reasonably identify the record, specify the information being contested and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

The data are derived from the information furnished by the claimant on his application and by control data that is received as the claim is sent from the district/branch office to other Social Security offices.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

This system contains a record of each individual who has filed a claim for Title II benefits (Retirement, Survivors and Disability Insurance); Title XVI payments (Supplemental Security Income); and Title XVIII benefits (Health Insurance benefits) whose claims have been processed through to a decision of award, disallowance, withdrawal, or termination.

Categories of records in the system:

Data in this system consist of a control record by social security number containing data relative to the location of the claim serviced by one of the offices maintaining jurisdictional responsibility; and whether the claims folder is maintained in that office, temporarily or permanently transferred to an other office within the Social Security Administration, a State disability, or vocational rehabilitation agency, or for storage in a Federal Records Center.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

The payment provisions of the Social Security Act and Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act, Sections 202, 223, 226, 228, 1611, 1631, 1818, and 1836 of the Social Security Act and 411 of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act. The information for this system is derived from the claims filing process and duplicates, in fact, that set out in Claim Folder System notice, 09-60-0089.

Purpose(s):

This system is used by Social Security offices to identify the location of claims as well as enabling them to associate and process incoming material in a timely fashion. The identification and exact location feature assists SSA in meeting the standards of service to the public in processing and deciding claims for benefits. Data are also used to identify where operating weaknesses are to facilitate corrective action by management.

Management data also is derived from the control records to provide statistical data relative to workloads, staffing, and manpower usage.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below.

To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Magnetic disk storage files and magnetic tape files.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Disk and tape files protected through standard security measures used for all of Social Security Administration's computer records—limited access to Social Security offices, and limited employee access to computer facilities based on specific authorizations. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

The control records are maintained indefinitely. When disk files are rewritten, the old disks are erased and returned to stock.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of User Requirements and Validations, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him/her by providing name and Social Security number and following the instructions below. Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay:

If the records relate to a Retirement of Survivors claims, the individual should contact the appropriate Program Service Center (see Appendix A for Social Security number and address information).

If the individual named in the record resides outside the United States, or any of its possessions, or if the requested information relates to a foreign claim, the individual should write to the Division of International Operations (see Appendix A for address information).

Requests for other information should be forwarded to the Office of User Requirements and Validation at the address shown above under system manager.

These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. The data in this file is extremely limited since the system is a mechanism used by SSA to locate claims folders and claims in process. However, if an individual would like access to records in this system, he or she should provide his or her name, Social Security number, and related address to the appropriate address specified under notification procedures above. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. It is maintained that little of the data here is contestible, however, should an individual wish to contest it upon review, he or she may do so by writing to the appropriate address specified under notification procedures and reasonably identify the record, specity the information being contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification.

Record source categories:

The control records are developed from recordings of cards containing Social Security numbers and coded location identifiers. Also, magnetic tape files prepared in the Social Security Central Office in Baltimore containing Social Security numbers and location identifications are provided to the jurisdictional offices to reflect the location of claims wherever located in Social Security Administration offices.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

and

Social Security Administration, Office of Disability Operations, Baltimore, Maryland 21241

Lists of overpaid individuals, which are produced by this computer system, are maintained at each district or branch office (see Appendix F for address information).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Social Security beneficiaries who received an overpayment of benefits; persons holding conserved (accumulated) funds received on behalf of a Social Security beneficiary; and persons who received Social Security payments on behalf of a beneficiary and were found to have misused those payments.

Categories of records in the system:

Identifying characteristics of each overpayment or instance of misused or conserved funds; e.g., name and address of the individual(s) involved, recovery efforts made and the date of each action, and planned future actions.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 204(a) of the Social Security Act (42 United States Code 404(a)).

Purpose(s):

The users of this system are employees of district and branch offices, as well as selected personnel of Social Security Program Service Centers, the Division of International Operations, and the Office of Disability Operations. The data are used to maintain control of overpayments and misused or conserved funds from the time of discovery to the final resolution and for the proper adjustments of payment and refund amounts. Data adjustment produce accounting and statistical reports at specified intervals.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Office of the President for the purpose of responding to an individual pursuant to an inquiry received from that individual or a third party on his/her behalf.

3. To third party contacts (including private collection agencies under contract with the Social Security Administration (SSA)) for the purpose of their assisting SSA in recovering overpayments.

4. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

5. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

6. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and magnetic disk), microfiche and paper form.

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Magnetic tape, magnetic disk, microfiche and paper records are protected through standard security measures used for all of the Social Security Administration's records—limited access to Social Security Administration offices—limited access to files to employees who have a need for the records in the performance of their official duties. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Magnetic tape files are updated daily and retained for 20 days, after which they are erased and returned to stock. The magnetic tape file produced in the last operation of the month is retained in security storage for a period of 30 days, after which the tapes are erased and returned to stock. The microfiche records are updated monthly, retained for 3 years after the month they are produced, and then destroyed by application of heat. A complete update of the microfiche is produced annually. Paper listings are destroyed when the overpayment issue is resolved or when the updated listing is received. The disk files are continuously updated and retained indefinitely.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of User Requirements and Validation, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by contacting the most convenient Social Security district/branch office (see Appendix F for address information) or the appropriate Program Service Center (see Appendix A for address information).

When requesting notification, the individual should provide his or her name, Social Security number, address, other information which will assist in locating the requested materials (e.g., data about a prior or current overpayment), and reference this system of records. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents they are accessing. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

The information for the computer files is received directly from beneficiaries, from district and branch offices, and as the result of earnings enforcement operations. The paper listings are updated as a result of the computer operations.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

Social Security Administration, Division of International Operations, P.O. Box 1756, Baltimore, Maryland 21203
and

Social Security Administration, Office of User Requirements and Validation, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

All Social Security Health and Supplemental Medical Insurance enrollees who received incorrect Medicare payments or services, who are determined liable, and against whom it is not possible to adjust subsequent Part A (Hospital) or Part B (Supplementary Medical) benefits.

Categories of records in the system:

A clerical record of each overpaid Medicare benefit; name and address of the individual(s) involved; recovery efforts made and the date of each action and planned future actions.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 1814, 1833 and 1870 of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

The users of this system are selected employees of Social Security Program Service Centers, the Division of International Operations, and the Office of Disability Operations. The information recorded by the Program Service Centers is used to maintain control of Medicare overpayments referred to the Program Service Center from the Department of Health and Human Services, Health Care Financing Administration for recovery action. In these cases, the Health Care Financing Administration is unable to recoup the overpayment by adjusting subsequent Medicare benefits. The information on the ledger cards also is used to produce periodic accounting, management, and statistical reports.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from the congressional office made at the request of that individual.

Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Card stock in metal cabinets.

Retrievability:

The records in this system are retrieved by Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Records protected through standard security means for all of the Social Security Administration's clerical records (e.g., cabinets are locked after hours, limited access to buildings and limited access by authorized employees who have a need for the records in the performance of their official duties). (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards, the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Records are retained in the Program Service Center for a period of one year after collection efforts terminated and then transferred to the Federal Records Center where they are retained for 3 years, then destroyed shredding.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of User Requirements and Validation, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by providing name and Social Security number and following the procedures below. Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay:

If the requested records relate to a Retirement or Survivors Insurance claims, the individual should contact the appropriate Social Security Program Service Center (based on Social security number) (see Appendix A for address and Social Security number information).

If the individual named in the record resides outside the United States or its possessions, contact should be made to the Division of International Operations (see Appendix A for address information).

If the requested records relate to a Disability Insurance claim, the individual should write to the Office of Disability Operations, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

When requesting notification, an individual should provide his or her name, Social Security number, and reference to this system. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

The information is received indirectly from the providers of Medicare services through the Health Care Financing Administration and directly from the Health Care Financing Administration as a result of their audit procedures.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-60-0097

System name:

Program Integrity Case Files, HHS/SSA/OA.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Assessment, 6401
Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235
Field Integrity Staffs located in Field Assessment Office (see Appendix L.1 for address information) and Social Security Administration, Office of System Operations,
6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Records constituting an extension of the file may be located elsewhere in the Social Security Administration (e.g., district, branch and/or regional offices). Records also may be located at Federal Records Centers (contact the system at the address below to obtain the address for these records).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Persons suspected of violating Federal statutes affecting the administration of programs under the responsibility of SSA, including those against whom civil recovery action is being considered or pursued.

Categories of records in the system:

Information maintained in each record includes the identity of the suspect, the nature of the alleged offense, documentation of the investigation into the alleged offense, and the disposition of the case by SSA or the United States Attorney.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205(a), 206, 208, 1102, 1106, 1107, 1631(d) (1) and (2) and 1632, of the Social Security Act; and section 413 of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act.

Purpose(s):

The information in this system pertains to suspected violations of Federal statutes. Cases may move through several levels of SSA at district/branch, regional and/or central office locations during the course of documenting a suspected fraudulent situation.

Information in this system is used by SSA staff to determine if a violation of the penal provisions of the Social Security Act or related provisions of the United States Code has been committed. If so, such material is used as the basis for referral of the case to the Department of Justice for consideration of prosecution. The material also is used to determine the direction of investigation of potential fraud situations.

Additionally, the information is used: (1) To monitor the progress of development of individual suspected fraud cases to insure timely resolution; and (2) for statistical analysis purposes to identify (a) types of cases which occur with such frequency as to suggest the need for revision of policies and procedures relative to establishing eligibility for payments; and (b) trends and averages with respect to the processing of such cases and their disposition under the Federal judicial system.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To officers of employees of State governments as well as the CHAMPUS program for use in conducting investigations of possible fraud or abuse against the Title XIX or CHAMPUS program.
2. To States Attorneys in connection with State programs involving the Social Security Administration.
3. To the Department of the Treasury to investigate cases involving fraudulent tax returns or forgery of Social Security checks.
4. To the United States Postal Service for investigating alleged theft of Social Security checks.
5. To State and local police authorities for the purpose of investigating the loss, theft, and/or forgery of Medicare checks.
6. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.
7. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS, or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee; HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

8. To third party contacts for the purpose of establishing or negating a violation of the Social Security Act or related provisions of the United States Criminal Code.
9. To the Internal Revenue Service for the purpose of auditing the Social Security Administration's compliance with safeguards provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1945, as amended.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored in paper form and in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and disc).

Retrievability:

Records are indexed and retrieved by Social Security number or by name of the subject of the investigation.

Safeguards:

Manual records are maintained in locked filing cabinets and are accessed only by employees with a job-related need for the information. System security for automated records is maintained in accordance with the Department of Health and Human Services' Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." This includes maintaining the records in secured areas which are patrolled by armed guards and permitting only authorized employees to these areas in the performance of their official duties. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Paper records may be retained 5 years after final disposition of the case. At the end of the retention period, the records are destroyed by shredding. Records may also be transferred to a Federal Records Center after they have been closed for 2 years. Data maintained in magnetic media is retained an indefinite period of time. Once determined no longer needed, these records are disposed of in accordance with established SSA procedures for disposal of records; e.g., erasure of tapes.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Division of Program Integrity, Office of Security and Program Integrity, Office of Assessment, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him/her by writing to the system manager at the above address and providing name, Social Security number, any Social Security number on which he/she has filed for, or received benefits, the type of such claim, and current claim status. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations, 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Per 5 United States Code 522a(k)(2), the records in this system are exempt from access by the individual named in the records. However, the individual may gain access to information which is a matter of public record or documents which he/she has furnished by writing to the system manager at the above address. When requesting access to a medical record, the individual shall, at the time of the request, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject of its contents at the representative's discretion.

A parent or guardian who requests notification of or access to a minor's medical record shall at the time of the request designate a physician or other health professional (other than a family member) who will be willing to review the record an inform the the parent or guardian of its contents at the physician's or health professional's discretion.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as above. Also, requesters should reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations, 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

The information contained in this record system is the result of criminal investigation and may be derived from such sources as the suspect, witnesses, or Social Security Administration employees with a knowledge of the case.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

Exemption of this system to the access provisions is claimed under section k(2) of the Privacy Act inasmuch as these records are investigatory materials compiled for program (law) enforcement in anticipation of a criminal proceeding. (See page 47413 of Federal Register of October 8, 1975, Vol. 40, No. 196, Part IV.)

System name:

Fee Ledger System for Representatives, HHS/SSA/OIP.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Records pertaining to representatives in Retirement, Survivors, Disability, Health Insurance, Supplemental Security Income and Black Lung benefits claims are maintained as indicated below:

Claims where a fee petition was processed through November 1974 involving Retirement, Survivors and Disability Insurance and Supplemental Security Income for the aged are located at: Social Security Administration, Office of Insurance Programs, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Claims involving Disability Insurance benefits, Black Lung and Supplemental Security Income for the blind and disabled are located at: Social Security Administration, Office of Disability Operations, 1500 Woodlawn Drive, Baltimore, Maryland 21241.

Claims that involve a hearing for Disability, Retirement, and Survivors benefits, Health Insurance, Black Lung, or Supplemental Security Income are located at: Social Security Administration, Office of Hearings and Appeals, 801 North Randolph Street, Arlington, Virginia 22203.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Attorneys and non-attorney representatives of claimants before the Social Security Administration.

Categories of records in the system:

Name and address of representative, firm affiliation, if any, claimant's Social Security number, fee requested by representative, amount of fee approved by the Social Security Administration, amount withheld from claimant's past-due benefits, date the fee was approved, type of service rendered; and information pertaining to reviewing and approving offices.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 206 and 1631(d) of the Social Security Act, and section 413(b) of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969.

Purpose(s):

This system provides a statistical base for projections of workloads, trends, cost analyses of legislative proposals, and similar activities. Such information is supplied upon request to government agencies, the Congress, and the public.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored in paper form (e.g., ledger cards and carbon copies).

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by a combination of name and Social Security number.

Safeguards:

The records are maintained in locked filing cabinets. Only those SSA employees who have a need for the records in the performance of their official duties are permitted access to the records. All employees are issued photographic passes and must display the passes upon entering buildings which house the records. Additionally, entrances and exits to the buildings are manned by armed security guards. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Ledger records are retained for a period of 5 years from the date of the latest entry. If no entries are recorded within this period, the record is destroyed. When the ledger is destroyed, the name, address of the representative, and at least one Social Security number of an involved claim, is recorded and indexed for indefinite retention. Copies of the representatives petition are retained for 1 to 2 years. The fee ledgers are maintained indefinitely, as are the records in the Social Security Administration Offices of Disability Operations (through November 1978), Assistance Programs and Hearings and Appeals.

System manager(s) and address:

See location above for appropriate manager to contact.

Director, Office of Insurance Programs, 6401 Security
Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235
Director, Office of Disability Operations, 6401 Security
Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235 and Director, Office of Hearings and Appeals, 801 North Randolph Street, Arlington, Virginia 22203.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by writing to the appropriate system manager (see location above) at one of the addresses shown above and providing his/her name and Social Security number. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) When the appropriate system manager cannot be idenfified, the individual may contact the Director, Office of Insurance Programs at the address shown under system manager above.

All requests for information should include the representative's name, address, type of claim, date the fee was approved, and the Social Security number under which the claim was filed. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Information is extracted from forms completed by the representative and the Social Security Administration.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09–60–0103

System name:

Supplemental Security Income Record, HHS/SSA/OSR.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Systems, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Regional, district and branch offices (see Appendices C and F.1 for address information).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

This file contains a record for each individual who has applied for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) payments including individuals who have requested an advance payment; SSI recipients who have been overpaid and each essential person associated with an SSI recipient.

Categories of records in the system:

This file contains data regarding SSI eligibility; citizenship; residence; Medicaid eligibility; eligibility for other benefits; alcoholism or drug addiction data, if applicable (disclosure of this information may be restricted by 21 U.S.C. 1175 and 42 U.S.C.); income data; resources; payment amounts, including overpayments amounts and date and amount of advance payments; living arrangements; case folder location data; appellate decisions, if applicable; Social Security numbers used to identify a particular individual; and a history of changes to any of the persons who have applied for SSI payments. For eligible individuals, the file contains basic identifying information, income and resources (if any) and, in conversion cases, the State welfare number.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 1602, 1611, 1612, 1613, 1614, 1615, 1616, 1631, 1633, and 1634 of Title XVI of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

Supplemental Security Income records begin in the Social Security district office where an individual files an application for Supplemental Security Income payments. This application contains data which may be used to prove the identity of the applicant to determine his or her eligibility for Supplemental Security Income payments and, in cases where eligibility is determined, to compute the amount of the payment. Information from the application, in addition to data used internally to control and process Supplemental Security Income cases, is used to create the Supplemental Security Income Record (SSR). The SSR also is used as a means of providing a historical record of all activity on a particular individual's record.

In addition, statistical data is derived from the SSR for actuarial and management information purposes.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To the Treasury Department to prepare Supplemental Security Income and Energy Assistance checks.

2. To the States to establish the minimum income level for computation of State supplement.

3. To the following Federal and State agencies to prepare information for verification of benefit eligibility under section 1631(e):

(a) Bureau of Indian Affairs.
(b) Civil Service Commission.
(c) Department of Agriculture.
(d) Department of Labor.
(e) Immigration and Naturalization Service.
(f) Internal Revenue Service.
(g) Railroad Retirement Board.
(h) State Pension Funds.
(i) State Welfare Offices.
(j) State Workmen's Compensation.
(k) Department of Defense.
(l) United States Coast Guard.
(m) Veterans Administration.

4. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

is a party to litigationor has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape) and microform media.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed and retrieved by Social Security number.

Safeguards:

All magnetic tapes and magnetic discs are within an enclosure attended by security guards. Anyone entering or leaving that enclosure must have special badges which are only issued to authorized personnel. All authorized personnel having access to the magnetic records are subject to the penalties of the Privacy Act. The microfiche are stored in locked cabinets, and are accessible to employees only on a need-to-know basis. All Supplemental Security Income Records (State Data Exchange records) are protected in accordance with agreements between the Social Security Administration and the respective States regarding confidentiality, use, and redisclosure. (See Appendix J for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Original input transaction tapes received which contain initial claims and posteligibility actions are retained indefinitely although these are processed as received and incorporated into processing tapes which are updated to the master SSI tape file on a monthly basis. All magnetic tapes appropriate to SSI information furnished specified Federal, State, and local agencies for verification of eligibility for benefits and under section 1631(e) are retained, in accordance with the Privacy Act accounting requirements, for at least 5 years or the life of the record, whichever is longer.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of User Requirement and Validation, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by writing to or visiting the most convenient Social Security district or branch office (see Appendix F.1 for address information) and providing name and Social Security number. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought.

An individual who requests notification of or access to a medical record shall, at the time he or she makes the request, designate in writing a responsible representative who will be willing to review the record and inform the subject individual of its contents at the representative's discretion.

A parent or guardian who requests notification of or access to a minor's medical record shall at the time he or she makes the request designate a physician or other health professional (other than a family member) who will be willing to review the record and inform the parent or guardian of its contents at the physician's or health professional's discretion. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Data contained in the Supplemental Security Record is obtained for the most part from the applicant for SSI payments and is derived from the Claim Folder system (09-60-0089). The States also provide data affecting the Supplemental Security Record (State Data Exchange Files).

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

System name:

Supplemental Security Income File of Refunds, HHS/SSA/OURV.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of User Requirement and Validation, 6401 Security Boulevard. Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Social Security Administration, Office of System Operations, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

This system contains a record of each individual who has refunded a Supplemental Security Income payment to which he/she was not entitled or that was received as a result of an overpayment.

Categories of records in the system:

This file contains information about refunds sent in by persons who were overpaid or not entitled to Supplemental Security Income payments they received. Specific information is name of individual, Social Security number, date of refund, and amount of refund.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 1602, 1611, and 1631 of Title XVI of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

This file is established after supplemental security income refunds received have been recorded and deposited in the Federal Reserve bank. The money refunded is broken into Federal share and State share for accounting purposes.

The information in this system is keyed directly onto tapes which are kept in SSA's tape library. The tapes are used to prepare cross reference listing and to input information into the system.

Manual records are used to prepare responses to inquiries from district offices.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. State audit agencies pursuant to agreements with HHS for auditing State supplementation payments.

3. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

4. 5. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigation or has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape) and paper form.

Retrievability:

Listings are referenced by Social Security number. The source document is filed by bank deposit schedule number; the cross reference listing, in Social Security number sequence, by month.

Safeguards:

The source documents and listings are kept in an area which is secured at night—doors locked. Information is furnished only to other Social Security Administration components with limited access by employees who have a need for the records in the performance of their official duties. The magnetic tapes are retained in secure storage areas accessible only to authorized persons within the Office of Systems. The storage area is controlled by marshalls responsible for insuring that only authorized personnel are admitted. Official identification badges or passes are required to gain entrance to the storage area. All employees having access to records have been notified of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information on individuals. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

The source documents and listings are being held indefinitely. Eventually they will be retired to the Federal Record Center. The tapes are stored in the Social Security tape library.

System manager(s) and address:

3. To the Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury, as necessary, for the purpose of auditing the Social Security Administration's compliance with safeguard provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended.

Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

The records are maintained on magnetic tape and in paper form.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by identification sequence number.

Safeguards:

All folders are kept in secure areas, accessible only to authorized staff (i.e., statisticians, analyst, and programmers). For computerized records, safeguards are established in accordance with the Department of Health and Human Services Automated Data Processing Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Disposal of file folders is conducted in accordance with Social Security Administration guidelines for Title II claims, while magnetic tapes are held for 5 years before being erased.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Division of Payment and Eligibility Quality, Office of Assessment, Social Security Administration, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record pertaining to him or her by writing to the system manager at the address shown above. When requesting notification, the individual should provide the name of this system, Social Security number and for verification purposes, name (woman's maiden name, if applicable), address, date of birth and sex, the month and year in which the individual was allowed or denied benefits (Retirement or Disability). These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Records in this system are derived from other SSA systems: e.g., the Earnings Recording and Self-Employment System (09-60-0059), Claim Folders (09-60-0089) and Supplemental Security Income Record (09-60-0103); and survey data collected by Social Security employees.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

Social Security Administration, Division of International Operations, P.O. Box 1756, Baltimore, Maryland 21203

and

Social Security Administration, Office of Disability Operations,
Baltimore, Maryland 21241

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

National stratified probability sample of individual allowed or denied Supplemental Security Income benefits since January 1975.

Categories of records in the system:

Demographic characteristics of the beneficiary, description of allegations, evidence and findings, and case control data.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Sections 205 and 1631 of the Social Security Act.

Purpose(s):

This is a study to evaluate the effectiveness of supplemental security income program policies. Data from this study are compiled for evaluation purposes and subsequently stored in the claim folders system (09-60-0089). Adverse data received in the conduct of this study may be used to review earlier claims or post-adjudicative decisions.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To third parties for verification of information given by claimants.

2. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

(See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Disposal of file folders is conducted in accordance with Social Security Administration guidelines for Title XVI claims, while magnetic tapes are held for 5 years before being erased.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Payment and Eligibility Quality, Office of Assessment, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by writing to the system manager at the address shown above. When requesting notification, the individual should provide the name of this system, Social Security number, and, for verification purposes, name (woman's maiden name, if applicable), address, date of birth and sex, the month and year in which the individual was allowed or denied supplemental security income payments. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-60-0148

System name:

Matches of Internal Revenue Service and Social Security Administration Data with Census Survey Data (Joint Social Security Administration/Census Statistics Development Project), HHS/SSA/OP.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Systems, 6401 Security
Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235
Social Security Administration, Office of Research and Statistics, 1875 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C. 20009

and

Bureau of the Census, Suitland, Maryland 20233

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Samples of United States civilian population and those Armed Forces personnel residing with their families as of March 1975-1980 and subsequent periods.

Categories of records in the system:

Basic demographic characteristics from Census survey-labor force, work experience and income items from the survey; Social Security Administration earnings and benefit record information; selected Internal Revenue Service tax return items.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 702 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C., Section 902), and Title 13 U.S. Code, section 182 for Census participation.

Purpose(s):

This data file is used as the basis of microsimulations of tax and transfer programs. These microsimulations provide policy makers with information about the costs and effects of proposed changes in the social security tax and benefit structures and in the Federal income tax program. It also is used to estimate the number of nonfilers and the magnitude of the effects of noncompliance with IRS and SSA regulations. During those matching steps which occur at the Social Security Administration, identifiable data is solely under the control of a limited number of Social Security employees who are required to uphold the Census and IRS statutes as well as the confidentiality restrictions of the Social Security Administration. Similar provisions are made for the handling of identifiable data from the project at the Census Bureau. Contractors provide storage of and remote terminal access to files which do not carry identifiers.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

(Through the Census Bureau) to a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record. Tax return information may be disclosed only with the expressed authorization of the Internal Revenue Service.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored on magnetic tape and in paper form.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by Social Security number during the matching steps at the Social Security Administration and Census but identifiers are not retained at the Social Security Administration after matching is completed.

Safeguards:

Safeguards are established in accordance with the HHS ADP System Manual, Part 6, ADP System Security. Employees having access to records have been notified of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information about individuals.

Magnetic tapes or other files with personal identifiers, are retained in secured storage areas accessible only to authorized personnel. Microdata files prepared for purposes of research and analysis are purged of personal identifiers and are subject to procedural safeguards to assure anonymity. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Following the match, all identifiers are removed from the records kept at the Social Security Administration. The Census Bureau retains identifiers for possible longitudinal updating.

Records with identifiers will be held in secure storage areas at the Census Bureau and will be disposed of as soon as they are determined to be no longer needed for Census or SSA analysis. Means of disposal will be appropriate to the record storage medium, e.g., erasure of tapes, shredding of printouts, etc.

As long as identifiable records exist, a periodic review will be made at least every two years to determine the need for their retention.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Statistics, Social Security Administration, Universal North Building/Room 1121, 1875 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C. 20009.

Notification procedure:

This system contains limited data selected for statistical analysis which individuals would not ordinarily be interested in. Individuals inquiring about their records in SSA program should consult other SSA systems of records which contain more detailed information. However, individuals may obtain notification of or access to information that may be maintained during processing stages in this system, by writing to the system manager (at the above address) and providing the name of this system, their name and Social Security number and a description of the information being sought. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) Also, to verify identity, he/she should provide name, address and date of birth. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Except in transitory stages of preparation, files at SSA which are based on Census or Internal Revenue Service samples do not have personal identifiers, and cannot be located on an individual basis. Records with identifiers maintained at the Bureau of Census are considered by Census to be exempt from access.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulation 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Records in this system are derived from other Social Security Administration systems, the Earnings Recording and Self-Employment Income System (09-60-0059) and Master Beneficiary Record (09-60-0090), Internal Revenue tax returns; and Census surveys.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-60-0149

System name:

Matches of Internal Revenue Service and Social Security Administration Data (Joint Social Security Administration/Treasury Department Office of Tax Analysis, Statistics Development Project), HHS/SSA/OP.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Research and Statistics, 1875 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C. 20009
and

Department of the Treasury, 15th & Pennsylvania Ave., NW, Washington, D.C 20220

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Samples of persons by or on whose behalf Federal income or estate tax returns, or wages or self-employment earnings reports have been filed for 1970, 1972, 1975, 1977, 1979 and selected subsequent years.

Categories of records in the system:

Social Security Administration demographic data; Social Security Administration earnings information; and tax return data.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 702 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C., Section 902) and section 6103 of the Internal Revenue Code (26 U.S.C. 6103) for Treasury participation.

Purpose(s):

These files are used to develop data based for SSA's Office of Research and Statistics studies of economic behavior, mortality, wealth, and occupation in the context of the income maintenance system; and for micro-economic analysis of income distribution. These data bases are used by the Office of Research and Statistics jointly with the Department of the Treasury's Office of Tax Analysis without identifiers for research and statistical projects sponsored by the Office of Research and Statistics, the Office of Tax Analysis and the Internal Revenue Service. Files without identifiers are used for statistical analysis.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. (Through the Treasury Department) to a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record. Tax return information is disclosed only with the expressed authorization of the Internal Revenue Service.

2. To the Department of the Treasury, Office of Tax Analysis, in connection with statistical studies conducted for Social Security Administration and Department of the Treasury purposes.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored on magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

Records are indexed by Social Security number during the searching steps at the Social Security Administration. Indentifiers are retained at the Office of Tax Analysis for matching purposes which are carried out entirely at Treasury.

Safeguards:

Safeguards are established in accordance with the HHS ADP System Manual, Part 6, ADP System Security. Employees having access to records have been notified of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information about individuals. Magnetic tapes or other files with personal identifiers, are retained in secured storage areas accessible only to authorized personnel. Microdata files prepared for purposes of research and analysis are purged of personal identifiers and are subject to procedural safeguards to assure anonymity. Special update files prepared for use in data-base management systems are purged. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Identifiable data are retained by the Social Security Administration only during the search process. Once searching is complete all computer tapes are turned over to the Treasury Department.

A matched SSA-Treasury file without identifiers is available to SSA and Treasury for research use. SSA does not have detailed Internal Revenue Service data with identifiers at any point in the matching process. The minimum amount of Internal Revenue Service data with identifiers needed to validate the processing is used by the Social Security Administration. Identifiers may be retained on the Treasury copies of intermediate and matched files in secure storage.

The retention of these identifiers is needed exclusively for possible further matching; e.g., with similar data for different years.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Statistics, Social Security Administration, Universal North Building/Room 1121, 1875 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C. 20009

Notification procedure:

Record source categories:

Records are derived from other Social Security Administration systems; e.g., the Master Files of Social Security Number Holders (09-60-0058), Earnings Recording and Self-Employment Income Record (09-60-0059), Master Beneficiary Record (09-60-0090); and Internal Revenue Service Federal income and estate tax returns.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

None.

09-60-0159

System name:

Continuous Work History Sample (Statistics), HHS/SSA/OP.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Systems, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235
and Parklawn, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, Maryland 20857.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

A sample of persons with social security numbers issued through the cutoff date of the file. Included are those persons working for the Federal government and those covered by the Railroad Retirement Act, as well as those covered under social security.

Categories of records in the system:

Demographic characteristics; employer information; type of work information; earnings information; self-employment information; insured status information; benefit status; and geography information (residence).

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 702 of the Social Security Act. (42 U.S.C. sec. 902).

Purpose(s):

This system provides a one percent overview of SSA programs. With identifiers, the system is used by Office of Research and Statistics (ORS) staff in analysis and research of SSA programs, workloads, and revenue. Purged of identifiers, it has been an important resource for HHS planning and evaluation and for health research in the Health Care Financing Administration and the Public Health Services. Its wide scope and coverage of the income structure of the United States, make the data from the system useful to many agencies, including the Census Bureau and the Bureau of Economic Analysis, as a fundamental source of data.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To the Department of Labor for administering provisions of Title IV of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act and for studies on the effectiveness of training programs to combat poverty.

2. To the Bureau of Census when it performs as a collecting agent or data processor for research and statistical purposes directly relating to this system of records.

3. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

4. To a Federal or State agency (or its agent) lawfully charged with the administration of a Federal or State unemployment compensation law or contribution or tax levied in connection therewith, for the purpose of such administration but solely for use in compiling statistics to be used in aggregated or anonymous forms.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Data are stored on magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

The file is indexed and retrieved by use of the Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Safeguards are established in accordance with the HHS ADP System Manual, Part 6, ADP System Security. Employees having access to records have been notified of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information about individuals. Magnetic tapes or other files with personal identifiers, are retained in secured storage areas accessible only to authorized personnel. Microdata files prepared for purposes of research and analysis are purged of personal identifiers and are subject to procedural safeguards to assure anonymity. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

This is a longitudinal sample. Records with identifiers will be retained as long as needed to permit addition of future earnings and other Social Security Administration program data for individuals in sample. When no longer needed, the tape records are erased and returned to stock.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Statistics, Social Security Administration, 1875 Connecticut Avenue NW, Washington, D.C, 20009.

Notification procedure:

This system contains limited data selected for statistical analysis which individuals would not ordinarily be interested in. Individuals inquiring about their records in SSA program should consult other SSA system of records which contain more detailed information. However, if the individual wishes notification of or access to information that may be maintained during processing stages in this system, he/she should write to the system manager (at the above address) and provide the name of this system, his/her name and Social Security number and a description of the information being sought. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) Also, to verify identity, he/she should provide address and date of birth. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Records are derived from other Social Security Administration systems: e.g., the Master Files or Social Security Number Holders (09-60-0058), Earnings Recording and Self-Employment Income System (09-60-0059), Master Beneficiary Record (09-60-0090); quarterly earnings items file; and the Internal Revenue Service name and address file.

09-60-0184

System name:

Hearing Officer Master Calendar, HHS/SSA/OHA.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

All Hearing Offices (See Appendix G for address information).

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Claimants—Title II (Retirement, Survivors and Disability); Title XI (Claimants Subject to Professional Standards Review); Title XVI (Supplemental Security Income); Title XVIII (Health Insurance) and claimants for Black Lung benefits pursuant to provisions of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act.

Categories of records in the system:

A list of all cases pending in the hearing office.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 205, 1631(d)(1) and 1872 of the Social Security Act, as amended, and Section 413(b) of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act, as amended.

Purpose(s):

The purpose of this system is to enable the Hearing Office to ascertain the location of cases within the Office of Hearings and Appeals and maintain control of the pending case load.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS, or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

3. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

4. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

5. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigationor has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained in paper form (e.g., folders in filing cabinets).

Retrievability:

Records are retrieved by use of the Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Folders are kept in metal filing cabinets. Access to and use of the records are limited to those employees whose official duties require such access. All employees are instructed in Social Security Administration confidentiality rules as part of their initial orientation training. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

As each case is disposed of, it is removed from the master calendar. Individual files are disposed of by shredding.

System manager(s) and address:

Associate Commissioner, Office of Hearings and Appeals, Room 402, 3833 North Fairfax Drive, Arlington, Virginia 22203.

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record pertaining to him or her by providing his or her name, address and Social Security number to the address below. Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay: Social Security Administration, Office of Hearings and Appeals, P.O. Box 2518, Washington, D.C. 20013. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Social Security Administration, Office of Systems Operations,
6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Individuals who are involved, as plaintiffs or defendants, in civil litigation concerning one or more of the programs administered by the Social Security Administration.

Categories of records in the system:

Complaints filed by individuals against the Secretary of Health and Human Services; court orders and decisions regarding cases in litigation and related litigation materials (e.g., briefs, motions, internal memoranda).

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 205(a) Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 405(a)).

Purpose(s):

Records maintained in this system are used by the SSA Litigation Staff in the course of their responsibilities for formulating and coordinating responses to interrogatories and recommendations regarding the appeal of adverse court decisions. These records also are used to enable Staff to review and analyze court decisions and to direct the implementation of interim and final court orders.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS, or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operations of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to respresent such employee:

HHS may disclose such records as it deems desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

3. To the Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury, as necessary, for the purpose of auditing the Social Security Administration's compliance with safeguard provisions of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended.

4. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.

5. Disclosure may be to DOJ, to a court or other tribunal, or another party before such tribunal, when:

(a)SSA, or any component thereof; or

(b)Any SSA employee in his/her official capacity; or

(c)Any SSA employee in his/her individual capacity where DOJ (or SSA where it is authorized to do so) has agreed to represent the employee; or

(d)The United States or any agency thereof where SSA determines that the litigation is likely to affect the operations of SSA or any of its components

is a party to litigationor has an interest in such litigation, and SSA determines that the use of such records by DOJ, the tribunal, or other party before such tribunal is relevant and necessary to the litigation, provided, however, that in each case, SSA determines that such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were disclosed.

Wage and other information which are subject to the disclosure provisions of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC) (26 U.S.C. 6103) will not be disclosed under this routine use unless disclosure is expressly permitted by the IRC.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are maintained on paper copy and on magnetic tape.

Retrievability:

The records are retrieved alphabetically by plaintiff's name and numerically by Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Paper files are maintained in locked file cabinets. Access to these files is limited to employees who require the files to perform their assigned duties. Magnetic tape records are maintained in a secured area attended by security guards. Access to the secured area is electronically controlled and limited to those employees who have a need to enter the area in the performance of their official duties. All personnel having access to the records have been informed of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information relating to individuals. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional relating to safeguards SSA employs to protect personal records.)

Retention and disposal:

Normally, records will be retained for two years after the expiration of the appeal period, then destroyed. (Paper records are shredded and tape records erased.) Certain cases in which constitutional/policy issues are involved (e.g., Supreme Court cases) will be retained indefinitely by Litigation Staff. All other records will be transferred to the Office of Regulations Reference Room to be retained for historical purposes.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Regulations, Social Security Administration, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235

Notification procedure:

An individual can determine if this system contains a record about him or her by writing to the system manager at the address shown above. When requesting notification, the individual should provide his or her name, and for verification purposes, Social Security number, address, date of birth, and sex. Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for the individual's record easier and avoid delay. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These access procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Systems of records maintained by SSA, namely Claim Folders (09-60-0089), Master Beneficiary Record (09-60-0090) and Security Income Record (09-60-0103); plaintiff's complaints, court orders, court decisions and court directives.

and

Contractor sites: Addresses may be obtained by writing to the system manager at the address below

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Samples of persons who are present or potential recipients of SSA Disability payment/benefits, including specifically selected subsets of each category; applicants/participants in State vocational rehabilitation programs; and samples of other persons regardless of status of purposes of comparison in the above categories.

Categories of records in the system:

Socio-economic, demographic, medical and disability characteristics, attitudes, earnings and employment history, benefit information, and use of medical and rehabilitative services.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 702 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C., Section 902); Title 13 of the U.S. Code, Section 182 for Census participation.

Purpose(s):

The purpose of this system is to collect data by the following methods: (1) Extraction from program records (including records compiled at the State level); and (2) through surveys which may be augmented with program data. The SSA Office of Research and Statistics uses this data to examine the medical, economic, and social consequences of limitations in work activity for the disabled person and his/her family; from program planning and evaluation; for evaluation of proposals for policy and legislative changes; for determinations of the characteristics of program applicants and benefit recipients, etc.

Within SSA, tapes which have been purged of identifiers are used by the Office of Evaluation and the Office of Disability Programs. Public use extract tapes are furnished on request by mail to public and private organizations.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To a contractor under contract to the Social Security Administration (SSA), or under contract to another agency with funds provided by SSA, for the performance of research and statistical activities directly related to this system of records.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Records are stored in paper form (e.g., questionnaire forms, computer printouts and punch cards), on microfilm, and in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tapes and discs).

Retrievability:

Files are indexed by Social Security number or by Social Security Administration assigned case numbers. Files based on Census sample populations are indexed by Census assigned case numbers. These numbers are cross referenced at Census to social security numbers which are available only to census employees or SSA staff who are Census special sworn employees.

Safeguards:

Safeguards are established in accordance with the HHS ADP System Manual, Part 6, ADP System Security. Employees having access to records have been notified of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information about individuals. Magnetic tapes or other files with personal identifiers, are retained in secured storage areas accessible only to authorized personnel. Microdata files prepared for purposes of research and analysis are purged of personal identifiers and are subject to procedural safeguards to assure anonymity. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Hard copy questionnaires are destroyed when survey reports are completed. Records with identifiers are held in secure storage areas and are disposed of as soon as they are determined to be no longer needed for SSA analysis. Means of disposal is appropriate to the record storage medium; e.g., erasure of tapes, shredding of printouts, etc. Periodic reviews are made to determine the need for retention. In longitudinal studies, working files are purged of identifiers and given randomly assigned case numbers. A separate link file is maintained in secure storage areas for updating with individual identifiers.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Statistics, Social Security Administration, Universal North Building/Room 1121, 1875 Connecticut Avenue NW, Washington, D.C. 20009.

Notification procedure:

This system contains limited data selected for statistical analysis which individuals would not ordinarily be interested in. Individuals inquiring about their records in SSA programs may wish to contact other SSA systems of records which contain more detailed information.

However, if an individual wishes notification of or access to information in this system, he/she should write to the system manager (at the address above) and provide the name of this system, his/her name and Social Security number and a description of the information being sought. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) Also, to verify identity, he/she should provide address and date of birth. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Except in transitory stages of preparation, files at SSA which are based on Census samples do not have personal identifiers, and cannot be located on an individual basis. Records with identifiers maintained at the Bureau of Census are considered by Census to be exempt from access.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Also, requesters should reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record source categories:

Records are derived from other Social Security Administration systems; e.g., Earnings Recording and Self-Employment Income System (09-60-0059); Claims Folders System (09-60-0089) (disability case folders), etc.; and Master Beneficiary Record (09-60-0090); survey data collected by contractors; case service reports of the vocational rehabilitation agencies (R-300); Office of Hearings and Appeals Records Locator; Health Insurance Master Files; and SSA Administrative awards file. Bureau of the Census records may be used as a sampling frame.

Systems exempted from certain provisions of the act:

System name:

Extramural Research Administrative File, HHS/SSA/OP.

Security classification:

None.

System location:

Social Security Administration, Office of Systems Operations, 6401 Security Boulevard, Baltimore, Maryland 21235.

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Personnel described in research project proposals submitted for grant or contract consideration.

Categories of records in the system:

Professional qualifications and other relevant information about project personnel. Direct and indirect information on individual salaries may be included.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 702 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 902); Section 1110 of the Social Security Act (42 USC 1310).

Purpose(s):

With respect to administrative and personnel information kept on extramural research contracts and grants, the purpose is to ascertain the credentials of individuals and organizations proposing to do research for SSA, and to establish and maintain surveillance over the research projects being performed for SSA. This information is available to other components of SSA and HHS for administrative analysis.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the court or to a party in connection with any civil or criminal action to which the Secretary is a party or otherwise involving a program administered by the Social Security Administration.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Data may be stored in paper form (e.g., punch cards, and printouts) and in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tapes and discs).

Retrievability:

Files are indexed by a Department of Health and Human Services-assigned number.

Safeguards:

Safeguards are established in accordance with the HHS ADP System Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." Employees having access to records have been notified of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information about individuals. Magnetic tapes or other files with personal identifiers, are retained in secured storage areas accessible only to authorized personnel. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Records with identifiers will be held in secure storage areas and will be disposed of as soon as they are determined to be no longer needed for analysis. Means of disposal will be appropriate to the record storage medium, e.g., erasure of tapes, shredding of printouts, etc.

As long as identifiable records exist, a periodic review will be made at least every two years to determine the need for their retention.

System manager(s) and address:

Director, Office of Research and Statistics, Social Security Administration, Universal North Bldg./Rm. 1121, 1875 Connecticut Avenue NW, Washington, D.C. 20009.

Notification procedure:

If an individual wishes notification of or access to information that may be contained in this system, he/she should write to the system manager (at the address above) and provide the name of the system, his/her name, Social Security number and a description of the information being sought. (Furnishing the Social Security number is voluntary, but it will make searching for an individual's record easier and avoid delay.) Also, to verify identity, he/she should provide address and date of birth. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Record access procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably specify the record contents being sought. These procedures are in accordance with HHS Regulations 45 CFR Part 5b.

Contesting record procedures:

Same as notification procedures. Requesters should also reasonably identify the record, specify the information they are contesting and state the corrective action sought and the reasons for the correction with supporting justification. Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Samples of individuals who are current or potential recipients of benefits from Social Security and related programs; personnel administering Social Security Administration and related programs.

Categories of records in the system:

Socio-economic, demographic, medical and disability characteristics; attitudes concerning subjects such as health, work experience, and family relationships; earnings and employment history, benefits, use of medical and rehabilitative services.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 702 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C., Section 902) and section 1110 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C., section 1310).

Purpose(s):

The purpose of conducting extramural surveys at outside organizations for the Office of Research and Statistics is to obtain information on individuals who are current or potential recipients of benefits from social security and related programs. When the product is in the form of microdata it is available without personal identifiers to other SSA and HHS components for data processing and data manipulation.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To a contractor under contract to the Social Security Administration, or under contract to another agency with funds provided by SSA, for the performance of research and statistical activities directly related to this system of records.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Data may be stored in paper form (e.g., punch cards and computer printouts), on microfilm, and in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and disc).

Retrievability:

Files based on Social Security Administration sample populations are indexed by SSA-assigned case numbers or Social Security numbers. Files based on contractor sample populations are indexed by contractor-assigned case numbers which may be cross-referenced to Social Security numbers.

Safeguards:

Safeguards are established in accordance with the HHS ADP System Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." Employees having access to records have been notified of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information about individuals. Magnetic tapes or other files with personal identifiers, are retained in secured storage areas accessible only to authorized personnel. Microdata files prepared for purposes of research and analysis are purged of personal identifiers and are subject to procedural safeguards to assure anonymity. (See Appendix J to this publication for additional information relating to safeguards the Social Security Administration employs to protect personal information.)

Retention and disposal:

Hard copy questionnaires will be destroyed when survey reports are completed. Records with identifiers will be held in secure storage areas and will be retained only as long as needed for analysis.

Identifiers will be removed at the earliest possible time after data collection is completed. The need to retain identifiers will be evaluated at the time each survey is completed. Records with identifiers will be disposed of as soon as they are determined to be no longer needed. Means of disposal will be appropriate to the record storage medium, e.g., erasure of tapes, shredding of printouts, etc.

As long as identifiable records exist, a periodic review will be made at least every two years to determine the need for their retention.

In longitudinal studies, working files are stripped of identifiers and given randomly assigned case numbers. A separate link file will be maintained in secure storage for updating with individual identifiers.

Contractor sites: Addresses may be obtained by writing to the system manager (see below)

Categories of individuals covered by the system:

Sample groups and Supplemental Security Income population subsets of persons and families receiving or potentially eligible to receive welfare assistance under the SSI and related Federal/State welfare programs, including Aid to Families with Dependent Children, General Assistance, Emergency Assistance and Food Stamps and low-income energy assistance; samples of specially selected subsets of persons from the above programs; other persons or families, regardless of SSI or poverty status, for use within the same system of records for comparison purposes with persons or families in the above categories; Federal/State personnel responsible for the administration of SSI and related welfare programs.

Categories of records in the system:

Basic demographic characteristics; medical and disability information; socio-economic information; living conditions; attitudes; earnings and employment history, benefits; use of medical and rehabilitative services; participation in and benefits received under SSI and related Federal/State welfare programs.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Section 702 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. Section 902); Title 13 of the U.S. Code, section 182 for Census participation.

Purpose(s):

The purpose of this system is to collect data by the following methods: Extraction from program records (including records compiled at the State level); and through surveys which may be augmented with program information. Basic data on SSI recipients and others are collected, analyzed and published by the SSA Office of Research and Statistics for program planning and evaluation purposes. Such information is then used in the budget process for legislative change and as a basis for studying the effectiveness of the SSI and related welfare programs in meeting the need of the target population served. Currently, access to microdata files with identifiers comprised of data from within this system is limited to Office of Research and Statistics researchers. Other components of HHS receive summary data or microdata without identifiers.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

Policies and practices for storing, retrieving, accessing, retaining, and disposing of records in the system:

Storage:

Data may be stored in paper form (e.g., hard copy questionnaire, punch cards and computer printouts) on microfilm and in magnetic media (e.g., magnetic tape and disc).

Retrievability:

Records are indexed and retrieved by use of the Social Security number.

Safeguards:

Safeguards are established in accordance with the HHS ADP System Manual, "Part 6, ADP System Security." Employees having access to records have been notified of criminal sanctions for unauthorized disclosure of information about individuals. Magnetic tapes or other files with personal identifiers, are retained in secured storage areas accessible only to authorized personnel. Categories of individuals covered by the system:

U.S. Citizens and their dependents returned from foreign countries by the Department of State because of mental or physical illness, destitution, war, threat of war or international crisis.

Categories of records in the system:

Identifying data such as name, date and place of birth, social security number, resources, employment, eligibility for other Federal, State or local programs and related data. Other categories include State and Regional reports, correspondence and accounting data.

Authority for maintenance of the system:

Title XI of the Social Security Act, section 1113 and 24 U.S.C.A. section 321 et seq.

Purpose(s):

This system provides a basis for the expenditure of Federal funds. Information is used for the administration of the repatriation program, by HHS regional staff, State and local health and human services agencies, and other private and public agencies as required.

Routine uses of records maintained in the system, including categories of users and the purposes of such uses:

Disclosure may be made for routine uses as indicated below:

1. To a congressional office in response to an inquiry from that office made at the request of the subject of a record.

2. To the Department of Justice in the event of litigation where the defendant is:

(a) The Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), any component of HHS, or any employee of HHS in his or her official capacity;

(b) The United States where HHS determines that the claim, if successful, is likely to directly affect the operation of HHS or any of its components; or

(c) Any HHS employee in his or her individual capacity where the Justice Department has agreed to represent such employee;

HHS may disclose such records as it deem desirable or necessary to the Department of Justice to enable that Department to present an effective defense, provided such disclosure is compatible with the purpose for which the records were collected.

3. To State and local Human Services agencies and other private and public agencies for the purpose of providing services through the repatriation program.

4. Information may be disclosed to contractors and other Federal agencies, as necessary, for the purpose of assisting SSA in the efficient administration of its program. We contemplate disclosing information under this routine use only in situations in which SSA may enter into a contractual or similar agreement with a third party to assist in accomplishing an agency function relating to this system of records.

5. Nontax return information which is not restricted from disclosure by Federal law may be disclosed to the General Services Administration and the National Archives and Records Administration for the purpose of conducting records management studies with respect to their duties and responsibilities under 44 U.S.C. 2904 and 2906, as amended by the National Archives and Records Administration Act of 1984.
